Visiting Nurse

A DAY WITH WINCHESTER'S VISITING NURSE

Does the work of Winchester's Visiting Nurse cover all sections of the town? Does it embrace all creeds and classes? Is it a charity or a service that must be paid for? These are questions that every resident of Winchester should be able to answer, because there are times when the services of the Visiting Nurse might be of the greatest value to any one of us.

The following brief resume of one day's work will answer the first two questions. It will show that Mrs. (Continued on Page 6)

"EMERALD TEA" A SUCCESS

The "Emerald Tea" given Friday evening in Lyceum Hall, under the direction of Mrs. Henry C. Blake for Mrs. Richard Glendon's table at the coming K. of C. bazaar, proved a musical treat. Scarcely had better music been enjoyed, and the artists were roundly applauded for their efforts.

The program included a Harry Lauder song by Miss Kathleen Howard of Medford, accompanied by Miss Marie Sullivan of Malden; Spanish dance by Miss Hazel Howard of Medford; musical artists playing violins and banjos, Miss Clara Fountain of Woburn and the Messers, Romano; to dance, Miss Kathleen Teel of Medford; solo by Miss Marion Leslie of Woburn, accompanied by Miss Gladys Johnson of Woburn; piano monologue, Edward Whitten of Reading; solo, "Irish-American Flag," Richard Robinson of Woburn.

Four attractive tables representing the Irish Counties of Ulster, Munster, Leinster and Connaught were presided over by Mrs. Mathew McKeon, Mrs. Charles Hayes, Mrs. John Hanlon and Miss Mary Reardon.

Guests included visitors from Boston, Arlington, Wilmington, Woburn, Lowell and Stoneham.

Already the staff has decided to make certain changes, which they believe will increase considerably the attractiveness of the magazine.

Owing to the great increase in the cost of publication, it becomes necessary to raise the subscription price to seventy-five cents for the five issues of the school year. It is believed that everyone will understand the reason for this increase and that our subscriptions will not be decreased. The paper will assuredly be worth the price.

Each editor and representative of the staff intends doing his best to make the paper a first-class High School journal. Nothing will so much aid them to do this as plenty of encouragement through a large circulation. They hope, therefore, that not only the students at the High school but the townspeople as well, will feel a school and local pride in giving their support and helping to make it as successful as any school paper in the vicinity.

RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS. METCALF

The Unitarian Parish tendered a farewell reception to Dr. Joel Hastings Metcalf and Mrs. Metcalf and their daughter, Miss Rachel, at the church on Wednesday evening, from eight o'clock to ten. Several hundred persons from all denominations in town gathered in a most happy vein, and the evening one to linger in the memory of all concerned. The parlors presented a delightfully attractive and social appearance. In the centre of the main hall was the large refreshment table, beautifully decorated with flowers, as also were the other tables, while baskets filled with flowers were everywhere. Mrs. Metcalf carried an armful of American Beauty roses. An orchestra back of a bower of pines played throughout the evening.

The receiving party, including, in addition to the Metcalfs, Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Lawrence, stood in one of the small parlors, and the guests were presented by members of the Standing Committee, who were untiring in their efforts to make all feel at home. A steady stream of guests were in line during the two hours, and Mr. Robert Metcalf, Mr. C. H. Symmes, Mr. Robert Perkins and Mr. H. K. Barrows presented the guests.

At the close of the evening Mr. Metcalf was presented with a substantial purse in token of affection and appreciation by his people. The dainty refreshments were served by young ladies of the Metcalf Union, as follows: Misses Edith Fenno, Dorothy Kerrison, Louise Alexander, Marjorie Root, Betty Rumsdell, Rebecca Barrett, Harriet Estlin, Helen Bowe and Miss Perkins. WINCHESTER AIDED AT STONEHAM FIRE

Winchester, in common with Woburn, Wakefield and Reading, was called upon for aid at the big fire in Stoneham, Saturday morning, when the Symmes Block, a three-story wooden structure in Stoneham square, was gutted. The loss was estimated at from $50,000 to $60,000. The fire was discovered a few minutes before 5 o'clock and had gained great headway. It is thought to have originated in the bakehouse of Hatch & Hank, and also occupying the block was the firm of Edward Caldwell, furniture; the firm of E. C. Alward, kitchen furnishings, and three apartments. Several of the tenants had narrow escapes getting out of the burning building, and included in the loss was over 100 barrels of flour.

Winchester sent the motor pump and 1300 feet of hose. A heavy fog made running to Stoneham difficult, the firemen being able to keep the road only by following the electric car track, and at that it was necessary to stop at times.

Stoneham has a small fire department, but with the aid of the outside departments the fire was kept within the Symmes Block, although the structure was surrounded with wooden buildings.

The mission exercises for them were held Monday and Tuesday and they received Holy Communion Wednesday morning at the 7 a. m. mass. The men's mission will open next Sunday night at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Ferguson is not connected with the Eastman Car Company, the Home Savings Bank, the New England Structural Company, the Penn Metal Company, the Winchester Co-operative Bank, the Winchester Trust Company, or the Wollaston Land Company.

MAYNARD-AYER

At the Unitarian church on Saturday evening occurred the wedding of Miss Helen Ames Ayer, daughter of Mrs. John Loring Ayer, formerly of 120 Cambridge street, Winchester, and Mr. Warren Alston Maynard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chapin Maynard of Rutherford, N. J. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William L. Lawrence, formerly minister at the church, at eight o'clock.

The church was decorated with palms and an abundance of the season's outdoor flowers, including asters, gladioli and other blossoms. The bride entered upon the arm of her brother, Mr. Holbrook E. Ayer, and was given in marriage by her mother. She wore for her wedding dress the same dress her mother wore at her wedding, a gown of cream faille, en train, combined with marcel lace, with tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Mahin of New York City was maid of honor, wearing Ward yellow taffeta and carrying orchids and Ward roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Carrie Maynard of Rutherford, N. J., sister of the groom; Miss Virginia Mosman of Winchester, Miss Elizabeth H. Day of Massillon, O.; Miss Vivian L. Richtmyer of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Kathryn L. Moore of Cleveland, O., the last three being classmates of the bride at Smith College. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in orchid taffeta and carried Ward roses. Mr. Harold Bugbee of Boston was groomsmen.

An interesting feature of the ceremony was that a jeweled gold snuff-box, presented to the bride's grandfather, William Wellington of Boston, by Emperor Napoleon III., and previously used at the marriage of the bride's mother and that of her uncle, Mr. A. Miles Holbrook, contained the rings used in the double wedding.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony, the couple being assisted in receiving in the church parlors by the bride's mother and the parents of the groom. The ushers were Mr. Herman Brockman of Jamaica Hillcrest, L. I., Mr. Herbert W. Smith of Tiverton, R. I., Mr. Waldo B. Clark of Atlantic, Mr. George A. Irwin of North Andover, and Mr. Ivan F. Chambers of Wilmington, Del., all fraternity brothers of the groom.

There was a large attendance of society people from practically all of the surrounding towns and cities, as well as from more distant places, besides a host of Winchester friends of the bride.

The bride and groom left for a short wedding trip from the home of Mrs. Maynard's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gendron, 22 Calumet road.

The couple will make their home in New York.

The bowling will include three consecutive strings with handicap. No limit will be made in the number of trials, the entry fee of 25 cents to include but three strings, however. This tournament is in line with the program started by this season's bowling committee, and similar tournaments will be held throughout the winter.

The Calumet Club has engaged the Winchester Town Hall for a big New Year's Eve party.

Mr. William H. Bowe, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Calumet Club, is on a special trip to New York to arrange for the entertainment program at the coming club dinner, Saturday evening, October 16.

The first of the interclub matches in bowling, billiards, pool and cards will be between Calumet and Kernwood. The exact date has not been fixed, but will be during this month. Webster of Cambridge, will speak in favor of the League; Mrs. George Root will speak in opposition to the document in its present form. It is hoped that many members, including all prospective ones, will be present to hear their own conclusions.

TERCENTENARY NIGHT

There will be a special service at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock, when the first of Dr. N. D. Hillis' two strong lectures on the Puritans will be given. Mr. Gifford will read the lecture and Mr. Harold Dover will operate the lantern.

C. F. DUTCH TO QUIT THE SHIPPING BOARD

Admiralty Counsel Will Join Boston Firm

Charles F. Dutch, admiralty counsel and general solicitor for the Shipping Board, has resigned, effective on November 1, and will join a law firm in Boston. His resignation has not yet been acted upon by the Board.

Mr. Dutch has served with the Shipping Board for two years. He was engaged in private practice in Boston when he left for Washington. Since that time he has been in the admiralty division of the legal department. He was made admiralty counsel in July, 1919, succeeding Ira A. Campbell.

It is understood that when Mr. Dutch came to the Shipping Board he intended to stay only a year, but with the completion of his second year he feels that he should not neglect his business. He will become a partner in the law firm of Putnam, Putnam & Bell in Boston, which will then change its name to Putnam, Bell, Dutch & Santry, practicing general business and admiralty law.

Mr. Dutch recently returned from a three months' trip to the principal European ports, where he was engaged in negotiations regarding claims against United States shipping growing out of the war. He also talked with many of the leading shipping men abroad and stated that he found less opposition to the Merchant Marine Act now than several months ago. Prospects for American shipping in competition with foreign fleets are much better as a result of the efficient organization of Shipping Board agencies in foreign ports, Mr. Dutch has said.

Among the important policies which Mr. Dutch has assisted in forming has been the enactment by Congress of the bill permitting suits against Shipping Board vessels in Admiralty, thus releasing the vessels as liens for the payment of judgments and permitting them to continue on their way without delay. He has also been active in the conferences on the new agency contract with operators and managers.

The following letter has been sent Mr. Dutch by the Board:

United States Shipping Board
Washington
September 22, 1920.
Mr. Charles F. Dutch,
General Solicitor,
United States Shipping Board,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. Dutch:

At a meeting of the Shipping Board on September 22, 1920, the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, Charles F. Dutch has tendered his resignation as General Solicitor of the United States Shipping Board, to take effect November 1, 1920; and

Whereas, Mr. Dutch has rendered faithful and valuable service to the government and the United States Shipping Board during his two years of service;

Be it Resolved, That his resignation be accepted with great regret, and the Board hereby expresses its appreciation of the very efficient, loyal, and unselfish services which he has rendered.

Be it further Resolved, That the Secretary be, and he hereby is, directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Dutch.

In transmitting this resolution to you, allow me to express my personal regret at your leaving the service of the Shipping Board, and to thank you for your cheerful cooperation with this office during the time you have been with us.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) John J. Flaherty, Secretary.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

September 27, 1920

The Board met at 7.30. Present, Messrs. Blackham, Dolben and Parsons. In the absence of Mr. Parsons, on the nomination of Mr. Parsons, Mr. Dolben was appointed Chairman pro tempore.

The records of the meeting of September 20 were read and approved.

Jitneys: An application was received from the Woburn & Reading Bus Line, Inc., by John F. Lovell, Treasurer, 2 Second street, Woburn, for permission to operate a line of buses from Winchester to Woburn line to Winchester-Medford line. The Board voted to refuse to grant a license of this class.

Sidewalks, 1920 (Main street): A letter was received from T. W. Conlon, calling the Board's attention to the condition of the sidewalk in front of his property on Main street, corner of Glenwood avenue. In some places, the letter states, the sidewalk is lower than street level. The matter was referred to the Town Engineer to submit an estimate of the cost of the cost of constructing a new sidewalk on the westerly side of Main street from Hemingway street to the Woburn line.

Sidewalks, 1920 (Gravel): The matter of the possible construction of a gravel sidewalk on the north easterly side of Stone avenue from Washington street to Highland avenue, was referred to the Town Engineer for an estimate.

Street Lights: Mr. Newman appeared before the Board and recommended that a spotlight be installed so as to shine on the police officers in the center of the town. Mr. Dolben suggested possibly a better way might be to have the officer wear a white coat or sash. The matter was laid over one week.

The meeting adjourned at 10 p. m.

Clerk of Selectmen.

THE SWARM OF BEES

Editor of the Star:

A word of explanation for the benefit of the Thrift and Conservation Committee of the Fortnightly in connection with their letter in your last issue under this caption would seem to be in order. The writer was responsible for the destruction of the so-called "Swarm of Bees" in question. As a matter of fact, the offenders were not bees at all but a type of hornet or wasp known as yellow jackets of no value whatever, as those who have come in contact with them will readily appreciate. The nest was located on the edge of the sidewalk and the street in that vicinity was littered with stones and other missiles thrown by small boys with the resulting discomfort of pedestrians. I notified the Superintendent of Streets of the condition and the "bees" were promptly and efficiently exterminated.

This explanation is offered in order that the impression in the minds of the good ladies of the Fortnightly, and any others who may have been misled by their letter, that town employees were guilty of wanton destruction, may be corrected. Such a statement is contrary to the facts.

James W. Blackham,
September 27, 1920.

MISS E. JOSEPHINE QIMBY

Miss Ednah Josephine Quimby died on Sunday morning, after a long illness. Born in Winchester, July 14, 1852, and residing here since, Miss Quimby was widely known among our residents. Miss Quimby's death will be mourned by many. She underwent an operation last May and since that time had been an invalid. Until Saturday she had been up and dressed daily, but the death of her sister, Mrs. George A. Barron hastened her end.

Miss Quimby was the daughter of the late Alfred Washington and Ednah (Sargent) Quimby. She was educated in the Winchester schools and graduated from the High school. For many years she was with the R. H. Stearns Co. of Boston, employed in the trimming department. She was a member of the First Congregational Church of long standing and was also a member of the Fortnightly. She leaves one sister, Miss Cora A. Quimby, town librarian, and a brother-in-law, Mr. George A. Barron.

The funeral services were held at the residence, 185 Mystic Valley Parkway, Tuesday afternoon at three. Rev. Howard J. Child, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiated. Many beautiful floral tributes were displayed, the gifts of a host of personal friends and during the service Mrs. Ada Belle Childs sang two selections. The burial was in the Quimby family lot in Wildwood cemetery.

A committal service over the remains of the late Charles W. Young, who died last week at St. Stephens, N. B., was conducted by Rev. Charles Lord of Georgetown, Mass., at Wildwood cemetery, Monday afternoon.

The Edison Glow

THOMAS A. EDISON is an authority on Electric Light, but he couldn't tell You what your bill next month will be.

Why?

Because if You go out calling and leave lights burning—if You have a "party" or forget a cellar light—or have a number of cloudy days—that will increase your bill correspondingly.

Please remember this.

TUFTS SEEKS EXTRA SESSIONS

Owing to the utter inadequacy of the number of criminal terms as they exist at present in Middlesex County, District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts is going to endeavor to change the system so that monthly sessions may be had with two judges in attendance, one for trial work and the other for disposing of cases. The growth of the population of the county has been tremendous during the last few years, and the large increase in the number of automobiles has meant a correspondingly large increase in the number of automobile cases. There are now some three times as many cases as there were ten years ago, and there are practically no more days when court and jury are in session. There are only about seventy-five trial days and the number of cases total over 3,000. It is impossible to try more than one case a day, so that the number of cases which ought to be tried is very large. The condition is not a healthy one. He is seeking relief, therefore, in the form of additional judges and additional court terms. He is accordingly preparing a bill for the appointment of extra judges in the superior court and is endeavoring to arrange for additional sittings for the disposition of criminal cases.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 29.

Your tax rate is $22. What's your valuation?

May the warm weather continue until the coal bins are filled.

The report that the Assessors have left on a Southern trip is said to be wholly without foundation.

Under the new property valuations, Winchester will doubtless prove a fortunate field for real estate speculators.
While it is said to be doubtful if Winchester bankers will agree to loan to 60 per cent of the new figures, it is very probable that that proportion may be realized.

Registration for the coming presidential election promises to be heavy, not only on account of the large number of women voters who are expected to take part, but also in the interest always manifested by the male voters.
An old complaint often given at the polls on election day by some would-be voter is that he did not know when he could register. This a poor excuse. We publish this week a complete list of registration dates, and if you have a friend who is planning to register do not fail to call his attention to the ad. The first day is Wednesday, October 13.

Without doubt, Winchester people are satisfied with their financial institutions, for the deposits in local banks have never been so large as at present. It is a great deal like human nature—one man will take his money to a foreign place and invest it in an enterprise wholly unknown to him; the other places his money at home, among men whom he knows, in an enterprise he is familiar with and has seen grown and prosper. Winchester has four banks, all conducted and managed by Winchester residents.
They are growing with the town, are well managed and sound. Why not bank at home?

Winchester tax payers, or more properly Winchester property owners, received a jolt this week when their 1920 tax bills came in. Although it had been understood from various sources that the valuation of property would be raised about twenty-five per cent, few residents were prepared for the drastic raise of from 100 to 150 per cent. Many rejoiced when the tax rate of $22 was announced, but now it appears that their pleasure was rather premature, to say the least. It is no wonder that the Board of Assessors decided to have the STAR omit the publication of its usual list of large tax payers—we are all in that class. The question arises whether a demand makes a value. Sugar bought at 15 cents a pound may and possibly was sold at 50 cents when the supply was not available. Those who so sold it were arrested by our Government charged with profiteering. It may be possible that some of the increased valuations may be reached in a sale—if hen houses, etc., are excepted, but with no housing accommodations, does this mean that such a figure is a fair and just valuation? Would this valuation be lowered in the future?

This week we notice that the heads of the building unions are urging a stabilization of demands "owing to the stagnation of building", and this, too, raises the question of whether labor costs set actual values. Probably few of us would care to sell our homes under present day circumstances; probably many of us would gladly sell at the new valuations if we had a second house available for residence. We doubt if a valuation once fixed and accepted is ever lowered; at least we have never known of such an instance. On the other hand we have seen our tax rate lowered. Of course we have got to pay for what we buy. If we want good roads, good sidewalks, good schools and other municipal living of the best we must expect it will cost us money. From such heated comment as has been heard during the week the majority of our tax payers would prefer that it be raised on an increased tax rate, with a future possibility of reduction, than by an increased valuation which not all of us at least expect to ever be lowered, and which many, from appearances, feel excessive.

WINCHESTER HOME SERVICE

Miss Jowett, Executive Secretary of the Red Cross Home Service, will be in the Committee Room, second floor, Town Hall, Wednesday, evenings, from 7 to 8, to render any possible assistance to men returned from service, and especially to those having any disability.

One of the most scientific and shrewd money-getters I ever knew died in 1906, leaving his fortune mostly in high-grade real estate, to his widow.

The press estimated its value at $4,000,000. A man who knew him quite well told me recently it was at least $1,750,000. He was so rich he thought he did not need Life Insurance.

His widow KNOWS she does, as the estate is practically gone, through mismanagement.
Three residents of his city have verified the above. One-tenth of his fortune in Life Insurance would have given a generous income.

$181,400 properly arranged will yield $1,000 per month throughout life of beneficiary.

SERVICES FOR LOUIS J. MILLER

Funeral services for Louis J. Miller were held at St. Mary's Church Saturday. Rev. Fr. Francis E. Rogers, Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, and Rev. Dr. John W. H. Corbett officiated. Seated within the sanctuary were Rev. Fr. Nicholas J. Murphy, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, Allston; Rev. Fr. Charles E. Lane, S. J., of Boston College; Rev. Fr. John H. Griffin, pastor, and Rev. Fr. J. J. O'Brien, assistant, at St. John's Church, Winthrop, and Rev. Fr. Crowley, chaplain of the Academy of the Assumption, Wellesley Hills.

A delegation of members of Winthrop Lodge of Elks, whose officers held an Elks' service at the residence, 25 Ridgely road, last evening, were present at the services, together with a large number of former business associates. The pallbearers were Henry V. Cunningham of Boston, Dr. Frank L. Marshall of Newton, William H. Kelley of Providence, and John J. Fallon of Winthrop. The committal prayers at the grave in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury, were recited by Rev. Fr. Charles E. Lane, S. J.

Alice Gormley, the Visiting Nurse, serves all classes and all creeds; that every section of the town—east side, west side, north side and south side—requisitions her services. She is welcomed in fine mansions and humble homes. The charge for her services depends on the ability of the patient to pay. The maximum for a visit is 75 cents, but any amount less than this or, where money is scarce, nothing at all may be given.

The value of this service is quickly apparent. In cases of protracted or chronic illness or convalescence, the daily visit of the nurse relieves the household of such tasks as dressing wounds or sores, bathing patients and other duties connected with the sick-room. And such tasks are usually much better handled by an efficient, trained nurse than by a member of the family.

One grateful patient has given the Visiting Nurse Association a Ford coupe. This enables Mrs. Gormley, assisted by a pupil nurse, to accomplish a large amount of work in one day, no matter what the weather. The report of a day's work in the month of April follows:

8 a. m. Start with day's work planned. Case A, has a new baby, so go to Cross street first; give mother general care, which means bath, hair combed, bed changed, temperature and pulse taken and recorded, and Doctor's orders carried out, and patient made comfortable; baby bathed and dressed.

Swanton street next. Case B, has carcinoma, which is dressed daily.

Case C, Nelson street, has been confined to bed 11 years, paralyzed. Nurses from Visiting Nurse Association have been in constant attendance for five years.

Case D, Middlesex street; breast abscess. Doctor and nurse dress it daily.

Case E, Main street, has been confined to bed 5 months with tuberculosis. Go twice a week, give bath and rub.

Case F, Everett avenue; daily bath and general care.

Case G, Church street, has intestinal trouble; give saline irrigation.

Case H, Loring avenue; arms and face burned; dressed daily.

Case I, Grove street; chronic invalid; bath and general care.

Case K, Forest street; confined to bed three years with fractured hip, general care.

2 p. m. Did some errands for hospital; spent from 3 p. m. to 4:30 at the Association rooms over Post Office making out my report; made reports to two doctors about patients; 4:45, went with a doctor to assist in operating on an infected hand.

Went to bed at 10 p. m. I am a knock on my door and word that Dr. N will be after me in a short time to help in a confinement case. Went with doctor and came back 3:30 a. m. Can the value of such a service to Winchester people be over-estimated?

Through a mistake the name of the doctor was omitted from "Interviews with Winchester Citizens," last week. The Winchester Visiting Nurse Association takes pleasure in giving the name of Dr. Cutter, who has given most generously of his time and interest to the baby clinic for more than a year. In October, Dr. Simond will take his place. The success of the Association has been largely due to the hearty cooperation and support that the Winchester doctors have always given.

PROGRESS in any industry is marked by certain well defined steps—each step a positive contribution to the well-being or economy of part or all of the people affected by the industry.

No more positive benefit with respect to a saving in time and money has ever been conferred on the small car owners of this country than the creation of the clincher type of tire.

A product of the foresight and experience of the United States Rubber Company—the oldest and largest rubber organization in the world.

The United States Rubber Company has never assumed that because a man owned a small car he was necessarily lacking in a true appreciation of quality.

U.S. 30 x 3½-inch tires are built as well and as carefully and as honestly as the largest size tires are built.

In a factory devoted exclusively to this size tire.

By workmen trained and skilled in the production of Clincher Tires.

Go to a legitimate dealer when you want a small size tire.

He knows what the United States Rubber Company has done in the interests of the small car owner. And he knows the wisdom of putting the small car owner's interests above his own.

MISS HANNAH JACOBSON
Child Welfare Nurse

This Week, Fellow Citizens, We Want You to Meet Miss Jacobson, Our Public Health Nurse

It was only a short two months ago that the writer of this article discovered that Winchester boasted a Public Health Nurse. We were mildly surprised at that time not to find her a very independent person, because we discovered in the Twenty-first Annual Report of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association that there are 55,000 vacancies for Public Health Nurses. Can you imagine working every day from 8:30 to 5, and making 1166 calls in six months, in addition to spending an hour every day, except Saturday, at the rooms of the Association, and helping to conduct a Well Baby Clinic once a week for two hours, with 55,000 other jobs waiting for you? The moes have it.

But that is Miss Jacobson's record. And the work that she is doing in Winchester with the assistance of Dr. Nutter, and under the direction of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association, should be given the most enthusiastic support by every citizen. Don't crowd, please. You'll have ample opportunity to contribute a little later. Just now all we want to do is to tell you the story.

Miss Jacobson's work includes the care of expectant mothers, supervision of the Well Baby Clinics and the oversight of all children under school age. And how well this work is handled is shown by the fact that Winchester enjoys a remarkably low infant mortality. Just how many infant epidemics have been nipped in the bud by Miss Jacobson's vigilance we don't know. But we do know how much it means to each resident of Winchester to know that every child, every mother and every expectant mother may be properly instructed in matters of health, because your health and our health depends largely on the health of our neighbors and fellow citizens.

A typical day's work for Miss Jacobson follows. It will do you good to read the report:

On duty 8:30 a. m.
Telephone call from Mrs. A. that she wishes Child Welfare nurse would call to see her baby, as it has peculiar symptoms, yet appears well. Promises to call in a. m.

To Board of Health office for addresses of recent reported contagious cases.

To Mrs. B. to instruct and demonstrate making of formula advised by Baby Clinic physician.

Calls in district of contagious cases. Instructs in prevention of spreading disease to other members of community and in proper care and feeding of healthy members exposed to the disease.

Finds Mrs. A.'s baby has been given food not suitable for his age. Advises simple treatment, and if he does not respond immediately, to consult physician. Leaves diet slip.

Later, Child Welfare nurse calls on children under school age. Mothers advised to consult family physician about removing enlarged tonsils and adenoids, about teeth and defective eyes before school commences.

Afternoon—Pre-natal visits and visits made to families that have been exposed to tuberculosis, or where an active case has not been removed. Families urged to observe health rules and keep in touch with own physician at regular intervals.

On Tuesday afternoons, from 2 until 4, at the Winchester Visiting Nurse rooms, over the Post Office, Miss Jacobson conducts a baby conference known as the "Baby Clinic." Beginning with the first of October, Dr. Simons will be the attending physician. Here mothers bring the babies to be weighed, measured and scrutinized, and to be advised about any necessary changes in diet and in general care. If any serious symptom is found, the mother is urged to consult the family physician at once.

Are you in favor of this work? If you are, be patient, and you'll have a chance to prove it.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MR. WINDE

Mr. Henry J. Winde, prominent through his long residence in Winchester and his efficient services on the Cemetery Commission, recently received the following communication:

WILDWOOD CEMETERY Cemetery Commissioners' Office Town Hall

October 5, 1920.

Dear Mr. Winde:

At the regular meeting of the Board of Cemetery Commissioners, held October 4, it was voted:

To send a letter of congratulation to you on October 6, your seventy-fifth birthday. We have had many good times together in the past on that date, and we are all looking forward to the time when, with renewed good health, you may be with us again. Wishing you many happy returns of the day, and for a speedy and complete recovery, I am,

Yours very truly,

Ernest R. Eustis,
For the Board.

Mr. Winde is at present confined to his home by illness, he having been laid up for the past three weeks, much to the regret of his many friends, all of whom join with his fellow colleagues in extending their best wishes for a speedy recovery and unlimited birthday anniversaries.

BADLY INJURED BY FALL

Lawrence Sorenson of 33 Teel street, Arlington, was badly injured Wednesday forenoon by a fall from a tree at the corner of Church and Dix streets. Sorenson is employed by the Edison Company. The big elm at the corner is being removed to lay a new granite sidewalk, and the Edison Company was engaged in replacing its wires. Sorenson was almost at the top of a 40-foot ladder, and had sawed off a limb of the tree. When the limb fell it struck the ladder, causing it to slide and finally fall. When about five feet from the ground Sorenson jumped from the ladder, landing partly on his face. His left leg was broken at the hip and he received bad cuts about the face. Dr. Brown was called and Sorenson was taken to the hospital. It is now thought that he will recover satisfactorily. He fell about 35 feet.

MUSIC GARDEN MEETS

The Winchester Music Garden held its first meeting of the 1920-21 season Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Belichon, of this town. A feature of the evening's program was Benjamin Godard's "Midnight," an ultra modern composition for two violins, played by Mrs. Charles Woodsum and Mr. Daniel Berggs. Godard's Serenade for two violins and piano was another instrumental number. Miss Brenda Bond rendered two groups of songs, and Miss Mabel Wingate played two groups of violin solos. George Lochman also rendered a group of songs. Mrs. Frank Jones played a piano solo. There was the usual paper read on the subject of music, the author being Louis C. Elson.

TWO WINCHESTER GIRLS ELECTED

Miss Doris Redding of Lakeview road, a student at the Bridgewater Normal School, was recently elected president of the Young People's Union of that school. Miss Margaret Chase was elected vice-president of the Student Government Association of the Normal School.

The first meeting of the League of Women Voters was held on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. James Nowell on Stratford road. About 150 women attended. Miss Mary P. Webster of Cambridge spoke in favor, and Mrs. George H. Root against, the League of Nations. No questions were allowed, it being the idea to present the League fully and have the women form their own opinion.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Barnes returned this week from a ten-day stay at Chebeague Island, Me.

BURGLARS IN TOWN LAST WEEK

Burglars visited Winchester Saturday evening. At the residence of Mr. James W. Russell, on Main street, near the Medford line, they got $13 to $15, and at the store of Patrick O'Connor, at Main and Swanton streets, near the Woburn line, they took cigars and cigarettes to the value of several dollars.

At the Russell house entrance was effected by climbing a porch to the second story. Mr. Russell and his son Fred, who were out on the farm in the evening, returned to find the second story well lighted, and presumably the thieves were at work. Their approach frightened them, however, and they succeeded in making their escape.

The O'Connor store was entered through a back window, the thieves containing themselves with the goods on sale, being unable to find any money. This break was reported Monday morning, when the proprietor opened up.

BUXTON—CUMMINGS

Largely Attended Fall Wedding at Unitarian Church

Over four hundred invitations were issued for the wedding of Miss Ruth Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Henry Cummings of Ravenscroft road, and Mr. Paul Henry Buxton of Torrington, Conn., which took place at the Winchester Unitarian Church on Saturday evening. Included in the attendance were many college friends of the couple, as well as society folks from numerous towns and cities.

Decorations at the church, in the auditorium where the ceremony was performed and the parlors, where the reception following was held, included palms and yellow chrysanthemums, with a floral arch banked with flowers for the receiving party. The music included the wedding march and a program for the organ by Mr. J. Wellington Carriek, organist at the church, and a program for piano, violin and cello by the trio from the Copley-Plaza. Rev. James Gordon Gilkey of Springfield performed the ceremony.

The bride, a graduate of Wellesley, '15, and a medical aid at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., during the war, was gowned in white chamoise with an overdress of white chantilly lace. Her veil was edged with chantilly lace and caught with orange blossoms and pearls. She wore also a platinum and diamond pendant, the gift of the groom, and carried the bride's roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Thelma Cummings, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a dress of orange crepe de chine with gold trimmings. She carried Ward's roses. Mr. Macklin Cummings, of Litchfield, Conn., was groomsmen.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mildred Cummings, sister of the bride, and Miss Caroline Buxton, sister of the groom. They wore yellow taffeta, with yellow tulle over-drapery, and carried pale pink Orphelia roses.

The reception followed immediately after the ceremony, in the church parlors, the newly married couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. Mrs. Cummings wearing black velvet with train, with corsage bouquet of lavender morning glories, and Mrs. Buxton black satin and black chantilly lace.

The ushers included Messrs. John Frost Ackerman and George Ray Seely, of Torrington, Conn.; Henry Shepard of New Haven, Conn., and Allan Campbell of Dorchester.

The couple left on a wedding trip over the Mohawk Trail to the Adirondacks and Canada, returning by way of the White Mountains. They will make their home in Torrington, Conn., where Mr. Buxton is connected with the Hendee Manufacturing Co.

On Friday night a dinner dance was given at the Winchester Country Club for the wedding party. The groom is a graduate of Technology and was a lieutenant in the aircraft section of the Ordnance Department during the war.

MRS. ALFRED C. VINTON

Mrs. Emma Frances Vinton, widow of the late Alfred C. Vinton, died at her home on Main street, Tuesday, of pneumonia. Although not in good health for some time, Mrs. Vinton's death was not expected, she being seriously ill but two days. She was 73 years of age.

Mrs. Vinton was a native of Boston and the daughter of James and Emily (Snell) Mills. She had made her home in this town for many years, during which time she was actively identified with the work of the First Congregational church. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Mabel L. Vinton.

Mrs. Vinton was educated in the Boston schools and graduated from the Girls' High and Normal School, as it was then called. She taught in a private school under the Park street church for a year or two, and there met Mr. Vinton, who was teaching classics in the same school. They were married October 11, 1872, and came to Winchester to the house which they have occupied ever since. She was a member of the Mission Union for many years, until her health no longer permitted her to take an active part in duties outside her home.

The funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the residence, Rev. Howard J. Childley officiating. The burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

BOARD OF TRADE TO GIVE LECTURE

It was announced this week that the Board of Trade is to give a free stereopticon lecture in the Town Hall on Saturday evening, October 23. The lecture will be given by L. O. Holmes, of the Bureau of Economics, Washington, D. C., and his subject will be "Virgin Fishing Streams and Hunting Grounds."

HUBER—HAMILTON

The wedding of two prominent Winchester young people, Miss Alice Margaret Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hamilton of Vine street, a graduate of the Winchester High School and of the Waltham Training School for Nurses, and Mr. Elmer Raymond Huber, a World War veteran and son of Mr. William Huber of Cross street, took place on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard J. Childley of the First Congregational Church, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the couple.

The residence was decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, palms and fern. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, the couple standing beneath an arch of autumn leaves and hydrangeas. The bride wore a dress of white satin, with draperies of silk embroidered net. Her tulle veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Elizabeth Bartlett of Waltham was maid of honor, wearing white silk embroidered net over pink satin and carrying pink rosebuds. Mr. Ralph W. Hatch was best man.

The bridesmaids were dressed in green and orchid organdie and carried pink and yellow sweet peas. They were Miss Constance McIntosh, Miss Arnette Belichon, Miss Edith Johnson and Miss Mildred Foreman, all from Winchester and classmates of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony, at which the couple were assisted in receiving by their parents. The ushers for both the ceremony and the reception were Messrs. Harold Lutes, Leslie Nutting, Robert Hamilton, brother of the bride, and John Huber, brother of the groom.

There was a large attendance of the bride's classmates from the Waltham Training School, as well as guests from Arlington, Woburn, Wilmington, Roslindale, Needham, Hampton, Keene and Concord, N. H.

The couple left after the reception for a trip to Canada, where they will visit relatives of the bride in New Brunswick. During the war the groom was in the U. S. submarine service. They will make their home here.

WOMEN FOR VOTES!

With this slogan on their banner, the Winchester Division of the Women's Republican Army is forming into line and preparing for the order, "Forward, March!" Have you found your place in the line? Have you volunteered your services? If not, your final opportunity is near at hand. If you could not register for the primaries, register now at the first possible moment, not the last. Invite your friends and neighbors to a registration party. Telephone Winchester 1052-M, and automobiles will call and take you to the polls at a stated hour. Keep in mind that "Politics, like charity, begin at home." Ours is a people's party in the truest sense of the word. We are not dependent upon a signal from a dictator's wand; we are dependent upon the intelligence, clear-sightedness and courage of men and women in communities like ours, united for the common good of all.

Not interested in politics, you say? But you are interested in your taxes. You are interested in your coal bin, your bread box and your sugar container. Look closely; you will find plenty of politics in them all!

In heaven's name, wake up! Do not let your indifference help our national government slide down hill four years more. At our present pace, where would we be by that time? The subtlest kind of propaganda is at work endeavoring to capture women's votes through their unsophisticated idealism. You who see clearly, do your part to combat this danger. Remember how we swallowed the bait, "He kept us out of war," and what result? Let us examine carefully before we nibble again.

Who will be the first to register at the office of the Town Clerk, Town Hall, on the following days?

October 13, 14, 15, from 1 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

October 16, from 1 to 10 p. m.

Winchester Women's Republican Committee.

SILVER TEA

The Woman's Western Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church opened the fall season with a very social and profitable Silver Tea, at the home of Mrs. Edward Comfort and Miss Emma Freeman on Highland avenue, Monday afternoon. Nearly 40 ladies attended and the time was spent wandering over the beautiful grounds and piazzas, and all were served before leaving with delicious peach shortcake and a variety of luscious grapes raised on the place, and a nice cup of tea. A generous amount was raised, to be used in connection with the barrels for western ministers' families.

REPUBLICANS! IMPORTANT!

Are you going to be away from Winchester (more than two towns removed) Election Day, November 2? Do you know any fellow Republican who may be away? If so, notify the Town Clerk or Republican Town Committee, and they will furnish you the proper blanks to fill out, in order to receive a ballot by mail.

Republican Town Committee, William Adriance, Chairman.

FAREWELL PARTY

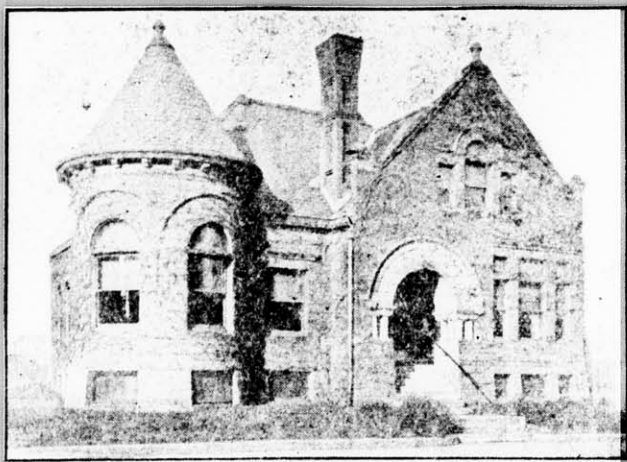

Miss Clara O'Loughlin and Miss Evelyn Murphy of Medford, formerly of this town, were given a farewell party at the former's home on the eve of their departure for the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital Training School for Nurses, where they will study for three years.

They were surprised with many useful gifts, each receiving a silver mesh bag, fountain pen and toilet set.

Miss Elizabeth Canniffe, also of this town, who is leaving with them, was their guest of honor. The house was prettily decorated with Halloween decorations, and all the guests received Halloween favors. Refreshments were served.

WHAT YOU HEAR AROUND TOWN

Editor of the Star:

They say that the assessors have failed to make any kind of a hit with the property owners. While that may be so, a great many of the property owners are to blame for some of the increases in valuation. Take, for instance: A man, four years ago, bought two houses in the Cutter Village section of the town, paying at that time $1800 for both houses. This same man asks $4800 today for the property, with no noticeable improvement in them. Here's another one: A man five years ago bought a house and lot in the West Side section for which he paid $12,500; today that same piece of property is quoted at $20,000, if you are asking the price of it. Now, what a few of us want to know is, has the man who is asking $4800 for his property any right to kick if he is assessed $3600 for it? Also, has the other man anything coming his way if he is taxed for $16,000? Well, the most of us would say they are getting all that is coming to them. Of course, for the home owner or man who does not want to sell, the over-valuation hits hard, but the old saying, "Every one will sell if he gets his price," goes in this case.

We also heard some tall kicking about the street railway situation. It seems to be the general opinion that the Board of Selectmen or Board of Trade should get busy on the matter and take up the matter of fares with the street railway company; or, better still, why not let us have jitneys between Arlington, Winchester and Stoneham. As the law reads now, a jitney can operate between Winchester and Arlington without a license, but cannot take on or leave a passenger between points; that is, if you get on at Winchester Square you must ride through. It seems a queer law, but it seems to be the case.

We hear considerable around town about Sunday sports, and why we didn't have any baseball, etc., during the summer. Well, the law took effect after Town Meeting, and as we have not had any since last spring, it is up to the voters at the next March meeting to say whether there will be golf, tennis and baseball played here next season. They say around town we will have all these next season or none at all. Well, here's hoping we have something to keep the town alive. Also, there are a great many people who do not understand this law. A certain official in the town informed several people that should we have Sunday sports in town next year, nothing could take place on Manchester Field, as it was too near the churches. Well, this law specifically exempts playgrounds from the 1000-yard rule, and baseball, golf, tennis, croquet and all sports can be held on Manchester Field without violating any statute.

We hear lots of credit being handed the Board of Selectmen for the fine piece of work that is being done on Main street on the sidewalks. Also, we hear them getting a "bawling out" for hiring so many out-of-town men on the Highway Department. I don't see where these fellows who are doing the kicking have got any complaint coming. The jobs were there; why didn't they go and get them?

Did they want Superintendent Clarke to send a limousine with a footman after them? Well, you can't please every one, so what's the use.

Next week we will try and tell you some of the Park Board plans for next season.

The Stroller.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

"Star Reader" arrests our attention to the fact that a dog in New Foundland saved 92 lives on a shipwrecked vessel by carrying them a rope after struggling with a heavy sea to reach them for over an hour and remarks: "It is a very grave reflection on human nature that many men live their lives without being near as useful to humanity as this one dog."

A girl, less than a hundred miles from Winchester, won a prize at an Old Home Week celebration by eating eleven blueberry pies. It is The Spectator's candid opinion that the encouragement of such feats as these in times of the high cost of living is little short of criminality. Why would it not be an excellent idea for prizes to be offered in Winchester to those who can continue on this mundane sphere with the minimum amount of eating?

A newspaperman of our acquaintance has something to say about lying to reporters of newspapers and he wants it to be made a capital offense. Sometimes things are put over on the pencil pushers, but if any Winchesterite thinks anybody can tell the truth so that another can act upon it, and depend upon exactly what was said, take a ride in an auto and inquire your way and follow the advice. Not one person in a dozen can advise a traveler as to the roads and turns to take in words which will not mislead if followed to the letter. The ability to tell a well-known thing in a way that will permit the hearer to repeat it correctly is a gift not given to many. Most cases of misinformation given in papers comes from inability, very common in us all, to state things in an understandable way.

In the opinion of a leading Winchester gentleman "nothing could be more appropriate, and few things could be better for the State at this time, than the presence of a number of women sitting as members of the Massachusetts Legislature." We hold to the identical opinion. The Legislature is a body before which comes for action many subjects in which the hundreds of thousands of women voters are vitally interested. The women of Massachusetts should have direct representation in the Legislature, and the time to start giving them that representation is now, not some time in the dim and distant future, when the women of Massachusetts will be supposed to know more than they do now. It would be a fine thing if a couple of women were to be initiated, without further delay, into the mysteries of Massachusetts political manipulation and legislation. They would learn quickly.

"It is useless to indulge in the talk about prices going down to normal," remarked a man in Winchester Square. "It is getting there, not talk about it, that the people want." Fact!

A Winchester housewife suggests an Apple Pie Year. Of course there is an apple season, but pie has all seasons for its own, and there are apples all the year 'round. There is more than a modicum of truth in the saying that "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." And as our American stomach craves apple pie and then some more pie, why not make it Apple Pie?

The Spectator.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY

Solemn High Mass of Requiem will be sung at St. Mary's Church, Winchester, on Tuesday morning (Columbus Day), October 12, at 9 o'clock, for the repose of the soul and to honor the memory of Private William John Noonan, 7th Co. 6th Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps, who was killed in action in France two years ago.

"In alien earth, across the troubled seas, His body lies, that was so fair and young. His mind is stopped, with half his senses unawake. His arm is still that struck to make men free. But let no cloud of lamentation be. Where, o'er a warrior's grave, a lyre is hung. We keep the echoes of his golden tongue. We keep the vision of his chivalry."

No Increase —IN— SUNDAY POST PRICES

The three other Boston Sunday newspapers, the Sunday Globe, the Sunday Herald and the Sunday Advertiser, all publicly announce that their retail price will be advanced everywhere in city and country to ten (10) cents per copy, beginning next Sunday, Oct. 10, 1920.

The Boston Post has no disposition to criticize its esteemed contemporaries for taking this step. But, for itself, it does not feel justified in taking such action at the present time. There will be no change in the retail price of the Boston Sunday Post, which remains at six (6) cents per copy in Boston and vicinity and seven (7) cents per copy in the country.

It is true that there have been very large increases in the cost of producing newspapers. Prices of newspapers have already been advanced considerably to meet these conditions. The Post management does not deem a further advance necessary at the present time.

The Post does not like to contribute to increasing the High Cost of Living to its multitude of readers. It believes that at present the tendency is in the other direction. The recent big reduction in the price of various motor cars, silks, wheat, cottons, woolens, sugar and many other commodities indicates the trend of the times. It is very important for the welfare of people generally to get back to a more moderate basis of prices. If necessary, the Post is prepared to operate at a loss for a while rather than to increase the burdens on the public.

From a circulation point of view a ten-cent price for a Sunday newspaper naturally and almost invariably involves loss of readers. This means that the newspaper's influence is restricted, and that there is a decreased response to advertising in its columns. It is distinctly to the disadvantage of the advertisers to have Sunday newspapers advanced to ten cents per copy. It would be much more to their advantage to pay a little more, if necessary, for increased circulation and increased productiveness of their announcements.

The Boston Sunday Post has always allowed a liberal margin of profit to the newsdealers and newsboys, who distribute it to the public. Beginning next Sunday, Oct. 10, it will somewhat increase this margin, and at the same time it will allow a maximum of five per cent returns of unsold copies, thus dividing in an equitable manner the inevitable loss in the fluctuation of newspaper sales, due to news and weather conditions. The Post appreciates the difficulties which newsdealers and newsboys, as everybody else in business, have had to meet of late. It will treat them as liberally as possible, and in return asks that they maintain in good faith the established price of the Sunday Post. Their increase of sales will afford them more profit than if they should try to secure an undue profit on the sale of fewer copies.

The Post urges its readers not to pay over the established prices of the Daily and Sunday Posts—i. e., two cents per copy for the daily edition and six cents per copy for the Sunday edition in Boston and vicinity and seven cents per copy for the Sunday edition in the country—unless in exceptional cases the delivery is unusually difficult and expensive. In cases of unjustifiable overcharges Post readers are requested to notify Mr. E. J. Maguire, Circulation Manager of the Post, who will endeavor to rectify the matter.

THE BOSTON POST.

REMEMBER

No Increase in the Prices of the Boston Sunday Post

They remain at six (6) cents in Boston and vicinity and seven (7) cents in the country.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

October 6, 1920. There is need of Scoutmasters in Winchester. Last year there were four troops in Winchester. Now, because of lack of Scoutmasters, there are but two, and only one of those two has a regular Scoutmaster.

The qualifications for Scoutmaster are: "He must be at least twenty-one years of age, and is chosen because of good moral character and his interest in work with boys." A Scoutmaster exercises general supervision over his troop, and it is not necessary for him to give detailed instruction to his boys.

One of the twelve Boy Scout laws is: "A Scout is thrifty. He saves his money and respects other people's property."

and Boy Scout work along the lines laid down by this law, and the eleven other laws, all tends toward making our boys into good citizens.

A man who is fond of boys can get lots of enjoyment and a surprising amount of exercise in connection with Scout work.

Will those interested in becoming Scoutmasters please communicate with Francis E. Smith, Scout Commissioner 1 Wolcott Terrace Winchester, Mass., or Arthur G. Butters, Scout Executive Care Winchester High School Winchester, Mass.

WINCHESTER GRANGE

Winchester Grange will meet at Lyceum Hall, Tuesday evening, October 12, and at this meeting the first and second degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates. Reading Men's Degree Staff has been invited to work the second degree.

A special meeting will be held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Nagle, 135 Washington street, to receive a few belated applications.

The meeting of Middlesex-Essex Pomona Grange with Winchester Grange on September 30 was a most interesting one, and a tremendous class of candidates received the fifth degree. A regular grange supper was served by Winchester Grange in the Masonic apartments, under the chairmanship of Sister Sarah Rogers, with the co-operation of the entire grange.

Large delegations came in jineys from Lynnfield and Saugus, with a splendid attendance from Reading, North Reading, Melrose, Wakefield, Stoneham, and Woburn. This meeting was the most successful meeting of the Pomona season.

Renovator, will thoroughly renovate and clean estates and homes inside and out. Grounds thoroughly cleaned; painting and general house cleaning and repairs attended to by expert. Reliable; best of references. Tel. 1170-W. Oswald Wicks, 14 Stone

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The fall meeting of the Winchester Council of Girl Scouts was held on Monday at the home of the Commissioner, Mrs. Joseph Ryan, 5 Cliff street, with a large attendance of members present. Reports were read, several matters of business transacted and plans discussed for the coming year. Miss Mary Richards was elected an honorary member of the Council, and the following ladies were appointed to serve on the Court of Honor for the year: Mrs. N. M. Hill, Mrs. F. P. Smith, Mrs. W. E. Healey, Mrs. James Tilden and Miss Mary Lyons. Mrs. W. A. Lefavour was appointed Publicity Chairman. Capt. Ella Emerson gave a most interesting talk on the National Training Camp for Scout leaders at Plymouth, Mass.

This was the first National Training Camp in the country, and was organized by Mrs. James Storrow. Mrs. Storrow is Commandant of the camp and it had an attendance of nearly one hundred this summer, students coming from as far south as Texas and as far west as Colorado. Captain Emerson spent nearly a week there, earning several merit badges and making a miniature model of an outdoor camp which was exhibited at the close of the meeting. In closing, she urged the Council members and all interested mothers to attend this camp next year.

"Campward Ho!" a most interesting and attractive book on Scout Camping, has recently been published by National Headquarters. The book is splendidly illustrated and contains a great deal of valuable information presented in a most entertaining manner. Some one has said, "We camp to live with Nature." If living is knowing, let us, then, while we camp, learn to know the great outdoors, and at the same time take advantage of being together, and learn to live as Scouts. Copies of this book may be obtained from the Commissioner, Mrs. Ryan. Tel. 1234.

Winn, a teacher, of Winchester, who is bound for Hongkong, sailed today on the China mail steamer, Nanking. Adventure in Fiction.

In each army Y. M. C. A. building in the training camps of America there is a circulating library of books provided by the American Library association, and one of the duties of the secretary is to see to the circulation of the books among the soldiers.

In a Y. M. C. A. building at Camp Forrest a bright-faced young soldier leaned against the counter and earnestly inquired, "Have you got any algebra books?"

The secretary, delighted at this manifestation of interest in higher things, scanned the book shelves.

"No, my boy," he replied, "I'm sorry to say that I haven't. I have several arithmetics, but not a single algebra. Will anything else do?"

"Oh, give me any good book of adventure," said the boy.

And presently the secretary recovered sufficiently to realize that the soldier wanted a book by Horatio Alger, and selecting "Pluck and Luck, or From Porter to President," he sent the applicant on his way rejoicing.

NARROW ESCAPE

Stuart Barnard, aged 6, son of Thomas A. Barnard of 46 Wedgemere avenue, had a remarkable escape from serious injury Saturday evening about 5:30. An automobile owned and operated by Charles G. Sherman of 79 Marston street, Medford Center, came along Cambridge street and passed Swan road just as the boy, who was riding a velocipede, came down the slope on Swan road out to and across Cambridge street. The driver, in order to avoid hitting the boy, slowed up and turned his auto into the sidewalk between a tree and a hydrant on Cambridge street. The rear of the auto was in the path of the velocipede, which the boy could not stop because of the slope. His velocipede hit the back part of the automobile. The boy was thrown off and the wheel of his machine was smashed. He sustained a broken tooth and a cut on his upper gum. He was taken to his home after being taken to the Winchester Hospital. In the automobile with Mr. Sherman were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Lawrence of 111 George street, Medford, and two other women who were shaken up and suffered from the shock of the accident.

D. OF I. HALLOWEEN COSTUME PARTY

The annual costume party of Santa Maria Court No. 159, D. of I., will be held on Thursday evening, October 21, in White's Hall.

An enthusiastic committee, in charge of Mrs. Thomas Conlon, has been working tirelessly for the success of this affair, which promises to exceed any previous efforts in this line. One of the features will be the musical revue, "Alec Sander's band is back in D. I. Land," under the direction of Miss Katherine O'Connor. Many fine vocal selections will be rendered by the famous "Apple Corers."

The proceeds of this party will be donated to Miss Annie Haggerty's table, in aid of the K. of C. Bazaar.

WALTHAM BEAT WINCHESTER, 44 TO 0

Fallon ran wild through the Winchester defenses, and Waltham High defeated Winchester, 44 to 0, Saturday, at Waltham. Three of his dashes aggregated 125 yards and his tackling was immense. Winchester never threatened. Everett's goal kicking was perfect.

Dunstable Camp

The following Scouts attended the Massachusetts State Camp at Dunstable this summer: Doris Johnson, Esther Carrier, Virginia Carrier, Edith Plummer, Louise De Camp, Constance Williams and Mary Carr. The camp of 100 girls was most delightfully located in a large pine grove on Lake Massapoag, between Dunstable and East Groton. The girls were divided into four groups: Guides (15 years or over), Warblers (14 years), Crickets (12 to 14 years), Brown Owls (all those under 12 years). Each group had a Councilor, Assistant Councilor, and one or two Junior Councilors.

On arrival at the camp each girl was examined by a trained nurse and assigned to her tent in the beautiful pine grove.

A wooden camp house near by afforded a warm, cheery meeting place for cool evenings and rainy days.

The girls were given light but regular camp duties to do, these being changed twice each week in order that they might not become monotonous. And the cheerfulness and co-operation which was shown in the performance of these duties was typical of the true Scout spirit.

The vegetable girls helped to prepare the vegetables and helped in the kitchen; water girls carried water for cooking and for the outdoor washstands; then there were the waitresses, dish washers, wood gatherers and fire tenders.

The game field, a short distance away, afforded a delightful place for athletics and games of all sorts, and swimming was enjoyed each day under the supervision of an instructor and several assistants. Some of the older girls went on over-night hikes, while the younger girls sat around the camp fires and had songs and ghost stories; and twice each week the whole group of 100 met at Pineapple Point for a big camp fire. The girls had a wonderful time with good food, plenty of milk (100 quarts being used each day), healthy exercise, and, best of all, a splendid, home atmosphere, due, very largely, to the wonderful personality and sympathetic understanding of Miss Alice Sandford, the director of the camp. It is hoped a larger number of Scouts may attend this camp next year.

GREAT AMERICAN CITIES

The first of a series of talks on Great Industrial Centers in the United States will be given Sunday evenings at the Methodist Church. The first lecture is on Philadelphia, our most distinctly American city. The talk is beautifully illustrated in the lantern with over fifty colored slides, and deals with the growth of the city, from the religious viewpoint. Its social needs and moral welfare are pictured.

WINCHESTER SAVINGS BANK

26 Mt. Vernon Street
IMPORTANT!

[Extract from Boston News Bureau]
MUST PAY CONSERVATIVE INTEREST

It has been pointed out that the trouble with the institutions in Boston that have run into difficulties was the offering of high interest rates for savings depositors.

Ponzi's operations are said to have caused large sums of money to be withdrawn from savings institutions, and some of the weaker ones were tempted to offer as high as 5 1/2 per cent on deposits to hold what business they had and to attract additional business. Bankers say, and experience seems to prove, that the profits of a properly managed savings bank are not large enough to warrant a bank in paying such rates of interest, and it is further said that savings banks that do pay extremely high rates are, as a consequence, forced to take risks that are not considered proper for institutions handling the savings of wage earners, etc.

Out of a total of 141 reporting savings banks in the state of New York only five pay more than 4 per cent, while fourteen pay less than 4 per cent. No reporting bank pays more than 4 1/2 per cent; the lowest rate paid is 3 1/2 per cent. Total resources of all savings banks in the state July 1, was $2,588,320,282. Amount of interest credited and paid during the year ending June 30, 1920, was $83,010,734.

This Bank has paid dividends for the last two years at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

Deposits go on Interest Monthly.

Money deposited on or before Wednesday, October 20, will draw interest from that day.

CALUMET CLUB NOTES

The annual dinner of the Calumet Club, to be held this Saturday evening, promises to be the biggest affair to be held at the Club this season. Already so many members have signified their intention of attending that additional tables have been arranged. The entertainment is to be a feature, as well as the menu.

The bridge whist at the Calumet Club next Tuesday evening will require tickets. These should be secured from the Steward by those planning to attend. The affair will be the first ladies' night of the season.

A monthly roll-off is to be held at the Calumet Club through the winter, the 20 men having the five highest selected strings to participate monthly. This roll-off is for tournament bowlers only, and prizes will be awarded for each month. The first roll-off will be held on Saturday evening, November 6, at 8 o'clock sharp.

A Halloween party is to be held at the Club on Friday evening, October 29. The party will be informal, with dancing, bowling and cards.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the Winchester Post No. 97, American Legion, in the Town Hall, Monday, October 18, at 7.45.

The following matters are to be brought up at that time:

Plans for the observance of Armistice Day, November 11, and nomination of officers for the coming year.

Our Post has been allotted a portion of the surplus from the Y. M. C. A. Fund, which is to be used for non-collegiate education. At the meeting the method of distribution will be explained, and application for scholarships will be taken.

It is also hoped that an Army Officer will be present to sign applications for the Victory Medal, and it is advisable that the members bring their discharge papers to the meeting.

C. N. Eaton, Commander.

MRS. MASON PRESIDENT

Of interest in Winchester is the election of Mrs. Edward C. Mason of Grove street as president of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association, to succeed Mrs. Milton P. Higgins of Worcester, who has become president of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Mason will preside at the coming state convention, to be held in Boston, October 21, 22, 23, with headquarters at the Hotel Brunswick.

One of the great treats of the convention will be an address by the famous schoolmaster of New York City, Angelo Patri, who will speak on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Huntington Hall. The meetings are open to the public.

WINCHESTER HOME SERVICE

Miss Jewett, Executive Secretary of the Red Cross Home Service, will be in the Committee Room, second floor, Town Hall, Wednesday evenings, from 7 to 8, to render any possible assistance to men returned from service, and especially to those having any disability.

AUTO BURNED SUNDAY NIGHT

The fire department was called out Sunday evening at 8.50 for a fire on Myopia Hill at the residence of Mr. Albert P. Smith, a sedan owned by "Jack" Smith being burned to a wreck. Box 573 was rung in, and from appearances it was at first thought that the McCall residence was on fire, this being because the auto was standing on the roadway near that house.

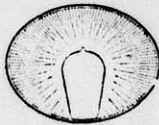

It is thought the car took fire from backfiring when running up the hill. It had been left standing in front of the house, and when discovered the flames enveloped the whole machine. The fire loosened the brakes and the car ran a short distance until it brought up against a tree. It was a total wreck.

The fire department was greatly hampered in reaching the scene by the large number of autos racing to the fire. One car stalled on Myopia Hill, causing one piece of apparatus to back down to avoid a collision, and it is reported that had either the Smith or McCall residences been on fire, it would have been impossible for the apparatus to have run out hose. Cars crowded in from both ends of the road, and it was impossible to turn them.

As a relief from present conditions it is anticipated that a police officer will accompany the fire apparatus from now on, and arrest all auto drivers who hinder the fire trucks and the work of the firemen. Auto drivers should take notice of these conditions, for they will not only be liable to arrest, but there is considerable danger in their having their car smashed as well.

MR. HENRY J. WINDE ILL

Many friends of Mr. Henry J. Winde, long a resident of this town and a member of our Cemetery Board for over twenty years, will learn with sympathy of his present severe illness. During the summer Mr. Winde had not been in the best of health, and last Friday he went to Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital, for examination. An operation was determined upon, but after examination this was not performed, it being decided that the best treatment could be accorded at his home. It is anticipated that he will shortly be discharged and return to Winchester, where it is hoped that his condition will improve.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

With Mrs. Russell Priest as teacher, the Millinery Classes conducted by the Home Economics Committee, which meet on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, and also on Thursday afternoons, are becoming very popular. Anyone desiring to join these classes will please call the chairman, Mrs. C. W. Tarbell, 734-M.

The Home Economics Committee are planning to conduct a Cooking Class early in November. Miss Alice Bradley, Principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery, considered the finest teacher of cooking in New England, has this class in charge. The course is to consist of ten demonstration lessons; the expense of the lessons to be based on the size of the class. If a large number of ladies make up the class there will be a considerable reduction in the cost to each one. All those desiring enrollment in this class please notify Mrs. C. W. Tarbell, chairman, at an early date.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Jacobs observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Saturday evening by holding a reception at their home on Symmes road. They were visited by a host of friends from this and surrounding places, over 100 calling to offer their congratulations, besides many good wishes sent by wire from distant cities.

The residence was decorated with cut flowers, yellow chrysanthemums predominating, and during the evening a program of music was given by a string trio of young ladies. Many beautiful gifts were received, among which were two silver trays, one from the Red Cross Sewing Unit of Melrose and the other from "We All Sew-A-Lot" of Malden. Included in the gifts were several remembrances made up of silver money.

Mrs. Jacobs herself was the recipient of a handsome platinum lavalliere, the gift of her husband.

MRS. HARRIET A. FREEBORN

Mrs. Harriet A. Freeborn, widow of the late Charles S. Freeborn, died Sunday at the home of her niece, Mrs. Robert V. Davis, 16 Symmes road. She was in her 82d year. Her death followed a three day's illness of heart failure.

Mrs. Freeborn was a native of Milford, N. H., the daughter of W. D. and Maria (Rogers) Jenkins. Funeral services were held at the residence on Wednesday forenoon, conducted by Rev. Murray W. Dewart, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. The remains were taken to Kirkwood, Mo., for interment in Oak Hill cemetery.

Many people are somewhat puzzled over the referendum on the 2.75 per cent alcohol being "deemed to be not intoxicating." It should not mislead anyone, as it is very clearly a move of the liquor interests to bring back the saloon, with all its concomitants.

Anyone with any understanding of the facts will know that it would be impossible to enforce any part of the Eighteenth Amendment if a percentage of alcohol but little less than the general brew of beer should be permitted, an extra glass supplying the amount of alcohol necessary to produce intoxication.

Perhaps the strongest argument against it for thinking people is that if this were allowed there would be no bar whatever against its sale to and use by minors. To quote Dr.
Shaw, "Do you want to furnish your children to become drunkards?" Certainly this would mean the training of another generation of drunkards.

Granted that the present enforcement of the law in Massachusetts is weak and ineffective, yet weak and ineffective at it is, it has almost emptied the jails and almshouses and has rehabilitated many men who had long been among the derelicts.

Where do the voters of Winchester stand, for enforcement of the Constitution of the United States or for nullification? If for enforcement, vote NO on the ballot which you will cast on election day. It will read:
"Shall an act entitled 'An Act to Regulate the Manufacture and Sale of Beer, Cider and Light Wines' and in which it is provided that all beverages containing not less than one-half of one per cent and not more than two and three-fourths per cent of alcohol by weight at sixty degrees Fahrenheit shall be deemed not to be intoxicating liquor, which act passed the House of Representatives by vote of 121 in favor and 67 against, and passed in the Senate by vote of 26 in favor and 6 against, and was thereafter vetoed by His Excellency, the Governor, and failed of passage in the Senate over the said veto by a vote of 14 in favor and 22 against, be approved?"

Governor Coolidge vetoed this measure, calling it "legislative deception," and in his veto message asked,
"Can Massachusetts afford to take any position which may turn out to be, which can anywhere be interpreted to be, an act of nullification?"

Sustain Governor Coolidge's veto, and vote "NO!"

WINCHESTER MAN INJURED BY BURGLARS

Mr. Frank W. Cole of Mason street, employed at the Park Street Garage, Somerville, was attacked by burglars at that place early Friday morning, receiving a bad gash on the head which required several stitches. Mr.
Cole was attacked by unknown persons while reclining on a couch in the office at 3.30 a. m. He was rendered unconscious by the blow on his head, and when he recovered he telephoned the Somerville police. During the time intervening the garage office and cars on the floor were ransacked. So far as could be ascertained, nothing but a revolver was taken. Mr. Cole was taken to his home after being treated by a physician.

The fire department was called out twice on Tuesday on still alarms. One call was for a chimney fire at the residence of John L. Munro on Cottage avenue, and the other was at the residence of Mrs. E. D. Bangs, where the house was filled with smoke from a new fire. Chief DeCourcy answered the latter call.

GREAT POLITICAL SERVICE

The notice of the Winchester League of Women Voters' meeting, given in the STAR last week, was not quite accurate. There was discussion, but it was limited to questions by the members, this insuring strict adherence to necessary information—which was important, as time was limited.

There will be a Mass Meeting at the Assembly Hall in the High School Building on October 28, when women will be shown how the voting on November 2 will be conducted by each party, and the record of each aspirant for office will be given.

These records, obtained by the Massachusetts League, will be begun October 18, in the Boston Traveler, and continue through the week. They comprise the candidates' views on certain progressive and humanitarian measures, with a statement of "who is who" facts about the candidates' personal history, which have been gathered by means of a questionnaire submitted by the League to every State and Congressional candidate to come before the voters November 2.
This is the first time such a questionnaire has been attempted and, considering the short time, the extent of the answers has been satisfactory; while primarily done by women for women, men voters will reap the benefit.

"Do not," says Mrs. Arthur G.
Roth, of the Legislative Committee in charge of the questionnaire, "vote thoughtlessly, because an 'R' or 'P' follows a candidate's name. Have an idea behind your vote and have that idea enlightened by a careful effort to know the quality of the candidate and his views on important public issues." Be sure and go to the meeting, October 28.

12? Answered

Facts which prove twelve months use of Gas Appliances is Economical, Clean and Convenient.

COAL RANGE FACTS—The average family of five minimum use 2 hods of coal daily. Average hod holds 25 lbs. of coal. Range coal costs you $16.00 a ton. Figured out, gives 1500 lbs. of coal costing monthly $12.00. This gives besides dust, ashes and dirt, hot-water, cooking facilities and heat for kitchen.

Gas Appliance Facts

The average family of five uses 2000 cu. ft. per month for cooking. Another 2000 cu. ft. of gas will give 1500 gals.
of hot water monthly or 50 gals. per day. Another 2000 cu.
ft. of gas will give 80 hrs. monthly use of a gas room heater or 2 hrs. 40 min. daily use. This total of 6000 cu. ft. at $1.70 a thousand will cost you monthly $10.20.

Comparison of costs:

Monthly use of coal range cost $12.00

Monthly use of gas appliances cost 10.20

Balance in favor of gas appliances 1.80

To which the convenience, cleanliness, no worry as to the supply, no fluky drafts, no ashes, no kindling wood costs, may consistently be added to the above balance in favor of using gas appliances 12 MONTHS EACH YEAR—winter and summer.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The individual who sits next to a fat man in a crowded street car knows what it is to have greatness thrust upon him.

Ever notice how things that are none of your business will interest you?

We can't see ourselves as other people see us by looking in a mirror.

A lot of people feather their nest by borrowed plumage.

Trouble hunters never come home empty handed.

After many months, constantly holding in mind the possibility of a reduction in expenses, the management of the STAR has decided that its price must be advanced. Beginning next week, the price per single copy will be 7 cents and the price per year will be $2.00, in advance. This allows subscribers a saving of 64 cents over purchasing weekly. Although many metropolitan papers, all protected by paper contracts made before present rates, doubled their prices months ago, not all of the suburban papers have advanced—although recently several in this neighborhood have raised their rates, among them being those of Arlington, Lexington and Woburn. The time has arrived when the suburban papers have either got to go up or go under. News print is now four times what it was in 1919; wages are doubled; incidentals, such as gas, electricity, telephone, ink, type, rollers, engraving, insurance, rent and interest have advanced proportionately. In advancing the STAR 2 cents a copy but a part of this increase will be met, but with a constantly growing circulation and advertising list, it is felt that the deficit will be cared for unless further increases occur. Readers of the STAR who have been weekly purchasers will find it an economy to become regular subscribers, thereby effecting a considerable saving by bringing the weekly price a little over 5 cents. New subscriptions received from now on will be given a January first dating, and the edition of the STAR, which is 2200 copies, will be held to conform to actual sales.

WINCHESTER PARK SHOULD NOT BE OPENED

October 11, 1920.

Dear Sir: I read in your last week's issue a brief article favoring Sunday baseball in Winchester. I am glad to learn that this was not an editorial, but a contributed article. Many of us would feel very sorry to have our town paper lead in a movement for the open Sunday.

It hardly seems possible that your correspondent has considered all that is involved in his suggestion. To open Winchester Park, of which we are all so proud, to Sunday sport, would make the Park the centre of noise, commotion, disturbance, and possible rowdiness. He states correctly that although the park is very near four of our churches, the law permits its use for games and sports, whether or not services are in progress in the churches, if the citizens so vote. In fact, Section 4 opens, "At other hours on the Lord's Day" than in the afternoon, to many forms of play, not only to the ordinary swings, slides and games, but also to almost all kinds of games "not involving the element of contest."

What an invasion this would be of the quiet, worshipful Sunday which we are now enjoying. Every child of Winchester would be attracted, if not enticed, by the legalized sports then in progress, to leave the church, the Sunday school, the home, the good book and paper, the quiet, improving companionship of father, mother and good friends, to become a participant in Sunday games and sports which have always had a demoralizing influence upon the young. From the days of Rome, with its Sunday gladiatorial shows, down to the time of the Puritans and Pilgrims of 300 years ago, yes, until the present moment, the most objectionable practices have always accompanied Sunday sports, like betting, gaming, carousing. They have often proved to be a school of hoodlumism, notwithstanding all the safeguards which have been put around them. In East Boston, South Boston, and in some other places where the Sunday Games Law has been accepted, serious rioting has been reported. In Woburn, the Sunday game was called off because of an effort to make money out of it. It would be practically impossible to have a first-class baseball game on Sunday or any other day without some financial appeal. That would be in direct violation of the spirit and letter of the new law. Let us not tempt the young to become lawbreakers by legalizing Sunday games and sports, to the great injury of one of the most attractive and orderly villages in Massachusetts. If such an attempt shall be made at the next annual meeting, we hope and believe it will be voted down by a big majority of the good citizens, both men and women, of Winchester. We hope that they will be out in full, and see to it that the sport law is not accepted by Local Option. Very few cities and towns have accepted it, and we hope that Winchester will not be one of a petty minority. We certainly do not need it and would receive no benefit from it.

Yours very truly,
Martin D. Kneeland.

There is Something in a Tube besides Rubber

WHAT every motorist hasn't yet found out is that you can't always judge the quality of a tube by the kind of materials that go into it.

U. S. Red Tubes contain the

and more of it coming from the United States Rubber Company's

But what gives them their quality is the United States Rub-

KING ALBERT'S GIFT TO K. OF C.

Through the kind offices of Mr. William R. Renton of the Belgian Red Cross, and, since his arrival in this country, a member of Winchester Council K. of C., many articles of value have been received from Belgian friends for the coming bazaar. The gem of the collection, however, is a silver-headed cane, engraved with a crown and the King's initials, which the retiring Grand Knight, J. Chris Sullivan, received last Friday from King Albert of Belgium, with the following letter from His Majesty's secretary, Monsieur Godefroid:

"Le 10 Septembre, 1920.
"Monsieur J. Chris Sullivan.
"G. K. du Winchester Council K. of C.
"Monsieur: Avant son départ pour le Brésil, le Roi avait pris connaissance de la lettre par laquelle vous avez sollicité le don d'une canne pour le 'Rainbow Bazaar' organisé par le Winchester Council des Knights of Columbus.

"Heureuse de saisir l'occasion que vous Lui avez offerte de témoigner Sa sympathie aux Knights, Sa Majesté a très volontiers décerné au désir de votre association.

"Vous recevrez avec la présente, par l'obligeante entremise de l'Ambassade d'Amérique à Bruxelles, une canne à pommeau d'argent grave, au chiffre Royal.

"Le Secrétaire des Commandements,
"V. Godefroid."

This cane, together with the communications from His Majesty and from Secretary of State, Brand Whitlock, will be on exhibition at the K. of C. Bazaar, at the Town Hall, Winchester, and at Randall's.

Richard R. Higgins of 68 Church street, has been nominated for president of the Junior Class at Harvard. The nominations are made by a committee composed of last year's officers. Higgins is a prominent man in his class. He is a member of the Harvard University Glee Club, the Executive Board of his class, and one of the assistant managers of the varsity football team. The elections will be held on October 19.

LECTURE OCTOBER 23

Board of Trade Event in Town Hall Is Free

The lecture announced for Saturday evening, October 23, by the Winchester Board of Trade, is to be held in the Town Hall, and will be free to all Winchester citizens. The evening is unique in its arrangement. Mr. L. O. Armstrong of the Bureau of Economics, Washington, D. C., has announced for the subject of his lecture "Virgin Fishing Streams and Hunting Grounds," a subject which holds immediate interest. Added to his lecture will be a collection of remarkably fine lantern slides especially prepared by government experts for this talk.

Mr. Armstrong, a noted lecturer, has been exploring Canada and the United States for over forty years, although when you hear him again he will have to confess to the previous use of nearly seventy years of Father Time's allowance. He is still exploring by canoe, snowshoe, dog train and on horseback. He is still climbing mountains, fishing, camping, swimming, still paddling and still carries his own pack with the youngest. He not only observes and remembers what he sees when he travels, but he now brings with him good movies and beautiful still pictures to aid his word paintings. He is a diligent reader, saturating himself with the history of the countries he traverses, their geology and sociology. With a strong personality, a clear, resonant voice and magnetism of an unusual character, and an adaptability that endears him to his audiences, does this evergreen, outdoor man take his hearers through a most delightful evening of the great outdoors.

Mr. Armstrong is lecturing in Winchester Saturday, October 23, under the auspices of the Winchester Board of Trade and the Bureau of Commercial Economics of Washington, which is a philanthropic educational institution with alliances with over twenty-five of the governments of the world. Its work is to disclose by lectures and motion pictures the scenery, the industries, the natural resources and the customs of the peoples of one nation to those of another, thus promoting trade and friendship. Its films are shown in all parts of the world FREE. Mr. Armstrong has been lecturing for the Bureau for five years, and has spoken before all the important clubs, business organizations and universities of this country.

MARRIED SEPTEMBER 21

The marriage of Miss Marion E. Norton of North Westchester to the Rev. Edward F. Smiley of Winchester took place Tuesday afternoon, September 21, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Norton. Miss Helen Brown sang, "Oh, Promise Me," after which the ceremony was performed by the Rev. William S. Beard of New York City, assisted by the Rev. Roy B. Chamberlain of Wesleyan University. The bride was attractively gowned in white net with a corsage bouquet of gardenias. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Hattie Brown, who wore lavender satin and georgette, with Aaron Ward roses. A Wallace Canney of Wrentham, Mass., officiated as best man. The house was decorated with pink cosmos and gladioli. Mr. and Mrs. Smiley left on a wedding trip to the Adirondacks, followed by the good wishes of all, and also by the usual more material symbols of good luck contributed by the younger guests. About fifty guests were present, among them being several classmates of the bride, who is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College. Mr. Smiley is a graduate of Harvard University and has studied at Union and Andover Theological Seminaries. For the past year and a half he has occupied the pulpit of the Westchester Congregational Church. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Smiley will reside in New Haven, where Mr. Smiley will study at Yale for his Ph. D.

Miss Marian E. McDonald, Winchester, has entered the Bryant & Stratton School, enrolling in the Stenographic Course. Miss McDonald previously attended the Mt. St. Joseph Academy at Brighton, Mass.

"The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue"

The following poem was written by the eminent English poet, William Watson, who, in a signed statement, admitted that in it he intended to portray the physical characteristics of Mrs. Asquith. The poem was written because of her scorching frankness in her writings—a frankness that appears also in this autobiography.

She is not old, she is not young,
The woman with the serpent's tongue.
The haggard cheek, the hungry eye,
The poisoned words that wildly fly,
Who half makes love to you today,
Tomorrow gives her guest away,
Burnt up within by that strange soul
She cannot slave or yet control.

Many in the audience were from surrounding towns and cities, the lecture holding much interest to Scientists and their friends in this section.

The lecturer was introduced by Mr. George L. McNeill, who said: The members of the Christian Science Church in Winchester extend to you a very cordial welcome and are pleased to have this opportunity of presenting to you an authoritative statement of the subject which is so near their hearts—which has helped them in so many ways and whose blessings they wish to share with others. Many of those who are now glad to be known as Christian Scientists were at one time either indifferent to Christian Science, or antagonistic to what they believed it to be, but having experienced its healing power themselves, or having witnessed the healing or reformation of some relative or friend, through the application of its teachings, they became interested, their indifference vanished and their antagonism melted away. They found that Christian Science is a practical religion; that it is in accord with the teachings of the Bible—that it is indeed the Truth which Jesus said would make us free. The world is in need of this religion and the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, wisely provided several methods by which those who are seeking the Truth may become acquainted with its teachings. One of these methods is the giving of free public lectures by men and women who have proven for themselves and others that Christian Science heals sickness and destroys sin and who, for these and other reasons, are well qualified to bring its message of hope and encouragement to such audiences as we have here this evening. The gentleman who is to address us is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and it is now my privilege to introduce him to you—Rev. Andrew J. Graham, C. S. B., of Boston.

Mr. Graham spoke as follows:

THE STATEMENT

Mary Baker Eddy, on page 597 of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, gives a common sense and metaphysical definition of the word wilderness. This definition is twofold, thus conforming to the redemptive experience of man, as he passes from darkness to light, from slavery to freedom, from fear of condemnation to the joy of salvation. Here is the two-fold definition of the word wilderness: (1) "Loneliness; doubt; darkness." This is the mortal mind definition. (2) "Spontaneity of thought and idea; the vestibule in which a material sense of things disappears, and spiritual sense unfolds the great facts of existence." This is the Christian Science definition of the word.

In speaking to the subject: "Christian Science: The Voice in the Wilderness," we are seeking to elucidate the fact that Christian Science, through its authorized literature, and treatments, raises a voice of hope and confidence in all periods of mental darkness and depression, and expresses a voice of gratitude and love, when peace and harmony have come into one's experience.

Perhaps it will be said that all Christian churches make the same claim, the reply to which is, that while other religious bodies promise the solution of problems after death, Christian Science says that these solutions may be found on this plane of existence—here and now. Let this be clearly understood, that Christian Science rests its claim entirely upon

An engagement of interest announced on October 5 is that of Miss Helen A. Hutchins, daughter of Mr. B. H. Hutchins, of Roscoe, Ill., to Mr. William Eben Ramsdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Ramsdell of 117 Mt. Vernon street.

The engagement was made known at a luncheon given by Miss Hutchins to the Girls' Club of Roscoe. Miss Hutchins has lived her girlhood days in Roscoe and has been active in church and social circles there.

Who and what are your guides? You don't know. Mr. Chidley will preach on these questions at the First Congregational Church next Sunday morning at 10.30. The public is cordially welcome.

AIGREMENT

The Tea and Musical at Aigrement, under the auspices of the Pop Concert Committee, was a great success. The program consisted of songs by Mrs. Gertrude Barnes, contralto; by Mr. Henry Kokenak, violinist; of Boston, with Mrs. W. A. Lefavour at the piano. Mrs. Barnes' rich, sympathetic voice was never heard to better advantage, and Mr. Kokenak delighted the audience with his smooth, pure tone.

The tea was served in the spacious dining room. Autumn flowers furnished the decoration there, as in the rest of the house. The pourers were Mrs. Richard Metcalf, Miss Katherine Pond, Mrs. John MacAlman, Mrs. William Mitchell. The following ladies assisted: Mrs. Allan Wood, Mrs. William Palmer, Mrs. Herbert Larrabee, Miss Helen E. Sanborn, Mrs. Paul Avery, Mrs. Edmund Cottle, Miss Barbara Fernald, Mrs. Pierce Parker and Mrs. Russell Flint.

Ely will also speak of the annual Roll Call for Members, which occurs on Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving. The election of officers for the coming year will also take place.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT LECTURE

A big attendance is promised at the stereopticon lecture to be given under the auspices of the Winchester Board of Trade in the Town Hall on Saturday night. The slides to be used are said to be among the finest official pictures now in use.

The subject of the lecture, which will be given by Mr. L. O. Armstrong of the Bureau of Economics, Washington, D. C., will be "Virgin Fishing Streams and Hunting Grounds." It is a subject which immediately excites interest in all. Mr. Armstrong is reputed to be one of the best lecturers on the stage today.

The lecture will be free and will commence promptly at 8 o'clock. Go early and get a good seat. Our local Board of Trade assures you an entertaining and profitable evening.

ADAMS-FOSTER NUPTIALS

Two of Winchester's Younger Set Happily United in Matrimony

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stanley Foster, parents of the bride, 15 Grove street, Winchester, on Friday evening, October 15, Mr. Joseph Adams, son of the late Horace J. Adams, of Winchester, and of Mrs. Grace A. Adams, 7 Lewis road, this town, and Miss Alice Frances Foster were joined in wedlock. Rev. Markham W. Stackpole, of Phillips Andover Academy, formerly chaplain of the 102d Field Artillery, Twenty-Sixth Division, in France, officiating.

A noticeable and interesting feature of the wedding was the relationship, other than immediate family ties, existing between many of the participants, and between the bride and groom themselves. The latter had grown up together from childhood in Winchester. They are both descendants of John Adams and of John Quincy Adams. The ushers, at one time or another, were schoolmates of the bride's brother, Edward Stanley Foster, Jr. The officiating clergyman had known the bride almost from her infancy. Both Mr. Adams, who is assistant to the treasurer of the Carr Fastener Company of Cambridge, the bride's father, and who is connected with other important enterprises, and Miss Foster, who graduated from the Winchester High School and from Radcliffe, had long been popular among the younger set, a fact evidenced by the number of representatives of that group at the wedding.

Something like 100 persons witnessed the marriage; those attending the reception which followed numbered 370. James M. Flinn acted as chief usher, his assistants being Hobart Davis, Alden Symmes, Campbell Bess, Kendall Graham and Philip Boone. Emily Wormelle and Elizabeth Dummer were flower girls, and Curtis Wormelle held the bridal train. All of the arrangements were perfect and were carried out with admirable taste. The Foster home, recently enlarged, was beautifully decorated for the occasion, chrysanthemums and roses predominating in the floral display, and in a manner strikingly in harmony with the hangings and light effects. The ceremony, which was simple yet impressive, took place in the newly added enclosed porch, and from this the guests, after passing the reception line, moved easily through the various rooms, enjoying the refreshments, inspecting the presents and listening to the music furnished by five pieces from the Symphony Orchestra.

The bride wore a dress of ivory satin with embroidered panels over beaded net, and court train and a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and orchids. Mrs. Foster, mother of the bride, was gowned in a black and white spangled net, with black tulle and turquoise girdle and sash. Mrs. Adams, mother of the groom, wore a gold cloth dress, with black tulle and garniture of old blue and black beads. The flower girls were dressed in orchid organdie, with ruffled and surplice effect. Each carried a basket of pink roses.

The presents included silver, cut glass, a Turkish rug, mirrors, tea-tables and many artistic furnishings for a home.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S FIRE

Wednesday night's fire, for which an alarm of fire was rung in from box 23 at ten o'clock, was in the one-story brick block on North Main street, at the railroad crossing. The blaze was in a tobacco and variety store conducted by Sarmino Polucci, who occupied the back portion for living rooms. Mrs. Polucci closed the store not ten minutes before the fire was discovered and had just gone to bed. Mr. C. F. Cogswell, living next door, discovered the fire, flames shooting high in the air from a skylight in the roof.

The fire department made short work of extinguishing the blaze, which evidently started under a rear counter. A small dog owned by Mrs. Polucci created some excitement during the blaze, she rushing into the store to save it. Many thought she had returned for a child. The dog was somewhat singed, but will recover.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD OF AMERICA

The annual meeting of the Winchester Branch of this famous Guild, which began its work in England in 1883, and is now an international organization and a helpful sister to the Red Cross, will occur on Wednesday morning, November 3, at the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany at 10 o'clock.

The object of the Needlework Guild of America is to collect and distribute new, plain, suitable garments, to meet the great need of hospitals, homes and other charities, and to extend its usefulness by the organization of branches.

The annual contribution of two or more new articles of wearing apparel or household linen, or a donation of money, constitutes membership in a branch. Men, women and children may become members.

Our Town Branch started over ten years ago with five hopeful directors. It now has eighteen and would like more. Each year, without special effort, more garments have been distributed than any preceding one. The Society is non-sectarian and has no racial prejudices. It remembers the aged and the young. Our local welfare work depends upon its helpful gifts. As winter approaches, families of young children, who must go to school in all weather, or remain at home in poorly heated houses, have many needs and the warm, new garments which this Guild dispenses are much appreciated.

Are there not some of the readers of the STAR who would like to join in this labor of love and sympathy toward the sick and unfortunate in our vicinity? If so, send your name to Mrs. W. Eugene Wilde, 9 Stratford road, or to Mrs. Anthony Kelley, 45 Fletcher street, and follow it up with two useful articles of wearing apparel for man, woman or child.

A CENTRAL TELEPHONE FOR DOCTORS

Many Winchester doctors have had considerable difficulty in supplying, in their own offices, at all times, satisfactory telephone service. Not to furnish continuous telephone service is, they think, unfair to their patients.

In order to meet this condition, the doctors whose names appear below have made arrangements for a central telephone.

The number of this telephone is Winchester 464. If you are unable to reach any undersigned doctor at his or her own office, call Winchester 464, and you can either get in touch with the doctor at once, or can leave a call, which will reach the doctor in the shortest possible time.

TWO ACCIDENTS YESTERDAY

There were two accidents in town yesterday, one of which resulted seriously for Michael Donahue, who is at the Winchester Hospital suffering from an injured shoulder, received when he was run over by a truck of the Hart Express Co. of Woburn. This accident occurred on North Main street. Donahue was riding on the truck, and when he got off he slipped and fell partly under it, a wheel passing over his shoulder. He was taken to the hospital.

The other accident was between an auto and a bicycle ridden by Harold Pecker of Park avenue. The auto was owned by Mr. George W. Dearborn and driven by Leland Clifton. No one was injured but the bicycle was badly damaged.

WOMEN'S RALLY A GREAT SUCCESS

An audience variously estimated at between five hundred and six hundred women, from every corner of Winchester, gathered at the Town Hall, Wednesday afternoon, to hear their fellow townsman, Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, and Mrs. Paul Keene, of Brookline, give reasons for their faith in Republican principles and promises. Miss Cora Stoddard of Boston explained the first amendment relating to the "Manufacture and Sale of Beer, Cider and Light Wines," and urged all women to place a cross after the word "NO" on their ballots. Singing, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Ed. Jelfson Barr, with Mrs. Churchill Hinde at the piano, preceded the speaking. Mrs. W. L. Palmer, chairman of the Women's Republican Committee, presided.

In introducing Mr. Parkhurst, Mrs. Palmer said: "We have with us this afternoon one of our most distinguished citizens, one who is to be our next State Senator, and I think that we women are very fortunate indeed to be able to cast our first ballot for a man of such sterling character and ability. He attended the Chicago convention as a delegate, and will speak to us on the convention, on party Candidates and Platforms, and on the League of Nations."

Mr. Parkhurst said that he was not there to deliver a formal address, but rather to talk informally and express his opinions, not as a politician, but as a business man, on various questions which confront us as Americans, and which, as Americans, we are bound to consider. While the League of Nations had been especially emphasized in the announcements of the meeting, and while it was an important question, to which we had given consideration for some years, there are many other questions that are well worth talking about in this country at the present time. He expressed himself as entirely opposed to the attitude of Johnson and Borah on this subject, and maintained that their utterances pertaining to it were unjust and injurious to the Republican cause, because the majority of Republicans, like himself, had always wanted a league, and say that we must have one. But he is equally opposed to the League as brought back by President Wilson, because that would mean the destruction of our sovereignty. This country, he declared, must be left free to do as its conscience dictates on moral questions; we must not be yoked up with forty or fifty nations, some of which are only half civilized, and of widely differing opinions on moral and other questions.

The Constitution of the United States, he said, had not been rushed through in ninety days. The more slowly a constitution had grown the more enduring it would be. The men assigned to the task of writing it spent much time and effort in studying the constitutions of all other countries; they searched the histories of ancient civilizations, and from them selected all that was good and worth saving. After much deliberation and study the Constitution of the United States came into being, fashioned largely after the Massachusetts Constitution, both of which are well worth studying. We are now confronted with the question, Shall we throw aside the result of this careful study and effort and say it is not worth considering?

Mr. Parkhurst spoke with much decision on various articles in the League Covenant, on the foreign policy of the Republican and Democratic parties, on their candidates and promises, and on other vital questions. Because of much interest in his opinions by many not privileged to attend the meeting, and because of their value to all thinking voters at this particular time, extracts from his remarks, touching these various subjects, will appear in next week's STAR, the early hour of going to press not permitting it in this issue.

Mrs. Paul Keene, sent by the Women's State Republican Headquarters, stated in a very able address her reasons for joining the Republican Party rather than the Democratic Party, one of the principal reasons being because of the progressive legislation by this party on all questions affecting children and the home, which always have and always will hold first place in woman's heart and mind. Educational standards, she said, were much higher in Republican than in Democratic states; the Republican Party had done much more for the protection of industry and the laboring man and woman, and, lastly, the Republican Party had advanced much farther along the road she wished to go.

In every way the rally was a splendid success.

WINCHESTER SAVINGS BANK

26 Mt. Vernon Street

IMPORTANT!

[Extract from Boston News Bureau]

MUST PAY CONSERVATIVE INTEREST

It has been pointed out that the trouble with the institutions in Boston that have run into difficulties was the offering of high interest rates for savings depositors.

Had they been run with the conservatism that has characterized the management of the leading representative savings banks of Boston and New York there probably would have been no necessity for taking advantage of the law permitting savings banks to require ninety days' notice before paying depositors.

Ponzi's operations are said to have caused large sums of money to be withdrawn from savings institutions, and some of the weaker ones were tempted to offer as high as 5 1/2 per cent on deposits to hold what business they had and to attract additional business. Bankers say, and experience seems to prove, that the profits of a properly managed savings bank are not large enough to warrant a bank in paying such rates of interest, and it is further said that savings banks that do pay extremely high rates are, as a consequence, forced to take risks that are not considered proper for institutions handling the savings of wage earners, etc.

Out of a total of 141 reporting savings banks in the state of New York only five pay more than 4 per cent, while fourteen pay less than 4 per cent. No reporting bank pays more than 4 1/2 per cent; the lowest rate paid is 3 1/2 per cent. Total resources of all savings banks in the state July 1, was $2,588,320,282. Amount of interest credited and paid during the year ending June 30, 1920, was $83,010,734.

This Bank has paid dividends for the last two years at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

Deposits go on Interest Monthly.

Money deposited on or before the third Wednesday of each month will draw interest from that day.

ASSESSORS HELD SESSIONS

The assessors held sessions (we'll say they did) at the Town Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings to listen to those property owners about (about?) town who desired to claim abatement. Needless to say, the claims presented were for abatement of valuation. The sessions were held in the general committee room on the second floor, although no one knows why the town hall itself was not opened, for the assessors could have had police protection—unless some of the police officers are claiming abatement too.

Well, anyway, several (got that?) citizens, not to mention citizenesses, were among those present—and they waited in the hall. Some sat on the two long settees, some sat on the stairs (above and below), some sat in corners and the rest stood in line. The others took a look at those in attendance and departed. (What's the use, anyway?)

Downstairs in the regular assessors' office there was a busy time giving out the blanks wherein said claimants were to list their personal property (grandfather's gold watch, the oriental rug, diamonds, coal, the exact amount of money in the pocket April 1, and not forgetting the car—no flippers in Winchester).

Well, anyway, these blanks were pretty good ammunition for the assessors. What would have happened without them no one knows, for nearly half of the irate (got that?) citizenesses received a death blow when they got them, and departed stealthily with that "I wonder what's going on" expression.

The assessors sat (and sometimes they got up and walked) and heard some of the complaints, but it appears that all you had to do was to fill out that deadly blank (which they "were by duty bound" to increase fifty per cent), and send or hand it in to them—and they would duly consider your claim. Duly consider is proper, for that is what our assessors are going to do for a living for the next four months—and we might venture a guess that it is what they wish they had done two months ago.

Well, anyway, these hearings were a great success. There was no blood shed, but it looked bad at times. The police station had all the reserves in readiness but refrained from aggravating the Pro Bono Publico by flaunting a single blue uniform at the hall, and it is said that the Winchester Hospital was in full readiness to do its duty to one and all alike. (Special beds for the assessors.)

The crisis has apparently passed. The proletariat are calm for the moment. Some threats are still heard of an uprising March (what's the date?) seventh, but it is expected that by that date the radical element will be under control. The assessors have had enough practice to go on the platform and deliver lectures on any subject under the sun—and the supply of those blanks of which we spoke (those life-saving blanks) is inexhaustible.

Well, anyway, what's the use? One's in for another year, and the other's in for two more, and the third nobody's got anything against. It must be good fun to be able to tell EVERYBODY just what you think once in your life. We'll say so.

The assessors (not to mention the claimants, would-be and got-there) lost a lot of good sleeping time and are rather tired, so it is requested that our townspeople use due consideration when they address them. You know—a gentle word, etc.

Well, anyway, there is still a little smoke about next year—when you can go down and claim that you are valued too high, and get a reduction (or abatement); but take it from us, they've still got those blanks, and you know now what this hearing stuff is—and—what's the use, anyway? "You tell 'em, morphine; you've got the dope."

I Ben Thar.

The wedding of Miss Helen Margaret White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. White, of Oxford street, and Mr. Moses Francis Carr, son of Mr. Fred S. Carr of Chestnut Hill, took place on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Holton of the Newburyport Congregational church, at 7.30 o'clock. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives.

Mr. Walter McKim of Cambridge was groomsmen and the bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Caldwell and Miss Margaret Ray of this town. The bride wore a wedding dress of white satin with veil, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaids were gowned in pink taffeta and carried old-fashioned bouquets and feather fans.

A LETTER OF APPRECIATION

My Dear Mr. Wilson:

I would like to use the columns of your paper to express in this public way the gratitude which the Winchester High School feels towards the ladies of the auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. of Winchester for their generous gift of more than $200, to be used in purchasing football equipment for the boys. As a result of this generous act many boys are now playing football, completely equipped and adequately protected from ordinary injury, who otherwise would be unable to play on account of the cost of suit, etc.

An unusually large number of boys responded to the call for candidates, and I feel sure that it was due in no small measure to this provision of equipment, made possible by this gift.

We are grateful not only for the financial assistance, but also for this evidence of interest in the school on the part of the organization.

In this connection I would like to mention an instance of active alumni interest. Mr. Leon Tuck, one of our graduates who has won renown as an athlete of unusual ability, is giving up his vacation of two weeks to coach the football team. It means much to the boys to have a graduate come back and help the school in this way.

No less interested in the school is the Editor of the STAR, who has always been ready to advise and co-operate in turning out a good school paper.

This interest on the part of alumni, or organizations in the town and business men, will do much to make the school better each year.

Edward E. Thompson, Principal.

POOL AND BILLIARD TOURNAMENTS

Announcement was made this week of pool and billiard tournaments for fall playing at the Calumet Club. A Cowboy pool tournament, opening November 1 and closing December 31, will be held for handicap doubles. The teams will be placed in groups, and those winning first and second places in each group will play off for the first and second tournament prizes. There will also be a special Gamemaster's prize, to be announced at the close of the tournament.

A three-cushion billiard handicap will open November 1, and be run through the month, and on November 15 a 14-2 billiard tournament will open for a month's contest. This tournament will call out the best billiardists of the club and will be a principal event.

The committee is at work making handicaps, based on previous playing in the case of old members and on test playing of new members. These figures will be posted before the tournaments open, entries for which close October 25.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society held their first luncheon of the season last Tuesday with a large attendance. Mrs. A. E. Knight and Mrs. C. E. Gage had charge and served a delicious luncheon. The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Ernest G. Adams, of Boston, chairman of the Religious Educational and Financial Unitarian Campaign. He gave a forceful appeal for his work, showing how closely woven are the Religious and Patriotic Ideals. Miss Helen Raynor, of this town, sang a group of three songs, accompanied by Mrs. Herbert G. Etheridge. On Tuesday, October 26, there will be an all-day sewing meeting. It is hoped a large number will be present, as there is much to be done to prepare for the fair, which takes place on December 9. Tea will be served in the afternoon.

CALUMET BOWLING

Teams Swing Into Game as Matches Progress.

Higher scores were noticeable in the Calumet bowling tournament during the past week, the teams now entering upon their second matches and swinging into their stride. Many of the matches have been very close, with but a few pins separating the teams from start to finish. Week-end games saw 7 and 17 split points, 18 take three from 8 and 9 all four from 19. The latter was a particularly close, hard-fought match. Hildreth created a new figure for total, he rolling 341 on a string of 125. Dickson got 113 for high string, but a bad second kept him under the 300 mark. Butterworth got 101 and Goodale 100.

Facts which prove twelve months use of Gas Appliances is Economical, Clean and Convenient.

COAL RANGE FACTS—The average family of five minimum use 2 hods of coal daily. Average hod holds 25 lbs. of coal. Range coal costs you $16.00 a ton. Figured out, gives 1500 lbs. of coal costing monthly $12.00. This gives besides dust, ashes and dirt, hot-water, cooking facilities and heat for kitchen.

Gas Appliance Facts

The average family of five uses 2000 cu. ft. per month for cooking. Another 2000 cu. ft. of gas will give 1500 gals. of hot water monthly or 50 gals. per day. Another 2000 cu. ft. of gas will give 80 hrs. monthly use of a gas room heater or 2 hrs. 40 min. daily use. This total of 6000 cu. ft. at $1.70 a thousand will cost you monthly $10.20.

Comparison of costs:

Monthly use of coal range cost $12.00
Monthly use of gas appliances cost 10.20
Balance in favor of gas appliances 1.80

To which the convenience, cleanliness, no worry as to the supply, no fluky drafts, no ashes, no kindling wood costs, may consistently be added to the above balance in favor of using gas appliances 12 MONTHS EACH YEAR—winter and summer.

RESIDENTS of WINCHESTER

The WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION

Needs Memberships and Contributions

The Visiting Nurse Association ensures every resident of Winchester the following services when needed:

FIRST—The Services of a Visiting Nurse.

Everyone, no matter what his station in life, may need at any time just such a service as the visiting nurse renders.

Each resident of Winchester is entitled, when the occasion requires, to one visit daily from the Visiting Nurse. She relieves the household of such work as bathing patients, changing bandages, dressing wounds and many other duties necessary in the sick room. In hundreds of instances the average household, through the service given by the Visiting Nurse, is able to dispense with a trained nurse through protracted illnesses and during long periods of convalescence.

The Charge for this Service.

The patients are expected to make some payment for the nurse's services when it is possible, the maximum price being seventy-five cents for a visit of an hour, or fraction of an hour.

During the year ending April 1st, 1920, the Visiting Nurse and her assistant made 5415 calls.

SECOND—The Services of a Public Health Nurse.

These services are Educational and Preventive—to keep people well. Special oversight of children under school age, expectant mothers, and babies are part of her day's work and she is ready to advise on any subject connected with the maintenance of good health. Her work is done in the homes and at the room of the association.

THIRD—Well Baby Clinics.

The Well Baby Clinics are in charge of a Winchester Doctor who gives his services without charge, assisted by the Public Health Nurse. At these clinics mothers are instructed in the care of babies and young children. Minor ailments are diagnosed and medicine and diets prescribed. The work of seeing that these instructions are followed devolves upon the Public Health Nurse.

The work done at the clinics insures better health for all children. The instruction in right living and dietetics change puny, sickly children into rugged sturdy youngsters thus reducing the danger of epidemics that prey on undernourished aenemic children, and insuring every child in Winchester less exposure to contagious diseases.

Who Paid for This Work in the Past.

The work of the Visiting Nurse Association has been supported from three sources: by individual contributions, by fees from patients and by the revenue from membership sold at three dollars each.

Last year we had 416 of these memberships amounting to $1248.00, and contributions amounting to $368.00. This year we hope to add to these 416 three dollar memberships and in addition to receive 2,000 contributions of at least $1.00 each.

How Will You Benefit?

The services outlined above are the smallest part of your return. Remember—that your health and the health of the members of your family depend in a large measure upon the health of every other member of the community. So, if you value freedom from exposure to disease, do your part to promote this work.

On Monday, October 25th, you will receive through the mail a membership application and contribution blank which you can fill out and return with your dues or contribution to one of our members who will call upon you on October 26th.

Please do not confuse this membership or contribution with any contribution you may have made to the Winchester Hospital Fund.

The Hospital Funds are kept separate from the Visiting Nurse Funds, and are used entirely to defray hospital expenses.

WILL you help us make our community a healthier one in which to live and bring up our future men and women?

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

It doesn't take a very big compliment to swell a small head.

It is easier to tell a fortune than to make one.

Besides the people who evade the truth because they are polite, there are others.

Some people are thankful for what they get, and a lot of others should be thankful for what they don't get.

Mirrors are always casting reflections on a man's best friend.

Old King "Coal" is fighting for his throne in England.

The new slogan, mightier than any party—"lower valuations!"

"Profanity is a betrayal of a lamentable poverty of expression."

According to this year's football scores, our High School has brains but not brawn.

Isn't it about time to hunt up a garage for that car which has been standing in the street all summer?

There was a large attendance at the hearings given by our Board of Assessors Friday and Saturday evenings at the Town Hall. We hear that at least one of them got to bed as early as 2:30 on one night. Poor fellows! How their fellow men (and the new electorate) love them! Which would you rather be than a Winchester assessor?

Without any intention of dragging forth the bones of a community skeleton or opening up a discussion on ancient history, we cannot help but wonder occasionally what is to be done about our grade crossing. The all-important question of "how much our house is worth" and "how Mother is going to vote next month" is much more interesting, we will admit; but the question of the crossing is with us just the same. Do you know that about twice the number of our school children are passing over these railroad tracks daily than have done so for a number of years. This is because of the recent rearrangement of grades. Previously many of the children were kept on their own side of the town; now they cross the tracks. Probably the School Committee can tell the exact number; but if you will visit the centre any morning and watch the crossing between 8 and 8:30, and any afternoon, and watch it between 1 and 2, you will "visualize" food for thought. We do not expect to see this crossing eliminated during our lifetime—and we do not anticipate a departure into the unknown immediately—but sometime it will be taken away; we hope before the Town of Winchester faces a calamity which will shake it to its centre. That crossing is a mighty bad spot.

A newspaper publisher said to us this week: "Why do you get out such a good paper? You put three times the work and money in your sheet than I do. The reading public does not recognize or appreciate this." We answered: "We don't agree with you. What your conditions are, we do not know, but the STAR has been printed in Winchester since 1880, and from that date to the present day its object has been to give the Town of Winchester the best suburban paper it is possible to produce. The policy has proved itself by both the growth of the town and the support of the paper, and will be continued. The enviable position the Town of Winchester holds in Boston's suburbs has been due in no small measure to its town paper; to lower a standard maintained for forty years under such conditions would be a breach of faith; the STAR's policy will not be changed."

REPUBLICANS, ATTENTION!

Republicans unable to walk to the Town Hall election day to vote, please notify by telephone Winchester 838-W or 1052-M, and automobiles will be sent.

There is still an opportunity to qualify as an Absentee Voter. Notify the Town Clerk and proper blanks will be furnished.

There are certain obligations which every man owes to his family, his business and his country. He owes it to his family that they shall not be left dependent upon charity. He owes it to his business associates not to allow the business to collapse by the loss of his personal attention. He owes it to his country that the government shall not be deprived of its supporting taxes through shrinkage of his estate. There is one way in which all men can fulfill each of these duties. That is by life insurance. In this day and generation it would seem there is no greater blessing, to prepare us against the future, than life insurance. I believe in it sincerely and feel that no man can afford to fail to take advantage of its time-proven benefits.

WORLD WAR VETERAN MARRIED
Charles V. McGuerty Takes Bride From Woburn.

Charles V. McGuerty of 10 Loring avenue, one of the boys who represented Winchester in the World War, was married on Sunday at St. Charles rectory to Miss Elizabeth Callahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Callahan of Woburn. Rev. Fr. William L. Kevill performed the ceremony.

Mr. McGuerty volunteered in September, 1917, and went to France, where he spent seventeen months as a member of the 102d Field Artillery, Yankee Division. He was in every battle in which this division took part, and was cited for bravery in action in the battle of Chateau-Thierry. He was wounded Nov. 8, 1918, the last week of hostilities, on the Argonne front.

The couple were attended by Miss Esther McHugh as bridesmaid and Mr. John McGuerty as best man.

Miss Rosemary McHugh, a niece of the bride, was ring bearer. After a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will make their home at 26 Chestnut street, Woburn.

ABSENT VOTER'S BALLOT

Independence, Kan.,
October 15, 1920.

The Winchester Star, Winchester, Mass.
My Dear Mr. Wilson:

I have just at hand this morning, through the courtesy and kindness of the Town Clerk of Winchester, an "Absent Voter's Ballot," and have made out the same, had it properly certified, and returned to this very efficient lady to be deposited on November 2.

I am strongly in hopes that this is the first ballot that has reached Winchester for the election of 1920. I hope at least I may have that honor. For twenty-five years the people of Massachusetts—yes, three hundred years—have been denied the right of suffrage if, unfortunately, away from home on election day, and personally I have not been able to vote for twenty years, but, thanks to the Legislature of Massachusetts, when last assembled, they passed an "Absent Voter's Law," enabling twenty-five thousand or more of her citizens to vote wherever they were in the United States, if they felt interested enough to see that they were properly registered so to avail themselves of this law, which I am very glad to do. I felt that this might be of interest to you and your paper, and might be an incentive to avail themselves of the privilege I have today enjoyed.

Sincerely yours,
Charles F. Maxwell.

WINCHESTER GIRLS ON ADVISORY BOARD

All four of the Winchester girls at Mt. Holyoke College have been chosen to serve on the newly organized advisory council of the students' league. The council is made up of 87 students chosen to represent the varied interests in college.

The Winchester girls who are on the council are: Elizabeth Armstrong, '22, daughter of Mr. Robert M. Armstrong of 124 Highland avenue, who represents the Dramatic Club; Marion Nichols, '23, daughter of Mr. Nathaniel Nichols, of 10 Hillside avenue, who represents the sophomore class; Jessie Cline, daughter of Mr. Albert E. Cline of 4 Pine street, who represents Safford Hall, one of the campus houses; and Anne Zueblin, '23, daughter of Mr. Charles Zueblin of 2 Wolcott terrace, who represents Mountain View, one of the off-campus houses, on the council.

HOUSEKEEPER'S SUGGESTION

Editor of the STAR:

A Winchester housekeeper was heard to say the other day, "I wish some young woman who would like to earn money and yet be able to enjoy walks in the open, as she went from house to house, would undertake to clean our table silver and household brasses for us. It is not hard work, but housekeepers without domestic helpers cannot find time for it."

"She could easily command a dollar an hour or a dollar and a half for two hours' work. She would soon have two or three customers a day, and yet call only once a month at any one place."

Perhaps the STAR can find her for us.

TELEPHONE COMPANY READY SOON

"Winchester people who have been waiting a long time for telephone service will be glad to know that the company expects, within six months to have the necessary facilities so that these people can be served," said District Manager Wilde yesterday.

"No big cable jobs are planned for Winchester during the next few months, but several sections of cable will be placed in different parts of the town, so that we can give service before long to practically all who are waiting."

"At the present time we have about 75 uncompleted orders, which we are unable to fill because of our inability to get cable. Our problem is not local to greater Boston, but is general throughout the United States. Manufacturers are doing their best to meet an abnormal demand, and we can only get our fair share."

Despite the difficulties with which we have been contending for a long time, the telephone development in Winchester during 1919 was 100 per cent greater than the development in 1918. In the first nine months of 1920 our growth was about equal to the corresponding period in 1919.

"There are four primary reasons why we cannot make new installations more promptly. Our reserve telephone equipment has been used up, raw materials are hard to obtain in the markets of the world, transportation has delayed us, and the abnormal demand for telephone service all over New England has made it impossible to fill all applications."

"Although our progress is slow, we are making some improvements in the situation all the time, and I want the people of Winchester to realize that we are doing everything we can to remedy a situation that is as unsatisfactory to us as it is to those who are waiting for service."

"I want the people to know that we are absolutely fair with everybody, and that orders for service are being filled in the order of their application, provided we have the necessary facilities."

CALUMET BRIDGE

There were twenty-five tables at the bridge party held Tuesday evening at the Calumet Club, this being the first of the card parties to be held at the club this fall and winter. Aside from the card players, there was a good attendance of members and ladies who enjoyed the bowling, pool and billiards. Refreshments followed the cards. The evening was in charge of a committee of ladies headed by Mrs. William F. Edlefsen and including Mrs. Rufus Clarke, Mrs. Herbert Goff and Mrs. Edward A. Tucker.

The prize winners were as follows: First ladies' Mrs. Davis; second ladies' Mrs. John C. Kerrison; third ladies' Mrs. Rufus L. Clarke. First gentlemen's, Mr. F. Wray Aldenderfer; second gentlemen's, Mr. Curtis W. Nash; third gentlemen's, Mr. William J. Breen. Attractive prizes were awarded the winners at the close of the evening.

Busy Telephone Lines

Out of 1,500,000 daily telephone calls in greater Boston over 250,000 result in a report of busy lines.

This is largely due to the fact that when subscribers receive a "line busy" report they frequently repeat their call at intervals of a few seconds.

Making repeated calls for a busy line means much unnecessary work at the switchboard and a wasteful use of lines and equipment.

It will assist in maintaining good telephone service if subscribers wait a few minutes after receiving the "line busy" report before making a second call.

present demonstration. It neither asks nor expects any one to accept it on any other basis. It is known and justified by its fruits.

An almost innumerable throng of men and women throughout the world testify that Christian Science fulfills its promises; that in loneliness, doubt, darkness and depression it has given a hope when all other hopes were dead; that its unfolding of spiritual truth has been the vestibule or pathway leading to the apprehension and understanding of infinite, ever-present love.

To this restless, hungry age Christian Science proves to be "the world's great altar stairs which wind through darkness up to God." At the very outset of this lecture permit me to say something about Christian Science treatment and Christian Science healing. Christian Science treatment and healing presuppose that some members of the human race have reached a comparatively clear understanding of the nature of God and man, and through that understanding are able to realize to some extent the omnipotency of God and therefore the impotency of evil. Mary Baker Eddy was the first member of the human family to receive Christian Science treatment and healing, under that specific name; and she was her own practitioner. Through many years of patient study of the Bible and trust in God she had attained to this understanding. In process of time through her writings and individual teaching, many students throughout the world gained sufficient understanding to begin to heal themselves and others. These men and women are known as practitioners. Mrs. Eddy tells us on page 477 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" that Jesus "correct view of man healed the sick." Christian Science practitioners heal sickness and sin in proportion as their view of God and man is correct. This is equally true touching every phase of error. A discord in addition of numbers, in business, is overcome, pari passu, as one has the correct view of addition, of music, of the family, of business, of Jesus' correct view of man healed the sick. What is your view of man? Do you believe that the man God made is a bundle of flesh with two opposing minds inside? If so, you can not heal anybody until you change your view. The man whom God made is in His image and likeness; he is spiritual, not material. Now a treatment and healing in Christian Science consist in seeing and knowing the supremacy of Truth and therefore knowing the impotency of error. Healing in Christian Science brings with it an awakened sense of the dominion over sin, sickness and death; and this dominion is the legacy which every child of God inherits from his heavenly Father.

With this brief statement of healing in Christian Science we proceed to the consideration of the wilderness.

UNREST

The human mind is never at peace. It is always in quest of satisfaction, seeking rest and finding none. This is because mortal mind can not understand the saying of Jesus, "in the world ye shall have tribulation, but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world"; "my peace I leave with you; my peace I give unto you." The Apostle Paul, understanding this situation, states the need for peace most clearly when he writes: "the whole creation groaneth and travaileth together in pain" waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body. "The way-side flower perishing for lack of moisture, the helpless bird amid the wintry blasts, the beast of the forest seeking his meat from God, mortal man, sinning and sick,—these are all evidences that the whole creation is reaching out blindly for help. Like Frankenstein, it aspires to satisfaction and finds no way to attain unto it. Now the fundamental panacea for this unrest is to know God. In an early Christian century, the Roman aristocrat, Augustine, after trying all material pleasures, cried out thus to the God of peace: "Thou hast made me for Thyself, O God, and my soul can never find rest until it rests in Thee."

In the first chapter of Genesis, man is recognized as being at one with God, made in His image and likeness, dwelling in peace and harmony. In the second chapter of Genesis, it is said: "There went up a mist from the earth." This mist marked the beginning of the groaning creation.

In the early days of Moses and the Hebrew prophets, as preparation was going on for the establishment of the Jewish church, men communed with God as familiarly as man now converses with man. As time went on the mist of disobedience and self-righteousness rose and the Jewish church became a part of the groaning creation. In time began the dawning of a new era. In the days of Jesus and the apostles, while the Christian church was being realized, the presence of God was a reality to men, and peace and power were ever present and were manifested in destroying sickness and sin. Again there went up a mist from the earth,—the mist of human domination and materiality, and then the Christian church joined its groanings with those of its predecessor.

Again we say, the fundamental panacea for unrest is to know God. And now after fifteen hundred years of theological mist, darkening the human mind, comes Christian Science to this age, teaching men how to know God, by dispelling and destroying the veil of evil beliefs which obscure Him.

GOD

Christian Science is the realm of definite knowledge. Ecclesiastical theology is the realm of indefinite belief. Now, as we have indicated, both in the Jewish and Christian churches, theology gradually came to teach that God is a mysterious Person, remaining unrevealed to a large extent, and incapable of being known clearly by men until after death. The Bible passage which says: "Clouds indeed and darkness are round about Him," was taken to mean that God wraps Himself in an impenetrable cloak. All these texts in the Bible which seem to indicate that God cannot be clearly known and that He is shrouded in clouds and darkness, deserve special attention; for in a sense they all are true, by which it is meant that God is indeed behind a veil; but that certain of cloud and darkness is not made by God, rather is it the result of mortal-mind ignorance and sinful thought. In other words, the mist that seems to separate man from God rises from the earth. It is not a curtain let down from heaven.

Now to the sick and sinful and troubled, brooding over the thought of an unknowable God, Christian Science comes and says: Your sores and sicknesses and sins and broken hearts may be healed here and now. The veil which seems to shut one from God may be destroyed through the aid of healing, coming directly through Christian Science treatment or through the reading of its text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." The only Comforter in the universe is God, and Jesus Christ said: "This is life eternal, that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent."

The puzzle to the human mind has always been this: Since God is infinitely great and man seems so small, how can man expect the Omnipotent One to take note of him? The psalmist voiced this when he exclaimed: "When I consider the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained, what is man that thou art mindful of him?"

For his comfort and encouragement man needs something concrete, individual. He needs something which he is capable of understanding, and this concreteness we find in the teaching of Christian Science. Mary Baker Eddy, in using the abstract noun, "good," in apposition with the word God, has bequeathed to mankind an illuminating thought. By it she enables us to make active and real a religious expression which had been to a large extent a dead letter for practically fifteen hundred years, namely, "to love God." The pulpit has preached that to love God is absolutely necessary to salvation and the pew has silently answered: "How can I love God unless I know Him? I can love a friend because I know him; this is concrete experience and I can understand it, but to love God without knowing Him appears to be impracticable." Now Christian Science individualizes God, good. St. James says: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights." All absolutely good motives, aspirations, thoughts; all kind, gentle, loving words and deeds come from God. There is nothing in the whole universe which is loving, protecting, saving or compassionate but comes from God and centers in God. Any of these qualities manifested in men and women are positive proofs of the presence of God. Therefore, we repeat, that when Mrs. Eddy employs the word good in apposition with the word God, she causes us to see at once how simple and practical it is to recognize and to know God; and therefore to love Him. To love the manifestation of anything which is true, honest, just, pure, lovely and of good report, is to love God. Hence, in the wilderness of darkness and fear wherein one feels that he is without God in the world, comes the voice of Christian Science, and through its treatment, its services, or the reading of its authorized literature, one is assured of the wonderful fact that he can know God here and now with as much certainty as he can know the truth of mathematics, and knowing Him, can love Him.

EVIL NEVER BENEFICENT

The only chance that evil ever has to succeed is by simulating good. Under this pretense of good for mankind old theology and materia medica have been busy, for ages, in making pictures, the main feature of which has been the claim that good can be born out of evil. One of the Christian churches has a hymn beginning "O! felix culpa." "O! happy fault; that is, I am so glad that I have sinned for by repenting of it I have learned how sweet forgiveness is. Out of wretched teaching like this comes such apothegms as the following,—"a young man must sow his wild oats." Is that true? Must one be dishonest and hateful before knowing how to be honest and loving? Paul says: "Shall we do evil that good may come?" * * * God forbid.

Beginning with about the fourth century of the Christian era the teaching that the only way or method by which man could securely attain to holiness was to withdraw himself from the rest of mankind, became prevalent; that is, he stood in fear of associating with others, and so there gradually appeared those abodes or retreats known as monasteries into which men betook themselves from their fellows, and this, contrary to Jesus' prayer in John XVII: "I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world, but that thou shouldst keep them from the evil." In connection with this picture of fear as a means of salvation there arose what are known in history as the Morality Plays, the main feature of which was to frighten men away from hell and frighten them into heaven. Within the past twenty-five years an attempt was made in the United States to revive the Morality Plays; and one recalls the rendition in various cities of a play known as "Everyman" with all its ghastly and horrible scenes. The age, however, had advanced too far in right thinking to encourage this sort of teaching. The appeal of that play was altogether to the element of fear.

In the later middle ages some European artists were busy with the brush, painting, in various places, pictures known as the Dance of Death. In the old covered bridge, crossing the Swiss river at Lucerne, one finds nearly half a hundred such paintings, on the large triangular panels; and these represent the most notable of all the paintings known as the Dance of Death. Their purpose was to inspire fear in the thought of all who saw them. Beginning with infancy, passing through youth and manhood, and embracing every business and every profession of man, the panels represent various individuals busy and happy with the affairs of life, while near at hand, unseen by them, is peering the ghastly figure of a skeleton. These came to be regarded as a series of religious paintings, intended to lay a pall of fear over every human scene and to remind men constantly of the one enemy that all feared and to teach them that eventually he would become their master. The great movement known in history as the Reformation did away with the worst features of this practice, and yet it survived in hymns, poems, sermons and funeral orations of the Reformation period; and these are still accompaniments of a great many services and sermons in modern orthodox churches. What inspiration, for instance, can one find in a hymn beginning on this wise:

Soon as the infant draws its breath,
At once spring up the seeds of death.

or this:

There is a time we know not when,
A point we know not where,
That marks the destiny of men
To glory or despair.

One does not care to advertise some modern preachers by mentioning names, but they should certainly cease from making these terrible word pictures and claiming them to be efficacious as means of spiritual growth.

Materia Medica has also added its contribution to the element of fear exercised over mankind; but it may be said, and said truthfully, that the pictures drawn by materia medica in the dark ages were neither so numerous nor so fear-inspiring as those traced by theology. This is because the medical men in the middle ages, while familiar with the outward form of man, had not yet acquired sufficiently accurate knowledge of anatomy and physiology to enable them to paint the horrible pictures of so-called diseased organs of the body, which descriptions are found, too often, in magazines, papers, and charts of modern days.

A medical diagnosis of any so-called disease, given either verbally or in writing, is a mental picture which the frightened human mind, unaided, finds it impossible to cast out. It is little less than a crime against children and even older people to display to them the horrible condition of diseased organs of the body and then ease a diagnosis declare that individuals are suffering from such diseases. This is a wilder form of fear from which many fail to emerge. Christian Science is practically the only church which is combatting this evil today, and deserves the aid of all fathers and mothers who should know that the medical profession has no more right to frighten their children with pictures of disease than theology has to frighten them with pictures of ghosts. Fear has always preached the eternal damnation of a large part of the human race.

THE BETTER WAY

Christian Science teaches with logical and spiritual exactness that it is utterly impossible for any one to be lost eternally; that nothing but error shall be cast as rubbish to the heap. This salvation has been the universal quest of mankind, and its realization is foreshadowed in the Old Testament wherein it is written, "The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord as the waters cover the sea," and in the New Testament by such passages as "the last enemy that shall be destroyed is death", and, "he must reign till he hath put all enemies under his feet."

Human language has endeavored to picture this state of salvation in many ways, and probably no picture is more beautiful than that given in the closing chapter of the Revelation of St. John the Divine, wherein the state of salvation is likened to a beautiful garden. Now let us for convenience do what is perfectly legitimate, suppose salvation to be represented by a beautiful garden, which all men at some time desire to enter, and which all men eventually will enter. Let us say there are two ways leading to this garden, one over a corduroy road, the other by a beautiful gravel walk. The corduroy road represents much suffering and much cleansing by the wayside before one enters the garden; the gravel walk is a direct and more beautiful way accompanied by less pain and sorrow. The children of Israel coming out of four hundred years' bondage in Egypt marched up to the border of the promised land in the brief period of six days on what may be called the gravel walk and they might then, had it not been for their cowardliness, crossed at once over Jordan into the fatherland. Being disobedient, however, they turned back and wandered forty years in the wilderness over what we have designated as the corduroy road. Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," in speaking of release from discord, uses the expression, "suffering or Science." Now Science stands for what I have called the gravel walk and suffering for the corduroy road. What specifically is meant by this expression, "suffering or Science"? This, namely, that those who know something of Truth and earnestly seek to realize it in their daily living are taking the more direct and pleasant path, through Science, toward the garden of salvation, while those who see some of the Truth and are disobedient to it are walking in the path of suffering and following the same course that led the children of Israel, for forty years, through the wilderness. On page 167 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy writes: "Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence,—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity." Christian Science is exact. We may trust it absolutely. If today we add one per cent to our stock of love and obedience we shall experience so much the less suffering and so much the more joy. Always as we add to our stock of love and obedience we are thereby forsaking the corduroy road and gaining the gravel walk. Or as Mrs. Eddy so beautifully teaches, we are approaching and entering the wonderful garden of salvation through Science instead of through suffering; the wilderness gradually blossoms as the rose, and blossoms abundantly. This gravel walk is that "spontaneous" in which a material sense of things disappears, and spiritual sense unfolds the great facts of existence." ("Science and Health," page 597.)

PERSONALITY AND INDIVIDUALITY

Who has not heard the phrase, striking personality? In the sense in which it is generally understood, personality is a deadly bane. It leads to hero worship of the baser sort; it is of the earth, earthy. Those who are acknowledged to have striking personalities are the same who dominate over other men and women either through wealth, position, voice, eye, feature, attire or some other physical manifestation. Such submission is nothing less than slavery. Sir William Hamilton speaks of it as the "sign of a feeble mind." I would rather say it produces a feeble mind; for many otherwise noble men and women have been drawn into this wilderness of drought and serpents, through admiring or fearing and following personality. The basic law for the guidance of Christian Scientists in this matter is found on Page 40 of the Manual of The Mother Church, by Mary Baker Eddy: "Neither animosity nor mere personal attachment should impel the motives or acts of the members of The Mother Church. In Science, divine love alone governs man." Perhaps Mrs. Eddy has stressed none of her teachings more emphatically than when she warns against following personality. Personality is material and temporal; individuality is spiritual and eternal. Personality vaunteth itself, is puffed up, behave itself unseemly, seeketh always its own, is easily provoked, thinketh evil. Individuality "vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil." To admire excessively, personality ends in disaster. To love individuality means life and peace. The reflection of God, good, in men and women constitutes their individuality. Such men and women we love and in loving them we love God. What we Christian Scientists love in Mary Baker Eddy is her individuality, she manifested so much of good. Increasingly she strove to take her personality away from thought. The greatest reformation ever known in the realm of teaching was begun when Mrs. Eddy eliminated the personal preacher, and instituted the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" as the only preachers in the Christian Science congregations. Every Christian Scientist knows that Mrs. Eddy's teaching leads from personality to the Christ Truth; and that is the reason why we all love her and are safe in so loving.

DEATH

I am going to discuss here briefly a phase of error which is the greatest imposter of the whole brood of evils. It claims to hold all men in a fatal grip from which there is no escape. Mortal mind names this imposter death, and while men flee from it and seek to avoid it, yet they are apt to admit and declare that finally they must submit and that death becomes the master of Life and the master of man. This is the supreme lie; because it is the greatest pretension that evil ever made. For after all death is nothing but a shadow. The Psalmist calls it the shadow of death, that is, the shadow, the shade, the supposition, that is shadow, is proved by the words of Christ Jesus: "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die"—shall never see death. When man awakens one hundred per cent to spiritual truth he can no more pass through the experience called dying than could God. To this wonderful fact St. Paul alludes in First Corinthians wherein he writes, "We shall not all sleep"—the literal translation of which is "we shall not all die." Now Christian Science teaches that man has the right to be immune from this physical episode called death. The first effect of Christian Science treatment or enlightenment is to begin to destroy fear in human thought. As the Christian Science Truth unfolds to one he thinks more and more about Life and less and less about death. That is, death is dying daily in his consciousness. Let us here employ a simple illustration. Grant for the sake of brevity that there are five so-called causes, any one of which may produce death. Let us say these causes are, tuberculosis, anger, liver trouble, drunkenness and cancer. Suppose now, as often happens, that a man is healed of tuberculosis, that means that one of the five causes of death is destroyed; in other words that twenty per cent of death is dead. Then let him be healed of the vicious habit of anger and another of the so-called causes is eliminated. That means that forty per cent of death is destroyed. This progressive destruction of death is what is taking place in the consciousness of each active, loving Christian Scientist; and on this plane of existence he may destroy so much of the death thought that if the change called death does come he may have scarce any fear at all in connection with it and it may be as painless an operation as the laying off of a worn-out garment.

Who shall say how much of the death thought was destroyed by the gentle and loving Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, before she passed on? The testimony of those who long were closely associated with her shows to what remarkable degree in the case of Mrs. Eddy Mind had dominated, destroyed matter, so that with her, as in the case of St. Stephen, Spirit broke through the veil of flesh, proving the nothingness of death and the allness of Life.

THE IMPELLING CAUSE

I would feel that I had neglected a privilege and a duty were I to close this lecture without some allusion to my own physical healing and to my mental release from the old theology, that is, the beginning of my release from the mortal mind wilderness. In 1872 I became a member of an orthodox church. The six years following were passed in preparing for the ministry. Beginning in 1877 and for thirty-four years thereafter I preached and ministered in that church, standing sincerely and loyally by its doctrine, discipline and worship. As a clergyman I was bitterly and unreasonably opposed to Christian Science and frequently denounced both Christian Science and Mary Baker Eddy, publicly and privately. During the three years prior to 1911 I suffered increasingly from indigestion, liver trouble and as diagnosed by one physician, chronic appendicitis. A so-called nervous breakdown ensued and an horrible, never absent fear came on which filled my thought with distressing pictures day and night. At that time, being in Oxford, England, I was led to receive teaching in Christian Science, which resulted in instantaneous physical healing, and what proved a still greater relief, the destruction of the beliefs in old theology. Through the Truth of Christian Science I was, in one moment, transformed from the poignant sense of fear and pain to a state of relief and peace. There was only one thing I could do and that was to follow the light which came to me as I sat in darkness and in the shadow of death. A few weeks before I was to take final leave of the church and the loving people to whom I had ministered for eleven years, I was suddenly awakened at midnight, out of a sound sleep and in the darkness I seemed to see an interrogation point a mile high and it said to me: "What if it is all a mistake, and you awake to find you are giving up your long ministry, your ample salary, your church and your loving people for something that proves itself to be a lie?" My heart was so full of love and gratitude for my healing that I was not taken unaware. I instantly said to that midnight spectre: "I will answer you by applying Jesus' rule, 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' Then I said to myself: 'Do you love God as much as in other days?'" Answer: "There is no comparison." Question: "Do you love mankind as much as of yore?" Answer: "I did not seem to know universal love for mankind until my healing in Christian Science." With that the midnight spectre vanished forever. Other trying problems have arisen but they have been uniformly destroyed through the spiritual law of Christian Science. For this beginning of the destruction of death and the little understanding of life that has come to me, I am ever grateful to our Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, not the saviour of mankind, but she is leading us out of the wilderness of confusion back to that Saviour.

THE WORLD-WIDE PROBLEM

No religious teacher can consistently remain silent concerning the universal social and business unrest prevailing throughout the world to-day. During the last fifty years distance and time have been destroyed to such an extent by inventions and discoveries, that the peoples of the earth are now one family for weal or for woe. A discordant nation in any quarter of the globe becomes a problem which all other nations must help to heal, or suffer inevitable consequences. The whole world at the present time is in just this condition. The great homicidal war in which the peoples of the earth, recently, have been engaged, has thrown into view this illuminating fact that the nations of the earth can no longer dwell apart as separate entities. God is the one Father and all His children are included in His family. The loving recognition of this fundamental fact is the only solution for the world's problem.

Some one people must be first in setting an unselfish example rising above the greed of territory and coin, patiently and irresistibly drawing to its own ideals the other nations of the earth. Opportunity is waiting at the door and we have good hope that the Anglo-Saxon nations, notwithstanding their internal difficulties, will prove to be the rallying point for a disunited world-wide family. This hope is the more radiant because among these people the modern Star of Bethlehem arose. Here Christian Scientists, clear in thought, patient in love and calm in endeavor, are influencing and moulding the national thought. With unerring prophetic instinct Mary Baker Eddy has written concerning distressing times, in these words, "those who discern Christian Science will hold crime in check." ("Science and Health," page 97.) Christian Science thought is doing this very thing today. The learners and doers of Christian Science, unlike their ancestors of the elder dispensation, when trouble comes, do not sit down by the waters of Babylon and weep, nor do they hang their harps upon the trees therein, but sing and make melody in their hearts they look to the ever present Christ as they sing, in the words of our Leader:

I will listen for Thy voice,
Lest my footsteps stray;
I will follow and rejoice
All the rugged way.
(Mary Baker Eddy, Poems pg. 14)

WHY HALT YE?

The regnant thought of those who are suffering is not, "How can I learn more of God?" but, "where can I find a path out of this wilderness of trouble?" Jesus did not condemn such desires; he was compassionate; so also is Christian Science; it begins by relieving men and women of their sense of human suffering. This initial help through Christian Science should be gratefully received and acknowledged. He that is faithful over a few things shall be made ruler over many things. There are multitudes of people who in times of great need have turned to Christian Science and found relief; then, either afraid or ashamed to acknowledge the Truth openly, they continue to drift along under the influence of old theology and material medica and find themselves making no progress with perhaps discordant conditions recurring. Why halt ye in the valley of decision? In Blackstone is a saying that "Mistress Common Law brooketh no bedfellow." It is equally true of Christian Science. One cannot advance in Science and still hold to the old theology and material medicine. Christian Science is the truth about God and man. It is equal to the solution of every problem. As we study it and are obedient to it our capacity for receiving and understanding increases, and the confusion of thought and infirmity of body which have held us in the wilderness of loneliness, doubt, and darkness, gradually disappear and "spiritual sense unfolds the great facts of existence." ("Science and Health," pg. 597.) To the Christian Science thought God is a reality everywhere all the time. No incident is too small to reveal His presence. Permit me to give an illustration. Late one afternoon as I was leaving my hotel to keep a lecture engagement in a New York suburb, I found there was not time for an evening meal, so on the way to the station I purchased a sandwich, eating it as I proceeded to the station. When the sandwich was almost consumed, two friends confronted me whom I had never seen before—a man and a dog. The dog stopped and looked up into my face; and the man stopped also. Supposing the dog wanted the remaining morsel of sandwich, I gladly offered it to him. He did not take his eyes from my face, moving his nose over so that it touched the bread, but he would not take it into his mouth. After a moment his companion spoke up and said: "He will not take food from any hand but his master's." Under my breath I said: "Oh, I thank you," and proceeding to the train I said to myself: "When will I learn to be as obedient to my Master, Christ, as that dog is to his master? If I would refuse to take food from any hand but my Master's I would not be poisoned any more with sin and sickness." And so through the obedience of this humble creature of our Father's (for God made the real dog) I had learned a little more about Truth and I had progressed a little further out of the mortal mind wilderness into the Christian Science wilderness that is blossoming as the rose—and blossoming abundantly. You have listened to a lecture on Christian Science. If your thought has been at all responsive you are now a little more awake than before. You see something about God a little more clearly than before and perhaps are experiencing an increased sense of peace and courage. That means that some of your sick and sinful and troubled thoughts have been cast out and are replaced by the Christ thought or Christian Science thought.

This is the beginning of Healing. Be not disobedient to the heavenly vision; follow it. It will prove to be the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night, leading from Egypt to the promised land.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

An all-day sewing meeting, with a brief business session, characterized the October meeting of the Winchester Union last Friday, and there was a good attendance of members to do the work planned. This included the making of a dozen comfort bags for the sailors and filling them with many useful articles, and also tacking two comforters.

At noon luncheon was served by a committee, and at the usual hour the meeting was called to order, and Mrs. R. M. Armstrong conducted the devotional exercises.

As next week, October 26-28, the State W. C. T. U. will meet in convention at the People's Temple, Boston, delegates were appointed, Miss Elliott and Mrs. Tracy, Mrs. Hamilton being a delegate by virtue of being County President.

It was voted to hold an all-day meeting November 19, to prepare articles for the Italian V. P. B. fair to be held at its headquarters, 33 Sheafe street, November 30 and December 1. Every member of the Union is also asked to give something personally for this affair.

At the meeting November 19 the business session will begin at 2 p. m., but workers are asked to come at ten o'clock. Luncheon as usual.

A committee was appointed to interview every member of the local Union to make sure all who are eligible are registered for the coming election. It is believed that very few who are able have failed to register.

Vote NO on the bill for 2.75 per cent beer and wines. Don't let Massachusetts be a black state.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. A. Thompson, former residents of Black Horse terrace, will make their home this winter at 121 Myrtle street, West Medford.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Morning Glory Troop No. 4 had its first meeting on Wednesday p. m. Miss Edith Downer of Stevens street will act as captain of this troop, and Miss Pearl Dearborn as lieutenant. It is hoped that the girls who passed their Tenderfoot Test in the spring will make good headway toward their Second Class Test during the year. Beside the regular meetings, the captain is planning camp fire picnics and some trips to historical points of interest.

SEEN AND HEARD AROUND TOWN

A Boost Here and a Knock There

"Well, Mr. Stroller," said a prominent citizen, "why didn't you give a little credit to George Davidson when you spoke about the fine work the town is doing on the sidewalk work around town?" Said this gentleman, "No man fought harder than Mr. Davidson for the money to do this work, and now every one is saying, why didn't we do it before?"

We walked into the fire station the other day, and, as usual, everything was spick and span. The fire chief's auto was newly painted, and on inquiring who did the work I was informed that the department did it themselves. Well, here is where the town is getting something for nothing. I understand that they are going to paint the combination next. I also noticed the same old worn ceilings that I spoke about over a year ago, and I was wondering whether it would not be a good idea to give this job to the firemen also, but pay them for it.

Sunday, while riding through Warren street, I was surprised to notice the condition of Foxcroft road, which runs out of Warren street. This street, with all of the fine homes in it, should be kept in better repair, for as it is now, it is dangerous to travel. Since this was written I have found out the reason, and will give it next week.

Do the citizens of this town know that we have two playgrounds within three hundred feet of each other? One has been given to the town and the other has been purchased. One of these can be very easily given up and turned over to the cemetery for the use of that department, for, as they stand now, they are practically useless for any purpose whatever.

We have a town dump here, and it is supposed to be the only place in town where anything can be dumped. All holders of licenses are bound to cart all the rubbish to this place in the center of the town, and the town also provides a man there to keep it leveled off and in good condition. The Board of Health will also give any citizen a right to use his land for a dump provided this citizen will agree to keep a man there and keep the dump in condition. Such being the fact, it is rank injustice to people who own nice homes to find that they have a dump right in front of their door. Such a one is located on the corner of Everett avenue and Sheffield road.

The assessors started something all right when they overvalued the town. Take a look around and see the new "For Sale" signs on every corner, and you will also notice that in a great many places the signs are on some piece of property that was built about the time Columbus sailed to discover the country. And oh, boy! Just ask the price of some of these shacks! No improvements; nothing but the shell of a house, and the price $8000 and $9000, and you couldn't give them away four or five years ago; but watch the tumble in prices and the hurry to get under cover before a year has passed.

Met a betting man the other day and a former Democrat who stands very well with his party in town, and he said that he would bet 2 to 1 that Cox would not carry a northern state, and that he was liable to lose some of the southern ones. Take this for what it is worth. I am giving you what I hear and see.

This may not have anything to do with Winchester, but we saw where the Woburn City Council granted jitney licenses to three different parties, and also where Mayor Golden said he would veto this grant, as he said the railroad was entitled to some consideration while they were trying to give the public service. Well, so are the public, and the railways, instead of giving service, are trying to see how little they can give and get away with it.

Take the identification check which is passed you when you pay your fare. Instead of giving you a clean check they use the same old one over and over again, and there is no way to tell how many hands it has passed through. I do not know any way that disease can be carried any quicker than by this method, and it seems it is a case for the Board of Health to look after.

WINCHESTER HIGH LOST TO NORWOOD

Winchester High School lost to Norwood High, 27 to 0, after a hard played game on Civic Field, Norwood, Saturday afternoon. Winchester was weak in the line and the local school went through for big gains time and again.

Quarterback Readell was the star. Besides piloting his team well, he backed the line himself more than once when first downs were needed. Three of the four touchdowns made by Norwood were gained through his work. Once when Winchester essayed a forward pass, Readell intercepted it and ran 50 yards down the field for a touchdown. Foren, at fullback, also played well for Norwood. In one play he went through for 25 yards. O'Brien booted three goals. From touchdowns, Flaherty and Matthews played well for the visiting eleven. The summary:

THE FORTNIGHTLY

At the President's Day meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation, held in Nahant on Thursday, October 14, the ladies were addressed by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. Mr. Lodge said he felt that women had always had a part in the politics of the country by their influence and that he hoped that the women would exercise their rights and take an active part hereafter in politics, for he felt that their vote would be quite as intelligent as that of the men. The Fortnightly was represented by its President, Mrs. Herbert Bond, Mrs. George W. Apsey, Mrs. F. W. Trombly and Mrs. George H. Eaton.

The Cooking Class conducted by the Home Economics Committee is to begin on November 19, with Miss Alice Bradley, of Miss Farmer's School of Cooking as teacher. Already a large number have expressed their desire to join this class, and it is hoped it will be one of the largest and finest classes in Massachusetts. Anyone wishing to join this class, please apply at once to Mrs. C. W. Tarbell, 734-M.

The autumn meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in the Second Church, Codman Square, Dorchester, on Friday, October 22; noon session at 10 o'clock; afternoon session at 2 o'clock.

The Literature Class will meet in the High School Library at 3 o'clock on Monday, November 15, and on the third Monday of each month thereafter. Those meetings should be of special interest to the members, for they are well known for their sociability, as well as their educational help. Mrs. Francis E. Getty has the class in charge during the coming season.

A meeting of the Advisory Board was held in the General Committee Room of the Town Hall on Thursday, October 21, at ten o'clock. The first meeting of the season will be on Monday, October 25, at 2.30. There will be a non-partisan discussion of political platforms and their relation to the woman voter. It is urged that a large number be in attendance.

NAME MAGUIRE AS PRESIDENT

Henry J. Maguire, of this town, editor of the S. S. P. Letter, the publication of S. S. Pierce Company, was elected president of the Industrial Editors' Association of New England this week at their annual meeting, held at Young's Hotel. More than 50 men and women editors of employees' publications throughout New England were present at the meeting.

THRIFT STAMP SOCIETY, RUMFORD SCHOOL

The following officers have been elected for the Thrift Stamp Society in the Rumford School: Harold McCue, president; William Russell, vice-president; Florence Bumstead, secretary; and Miss M. A. Lyons, treasurer. Meetings are held twice a month in Miss Lyons' room, all grades assembling there. One hundred per cent in the purchasing of thrift stamps has been reached this week. This means that every child in the Rumford School has purchased at least one thrift stamp since the opening of school. The pupils are feeling very happy over their record.

Miss Charlotte Barnes, principal of the Washington School, and Miss Mary A. Lyons, principal of the Rumford School, attended the luncheon and business meeting of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation, held at Riverbank Court, Saturday, October 15, going as delegates from the Winchester Teachers' Club.

DINNER IN HONOR OF MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE

"Delightfully gracious, straightforward, simple and sensible," are the words used in describing Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, by Winchester women who were privileged to attend the dinner given in her honor at the American House, Wednesday night. Massachusetts women may well unite in expressing their gratitude to the Governor for making so wise a choice, for we feel that what ever may come to Mrs. Coolidge in Washington, there's no doubt about her going there now, she will never lose her head, but will always stand for the very highest and best in American womanhood.

The following women sat at the Winchester table:

Mrs. W. I. Palmer, Chairman of the Women's Republican Committee;
Mrs. Maurice Brown
Mrs. Rufus Clark
Miss Frances Elder
Miss Mary Lyons

PREPAREDNESS FOR HOME CHARITIES

Self-respect, one of the great factors in life, is often gained by the knowledge of a neat and clean appearance, for undoubtedly there is a moral stimulus in clean, new clothes. We speak of making a "good impression," but the good impression will take care of itself when one is conscious of a satisfactory appearance.

Now, what has all this to do with the "preparedness" signified in the title? Just this—that the Needlework Guild of America is the only national channel anywhere providing new clothing, that those who are "sick or in prison or naked or hungry" may gain this same self-respect this moral uplift, this power to make a good impression to oneself as well as to the world.

Next Wednesday, November 3, at the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. the Winchester Branch of this Guild will hold its annual meeting. All interested in its unique work are invited to attend the meeting and to bring their gifts of two new articles of wearing apparel, for man, woman or child with them.

The director's meeting will be held on Thursday, November 4th at 10 a. m.

WINCHESTER HIGH WINS AT LAST

Winchester High took the turn in the road Saturday by defeating Stoneham High 19-0 on Manchester field in a Mystic Valley League game. This is the first win of the local team, which has recently had the services of an old school player, Leon Tuck, as assistant coach.

Tansey, playing fullback, scored touchdowns in the first and third periods, after the ball had been carried down the field by steady plugging and some short end runs. Mathews, playing left halfback, scored a touchdown in the fourth period on an off tackle play with the ball on Stoneham's 12-yard line. The visitors did not make first-down but twice during the game.

There was one of the largest gatherings in many years at the dinner and opening night of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church Saturday evening. SMITH—FORTIS

Miss Grace Skelton Fortis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas Fortis of Dix terrace, was united in marriage on Wednesday evening to Mr. Erwin Winifred Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith of Vine street, Leominster, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian church, at seven-fifteen at the home of the bride's parents.

The residence was decorated for the ceremony and following reception with an abundance of autumn flowers and foliage, hydrangeas predominating, and the large blossoms with the vivid autumn coloring made a very attractive setting for the affair.

The orchestral music was supplemented by several solos by Mrs. Helen Edelfson Barr, a pleasing musical program being rendered during the evening. The bride's dress was of white satin veiled with tulle, with pearl trimmings. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. John L. Sherman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing pink georgette over satin and carrying sweet peas. Mr. John L. Sherman was groomsmen.

A reception followed the ceremony from eight until ten, attended by a large number of guests from this and surrounding towns and cities. The couple were assisted in receiving by their parents and the ushers were Messrs. Elmer George of Melrose, Robt. Cooper Barr of this town, Wallace Jodrey and Hamilton Osborne of Boston University.

The groom is a graduate of Bentley College of Boston and also of Worcester Post B. College. He served thirteen months in the War and Navy Building at Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home in Leominster.

MRS. CHARLOTTE B. WEST

Mrs. Charlotte B. West, widow of the late Capt. Thomas F. West, died at her home on Washington street Wednesday. She was 81 years of age and had not been in good health for some time, her death being expected.

Mrs. West was a native of Raymond, Me., the daughter of James and Sophia (Wheeler) Dingley. For 40 years she had made her home in this town, it being her custom to spend her winters in the South. She was a member of the Church of the Epiphany and of its affiliated societies.

The funeral services will be held this Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence, 119 Washington street, and will be conducted by Rev. Murray W. Dewart and Rev. John W. Suter. The burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

Plans are also being made for the establishment of Osteopathic Hospitals in each city and town, where patients will be able to have treatment along osteopathic lines as well as surgical.

YE ED. IS UP A STUMP

Kansas Newspaper Family Is Divided on Its Politics.

Winchester, Kas., Oct. 23.—There's political friction in at least one Winchester family—a friction that is likely to wax pretty warm by election day. Should the wife of the household prove to be mistress of the situation, a Republican newspaper office finally may be converted into a Democratic one.

J. W. Byrn, editor and publisher of the Winchester Star, is a rock-ribbed Republican and Mrs. Byrn a staunch Democrat. Owing to the scarcity of help in his newspaper office, the editor was obliged to coax his wife, who had had previous experience in that line of work, into service.

Things moved smoothly politically in the Star office until yesterday, when the Democratic side of the house displayed the pictures of Cox and Roosevelt in a front window. Strenuous protests from the opposing side availed nothing. Today the editor "came back" by posting the pictures of Harding and Coolidge in another window of his sanctum.

"What's a fellow to do under the circumstances except take his medicine like a man?" was the editor's comment today. "If I say very much, I'm liable to lose my valued assistant and be up against a still worse proposition."

The Winchester, Massachusetts, Star has no such difficulty, for up to date the Harding-Coolidge combination seems to satisfy everyone.

AUTO WRECKED ON WASHINGTON STREET

Mr. Amasa Harrington's sedan was wrecked on Washington street Saturday afternoon when it got out of the control of the driver. The car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Clement of Lebanon street. When near the corner of Washington and Irving streets the car struck a tree at the grocery store of Mrs. Bridget Maloney, smashing both front wheels and the front end. The occupants were not injured.

ODD FELLOWS BOWL

Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows started their bowling tournament last week with eight teams lined up. Two matches a week will be run until the middle of April. The alleys in the Star Building have been taken over by the Odd Fellows Club and put in first class condition, and are handling many matches. Thus far teams 1 and 2 have split even, 4 took all four from 3 and 1 took three from 3. Tuesday night 2 took four from 4.

It really does seem as if the time for intensive knitting ought to be over, now that the war is over; or, at least, one war has been disposed of. But some of our women folk are still feverishly at it. Every day, as some auto stands at a curb, waiting for some one to transact business or do a bit of shopping, the woman left inside is often seen industriously knitting. And one evening recently The Spectator observed a young woman walking along the street knitting away for dear life. It was growing very dark, but the young woman was knitting "by touch," for she never glanced at her work, but pressed forward to her destination, as if her knitting was as casual and usual as her walking.

There is to be a joint open meeting of the Sons of Veterans, Camp 153, and Daughters' Auxiliary, of the Sons of Veterans, Camp 43, on Wednesday evening, November 3rd, Grand Army Hall, Town Hall building. Prominent speakers from Headquarters will be present and all eligible to join are urged to be present. A delightful evening is assured and refreshments will be served.

The Legislative Committee will conduct a class in Parliamentary Laws. All ladies desiring to join this class call Mrs. W. A. Bradley, 202-W.

The method of the chain parties to be given for the benefit of the Building Fund, in charge of the Home Economics Committee has been changed. Inasmuch as the majority wish to play bridge, the groups are to be three instead of four, each lady pledged to entertain, is to invite three; and those three will pledge themselves to entertain in the same manner, and that ends the chain, thereby taking in every member of the Club. This committee also suggests that in each group entertained there be one or more new members, or strangers, so that they may become acquainted and thereby create a spirit of sociability in the club.

The Cooking Class will begin on November 19, and the committee hope for a large number of members.

The Bacon street bridge over the railroad tracks was closed to travel this week. How long it will be up is not yet determined, but it has been found necessary to replace some of the big steel girders. Travel south on the Parkway should take Fenwick road and Grove street to West Medford. With this bridge up there is no crossing of the railroad tracks between the West Medford Grove street bridge and Winchester centre, a distance of about three miles.

A large truck of the Kelley & Hawes Co. collided with a truck of the Whitney Machine Co. at the north railroad crossing in the centre yesterday noon. No one was injured but the Whitney truck had its rear mud guard badly damaged.

Miss Evelyn Toppan has entered the Bryant & Stratton School, enrolling in the Secretarial Course. Miss Toppan graduated from Winchester High School, last June.

The Inspector of Buildings issued a permit this week to Henry C. Rowland of 18 Water street, Arlington, for the erection of a wood frame dwelling at the corner of High street and Indian Hill road, 36x24 feet.

Miss Merritt, sister to Father Merritt, who is ill at a Boston hospital, is as comfortable as could be expected. She will be brought to her home here next week.

Rev. Clifton H. Walcott has announced a series of sermons to begin next Sunday evening at 7, on "Popular Sins and their Remedy," and divided as follows:

Oct. 31—"Profanity"—Is this a man's sin? Is swearing a convenient conversational necessity? Where does slang leave off and swearing begin? What is the first feature of profanity?

Nov. 7—"Gossip"—Is this a woman's sin? What is gossip anyway? Who suffers most from gossip?

Nov. 14—"Indifference"—Is apathy a sin? Who are the greatest enemies of the church today? What are the causes of indifference? What is the remedy?

Nov. 21—"Ingratitude"—Are we really ungrateful or merely forgetful? Is ingratitude a very serious sin? Why celebrate Thanksgiving Day?

Nov. 28—"Unbelief"—Is this really a popular sin? Would Bob Ingersoll be heard gladly today? Are there eternal consequences if a man does not believe in God?

Each service will begin with a twenty minute song service conducted by E. A. Gay and assisted by a mixed chorus.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

For the first time in Massachusetts women are this year to be allowed to cast a ballot as an expression of belief in a moral question. The opportunity to vote for the support of the Prohibition Amendment by means of a good enforcement law is theirs, and it is of the utmost importance that they should make the most of it. A majority vote in favor of a bill permitting the manufacture and sale of 2.75 percent beer would amount to practical nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment and would bring back some of the worst evils of the outlawed saloon. The protection of the young from the temptation to drink intoxicants is of vital importance. Do your part by voting NO on your ballot next Tuesday.

It is by no means likely that the country at large desires the return of the saloon in any form but if Massachusetts goes wet it will give an especially bad impression this year when the tercentenary of the coming of the Pilgrim Fathers is being observed, calling attention to the high principles they advocated. Every member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union owes it to herself as well as her forefathers and foremothers to have her vote on the right side.

Massachusetts is said to have more women than men and that is one reason there was so much opposition to the franchise for women—they might outvote the men. Therefore it would be especially disgraceful if the State should go "wet" this year when women have the right to express their wishes.

Winchester is fortunate in having men of the right sort to represent it, but the vote here must help to offset the adverse vote cast elsewhere. Be sure to vote NO on the referendum and urge all your friends to do the same. For the honor of the Commonwealth, for the protection of the young, for the support of the Amendment, vote No.

Let there be no slackers in the Winchester Union. Vote early and vote right.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

October 27, 1920

The Board met at 7.30, all present. The records of the meetings of October 18 and October 21 were read and approved.

Town Hall Engagements 1920:
American Legion (Winchester Post No. 97): The American Legion, Winchester Post No. 97 was granted the use of the Town Hall for the purpose of conducting a general meeting and annual election of officers on Tuesday evening November 16, 1920.

Street Lights 1920: The Board voted to request the Edison Electric Illuminating Company to burn the street lights in the Town of Winchester from December 1, 1920, to March 22, 1921, at 5 A. M., until one-half hour before sunrise.

Street Acceptances: The Board passed rules of procedure relating to the laying out of town ways in the Town of Winchester and the Clerk was instructed to have these rules printed in the Winchester Star of Oct. 29, 1920.

Perambulation of Town Lines: The Board passed the following order:

Ordered: That the Town Engineer and Messrs. Kidder, Byrne and Parsons of this Board be and hereby are appointed a committee for the purpose of perambulating the boundary lines lying between this town and the Town of Lexington and that said committee report in reference to the accomplishment of the same in proper form to this Board.

A letter has already been received from the Town of Lexington stating the date, time and place for this perambulation.

Board of Survey: A letter was received from the Town Engineer calling the Board's attention to the provisions of the Board of Survey Act. "While ample provisions were made for the layout of streets or ways," the Town Engineer states, "there were no provisions of the abandoning of such layouts, or even for their relocation or alteration." He suggests that the Town Counsel draw up a bill for legislative enactment conferring the right to withdraw a given layout or to modify if necessary, and pointing out the way by which such withdrawal or modification may be accomplished. This matter was laid over for two weeks for further consideration.

Assessments (Sidewalks): A letter was received from the Town Engineer relative to the advisability of making an effort to change the sidewalk assessment law so that all sidewalk construction work which is done on the assessment basis be with a flat provision for the assessment of half the cost of the work on the owner without regard to the one percent provision. This letter was ordered filed.

The meeting adjourned at 10.30 p. m.

George F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

WHY PAY FOR "MOVIE" POLITICS?

Editor of the Star:—
You may be interested in the carbon of a letter I've just written the manager of the Regent Theatre at Arlington.

Ordinarily I am a meek and mild sort of individual, but if anything gets my pet goat, it is to have folks try to put something over on me. If any political party wants to inflict a rally upon the public, it ought to do it without taking over a regular theatre and charging regular admission prices.

As a man who knows something about publicity and public relations I want to go on record as saying that the stunt the Republican League of Massachusetts tried to put over at the Arlington Theatre (and possibly other theatres) is psychologically wrong.

If the friends of that organization know what's what, they'll stop methods which are decidedly underhanded.

Sincerely,
THOMAS DREIER.

Manager,
Regent Theatre,
Arlington, Mass.
Dear Sir:

As one of your regular patrons I want to protest against the unfairness practised against those of us who attended your theatre last night for the purpose of seeing one of your regular motion picture shows and who, against our will, were compelled to listen to amateur singing and playing (which, God knows, was dreary enough) and then to add to our grief, had to stand for a case of partisan politics, which I submit, has no place whatever in a theatre devoted to the entertainment of persons of all political belief.

When Mrs. Dreier and I and our friend left the theatre and protested at the box office, no offer was made to return our money, whereas we should not only have received our money but an apology for the outrage perpetrated upon us. Not only have we been attending your theatre regularly, but we have boasted repeatedly to our friends of the high character of the entertainment offered.

The money we paid in for last night's show is of no special importance, but I do think an apology and a public one at that, is due the patrons like myself whose money was taken from us under false pretences. If you had not done such a good job in the past and if you had not taught us to expect so much from you I should not be writing this letter, but would content myself with staying away from your theatre in the future.

This last, of course, I have no intention of doing because, somehow, I have a feeling that you will not offend in this way again. Surely there is no more certain way of killing the patronage you have built up.

Sincerely,
THOMAS DREIER.

WINTHROP GIRLS LEAD IN HOCKEY

The standing at the end of the third week of play in the new Greater Boston Interscholastic Girls' Hockey league finds the Winthrop high school girls' eleven in first place, having forced the Arlington high school girls, last year's champions, back into a second-place tie with the Lexington high school girls.

Winthrop has won all three of its league games. Only one league game is scheduled for this week. It will be between the Lexington and Winchester High girls, at Winchester Friday afternoon.

The league standing to date:
Winthrop High 3 0 1.000
Arlington High 1 1 .500
Lexington High 1 1 .500
Winchester High 0 3 .000

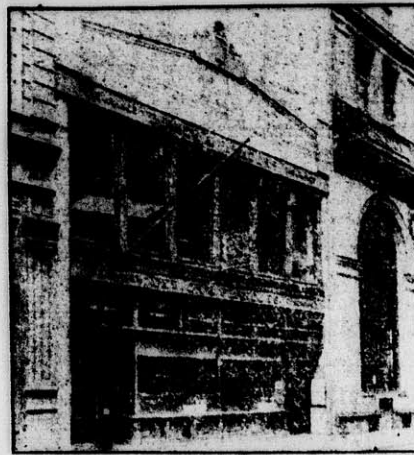

SATURDAY NIGHT'S LECTURE

It was a pity that the audience at the town hall on Saturday evening on the occasion of the illustrated lecture by Mr. L. O. Armstrong, given under the auspices of the Winchester Board of Trade, was not larger. Only about 100 persons attended. Possibly the small number present was due to the fact that the lecture was free to Winchester residents, but unquestionably those who were absent missed a decided treat and one of the best lectures and some of the finest lantern slides to be presented here in a long time.

Mr. Armstrong spoke almost wholly on Canada, and his slides portrayed views of streams, forests and mountain in sections never previously visited by a white man so far as is known. Those who were present gave universal judgment that it was one of the best lectures they had ever attended, and their applause at the close amply demonstrated their opinion.

Mr. Herbert Wadsworth presided and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Carlisle Elliott (Ellen Goddu) of Springfield, has been spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Goddu of this town.

STEAM SHOVEL AT WORK

Residents who have had occasion to visit the section near the west end of Wildwood street during the week have taken considerable interest in the work of the steam shovel Supt. of Streets Clarke has had at work. In the rebuilding of this street it was necessary to remove the old top layer of gravel saturated with oil, and the most expeditious method appeared to be to use a shovel. This had been amply proven by the rapidity with which the work has been accomplished. Starting in on Friday afternoon, one-half of the stretch of road had been dug out by Monday night, a task which would have taken a gang of men months to accomplish.

The shovel has kept busy hauling off the gravel. It is self propelling and a move was necessary about every five minutes during working time.

The town is still working on granolithic sidewalk construction and many new stretches have been put in during the summer. In fact the total sidewalk work completed would make a stretch the length of Cambridge street from the Arlington to the Woburn line and then leave 104 feet to run into either place. Among the streets recently improved by sidewalk construction are Herrick street, Mason street, Winthrop street and Main street.

Supt. Clarke's method of scarrifying some of the old worn macadam in his repair work is proving very acceptable. This system is much better than the patching and is providing very durable, especially so on some old construction on several of the less traveled streets, where the surface will be good for a long time to come.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Corey of 222 Mystic Valley Parkway, announce the engagement of their daughter, Hazel Ermine to Mr. Robert Johnson of Woburn.

Miss Corey is a graduate of the Hinsdale Arts Department of Framingham Normal School and is a teacher of Domestic Science in the High School of Canton, Mass. Mr.
Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
J. W. Johnson, 5 Warren Ave., Woburn. He is a graduate of Harvard 1916 and of Harvard Law, 1920.
He is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Ralston of Port Albion, B. C., are the parents of a son, born October 25. Mrs. Ralston was formerly Miss Mina B. Hartley of this town.

Rules of Procedure relating to the laying out of town ways in the Town of Winchester, adopted by the Board of Selectmen of Winchester, Mass., at its regular meeting held October 25, 1920.

1. All petitions for laying out, widening, altering or discontinuing any street or way shall be presented to the Board of Selectmen.

2. If no street or way constructed on private lands by the owners thereof shall be hereafter laid out by the Selectmen and reported to the Town for acceptance as a town way unless previously constructed and completed in accordance with the following specifications, which shall constitute the minimum requirements:

Specifications

(a) A plan and profile of every such street or way shall be filed in the office of the town engineer, who shall fix the grades thereof, and designate the design, grades and capacity of its drainage system.

(b) Every such street unless opened and used prior to Jan. 1, 1915, shall be at least forty feet wide and shall be constructed to its full width and length. Streets 40 feet or 50 feet in width shall conform accurately to the cross section plan accompanying these specifications and streets of other width shall conform to such cross sections as may be determined by the town engineer.

(c) The entire area of every such street shall be cleared of all stumps, roots, brush and perishable material, and all trees not intended for preservation. All trees intended for preservation shall be protected from injury by means of boxes or fenders.

(d) All loam and heavy material shall be removed from the limits of the street, inclusive of sidewalks, to such a depth as may be approved by the town engineer.

(e) All work in excavation or embankments shall be brought accurately to a sub-grade of not less than eight inches for the roadway and four inches for the sidewalk below finished grade as shown on said profile and cross section plan. All side slopes in embankment and in earth excavation on the adjoining land shall be at the ratio of at least one and one-half horizontal to one vertical, to a berm not less than one foot in width outside the limits of the street.

(f) Embankments shall be of clean sand, gravel, cinders, furnace slag, sound rock, broken stone or other suitable material. No perishable material shall be used for the making of street embankments.

(g) Above said sub-grade and to finished grade, good binding gravel shall be used, except along the edges of the sidewalks, where loam shall be placed, as shown on the cross section plan accompanying these specifications. Both the roadway and sidewalks during construction shall be thoroughly watered and rolled and the loam, filling along the edges of the sidewalk shall be carefully covered with good fresh sods, laid in the best manner.

(h) Side gutters on every street having a grade of five percent or over shall be paved, at least three feet wide, with stone, coal tar concrete, artificial stone or other suitable material approved by the town engineer.

(i) Catch basins shall be built on both sides of such street at intervals of not more than three hundred feet on continuous grades, at low points and sags in the grade and also near the corners of intersecting streets. Such catch basins shall be of materials, forms and dimensions approved by the town engineer, and shall be connected by suitable drains, having manholes at intervals of not over four hundred feet, with a permanent drainage outlet duly and permanently secured to the town by a proper legal instrument, or such drains may be constructed to the limits of a public way of the town intersecting such street.

(j) All corners of intersecting streets shall be rounded as approved by the town engineer, and curbing of granite or such other permanent material as may be approved by the town engineer shall be set on the gutter line for the full length of all such rounded corners. Granite boundings shall be set at all angles and curves under the direction of the town engineer.

III. Any street or way not in existence, or whose construction does not meet the foregoing requirements, may be laid out and reported to the Town for acceptance by the Selectmen; but such layout shall be under the provisions of law authorizing the assessment of betterments and petitions for such layouts shall be accompanied by releases of damages from owners and mortgages representing at least seventy-five per cent of the property affected and containing agreements by such owners to pay their proportionate part of the betterment assessment in the event of acceptance of the way by the Town.

OFF TO BERMUDA FOR HONEY-MOON

Miss Pauline E. Folger is the Bride of Henry L. Rapp of Brockton, World War Man.

Hundreds of friends from New York, Boston, Winchester and West
Medford attended the wedding of Miss Pauline Emeline Folger of Braintree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W.
Folger, to Mr. Henry Leicester Rapp of Brockton son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rapp, solemnized Thursday evening at All Souls' Church, Braintree.
The church was beautifully decorated with potted palms and ferns. Chrysanthemums were used effectively in bouquets and clusters of chrysanthemums, tied with orchid-tinted gauze, designated the pews reserved for relatives and friends. The altar was banked with palms and bouquets of chrysanthemums.

At the organ was Leon Morrell of Boston, and the bridal party entered the church to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin.

The procession was led by the ushers, John B. Rapp and Frank A. Rapp, brothers of the groom, Richard P.
Whitman, William Hartley Casey and Robert Jenkins of Brockton, Selwyn
F. Prime of Worcester, and Clark
Wilcox of Brockton. The bridesmaids followed, these being Miss Ethel Sutherland of Braintree, Miss Martha Rapp of Brockton, sister of the groom, Miss Abbie Page, Miss Marion Eldridge of Falmouth, Miss Muriel Thomas and Miss Hester Bradford of Winchester.

They were in Rainbow gowns, Miss Eldridge, Miss Thomas and Miss Rapp's gowns being tinted in orchid pink and blue, while Miss Sutherland, Miss Page and Miss Bradford's gowns were orchid, blue and yellow. The gowns were similarly designed of georgette crepe over a foundation of silver lace, and the young women wore crownless hats of georgette to harmonize, with silver bands laticed over the coiffures. They carried old-fashioned colonial bouquets.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Doris Prince of Worcester sister of the bride, gowned in pale blue corded silk and flowered chiffon with long court train and garnitures of old point lace.
She wore a crownless hat with silver bands. Immediately preceding the bride were the tiny ring bearer and flower girl, little nieces of the bride, Misses Madeline and Dorothy Prince, who wore white georgette with embroidery and ribbons. The ring bearer bore the circlets in a calla lily and the little flower girl carried a colonial basket of rose petals which were strewn in the pathway of the bride.

Miss Folger was escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. Her bridal gown was of lustrous white duchess satin, designed without trimming, exquisite draping displaying the rich beauty of the material. The gown was designed with long court train, with veil of tulle draped over the train and caught with orange blossoms. Miss Folger wore a platinum bar pin set with diamonds, Mr. Rapp's gift, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

Awaiting the party at the altar were Mr. Rapp and his groomsmen, Mr. Walter C. Rapp, and the clergyman, Rev. Frank Powell of Brookline, who performed the ceremony, the double ring service being used.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, Mr.
Rapp and his bride being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Folger, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs.

Rapp, parents of the groom, the best man and the matron of honor.

A cluster of wedding bells hung above the alcove where the receiving party stood. Mrs. Folger mother of the bride, wore cloth of gold with garnitures of brocade lace and tulle FIVE Bonnetant
trimmings and carried orchids. Mrs.
Rapp, mother of the groom, wore black satin with jet trimmings and carried orchids. During the reception a buffet lunch was served.

Mr. Rapp and his bride left late in the evening on a wedding trip to Bermuda. They will be away a month, and on their return will reside with the parents of the bride in Braintree.

The young couple are well known in Brockton, Boston, Monument Beach and Braintree. The bride is a musician of rare ability, and as a solo dancer won much commendation at the reception given the returning service men after the Armistice was signed. She is a pupil of Winchester High school and during the war was in the army and navy canteen service on Boston Common.

Mr. Rapp is a world war veteran and is secretary of the Walter Rapp
Co. He was of the class of 1913, Brockton High school and Norwich university, and enlisted in the navy three days after the United States entered the war, and was assigned to Sub-chaser 321, operating in the English channel and off the coast of France. He was in service overseas two years. He is a member of Brockton Post, American Legion, a member of the Thorny Lea Gold Club, Stearns Club of Monument Beach, Shoe Traders' Club, and M. and M. Club of Brockton.

GIRL SCOUTS

Last Friday afternoon Troop 6 with Capt. Emerson had a glorious October
"hike" to Glen Farm, Woburn. After preparations for supper were started half the scouts visited a nearby real Gypsy camp where excellent fortunes were dispersed at twenty-five cents each. The faithful cooks and firekeepers were rewarded by a later visit.

Pea and tomato soup, bacon, steak,
"weenies," fried potatoes and onions, supplemented by scores of sandwiches,
made a bountiful feast.

When the moon came up the scouts gathered around the camp fire, toasted marshmallows, told stories and sang joyously to the accompaniment of a ukelele.

Seven-thirty came much too soon and all were leathe to put out the fire and go to the automobiles waiting to take them home.

CHILD STRUCK BY AUTO

Anastasia Skerry, daughter of Hugh Skerry of Clark street, was struck by an automobile driven by Ayres V. Silver of Burlington, Wednesday evening shortly before six.
The accident occurred on Main street between Clark and Salem streets. In company with two other children the Skerry child had been to the store and was going home. Two of the children crossed the street, but Anastasia turned back and ran in front of the auto. She was not seriously injured, although a wheel passed over one leg.
No bones were broken. After treatment by a physician she was taken to her home.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Some self-made men evidently did the job in the dark.

No doubt you are talked about quite as much as you talk about others.

We have learned by experience that one cook in the suburbs is worth two in the intelligence office.

Some people admit that they know it all without saying a word. They look it.

Some stenographers marry their employers because they are tired of being dictated to.

SCUM O' THE MELTING POT

By Herbert Kaufman

Copyrighted

Reprinted from McClure's Magazine

The Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Gettysburg Address are descendants of the Magna Charta—supreme symbols of Anglo-Saxon souls striving for freedom, justice and humanity. Anglo-Saxons established this nation, wrote its code and sent their sons into the wilderness to gather fresh stars for the flag.

Anglo-Saxon purpose cowed the intervening wastes, discovered world granaries beneath the prairies, sealed the grim western hills and unmasked Eldorado, questioned sullen deserts until they answered with gardens, and finished on the Pacific the great adventure begun at Plymouth Rock.

Then, when the last taunting horizon had been met and vanquished, when axe and rifle had won an empire, when scattered settlements were beaded on threads of steel, and a safe highway through opportunity had been paved in their generous blood, the pioneers, the risk-takers, tossed their port-keys into the ocean and invited all creation to come at leisure and share a "sure thing."

The making of America is fundamentally an Anglo-Saxon achievement. Anglo-Saxon brains have guided the course of the republic. Our ideals are Anglo-Saxon, our social traditions, our standards of honor, our quality of imagination and our indomitability.

But Anglo-Saxon opinion is a fast-diminishing force in national determinations. Strange ghodly has lately crept into the loom on which we weave our destiny; intermarriage is steadily diluting the foundation strain, and if we continue to hold gates and veins wide open, Anglo-Saxon conscience will soon cease to captain our genius.

It would slander a vast body of loyal citizens not to admit the devoted service of all who fought for us, wrought with us, valiantly supported the country in every crisis. Yet, a review of the past fifty years discloses that each successive tide of immigrants has displayed less and less sympathy with our institutions, is more confirmed in its racial solidarity, more resistant to environment and assimilation.

Ominous statistics proclaim the persistent development of a parasite mass within our domain—our political system is clogged with foreign bodies which stubbornly refuse to be absorbed, and means must be found to meet the menace. We have taken unto ourselves a Trojan horse crowded with ignorance, illiteracy and envy. We have Hessianized our essential enterprises until alien workers predominate the basic industries of the country and hold further progress at their regardless mercy.

Provocateurs of revenge and anarchy—opportunists and demagogues—are already forging their strength into a weapon that bodes democracy ill.

Reckless state laws admit them to local elections without process of naturalization, and inadequate naturalization tests put votes into their hands before we fairly get English into their heads.

The will of America is not calling land over for strikes—the fist of America is not brandishing I. W. W. bombs—the choice of America is not sophisticated Congress and legislatures with snide statesmanship.

Nay, the voice of America is being slowly drowned in Jargon voices crying hate between labor and capital—hate between blindness and vision—hate between culture and coarseness—hate between law and license—even hate between the Anglo-Saxon peoples.

General's Magical Influence.

General Gordon's almost magical influence arose from the all-pervading sense, inspired by his mere presence, that there was a man who always was, and always would be, inflexibly true to his highest conviction. When he was in the Sudan, he never hesitated to place outside his tent the white handkerchief, which meant, as all men knew, that he was at prayer and that, during that sacred hour when he was alone with God, he must not be disturbed. P. H. Clady in "Stories for Talks to Boys."

BERMUDA TO CELEBRATE

Bermuda, the oldest remaining British "plantation," is preparing to celebrate its tercentenary this autumn, for which purpose 2000 pounds have been appropriated. Since the Prince of Wales announced the other day that he meant to pay a call on his loyal subjects, they hit on the scheme of combining two festive occasions and having one grand affair on October 1, when the Renown, with the heir to the throne aboard, is to cast anchor there. It was August 1, 1620, that the Colonial Parliament held its first sitting, but as the royal engagements cannot very well be altered, it was thought wise to set back the gala date.

For nearly 300 years the business of governing this little outpost of the Empire has gone on under the same forms, without material change. It is but natural that the 20,000 inhabitants of this twenty square miles of coral rock should wish to honor their aged constitution.

Originally founded by a shipwrecked company under Sir George Somers, destined for Virginia in 1609, these isolated islands have remained continuously under British rule.

Revenues are raised chiefly from tariff duties. No land taxes are levied by the colony. There is a very light tax on realty in the parishes, and the proceeds are used for maintenance of the poor.

There are no divorce laws in Bermuda and only one breach-of-promise case was ever tried there. Most of the cases on the calendar involve bicycle stealing, assault, petty theft; there is little serious crime, though in a region where everyone rides a wheel the theft of a bicycle is regarded somewhat as horse stealing was in the West a few years ago.

There are old-timers who have never set eyes on a train or a trolley car; but of late they have had the satisfaction of seeing flying-boats circling through the air.

Innovations of any kind are apt to be looked on with some suspicion. The majority is conservative, and that is perhaps why so much sentiment is attached to the coming celebration of the 300-year-old constitution.

MINSK: AN INCUBATOR OF BOLSHEVISM

"One of the least interesting among Russian cities in its physical aspects, Minsk has an economic history that helps in understanding how Bolshevism spread so readily among the Russian people," says a National Geographic Society bulletin concerning the city where the Poles and the Bolsheviks have been meeting to discuss peace terms.

"The industrial history of Minsk is especially significant in view of present conditions in Russia. It was one of the centers where ideas long germinated which blossomed forth so suddenly into Bolshevism under the hot-house influences of war distress. There, in the early nineties of the last century, a group of dilettantes formed a Working Men's Union, later more accurately termed the Union for Struggle. Promulgation of literature, smuggled into the country or printed in secret, was a major activity of this group in Minsk. Few workmen belonged to it.

In the course of five years these groups, working in Moscow, St. Petersburg and Minsk, has accumulated a number of followers, few of whom agreed. They gave wide publicity to the doctrines of Marx, mixed indiscriminately with every variety of radicalism, native and imported. With such a diversity of aims little was accomplished, and it was with the hope of formulating a definite program that the Union for Struggle and a committee of the Jewish Bund held their notable convention at Minsk in 1898. From that meeting arose the Social Democratic Working Men's Party.

The professed aims of various groups at that conference have a familiar ring. One urged that labor seek 'complete liberation from the yoke of Capital,' another broadly declared for 'immediate improvement of the condition of every working man,' a third frankly provided that the mass of their adherents should not have a voice in the direction of the group, but, rather, should be 'disciplined by continuous agitation.'

Once more Minsk figured in an interesting chapter of Russia's economic history when Zubatov set two women to organize a labor party, among the Jews, under police protection. Originally an agent provocateur, Zubatov, when promoted to a high office among the political police, undertook to organize laboring men so their growing discontent would be directed against employers rather than against government officials. In Minsk a rival organization, the Universal Jewish Labor Union, immediately was formed which quickly eliminated the 'police union.'

Minsk is built upon the Svislotek River, nearly 500 miles southwest of Moscow by rail, and has a population of 105,000, fully half of whom are Jews. It was the capital of the old Russian government of Minsk, which included some of the least fertile and least developed regions of the fallen empire.

Its annual fair, held in March, furnished the chief event in the town's life. Its trade, mainly in corn, lumber and leather, gained perceptibly when it became the intersection point of the railway from Moscow to Warsaw and that from Lihon to Khar'kov. Formerly it maintained a municipal pawnshop.

The city has passed through the hands of many masters. In the time of William the Conqueror it was a dependency of the Princes of Poland.

The most impressive fact in the Will of Mr. Carnegie is that all the large bequests under his Will, members of the family, relatives, close friends and faithful servants, 50 people in all, was left in the form of a life income, the incomes ranging from $3,000 to $20,000, amounting in all to nearly $300,000. He left no beneficiary under the Will a lump sum of over $2,000.

A letter from Mr. Carnegie will appear next week.

By the close of the twelfth century it had fallen into the hands of Lithuania. Three hundred years later it belonged to Poland, and at the time of the French Revolution Russia acquired it, Napoleon occupied it in 1812."

WHERE OUR IMPORTS COME FROM—COFFEE

"The people of the world annually consumed more than two and one-half billion pounds of coffee in pre-war days—enough to load a train of cars reaching from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh," says a communication to the National Geographic Society, issued as the third in a series of bulletins on "Where Our Imports Come From."

"This consumption now, perhaps, is nearer three billion pounds, and, in the United States alone 42 per cent more coffee was drunk during the fiscal year 1919-20 than in the preceding twelve months.

Three-fourths of the world's coffee is grown in Brazil, a country that has become rich from its coffee industry alone. Europe and North America bear approximately the same relation to the consumption of coffee that Brazil does to its production, these two continents using nearly four-fifths of all the coffee the world produces.

Holland is the greatest coffee-drinking nation on the globe. It uses 15 1/2 pounds per capita annually, while we use 13 pounds, Germany 5 1/2 pounds, Austria-Hungary 2 2/5 pounds, and the United Kingdom two-thirds of a pound. On the other hand, we use less than one pound of tea per capita, where the United Kingdom uses nearly seven pounds. Canada is about two-thirds English and one-third American in its use of coffee and tea; it shows a decided preference for the tea, but drinks less of it than the mother country, making up the difference with coffee. The Germans and the Austro-Hungarians use only a negligible quantity of tea.

The coffee plant is a shrub which, under cultivation, grows from 4 to 6 feet high. In its wild state it grows three or four times as high as in its cultivated state. The dwarfing of the plant increases the crop and facilitates picking. The leaves are of a fresh green color; the flowers are white and have an odor strongly resembling jasmine.

The green coffee berry of commerce is nothing more nor less than the seed of the coffee 'cherry.' These 'cherries' turn crimson on ripening. They are then picked, the pulp is taken off by machinery, and the two husks which lie between the pulp and the seeds themselves are removed. The coffee has to be thoroughly dried before the husks can be taken off, and on many plantations there are whole acres of concrete floors for this drying process.

When run through the machinery for the removal of the husks, these latter are blown away like chaff, and the coffee grains are run over sieves so arranged as to grade them and bag them according to size, ready to be shipped to the world's markets."

CALUMET TOURNAMENT

Bowling Scores Show Big Increase as Competition Begins.

With the lining up of the teams and consequent competition for top of the board honors, the bowling scores in the Calumet tournament are showing a big increase. Many of the old bowlers are rolling top notch and close figures are showing. Team 20, in taking three points from 9, lost the first by six and won the third by one. Team 1, in taking a like number from 10, rolled a string of 546 and a total of 1516, the highest figures yet. Team 2 took a real start and captured all four from 11. Marshall Berry created new individual figures with 363 and 141. Other good scores were made as follows: G. F. Purinton, 122 and 329; Taylor, 130 and 317; Stephenson, 112 and 310; G. W. Purinton, 126 and 308; R. L. Purinton, 110 and 306; Carleton, 121; Murphy, 118; Wiggins, 106 and 300; Higgins, 106; Flinn and Dolben, 101 each.

Other close matches were rolled in the tournament in following games. Team 3, in taking two points in its match with 12, won the third string by a margin of one, and team 4, which took three from 13, lost the other point by a margin of only 5. Team 14 made easy work of taking all four from 5. Keepers led in this series, not making a total of 323 with 124. Carleton got 320 with 125; Gendron, 316 with 108; Eaton, 116; Barron, 114; Taylor, 107; Sanford, 106; Emery and Dolben, 103 each; Tarbell, 101, and Parsley, 100.

In a following series of matches 6 and 15 split even; 7 took three from 16 and 8 three from 17. In the first mentioned match 15 took the tie in the first string and in the second match 16 won its one point by one pin in the third. Individual scores of merit were made as follows: Goodale, 332 with 124; Fennio, 116; Dickson, 112; Blanchard, 110; Metcalf, 109; Sanby and Bennett, 100.

"LET US NOT HEDGE BUT PLEDGE"

Editor of the STAR:
In scrutinizing the columns of the last issue of the STAR I was amazed when I observed the following paragraph:

"Do the citizens of this town know that we have two playgrounds with in three hundred feet of each other? One has been given to the town and the other has been purchased. One of these can be very easily given up and turned over to the cemetery for the use of that department, for as they stand now they are practically useless for any purpose whatever."

Now Mr. Editor, this is a government of the people. Every citizen therefore should consider it his duty to take an intelligent interest in public affairs, no matter how humble he or she is; hence I take this opportunity to write the few lines that appear below.

Your correspondent asserts that the playgrounds are useless. And yet for the last two years he has raised an excellent crop of vegetables, six other residents of our town raised an excellent crop of potatoes, and half of the land was not utilized.

It can be thus very readily determined that the town made no mistake when it accepted and purchased this property, thanks to the generosity and foresightedness of some of our public spirited residents.

Some folks thought we made a mistake when we purchased the Whitney property—the hen coops and pig pens that once abounded on the shores of the Aberjona river, where now stands our beautiful Manchester Field and handsome bridges.

Because we did not erect a bath house on the shore of Wedge Pond while the war was in progress is no argument to assert that the land is practically useless. We purchased and accepted the land on the shore of Wedge pond near the lodge; let us not hedge, but pledge to retain the land where the sturdy oaks and weeping willows grow.

I remain, very truly yours,

PATRICK H. CROWELL.

Following Governor Coolidge's proclamation closing the hunting season on account of forest fires, no additional hunter's licenses have been issued at the town hall.

Mr. Lawrence D. Nichols of 23 Eaton street leaves next week for St. Petersburg, Florida, where he will engage in business.

Miss Curry, 9 Church street, will carry Paul Revere Pottery. 022-4t

LETTER OF GRATITUDE

October 25, 1920

Editor of Winchester STAR:

It will highly please me if you will be so kind as to print this letter in order that those who responded to my appeals in so noble a way may know how profoundly I appreciate their beneficence.

Upon the degree of success I met with in selling my pamphlets rested a great deal—possibly destiny. A failure in the effort to dispose of them would have severely handicapped me. But, fortunately, the majority of the people to whose homes I went, not only treated me with great courtesy, but purchased my pamphlets as well.

When people reach that degree of altruism and fraternity where they can cast aside denominational and racial prejudices and make a contribution to the development of any person who, they feel, is going to be a factor in bettering humanity's condition, it is a very propitious sign. It indicates that the dawn of the recognition of the brotherhood of man will soon chase away the darkness of race antipathy.

Magnanimity, benevolence, fraternity, in a word, love, (for love embraces these) can alone solve the serious problems before mankind. An application of the principles of love is the world's only hope.

It is my fervent desire that after I shall have completed my training, not only shall my own people be the recipients of the blessings of my ministry; but that members of other races shall be able to testify that their lives have been enriched and ennobled because of that ministry.

Hoping that you will find space in your paper for these few lines of gratitude,

Yours, respectfully,

HARRY A. SMITH

WEEK-END FIRES

The fire department was called out Friday afternoon by an alarm from box 43 for a fire at the Clark street dump, and at about the same time some of the apparatus was sent to the Falls to extinguish a brush fire near the fish hatchery at the head of the Parkway.

A truck, owned by the Woburn Cement Block Co., caught fire from a dragging break band on Main street near Salem street Saturday afternoon, resulting in an alarm being turned in. The fire was quickly extinguished with little damage.

ANDREW F. ROGERS

Andrew F. Rogers, well known in this town, where he spent the larger part of his life, died at the Somerville hospital on Friday following an operation performed the previous Tuesday.

Mr. Rogers was 54 years of age and was a native of Scotland, the son of Andrew and Ann (Shields) Rogers. He came with his parents to this town during infancy and grew up here, receiving his education in the local schools. He was an upholsterer by trade and resided with his wife, who was Miss Bridget Shields of Attleboro, on Partridge avenue, Somerville. He was a member of the Somerville Court, M. C. O. F.

Besides his wife he leaves one daughter, Miss Helena Rogers, two sisters, Miss Margaret and Miss Nora Rogers, and two brothers, Frank E. of this town and John J. of Lowell.

High Mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Ann's church, Somerville, on Monday morning and the burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, Arlington.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH ENTERTAINS

The First Congregational Church in its first social of the season last Tuesday evening kept "open house" to the enjoyment of about three hundred of its parishioners. The occasion was delightfully informal, no set program being followed, and all present doing their utmost in dispensing open-handed hospitality.

After brief words of welcome by the popular pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, the assemblage was entertained by vocal selections by Mr. Walker L. Chamberlain and Miss Evelyn Fontaine Prime, the former being one of the regular church quartette and a soloist possessing a rich baritone voice, the latter making her initial appearance before a Winchester audience. Her sweet soprano voice, reflecting so much credit on this occasion, seems to assure for this young lady a most promising future in the musical field. Mrs. William A. Lefavor presided at the piano with her accustomed skill.

During the evening refreshments were served by a corps of charming young ladies, all members of the church family, including Charlotte Brooks, Ruth Brooks, Clytie Brooks, Madeline Robinson, Alice Webster, Natalie Thumin, Edith Johnson, Evelyn Toppan, Pearl Dearborn, Alice Freeman and Mildred Fohrman.

The chairman of the committee of arrangements was Miss Ruby M. Fontaine, and she was efficiently aided by Mrs. Mary Willey, Mrs. W. F. Prime, Mrs. Fred Parshley, Mrs. William Herriek, Mrs. Charles T. Maine, Miss Kinner, Miss Mary Kinner, Mrs. J. C. Folts, Mrs. D. P. Blaikie, Mrs. Frank Rowe, Mrs. Florence Seales.

MOTION PICTURE THEATRE FOR WINCHESTER
We publish the details of this project on Page 6

The plan of the theatre will adapt itself perfectly to the triangular shape of the lot on Main and Park streets, giving an ample entrance vestibule at the corner leading to a broad circulation behind the last row of seats and to ample stairways and providing exceptional facilities for exits. There will be smoking room and lavatories in the basement, and in a mezzanine story between the parquet and the balcony will be ample coat rooms, ladies' rooms, lavatories, etc. On the parquet will be 654 seats, and in the single low balcony 510 seats, a total of 1164 seats. Each seat will be wide and comfortable and have a perfect view of the stage, with no angular distortion, the side seats being as good as those in the centre. Special attention will be paid to the ventilation, assuring abundant fresh air. A specially studied system of lighting will be devised so that lights can be on in the house at all times without detracting from the sharpness of the picture on the screen. And because of the arrangement on two streets, windows will be in both side walls, allowing direct cross ventilation. The exterior is designed in a simple, quiet combination of gray brick and stone and will be an ornament to the town. The interior will be subdued in tone, quiet in decoration, in harmony with Winchester's best tradition, relieved by a judicious selection of ornament in the lobby and about the stage, avoiding wholly anything like theatrical glare and preserving a quality of intimate good taste. The building will be very substantially constructed, fireproof throughout and with every provision of safety, comfort, good acoustics and perfect lighting.

VESPER SERVICE,
5 P. M. SUNDAY

First Congregational Church

The regular monthly Vesper will be held at the First Congregational Church Sunday afternoon, November 7th., at five o'clock. Miss Elinor Whittemore, violinist, and Master Winslow Rouse, soprano, will be soloists.

Master Rouse is soprano soloist at Trinity Church, Boston, and possesses a voice of rare beauty and freshness. Miss Elinor Whittemore, violinist, is very well known here and in New York. She has toured this country several times and received commendable notices from the leading critics. Her technique is flawless and she has acquired a beauty of tone which places her among the leading violinists of America. Recently returned from Europe, this will be her first appearance after several months of study in Brussels, Paris and London. While in Europe she revisited the battle fronts where, during the war, she played her way into the hearts of thousands of our boys.

Mr. Childley will give an address on "Forgetful Green." The public is most cordially invited.

STORES BROKEN INTO

Three Winchester stores were broken into and money stolen from the cash registers on election night. The Ames store and the Central Hardware store were entered by means of a skylight on the roof and $2 and $3 taken. The provision and grocery store of A. B. Seller on Washington street was entered by means of a false key and $11 in cash taken.

It is thought the thieves were the work of boys. Nothing was touched but the money, which in every instance was in the cash register, which had been left open.

Further investigation of the break at the Central Hardware store revealed the theft of considerable goods besides the money taken, proprietor Donaghy now being engaged in taking account of stock.

Yesterday at Waltham two youths, Edward and Walter Tirrell, 17 and 19 years of age, were arrested for breaking into stores there, and from notes and goods in their possession it is thought they are the ones connected with the theft here. Sgt. McCauley and Mr. Donaghy are now on their way to Waltham to look at the loot and to see if the youths are identified with the breaks here.

CALL

The fourth Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross starts Nov. 11, Armistice Day, and concludes Nov. 25.

A notice will be sent to each member, through the mail, and a house to house canvass conducted.

You are requested to make your contribution to the canvasser when she calls.

HEVEY-FOLEY

Largely Attended Wedding at St. Mary's Church

One of the largest weddings to take place at St. Mary's Church in many months was that of Wednesday morning, when Miss Margaret Josephine Foley, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Foley, and prominent among the operators at the Winchester telephone exchange, became the bride of Mr. William Henry Hevey, son of Mr. Edward H. Hevey of Washington street. Both the bride and groom number a host of friends, not only in Winchester, but in many surrounding places.

The wedding was performed by Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's, at nine o'clock. The couple were attended by Miss Alice G. Foley, sister of the bride, and Mr. John F. Hevey, the groom's brother. Mrs. Mary McGrath sang the hymns during the mass.

The bride wore a dress of white ivory satin, trimmed with chantilly lace, and picture hat of white panne velvet, trimmed with ostrich and pearls. She carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore sunburst taffeta with trimmings of blue satin, and a picture hat of King's blue panne velvet. She carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, the attendance to which numbered fully as many guests as were at the wedding. The couple were assisted in receiving by their parents, and decorations of cut flowers and palms were used throughout the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Hevey were the recipients of many handsome gifts. Following a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., they will make their home in this town.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

On Thursday of last week Troop 7, Winchester Girl Scouts, made a trip to the Boston Public Library. They were welcomed by Miss Jordan, in charge of the children's library there, who is very much interested in the girl scout movement, and under her guidance they made the acquaintance of many rare treasures. She had prepared in advance a collection of the famous Curtis Indian Photographs which are only shown upon special application, and the girls were very much interested in looking them through. Besides these, they were shown a number of the original documents of the Plymouth Colony; the John Eliot Bible written in the Indian language; a letter written by the soldiers who were imprisoned for the Boston Massacre; a large collection of very old books which belonged to President John Adams, one of the greatest men Massachusetts ever produced; some beautifully illustrated editions of familiar books, such as "Treasure Island," "Lorna Doone," and many of the stories the school children are reading now. Of course they did full justice to the building itself, with its beautiful marble hallway, its inner court and fountain, its mural paintings which are famous throughout the world, and lovely Bates Hall, "one of the most beautiful rooms in America."

Although they came and went in a pouring rain, the girls pronounced the trip a great success. The library is well worth a trip by any of the Scouts; and Miss Jordan is most kind about helping them to see the most interesting things. She is glad to have the captains telephone ahead of her, so that she can get out some special collections for them to look at. And she knows just where the finest treasures are.

While they were so near, the girls took occasion to go into Girl Scout Headquarters. They looked over the interesting displays there, of books on Scouting, silver cups won in various Scout contests, models of camps, and all sorts of things interesting to the troop. They were all glad they went, and hope some of the other Winchester Scouts will make the same trip.

WESTERN MISSIONARY LUNCHEON

A most successful meeting and luncheon of the Western Missionary Society was held in the vestry of the First Congregational Church yesterday. 106 persons sat down to a delicious luncheon at noon, the affair being in charge of Mrs. William R. McIntosh. During the following business meeting Mrs. John L. Cayling rendered some beautiful solos, Mrs. William A. Lefavour accompanying at the piano.

CLEVER CAPTURE

Officer James P. Donaghy of the local police made a good capture Sunday afternoon when he held up Richard E. Auclair and Arthur L. Polly, both 14 years of age and residing in Somerville. Word was telephoned by the Arlington police that two boys driving a touring car had struck a child in Teel square, Somerville and were thought headed for Winchester. Officer Donaghy saw the boys in the car rounding Knight's corner and caught them on Main street near the Mystic Valley Garage.

When taken to the police station they admitted stealing the auto early in the morning at Taunton, it being the property of the Eastern Mass. Street Ry. Co. They also admitted that they struck Christine Richardson, 7 years old on Broadway near Teel square.

Before the police finished with them they acknowledged the theft of gasoline from a Taunton filling station and breaking into a Somerville bowling alley and taking $18 in cash. They are also thought to be connected with other thefts, including stealing bicycles.

The Taunton police were notified and they took the prisoners and auto to that city Monday.

MRS. HARRIET S. HUNT

Mrs. Harriet S. Hunt passed away Monday evening, October 25th., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur H. Russell, 10 Mt. Pleasant Street, from pneumonia incident to age. She was in her eighty-sixth year and had been a resident of Winchester for about thirty-five years, living here with her children, although retaining her old home in Sunderland and visiting it whenever her strength permitted. The homestead of her grandfather and her father which was erected nearly two hundred years ago, still stands in good repair close by the Connecticut River. Mrs. Hunt was the widow of Assistant Surgeon Franklin L. Hunt, of the United States Army, who during the Civil War in 1862 was shot from ambush and fatally wounded. Mrs. Hunt was a member of the Congregational Church during the whole time of her residence in Winchester. She was a member of and contributed to many charitable organizations. Three children survive her, John F. Hunt of Malden, Franklin L. Hunt and Mrs. Arthur H. Russell of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, October 27th., at the home of Mrs. Russell, conducted by the Rev. Howard J. Childley of the Congregational Church. The interment was at Sunderland, Massachusetts, in the beautiful rural cemetery by the banks of the river which she so earnestly loved. She was a woman of deep religious feeling, a little lonely as one by one her brothers and sisters and friends of her own age passed to the world beyond, but always cheerful and happy with her children and grandchildren. The following lines found among her papers express perfectly her thought.

"There'll come a time near the setting sun.

When the joys of life seem few.
A rift will break in the evening dim,
And the golden light stream through
And the soul a glorious bridge will make.

Out of the golden bars,
And all its priceless treasures take,
Where shine the eternal stars."

UNITARIAN CHURCH NOTES

The first of a series of evening meetings will be held at Unity House, Sunday evening, November 7th., when there will be an address by Rev. Frank S. C. Wicks of Indianapolis, who will take as his subject "The Underlying Unity of Church and State."

Tickets good until 7:30 p. m. have been mailed to all members of the League, and may also be obtained at the church on Sunday morning. The public will be admitted after that hour.

Members of the Society who desire to attend this meeting and would like to take advantage of automobile transportation, should get in touch with Mr. Stone.

The Woburn Lodge of Elks B. P. O. E., are to have a ball, New Armory, Woburn, New Year's eve. Many special features will be announced later.

"DEMobilIZATION OF SERVICE FLAG"

Impressive Service at Unitarian Church Sunday

The morning service at the Unitarian church held especial significance last Sunday, when, with appropriate exercises, the service flag of the church was lowered and placed in the archives. The ceremony took place both before and after the regular service, and Mr. Reed preached upon "The Old Service Flag and the New."

At the opening of the service the flag was carried in by four members of the Boy Scouts, bugler Henry Chapman sounding "colors." Mr. Reed's sermon was along patriotic lines and the music by the choir was of a similar appropriate nature.

Following the sermon a greeting from the former pastor, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf was read, following which Mr. Alfred H. Hildreth read the roll of honor and Mr. Robert Metcalf accepted the flag, to be placed in the archives of the church.

The ceremony was very impressive and largely attended, invitations having been extended to all service men and other military men in town to attend, together with special invitations to the church service men.

The letter from Rev. Mr. Metcalf was as follows:

My dear Friends of the Winchester Society:

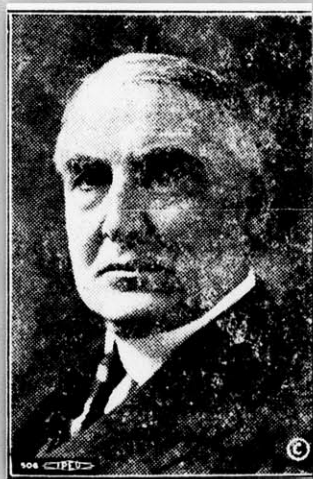

It is a deep disappointment to me that I was not able to accept the very kind invitation of your minister to be present at the service when you take down the flag which commemorates the patriotic devotion of the young men of the Parish during the great war.

You have a right to be proud of your boys whose patriotism is shown by the great number of stars which the flag contains, and to be able to feel that no matter what of the many departments which the modern army and navy represented they served they all did faithfully the part allotted to them and therefore had their honorable part in the great victory which they with their allies were able to win.

Some perhaps who felt themselves shunted off from the services and the excitement of the front, many have felt themselves as being of little use in bringing the Armistice Day—but they have every right to feel that in an army, as in the larger world, as the Christian faith sees it, all parts are useful and necessary and all should have a similar honor. Let us be thankful that though three of our stars turned to gold none of them turned to yellow. Each and all did the duty required of them.

We have a right to be thankful that out of so large a number who went so few were called upon to make the supreme sacrifice and will be permitted to serve their country with same singleness of devotion in times of peace, which they wholeheartedly gave in time of war.

WINCHESTER WENT RE-PUBLICANTuesday's Voting Well Handled Here and Result Announced at 10.40 P. M.

Winchester went Republican! So did the rest of the country, and as everyone voted that ticket it is presumed everyone is satisfied. But a source of gratification to Winchester voters—men and women—was the way our election was handled. There was no waiting in line, no confusion, and every one of the 4018 voters who cast their ballot found the operation so simple that some of them were tempted to try it a second time. No one did.

Of the total vote cast here, amounting to 4018, the Republican presidential candidates received 3139 and the Democratic ticket 720. This is a fair example of the proportion throughout the ballot. Mr. Lewis Parkhurst was honored with the largest individual vote, he receiving 3283.

To accommodate the big vote the large town hall was used. The lists—men and women, were divided A to M and N to Z, and signs conspicuously posted instructed and guided the voters to their proper entrance. The ballot boxes and two sets of check lists were used. The voting went off, many thought, even smoother than on previous elections when the men's list only was handled.

The list totals 2377 men and 2057 women and the two ballot boxes registered respectively 2222 and 1796, although of course each included ballots of both sexes.

The vote was 90 4-5 per cent. of the voting strength of the town, a most excellent showing, and only 135 of the women registered did not vote. Of 92 "ballots of absent voters" sent out, 83 were returned in time to be counted in on the vote, and of these 77 were correct and six defective. Mrs. George E. Willey cast the first woman's ballot at 5.50 a. m. and Mrs. Stott of Church street, 90 years old, is thought to have been the oldest woman voter.

One Winchester man, Whitfield L. Tuck, was on the ballot, he running on the Democratic ticket for Congressman. He received 583 votes. The town voted to accept the act providing for "one day off in every eight days to police officers" by a big majority.

A corps of 20 election officers, aided by the members of the Board of Selectmen, handled the vote in an efficient manner.

The result of the Winchester vote was as follows:

THIS MORNING'S FIRE

The fire department is out this morning for a bad fire at the farm on Washington street at the Woburn line formerly known as the Willie Richardson place. The barn will be badly damaged and two out-buildings, a carriage house and a milk house, are expected to be a total loss.

The alarm came in about 7.30, the Woburn department being also summoned, as some of the buildings are in that city. It is reported that all the live stock, including a dozen or more cows, was saved. The barn is badly damaged on the outside, but not burned down.

VICE-PRES. CALVIN COOLIDGE

INTERTOWN CLUB

The Intertown Club, an organization of athletic and social pursuits, have moved into their new quarters, at Waterfield bldg., where they will be pleased to greet members and friends.

This affiliation is one of great promise and has made great progress since its conception in April. It now has on its roster, athletes of considerable reputation, and should be an element to be reckoned with in sports in this vicinity. Its basketball team is composed of veterans from high school teams, and also from the Amicans, Cosmopolitans, Collegiates, and other fast teams.

Though not over successful in baseball, they learned many things, and have among new members, base ball players of considerable experience, from such teams as the Cosmopolitan, St. Johns of Cambridge and from other fast semi-pro teams of Boston.

The officers of this progressive organization are: Milton H. Smith, pres.; acting v. pres., Geo. Reed; treas., H. M. Boardley; sec., Theo. R. Grant; cor. sec., Courtland Ashby.

It would appear, that a new athletic field will be needed, with a possibility of three base ball teams this coming year. What about that north side play ground, now that the stress of war is over it need no longer be utilized for garden purposes.

MAKING HOME BAKING EASY

A Book that Makes this Art of the Olden Days a Modern-day Delight.

From all parts of the country come reports of a great increase in home baking. In fact, it has again become the fashion, as it was in grandmother's day, for women to take pride in telling about the good things they bake at home.

To encourage this great economy, and to make it easy for the beginner, as well as to give the experienced home bakers the benefit of the most modern discoveries, the Royal Baking Powder Company has published a most unique book which, in itself, is almost a course in the art of cookery.

Turning the pages there is included a wealth of information most unusual in baking and cookery. Old and famous recipes have been improved and simplified, and on nearly every page there is something entirely new to serve as a surprise.
Economy and ease of preparation are the keynotes of the book.

Indeed there is so much of value in this contribution to good living that one wonders how it was allotted out. We find in the introduction that it is the result of three years of constant research and experimenting by the Royal Educational Department, which is conducted for the benefit of all housewives interested in the health, economy and betterment of the home
table.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

Any woman who is interested may join the Cooking Class which is to begin on Nov. 19, as we want them to be of benefit and pleasure to all Winchester women who may desire to join. The price will be regulated by the number of persons joining the class. The tickets will be transferable so that any members who cannot be present at any particular lesson may send someone else in her stead.
The tickets will be on sale to club members after the meeting in the rear of the hall at the next regular club meeting on November 9.

There is already a great interest manifested in the chain parties conducted by the Home Economics Committee, and it is hoped that the first hostess will entertain in a simple and inexpensive way. The idea is that these parties shall not be a burden to anyone, but that they shall be given to create a social spirit among the members, and at the same time as a means of raising money for the building fund. Please bear in mind that the hostess is not to pay when she entertains, but is to do so when she is invited to one of the groups in return. Anyone wishing to entertain may do so providing there are three club members among the number, who will promise to entertain, thus carrying out the "chains." Should anyone desire further information they may call the chairman,
Mrs. C. W. Tarbell, 734-M.

The Fortnightly Players are to present the fascinating comedy, "Mrs.
Temple's Telegram," on Friday, Dec.
17, in the Town Hall. This feature of the club is one of its main attractions.

The Literature Class meets for the first time this season on Monday, November 15, at three o'clock, in the High School library. Mrs. H. M.
Lazelle will be in charge.

The readings will be from the plays and essays of Lord Dunsany.
This class will meet every third Monday at the same time and place. A social hour and tea will follow the meetings.

The chairman of the Hospitality Committee reports that her committee has a plan for the identification of new members. She invites the new members of the club to make themselves known to her committee, each member of which will easily be located by her badge. The new member will then be presented with a pin bearing her name which will make her known to the members and every effort will be made to make her feel the cordiality which the club extends to all its members.

At a meeting of the Advisory Board on Monday, November 1, it was voted that the ladies be notified through the "Fortnightly Columns" in the Star that the Board very earnestly desires the presence of every member of the club at every meeting and that every member should be in her seat at promptly 2.30.

Considerable difficulty has been experienced in the past on account of the confusion caused by the coming of late arrivals. It is very hard for the speakers to make themselves heard at best on account of the poor acoustic conditions of the hall and if each member would make it her duty to be present and in her seat at the opening hour, 2.30 o'clock, very much of this trouble would be eliminated.
The program for the afternoon will begin promptly at the close of the business session whether the business is transacted in fifteen minutes or later. Will not every lady take this to heart and be present on Monday, November 8th, at 2.30, and feel that she, for one, has done her "bit" toward the success and comfort of the meeting?

STELLA P. TROMBLY,
Sub Chairman Press Com.

LADIES FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society will hold an all-day sewing meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 9th. A large attendance is desired, as there is much work to be done for the fair which comes December 7th.

There will be a board meeting at 1.45 p. m., and at 3 p. m. Rev. A. B.
Whitney, of Plymouth, will give a Stereo-Opticon Lecture on "Plymouth, Mass." Tea will be served following the lecture.

"LET'S GO"

Editor,

Winchester Star.

Dear Sir:

In behalf of the fans of the Town of Winchester I have been requested to send in this little write-up on the Winchester High Team. "Let's Go."
Of course, it must be realized by the public in whole that Winchester has not got what you might call a heavy team. But with Joe Matthews and Joe Tanzie and a few other lively men, they have the makings of a mighty good team, that is, if every player and also his fellow scholars went into the sport with more determination and will-power, enthusiasm, and fight, fight to win their own game. I am sure that the Winchester people would be mighty proud of their fighting boys who could not help but win if they use these methods.

Very truly yours,

PARTY AT NURSES' HOME

A very successful Hallowe'en masquerade party was held at the Nurses' Home, Saturday evening.
The decorations were charming and most suggestive of the occasion.
Every guest was escorted through the chamber of horrors by Hallowe'en spirits before joining the party.

About fifty young people were dressed in artistic, humorous and original costumes. At 9.15, those in costume marched past the judges for the selection of the prize winners.
The Training School Committee,
Mrs. William C. Sache, Mrs. Charles
T. Main, and Mrs. Frederick A.
Parshley, awarded the prizes to Miss Esther I. Anderson, who figured a scarecrow; Mr. William Aherne, a Dutch Boy; and Miss Marion Franchere, a balloon girl. The following received honorable mention: Mrs.
Alice Gormley, a dame of 1860; Miss Elizabeth Hayter, a villain; and Miss Thelma Smith, a Billy Burke. There were many other unique and attractive costumes. The merriment of the evening was increased by the presence of a genuine fortune teller, who gave all a peep into the future.

Cider, apples, doughnuts, cake,
nuts and candy were enjoyed by all.
These occasional social functions make a break in the routine life of the nurses and afford necessary recreation and inspiration for their work of sacrifice.

"Methodist" Church.

The word "Methodist" is derived from a Greek word, meaning method or rule. It was applied in derision to those following the methods of John Wesley, but he accepted the term and made it a feature that the rules and methods of the Saviour were followed.

evening by the Senior Class of the local high school in the school building. Members of the school gave im-ments of the high school paper and twelve of the advertisements which appear in every issue. Lee Court made several free-hand paintings which were auctioned off by Stephen Ryan, president of the senior class.

Following the entertainment refreshments were served in the school lunch room by several senior girls. Dancing was then enjoyed until 11 p. m., music being furnished by an orchestra composed of Kathleen Case,

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Some people who have dreams of giving away money think they are charitable and prefer to let it go at that.

Sound arguments make the least noise.

Some men never borrow trouble; they buy it outright.

The only way to get your money's worth is to live a cheerful life.

It takes the average man half as long to get hot under the collar as it does to cool off.

Successful men have will; those who fail have wishes.

If you have a kick coming put your whole sole into it.

Of course you are a Republican!

The refining influence of the ladies was very noticeable at the polls.

All up for the Red Cross—ready in war, ready in peace.

It looks as though sooner or later Winchester is to enjoy "movies." The agitation will not down. If we are to have them, and it seems that we are, why not make certain that both show and building suit us; likewise a home management would be desirable.

The Selectmen, and especially the Chairman of the Board, are to be congratulated upon the results obtained at Tuesday's election. All former arrangements were completely changed over, from the hall to the entire system, and our voters were cared for in a manner equalled by few places hereabouts. After learning of the delay and confusion in many other places, we may consider ourselves particularly fortunate. As a matter of fact we have got a rather good board in office this year—have we not? Perhaps you know the gentlemen—Messrs. Arthur A. Kidder, James W. Blackham, George M. Bryne, Joseph A. Dolben and William L. Parsons.

Considering the size of Tuesday's vote, there were but few defective ballots. The large number of these were through an attempt to split the ticket, and of course all were credited to the ladies, although from observation we are inclined to credit the ladies with knowing more, in some instances, the male voters, due largely to their study of civil government.

It would appear that the "ballot of an absentee voter" does not fully cover the ground intended. This new law provides that a voter using the ballot must be two municipalities removed from the town or city wherein he casts the ballot; thus a resident who is incapacitated to such an extent that he is unable to visit the polls is barred from voting if in his home town or city, but may vote if "two municipalities removed." Another instance occurred this week in the case of a voter leaving late Monday night for New York. He secured his "absentee ballot," but could not fill it out here or leave it here. He was obliged to go to Boston, hunt up a Justice of the Peace or Notary Public to take his acknowledgment, then fill out his ballot and mail it to the town he had just left. Why should he not have been able to have filled out his ballot and leave it with the Town Clerk before his departure? The time was short and the mails are not always, to say the least, certain of prompt delivery. That the new law is appreciated is very evident by the large number of voters who availed themselves of its provisions.

Dear Sir:

In reply to yours of the 9th of February, I am greatly pleased to hear of such an insurance as you describe.

As I understand it, the husband is insured, making the wife beneficiary, and the wife receives an allowance as long as she lives. This is a great step in advance, although this does not in turn benefit the children. A form of insurance, however, could easily be added which would do so.

I have a case in hand today where a young widow's insurance money was handed over to a gentleman for investment. He is now bankrupt, and the poor woman is left in destitute circumstances.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW CARNEGIE.

SAFETY FIRST

GREAT many people know how to earn money, but few are careful investors. Warnings are issued by competent authorities against the many oils and industrial get-rich-quick stocks now being extensively advertised.

These pitfalls are dug by irresponsible promoters and the chances of ever getting your money back are about equal to seeing any part of the big dividends promised. It is much safer for you to trust your money with a National Bank that pays interest on checking accounts.

The Federal Banking Laws are very strict regarding National Banks. The Comptroller of the Currency, through semi-annual examination, keeps in close touch with all National Banks.

Indeed stockholders cannot shirk responsibility. They are compelled to make up all losses for double the amount of their holdings for the benefit of their depositors.

Our Directors absolutely direct. The National Bank is not a one or two-man institution.

Your account solicited.

BLAME MEXICAN "HOT STUFF"

Pepper and Fiery Liquors May Have Something to Do With the Troubles Down There.

Pepper is the source of Mexican revolutions, according to many people. Hot tamales, chili con carne, which means pepper with meat; chili rellenos, chili con queso, or pepper with cheese; all the other hot dishes that delight the Mexican palate, are supposed to incite these fiery Latin-Indian folk to actions that people of more sober mien would not contemplate.

But the border citizens of this country place the greater blame on the liquid refreshments indulged in by our neighbors to the south. Aguardiente, tequila, mescal, drinks that rouse stormy passions in the Latin and paralyze the senses of the Anglo-Saxon, are consumed in great quantities.

Tequila, father of comets, sea serpents, misshapen giants, juggernauts and a thousand other monsters, is a white liquid brewed from "heart grass," a desert growing plant with clusters of thick, hard and watery daggerlike leaves with needle points. Mescal, a brew of cactus leaves, is its companion drink, and, mixed, the very small will put even a prohibition enforcement agent in a state of coma.

DEMOMOBILIZATION OF SERVICE FLAG

Of the three who gave their all, I would say one word more. They represent very different branches of service. One was in the Infantry where the destruction of war bears hardest, and where the task is most important. One was of the corps who are usually classified as soldiers and sailors too, and who are expected to be first in the fray. The third was in the branch of service where man's conquest of the air is only half complete, and where the danger of anti aircraft guns in time of war has the extra peril of navigating in an element man has not entirely made his own, and with machines that are still far from perfect. So that the aviator is in battle as soon and always when his machine takes flight. The time should soon come when we enshrine in durable tablets the names of Mahlon Duggan, a member of our Sunday School who died in a battle which was the turning point of the war, where Yankee pluck and courage first turned the rush of the confident victors, Germans, to defeat. Of Chester Tuttle who was one of those daring youths who made the vision of the post first come true, of a "Heaven" filled with shooting, and he himself a part of "the ghastly dew from the Nation's sky" of grappling in the central blue." Of the third and last, Stuart Lane whom I knew best of all because he was my Sunday School scholar and Knight of King Arthur in Taunton and a member of the Metcalf Union and my neighbor and friend in Winchester. I like to think that when he joined the navy and the marines he was still a Knight whose sword was "bathed in Heaven" and whose adventurous daring would have led to distinction if he could have been permitted to join his company over there in Belleau Woods and San Michel.

Reverently lower your service flag which does you and all who are memorialized in it so much honor. But I pray God that you may do it with the feeling that there is something wrong with the world which from time to time calls for such sacrifice from its youth. Send forth the best you breed, but for the nobler tasks of conquering the hardness of nature.

I would be the last to suggest a word that has anything that might be construed as of the nature of politics. But is there not a sphere above the battle of opinion, where all people can agree. That in some way and by some means, in which honest men may differ, we can highly resolve that our Christian influences will be used to make this the last great war of history.

A time in which it is well that they have given their utmost devotion.

For theirs was not a war like the many of the past where in a few generations they could only say, "It was a glorious victory," and not be able to tell what it was all about. The boys I knew in France were sustained by the Faith that they were fighting in the last war of History in which they were glad to suffer that their children and grandchildren should never know the like.

How nobly we honor their sacrifice when we perfect their work by devoting ourselves to a continuing peace. God help us everyone to rededicate ourselves to our still unfinished task, and so be worthy not only of our Fathers but of our Sons.

EXTRACTS FROM AN ARTICLE BY SIR GILBERT PARKER AUTHOR OF THE IRRESISTIBLE THING

The Future of Moving Pictures in the English-Speaking World "I call the 'film' the irresistible thing, because it has come to stay and it is impossible to prevent its huge development. It has many honest enemies, who love art and hope that the film may cease. That, I say with confidence, is a vain hope. It has not had many years of life and yet look at the immense strides which it has already made."

"Rudyard Kipling has never consented to have his work done on the film, but I predict that he will. He is too wise and big a man to oppose persistently the inevitable. Sooner or later every great writer will contribute to moving pictures, work of which he will be no more ashamed than of his best book; but he has yet to learn how to do it. It is an art by itself, and its many failures are due to the class of brain employed in the construction and development of plot. It needs the best brains in the world and the best brains should not hesitate to support it, but the machinery must become familiar to the fingers of the artist."

"But screen plays are not the only form of screen work. Not far from where I live in London is the biggest film theatre in the great city. I go to it very often. Why? Because, when I am tired and do not want to spend an evening or an afternoon at the theatre, the film interests me. It is a mine of information, on zoology, geography, international life, tropical events and all other things which educate the human mind. I think that these forms of film presentation are more developed in England and the British Isles than in America, though I have only seen a few of the film theatres in New York."

I would, if I could, put a film theatre in every village and in the school of every village in the English-speaking world. What is learned by the eye is never forgotten and it is an easy way of getting knowledge if you can't study zoology, geography, etc., at first hand. The easier it is to get information, the better; and the eye is a fine medium for acquiring it."

"A firm like the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation—and others—spends a thousand dollars and often more to present a flash scene that lasts a few seconds, but that money is not wasted. It brings to the lowest mind, in the smallest place, the true picture of good architecture, good scenery, good furniture, and so contributes to the improvement of the taste of the nation. A good big play may cost, to produce, fifty thousand dollars—a good big film costs three hundred or five hundred thousand dollars, and it is worth it, for it goes to every part of the land and plays its part in the daily life of the people."

"Capital and Labour have long been at variance, and Labour has not always received its full due, but the film will help to solve—is helping to solve—the problem between the two classes of society, the intellectual, inventing, and originating class, and the intelligent producing class, and that is a great national asset."

But the film is international as well. Think, in the late war, what good was done by the films shown. Yet it was with the greatest difficulty that the British Government could be induced to exhibit films of the Navy. People in the United States thought the British Navy was doing nothing and the British workman in England was not much the wiser about it.

But when, at last, the films were produced and shown, what a difference came to the minds of the English-speaking world! All the nations in the war used the screen; it was even used at the Front, and on the battlefield; and, in the village, town and city, the larger view soon became apparent.

Even the exhibits of modern American films in the British Isles did great good, for American achievements, energy, dress manners and customs became familiar to the mind of the British spectators, and that was an excellent and highly desirable accomplishment. Two days spent in a country are worth fifty books about it, to the least observant mind, and, in the same way, a film is fifty books to the same mind."

"The film has come to stay. It is indispensable now. When the public accepts a thing there is good reason for it. The public has given its approval. It should, therefore, be the object of every good citizen to help improve the movies. The films will be no better than public opinion demands. The public is an intelligent public, on the whole, and their criticism makes for better presentation. The spoken plays that are produced are in accordance with public taste; when that taste improves there will come better plays. When the public demand a higher class of film they will get it, and wise makers of films are ready to respond."

LETTER FROM DIRECTORS

We believe that a motion picture theatre under proper management and censorship is an essential part of the life of a modern community. We believe that the plan of censorship, as expressed in the following, which is to be embodied in the By-Laws of the corporation, constitutes a proper and perpetual restriction upon the production of motion pictures in Winchester.

"The corporation shall be governed and controlled in the production of moving pictures by a board of Censorship. Said board shall consist of two clergymen of established churches in Winchester, to be selected in the first instance by the corporation, the Superintendent of the public schools, the Librarian of the public library, the President or some other officer of the Fortnightly Club, the President or some other officer of the League of Women Voters. After the board has been established any vacancy shall be filled by other members of the board in such a manner that it will continue to be representative of the professions and organizations represented in the original board. Said board shall appoint a censor, who shall be a citizen of Winchester and whose salary shall be fixed and paid by the corporation and who shall be subject to removal at any time by said board. The Manager shall submit to the censor, at least a week in advance of presentation, a list of films, and the censor shall have the right to see the production of any film prior to its presentation and shall have the right to refuse permission for the production of any film, or any part thereof. "No amendment of this by-law shall be made except with the consent of a majority of the members of the board of Censorship."

We believe that a project of this nature should be controlled by stock ownership in Winchester and by officers who are citizens of Winchester.

We believe that such an enterprise will be profitable and that the profits should accrue to the citizens of Winchester rather than to outsiders whose interest is solely commercial.

We have approved the proposed plan of incorporation as submitted by Edgar J. Rich, Esq.

We have examined the details of the project, which include location, plans for the building, fixed charges for operation, and probable receipts.

We are willing to serve as directors and officers of the WINCHESTER THEATRE, Inc.

IT IS AGREED that the objection and opposition to the many past applications made by outside commercial interests for licenses to operate a motion picture theatre in Winchester without specific restrictions, were fully justified.

IT IS AGREED that it is unfair that many of our citizens are unable to attend and enjoy entertainments out of town on account of exorbitant car fares or from the lack of automobiles or other means of conveyance.

IT IS THEREFORE PROPOSED to build a theatre of our own which shall be commercially profitable to Winchester people, and that the large and small investor shall have an equal opportunity to share in the profits.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the plan of irrevocable censorship specified above shall be incorporated in the by-laws of the Corporation and that the license shall be issued on that basis.

IT IS AGREED that this censorship, removed from political corporate and financial influences, will prove permanently effective in furnishing our citizens with attractive entertainment in motion pictures of the highest class, free from all objectionable features and that therefore it is not subject to the justified opposition against previous applications.

THE LOCATION, on the corner of Main and Park streets, is central; is not prejudicial to residential values, and will increase the business of our civic centre.

THE BUILDING is to be of first class fire-proof construction, attractive and substantial, without waste in ornate frills.

THE SERVICE is to be of the best.

WINCHESTER THEATRE, Inc.

To the HONORABLE BOARD OF SELECTMEN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

I, the undersigned, a citizen of Winchester, believing that a Motion Picture Theatre properly restricted is an essential part of the life of a modern community and that the terms of censorship under which the Winchester Theatre is proposed to be organized and operated by citizens of the Town constitute such proper restriction, respectfully petition that a Special Town Meeting be called in order that the Town may express itself in regard to the granting of a license to the Winchester Theatre, Inc., without delay.

DIED AT WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

AFTER ACCIDENT

Lt. Richard Fowler, attached to the industrial department at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard, died at the Winchester Hospital Sunday from injuries received in an automobile accident in Reading Saturday night. He reported at Portsmouth about a year ago, and it is believed that his body will be shipped to his home in Washington, D. C., for services. His widow is visiting in California.

Capt. E. C. Nearing, who was also injured in the accident, left the hospital and returned to the navy yard. He recently returned from duty in Chinese waters, and his detachment papers to the receiving ship were to be in effect today.

The driver of the machine, Harry M. Commer, a pay clerk at the Portsmouth yard, was in the Woburn court charged with manslaughter. The police say that Commer was driving at an excessive rate of speed when he was in collision with a machine in which Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Spooner of Lawrence were riding. The Commer machine was overturned, pinning the two naval men to the ground. The party was motoring to Boston to bring back Mrs. Commer and her invalid mother, who were returning from New York, when the accident occurred.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Winchester Mothers' Association gave its annual reception to the mothers and fathers and teachers of Winchester Wednesday evening October 29 in the High School Assembly hall. Approximately two hundred and fifty were present. Mrs. LeFavor, chairman of the music committee had arranged a short and delightful program consisting of a violin solo by Miss Gertrude Felber, and a group of songs by Mrs. Gertrude Barnes, both of whom Mrs. LeFavor accompanied on the piano.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Mary E. Driscoll district secretary for N. E. Field Service, who spoke on "The Community's Responsibility to the Adolescent." Miss Driscoll spoke with great seriousness and great sympathy of the temptations lying in wait for young girls in the commercialized amusement places, and at the parks and beaches, and of the corresponding danger to the young men. She pleaded with the mothers of girls to keep close to them at the period when their interests are changing from those of little girls to those of women. She begged the fathers and mothers of Winchester to support any movement to provide wholesome pleasure for girls at the time when they crave it most, and any movement to shelter and train those who are by nature unfitted to withstand the temptations of early adolescence.

A reception followed in the gymnasium which Mrs. Saunders' committee had made attractive by decorations of fall flowers in reds and yellows, and prettily arranged tables.

VOL XL. NO. 19.

WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1920

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

WINCHESTER THEATRE, INC.

Statement of Directors

In regard to the welfare of our children in relation to a motion picture theatre in Winchester: The State law requires that no child under fourteen shall be admitted to a place of amusement while school is in session, or during the evening except when accompanied by an adult.

The argument is made that with a theatre in town our children will be tempted to go, and will go more often than they do now out of town, thereby interfering with out-door exercise and study.

This argument has merit, but our feeling is that this is for the parents to control and that it is offset to a very large extent by the certainty that when the children go to the Winchester Theatre they will see there nothing detrimental.

It is a fact that now with no motion picture theatre in Winchester children whose families have the means are constantly going out of town, while those who have not, are denied both for themselves and their families an innocent enjoyment.

This it seems to us more than outweighs the necessity of some parents having to exercise a reasonable if somewhat onerous parental authority.

Aside from the expense of going out of town, the long trip on the cars and the getting home late are serious disadvantages.

The school survey made by a committee of fifteen, mentions attendance at motion pictures in its relation to school work, but it also speaks of the diversion of clubs, dances and social activities, all of which are subject to the control of the parents.

The BY-LAWS of the Corporation include the following:

REQUIREMENT that at least two-thirds of the Board of Directors shall be citizens of Winchester; and RESTRICTION in the sale of stock to others than citizens of Winchester, thereby providing for all time against outside control.

PROVISION against operating on Sunday.

A CONDITION that the terms of censorship cannot be revoked or changed by the Corporation, but only by a majority vote of the Board of Censorship. This permanently establishes the Censorship and divorces it from political, corporate and commercial influences. The actual censoring is done, not by the Board of Censorship, but by the Censor under his control, and weeks in advance of production. The policy and standard of censorship is thus secured and maintained by the composite judgment of individuals, each one of whom represents different pro-

Winchester Catholics Hold Big Affair in Town Hall

The Knights of Columbus Bazaar, held in the Winchester Town Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings, drew a big crowd and proved one of the largest events in Catholic circles, in this town in years. Entertainment and the sale of various articles, together with an abundance of refreshments, combined to raise a substantial sum for the remodeling of the K. of C. club house on Vine street. For months preparations for the affair were underway and the success fully justified the effort.

Plans for the purchase of a club house by the Winchester Council were underway for a considerable period before the property on Vine street was taken over early this year, and in the recent big effort to remodel the property, the Knights were greatly assisted by the Daughters of Isabella and their many friends, whilst parties, costume parties and various entertainments have been given through the spring and summer months.

Tuesday's opening drew a big crowd, but Wednesday afternoon and evening saw the Town Hall taxed to its capacity. On Tuesday the program included a goodly sale by the four tables and the various attractions and refreshment booths, with dancing and a musical program in the evening.

Wednesday afternoon featured a Punch and Judy Show, entertainment by the clown and side shows, and Wednesday evening was the big feature.

The Committee in charge of the affair were as follows:

Frank E. Rogers, general chairman; Luke P. Glendon, secretary; James W. Haggerty, treasurer.

Hall Committee: E. A. Goggin, chairman, Henry M. Longfield, secretary.

Ticket Committee: Charles H. Gallagher, James S. Vally, Walter Shaughnessy, F. Murphy, Phil Savage, Philip LeDuc.

Door Committee: Ed. F. Maguire, E. F. Dineen, W. Coleman, J. W. Creamer, D. E. Sullivan and Thomas Kean.

Reception Committee: Grand Knight E. G. Boyle, Past Grand Knight, J. Chris Sullivan, Luke P. Glendon, P. J. Kenneally, M. E. O'Leary, Francis J. O'Hara, Dr. R. W. Sheehy, John F. O'Connor, John S. O'Leary, James V. Haley, James W. Haggerty, Dr. C. F. McCarthy.

MR. CHIDLEY DOES NOT APPROVE

Editor of the Star:

I was greatly interested in the articles in your last week's issue relating to the proposed new motion-picture theatre for Winchester.

I note that a paragraph in the advertisement reads: "It is agreed that the objection and opposition to the many past applications made by outside commercial interests for licenses to operate a motion-picture theatre in Winchester without specific restrictions were fully justified." I presume that this paragraph is meant to imply that those who were opposed to the former projects will show no opposition to this new project. As a matter of fact, there have been repeated rumors about the town that I had withdrawn my objections. I take it that, although Mr. George Adams Woods' name does not appear in the articles, this is the project which he is promoting and for which he asked my approval. I asked to see the articles of incorporation before giving my approval. So far these articles have not been shown me. It will be clear, then, that I have not approved the project, nor would I serve on the proposed Board of Censors.

Howard J. Chidley.

NEILEY-RILEY

Mr. Geoffrey Cooke Neiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neiley of Wolcott road, was quietly united in marriage on Saturday, the 6th, to Miss Marion Gertrude Riley, niece of Mr. and Mrs. William Augustus Jones, Jr., of New York City. The ceremony took place at the Church of the Transfiguration—the Little Church Around the Corner—at eight in the evening. The couple were attended by Miss Bessie Cook of New York and Lieutenant Commander George F. Neiley, U. S. N., brother of the groom. The ceremony was witnessed by a small gathering of friends and relatives. The ushers included Messrs. Harold and Alfred Riley of New York, brothers of the bride, and Stephen and Richard Neiley, brothers of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Neiley will make their home after November 20, at 7 Lewis road, this town.

COOKING CLASS

The cooking class conducted by the Home Economics Committee of the Fortnightly, and taught by Miss Alice Bradley of the "Farmer School of Cookery," will hold its first meeting on Friday afternoon, November 19, at 3 o'clock, in Randall's Hall, formerly used by the Red Cross workers.

Course tickets—10 lessons—to club members, $8.50; non-club members, $10.

MRS. GEORGE W. STUDLEY

Mrs. Mary E. Studley widow of Mr. George W. Studley, died at her home, 12 Grove street, on Sunday, aged 78 years. Several weeks ago she suffered a severe fall at her home, but apparently recovered satisfactorily and seemed to regain her usual health. On Friday she was taken ill and did not rally, and her death is thought to be due to the result of her fall.

Mrs. Studley was born in East Boston in 1842, and was the daughter of William and Mary Ann (Smith) Waters. Her father was one of the settlers of the Island. Her husband, who died in 1916, was the publisher of Ballou's Monthly Magazine and The Flag of Our Union. She had made her home in this town for over 30 years, and lived to observe her golden wedding anniversary with her husband, the couple living together for 55 years. Mrs. Studley attended the old Lyman School and was married to Mr. Studley in 1861 in the house on Princeton street in which she was born.

She leaves one daughter, Miss Mary Waters Studley, of this town; a sister, Mrs. Henry Damon of this town, and one brother, Mr. Frank P. Waters of East Boston.

The funeral services, largely attended by old friends, were held at the residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30, and were conducted by Rev. Perry Bush of the Universalist Church, Chelsea. The burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery.

LADIES' NIGHT, TUESDAY

The Calumet Club will hold a ladies' night at its club house on Tuesday evening next, November 16. The evening will be open only to members and their ladies, owing to the limited capacity of the hall, such social functions as have been held thus far this season having attracted a record attendance.

The program for the evening, as announced, provides a most exceptional entertainment. The headline attraction will be the Venetian Trio, an organization which has previously appeared at the Club to great advantage and much pleasure. Assisting the trio will be Miss Florence King, reader. There will be the usual collation and the evening will be for members only.

Mr. E. A. Greene of 46 Harvard street was seriously hurt by a fall while working at an estate on High street this week. He was taken to the Winchester Hospital and attended by Dr. Cutter. He suffered a dislocated shoulder and several wounds on the head. At present he is at his home, convalescing.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

Officer Shea Made Daring Rescue at North Reservoir

Officer Edward F. Shea, special officer for patrol of the Winchester reservoirs, made a daring rescue on Sunday morning, when he plunged into the North reservoir and rescued Miss Alice S. Bell of Stoneham, who was attempting to commit suicide. The woman was seen struggling in the water by Officer Shea, and was almost 100 feet from shore. He left his horse and swam to her and brought her to shore. She was unconscious when he took her out onto the bank, but after he had worked over her she revived and was taken to the Winchester Hospital, where she will recover unless pneumonia sets in. The affair created considerable excitement. Miss Bell, 45 years of age, the daughter of Mr. George O. Bell of Stoneham, and employed at the E. L. Patch chemical laboratory, had been reported to the Winchester police as missing, and several parties were engaged in searching for her through the Fells.

Officer Shea, who recently resigned from the Winchester police force to take the position for the Water Department caused by the resignation of former Officer Marsh, was riding near that portion of the North reservoir just east of the dam. He saw the woman struggling in the water and plunged in, clothes and all. After bringing her to the shore he was joined by Park Officer O'Toole, who aided him in resuscitating her.

Telephone calls were put in for doctors, but, owing to the confusion, the physicians were directed to the South and Middle reservoirs, and the first aid to arrive at the scene came when Sgt. Thomas P. McCauley and Officer James P. Donaghey reached the place in the police auto. They, too, had been misdirected.

The woman was taken to the hospital in the police auto. The affair drew a throng of people to the scene and created much excitement through the north end of the town. Officer Shea has been highly complimented for his bravery.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Let us make it the best meeting of the year.

MUCH LOOT FROM CENTRAL HARDWARE CO.

The two boys who broke into the Central Hardware store, Sellers Market and the Ames store, election night, took a large supply of cutlery and sundry articles from the hardware company. At first it was thought they had only taken money, but subsequent investigation revealed the loss of a considerable quantity of merchandise.

The boys, Edward and Walter Tirrell, 17 and 19 years of age, were arrested Thursday at Waltham on suspicion by a Waltham police officer. His capture proved valuable, for considerable stuff was found in their room, and a baggage check, concealed beneath an auto license carried in a case by one of the youths, produced a suitcase at the North Station which was filled with stolen goods.

Sergeant McCauley and Mr. Joseph Donahue went to Waltham Friday, and Mr. Donahue identified the following list as his property:

18 razors, $54.33.
33 safety razors, $60.
4 searchlights, $6.
1 battery tester, $1.25.
1 shaving brush, $1.75.
1 manicure set, $20.
26 pocket knives, $39.

The loot was brought to Winchester and made an imposing display when laid out at police headquarters. It is said that considerable of the rest of the stuff has been identified, barber shops being especially favored by the thieves.

WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION

Miss Jacobson, Public Health Nurse, has severed her connection with the Visiting Nurse Association, and gone to Dayton, Okla., to take a position under the Red Cross as school nurse. The Association regrets the loss of Miss Jacobson, who made a warm place for herself in the hearts of the many people whom she served during her one year's stay among us.

The Association has been fortunate in procuring Miss Rose Cunningham to fill the position of Public Health Nurse. She is a graduate of the Boston City Hospital and Public Health Training School. She served overseas during the war and has latterly been connected with the Boston Baby Hygiene, by which society she is highly recommended.

Miss Cunningham, Public Health Nurse, will be at the room of the Visiting Nurse Association from 8.30 to 9 a. m. and from 2 to 3 p. m. Mrs. Gormley, the District Nurse, may be found at the same place from 3 to 4 p. m.

Richard R. Higgins of 68 Church street has been appointed one of the Junior Advisers for the unclassified students who entered Harvard this fall. This is in accordance with the long-considered plan of Mr. Matthew Luce, the Regent of Harvard University, and is an effort to make those men who have come to Harvard for the first time feel more at home. Nearly a hundred members of the Junior Class have been chosen, and the 290 unclassified students have been divided among them. The men appointed to act as advisers are particularly selected for their prominence in Harvard undergraduate activities. Higgins is at present the first assistant manager of the Harvard varsity football team. He is also a member of the University Glee Club.

MOTION PICTURES AND OVER-STIMULATION OF CHILDREN

Editor of the STAR:

The time has come for the citizens of Winchester to ask themselves this question: Shall the work of our school teachers, our clergymen and our Sunday school teachers, and of others engaged in guiding the young in the way they should go, be nullified by deleterious influences. A new problem in regard to the children of the present day has presented itself. It is the problem of hypertension and overstimulation. At the last meeting of the Section of Diseases of Children of the Massachusetts Medical Society, held in Boston on June 6, Dr. Erik S. J. Johnson of New Bedford read a very able and timely paper on the "Cause and Prevention of Overstimulation of the Modern American Child." In the discussion that followed the reading of the paper, Dr. Johnson said: "It seems as if the civilization of the present day had overreached itself. We must defend children against the alarming tendency of hypertension and its eventual deleterious organic results by urging a cultivation of a less strenuous, more natural mental and physical existence." "Protect, watch over, discipline and guide those who have not attained sufficient age and experience to distinguish what is expedient for their greatest individual interests." It is admitted by all authorities that the American child is overstimulated. "Before he has had a chance to develop his physique he is in imminent danger of developing 'nerves.'" "Overstimulation," says Dr. Johnson, "being exceedingly difficult for most people to cope with, is perhaps nullifying to a large extent the splendid work done, during past and present time, by promoters of children's health. How a craving for speed, tension and excitement which is unwholesome is developed, resulting oftentimes in organic disease, is most clearly demonstrated by Dr. Johnson, who cites the five great causes of excessive stimulation to the American child as follows:

1. The automobile and motor boat.
2. Machine-made music and modern dancing.
3. Motion pictures.
4. The telephone.
5. Too early or excessive school competition in studies, athletics and social life.

In this town we have all these except motion pictures. Shall we add them to our already over-excited life. In opening the discussion, Dr. L. E. Emerson, professor of psychology in Harvard, said, "From a psychological point of view, everything that Dr. Johnson has said is absolutely true." Dr. Morse, professor of diseases of children in Harvard Medical School, Dr. Fritz Talbot and other specialists in diseases of children, agree with Dr. Johnson. In his discussion of this subject, Professor Emerson said: "It has been discovered recently that there is a psychological phenomenon, previously suspected but not before well established, which has now received the term 'repression.'" Under the circumstances of jamming, if the child or anybody else is unable to transform the excitement that he receives, that excitement is repressed. Under those circumstances the repressed excitement takes up, more or less, an existence of its own in what, for practical purposes of naming, has obtained the name of "complex." That term "complex" merely means something that is dynamic and is trying to get itself expressed in some form. Under those circumstances the organism, the child or individual manifests symptoms. Now this affects the child in two ways—either it prevents the child from developing normally or it breaks down a development which has not become sufficiently well established to stand the strain." Again quoting Dr. Johnson: "The automobile, the motor boat, the graphophone, pianola and the cinematograph, together with wrongly proportioned extravagance in ambition and money, in schools and in home, are all in certain ways seriously harmful to the existence and development of normal children. Chiefly so in that unless used with more than average care and forethought, they render children dissatisfied with normal home life. There, and there only, are laid the true foundation for natural strength and lasting qualities in mind and body." "A less hurried, less lively, more simple existence, like that of some older nations, would appear to be what our children need most in order to build up staying, lasting qualities."

Moving pictures through overstimulation are injurious to school children. The people tax themselves thousands of dollars for the support of public schools, and the superintendent and a large corps of teachers are doing their best to maintain a high standard of excellence in the schools. Do the people want to nullify in any degree the earnest efforts of the school department by licensing a moving picture theatre in this town. The churches are doing a great and good work. Not a clergyman here who does not earn twice what he is paid, and faithful Sunday-school teachers toil without fee. Will not the people co-operate with those who are toiling for the good of their children, rather than with those who seek to make the burdens heavier. Do the parents of Winchester want to make the social life any more complex and distracting than it is now. We have gone the limit in social distractions, and then some. It is time to stop, retrench and return to a more real and simple life. It is necessary to do this if the children are to be made strong men and women. When we consider the necessary town and family expenses of today, can we afford to tax ourselves any more for entertainment than we are now doing.

This article deals with this subject only as it applies to children. Motion pictures for adults is a different proposition. If the superintendent of schools and the clergymen advise against moving pictures because they have the best interests of all the people at heart, shall we not co-operate with them rather than with those who are endeavoring to start a theatre here for the money there is in it for themselves, regardless of what is best for all the people. Let us stop the

"More Books in the Home"

EVERYONE believes that children should grow up among books—plenty of books the best of books—yet this great boon is lost to ever so many boys and girls whose parents intend to give them every advantage. Parents forget about books, leave their purchase to chance gifts, or hesitate for lack of offered guidance in selection.

Children's Book Week

has been planned as a way of getting this situation right out where it will get consideration.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A bachelor who is looking for variety can find it by exchanging a little of his coin for a marriage license.

Patience isn't a virtue; it's a necessity.

When a man loses his heart his head has to do a lot of extra work.

Many a girl who starts out to make a name for herself can't make a loaf of bread.

Some people make light of an insult your neighbor can't overlook.

Movies move the town.

"Bridge Closed." Probably two-thirds of Winchester's residents have seen these two signs—meaning that two-thirds of Winchester's residents cannot cross from the east to the west side, except by foot, between Winchester Highlands and West Medford, aside from Winchester centre, a distance of about four miles. Is it any wonder that we sometimes have a division in our town. The Bacon street bridge is an important crossing. How much longer it will be closed to travel is not stated, but the effect of its closing is noticeable at our centre.

We quote from a proposal for bids issued under the date of November 8 by the Salvage Division, Camp Devens, Mass.:

2900 pounds oats, heated and sour; cannot be used for food.

20,000 pounds corn, heated and infested with weevils, may be used for hog feed.

8800 pounds bran, eaked, mildewed, may be mixed with corn for hog feed.

17,800 pounds hay, moldy; parts may be used for feeding.

35,000 pounds straw, moldy, sour, condemned for bedding; could be used for ice-house packing.

10,000 pounds oat hay, bleached; parts suitable for bedding.

What would you think if a manager in your employ turned such a list over to you. How would you feel, if a business man, to make such an offer to the public.

New fall note paper—colors, tints and white. Wilson the Stationer.

Two important matters for the betterment of conditions about Winchester centre have been presented by the Board of Health to the Selectmen for their consideration. The most important is unquestionably the installation of a comfort station; the other is for the provision of waste receptacles. A comfort station should have been provided in the centre long ago, as every building owner will testify, and the waste receptacles will save much cleaning now necessary. The latter, used for some time several years ago through the efforts of The Fortnightly, should never have been discontinued.

Dear Sir:

In reply to yours of the 9th of February, I am greatly pleased to hear of such an insurance as you describe.

As I understand it, the husband is insured, making the wife beneficiary, and the wife receives an allowance as long as she lives. This is a great step in advance, although this does not in turn benefit the children. A form of insurance, however, could easily be added which would do so.

I have a case in hand today where a young widow's insurance money was handed over to a gentleman for investment. He is now bankrupt, and the poor woman is left in destitute circumstances.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW CARNEGIE.

SAFETY FIRST

A GREAT many people know how to earn money, but few are careful investors. Warnings are issued by competent authorities against the many oils and industrial get-rich-quick stocks now being extensively advertised.

These pitfalls are dug by irresponsible promoters and the chances of ever getting your money back are about equal to seeing any part of the big dividends promised. It is much safer for you to trust your money with a National Bank that pays interest on checking accounts.

The Federal Banking Laws are very strict regarding National Banks. The Comptroller of the Currency, through semi-annual examination, keeps in close touch with all National Banks.

Indeed stockholders cannot shirk responsibility. They are compelled to make up all losses for double the amount of their holdings for the benefit of their depositors.

Our Directors absolutely direct. The National Bank is not a one or two-man institution.

A Fair Fighter and Good Loser

(From the Brockton Enterprise)

The Boston Post is Democratic in its political convictions but non-partisan in its handling of news. Its editorial estimates of men and measures, so far as we have observed, are not allowed to color or prejudice its news columns. The night of election Vice-President-elect Calvin Coolidge expressed his thanks to the Post for the "courteous consideration" it had extended him, for its fair reports of his speeches and its candid comment. The morning after election the Post made no effort to belittle the Republican sweep of the country or to find excuses for the defeat of the party it had championed. It accepted the verdict of the majority without rancor, frankly accepted it as evidence that the country wanted a change of administration, said fine things about both Harding and Coolidge, and urged every citizen of these United States to accept the decision cheerfully, magnanimously and with confidence that it is just. This is in striking contrast to the bitter resentfulness shown by other prominent papers that supported Cox and Roosevelt.

The Post has a following to be proud of all over New England, and it is safe to assume that very many of its readers do not subscribe to its political principals and opinions. But, even if they happen to be of a different party faith, they give the paper credit for being sincere in its editorial sentiments, have faith that its news stories will be free from bias, find in the paper an individuality that appeals to them, overlook its partisan label and have the same affectionate regard for it they would for a friend they hold in high esteem even if he does rub their fur the wrong way once in awhile by his stand on affairs of the moment.

RED CROSS HOME SERVICE REPORT

At the time of the Annual Meeting of this branch last year many expected to see the bulk of the work of Home Service completed by now. But one of the unforeseen problems, for instance, has been men, out of service over a year, who are compelled to realize their disability and have partially dependent parents. In order to be recommended for medical treatment and compensation, such men must fill out four papers, get a copy of their birth certificates and of their discharge paper.

Do you wonder that the men need the advice and assistance of Home Service?

This last year the Home Service Committee lived through a time of readjustment and change, full of uncertainties, but now we can see the lines along which the Red Cross is traveling.

As men came back from the war and found work, many family difficulties settled themselves; the relief problems grew fewer; the type of work changed.

The Metropolitan Chapter reports that "the problem of the disabled man has proved so much greater and more serious than was expected, that now, at the end of the year, our work is practically as heavy as at the beginning." The work that still properly belongs to the Red Cross may be divided into four groups:

First, Information—"Information to any one who applies regarding government provisions for soldiers and sailors and their families."

Second, Service to men and their families within six months of discharge. If men are suffering from no disability, and, after being home six months, have not adjusted themselves to civilian life, the Red Cross feels that the problem is not a military one, but that it properly belongs to the civilian agencies of a community.

Third, The Red Cross gives Interim Service to men in the Regular Army and Navy and to their families. Once again it turns to the Civilian Agencies for any long-continued problem, but it does render such service as calling on families of men who have overstayed their leave, trying to show the advantage of a voluntary return of the man.

Fourth, The fourth group is by far the largest part of Home Service, perhaps 90 per cent of the whole. The service is to any man disabled in the war, and to his family, including the families of the dead, regardless of the date of his discharge.

What sounds simple of accomplishment often takes much persuading, encouraging and many visits. The Red Cross so often forms the connecting link, gives the required impetus. The following are the statistics for the year October, 1919—September, 1920. During the year 38 new families needed Home Service. This does not include problems in the families already known to the committee.

On an average the Red Cross has rendered monthly service to 20 families, though the number is considerably higher for last month.

There are today 28 men in Winchester, known to the committee, who are suffering from disabilities, five with T. B., and nine more who have suspected disabilities. A large proportion of the total are suffering from gas.

The men that have temporary total disability, such as those with T. B., get hospital care and $80 per month. Those that are permanently totally disabled get $100 per month.

Six of the disabled are receiving Class II training under the Federal Board for Vocational Education; that means that they are having their tuition paid and are receiving from $80 to $100 per month to live on.

An American Red Cross worker's time is 39 hours per week, more time than is needed for Winchester. The time required here varies greatly from month to month, but one-third of a worker's time, or 13 hours per week, seems a fair estimate.

There is great need for all to urge the men to reinstate Government Insurance, the best chance they will ever have. Of 12 ex-service men killed in the New York Wall street explosion, only two still carried their insurance.

The men may get information on their insurance from Home Service, Wednesday evenings, from 7 to 8, in the Committee Room of the Town Hall, or from the War Risk Insurance Bureau, 101 Milk street, Boston.

MRS. MAUD WOOD PARK

Mrs. Maud Wood Park was the speaker at the Guest Evening of the Winchester League of Women Voters in the Town Hall last Friday evening. The hall stage never looked prettier, with its decorations of ferns, chrysanthemums and other flowers, in pots and jardinières, to which the new green curtains gave a pleasing background, while the front of the stage was hidden behind Turkish rugs.

Mrs. Park is chairman of the National League of Women Voters, and was chairman of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, which office brought her in close touch with Congressmen and Congressional matters during the last two eventful years. She spoke most earnestly and fittingly before an attentive and thoughtful audience, and not since Beatrice Forbes-Robinson Hale gave her masterful address, we think, has an audience been more charmed by a speaker. Her keen and subtle analysis of the present-day Congressman was illuminating. She said the newly elected Congressmen went to the Capital, determined to do their best for their country, but the laissez-faire atmosphere into which they found themselves projected proved too much for them and they gradually settled down to doing such favors as the most aggressive among their clientele wanted. Letters, pro and con, on such matters were placed in the drawers in their desks, and they were prone to measure the heights of these piles in determining their attitudes, instead of devoting their attention to the weighty concerns of the country. She naively called men's attention to an impressive and enlightening diagram of the expenses of the last year, wherein 68 per cent were spent on past wars, another large percentage on wars to come and keeping up war's equipment, etc.—the sure precursor of war—and showed that only a small fraction of 1 per cent was spent for human welfare, in which women are profoundly interested.

She impressed it upon us that we were to work for principles, and men or women to carry them out. Her address was replete with wisdom and earnestness, and left her audience with an almost overwhelming realization of individual responsibility. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Winchester Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, that wonderful charity which dispenses to the sick and needy ones absolutely new clothing, was held on Wednesday, Nov. 3, at the Episcopal Parish House.

The president, Mrs. W. Eugene Wilde, presided. The seventeen directors were present or represented. Each came laden with the generous contributions of her group of twelve or more members. One of the group must give money, for in this way the society is financed.

It was a goodly sight to see the garments laid out upon the waiting tables. Warm undergarments for men, women and children, flannellette gowns for women and girls, pajamas for boys, some especially dainty things for infants, and many stockings, caps and mittens.

There were even sheets, pillow cases and towels. Many of these had been donated, by request of one of the most active directors, for our own Home for the Aged and for the Mothers' Rest at Revere.

The secretary, Mrs. Anthony Kelly, after the count had been made, reported 420 gifts. While this is a slightly smaller number than was received last year, one of the groups having become inactive, it was found that the articles were of unusual value, in spite of old "H. C. L."

These garments are distributed promptly, before cold weather, through different well-organized local societies, in or near our own town. They reach hospitals, schools and homes. Mothers and children are made warm and happy by them.

A plan is under consideration for forming one or two Junior Groups in Sunday schools and among Girl Scouts, that they may "carry on" the work in the future.

Altogether it was a "good meeting," and the directors wish to thank the contributing members for their hearty support. Without them the work would stop.

LOCAL BANK HAS SUPPLY OF PILGRIM HALF DOLLARS

A supply of the new Pilgrim half dollars has been procured by the Winchester National Bank from the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, the official distributing agent for the coins. As the supply is limited, prompt application at the local bank is urged on everyone desirous of obtaining one of these valuable memorials of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth.

Some misunderstanding has arisen that the price of the coins should be set at one dollar, although their face value is but fifty cents. This price has been fixed by the commission created by the Massachusetts Legislature to celebrate the Tercentenary of the Landing of the Pilgrims. It is intended that the balance above the face value of the coins, less minting charges, cost of dies, etc., be turned over to the commission for its use. Their distribution by the banks is entirely a matter of patriotic service.

THE SCHOOL BUS

We have on our desk an unsigned communication to the STAR, wherein the writer terms himself "Citizen," and criticizes the present method of transportation of school children from the outlying districts by auto truck.

The STAR always has been, and is always, willing to publish communications concerning town affairs. It is a rule, however, that all such articles must be accompanied by the writer's signature as evidence and guarantee of good faith. As "Citizen" prefers to remain unknown, his criticism cannot be published.

CORRECTION OF ERROR

It was erroneously stated in the Star of last week that Stephen Ryan was president of the class of 1921 at the High School. We wish to correct this mistake and to state that the office is held by John P. Cassidy, who was elected class president last month.

RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS. GEORGE H. REED

The Unitarian Parish tendered a reception to their new minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. George Hale Reed, at the church last Friday evening, from eight to ten o'clock.

A large number came to extend the welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Reed. They were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wellington. The ladies were beautifully gowned and carried large bouquets of roses. The guests were presented by Mr. H. K. Barrows, Mr. Robert H. Perkins, Mr. C. H. Symmes, and Mr. A. H. Hildreth, members of the Standing Committee.

Several of the ministers and their wives from the churches in Winchester were present to welcome Rev. and Mrs. Reed.

The church parlors were beautifully decorated with potted chrysanthemums and baskets of the season's flowers and foliage.

The refreshment table, resplendent with its floral decoration and silver candlesticks, added greatly to the charm of the affair. Delicious refreshments were served throughout the evening. Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst, Mrs. Ellen Metcalf, Mrs. J. H. Dwinell and Mrs. Abbott Smith served the ices and were assisted by the Misses Lorna Bugbee, Muriel Thomas, Edith Ferno, Dorothy Kerrison, Louise Alexander, Betty Ramsdell, Rebecca Barrett, Harriet Eustis, Helen Bowe, Ruth Chamberlain, Eleanor Hollins and Gwendolyn Maddocks; the fruit punch was served by Miss Chella Perkins and Miss Marjorie Root.

An orchestra from Boston furnished the music for the reception and the choir, consisting of Mrs. James C. Richardson, soprano; Miss Lena E. Tufts, contralto; Mr. James C. Richardson, tenor; and Mr. Erskine A. Gay, bass, rendered "Sweet the Moments," the sextet from "Lucia," and "Beauteous Night"—Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffman"—in a delightful manner; also, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson sang the duet, "Miserere," by Verdi, charmingly, showing their voices to be of rare quality.

The reception was in charge of the following ladies: Mrs. R. H. Perkins, Mrs. R. B. Metcalf, Mrs. H. K. Barrows, Mrs. James W. Russell, Jr., Mrs. Charles H. Symmes, Mrs. A. H. Hildreth and Miss Elizabeth Downs.

essions and organizations in the community. There is no question but that public-spirited citizens representing the several organizations will serve it a license is obtained on this basis.

There is no State censorship to-day. An association is undertaking to secure one, but its basis is "To insure a minimum standard of decency and morality for all cities and towns." This would not be sufficient for Winchester, which must have not a minimum but a maximum of decency and morality. This we believe our plan of censorship will secure.

The question has been asked by several of our subscribers as to our being able to secure films to conform to the requirements of our censorship. Up to a few years ago contracts had to be entered into directly with the producers to take and pay for all films produced by them. Today on account of the tremendous development of the industry, and on account of the building and operation of theatres under varied local requirements in almost every city and town in the country, the situation has entirely changed.

Through booking agencies or middlemen, of which there are sixteen in Boston, separate films from all the manufacturers are obtainable of every kind and nature. Salesmen solicit orders, calling on the managers, and an opportunity is offered to see the films before ordering them. Productions are offered by so many concerns and the competition is so keen that there is every facility for making discriminating selection, which assures varied and attractive entertainments, and this is done weeks ahead of presentation.

In the event of making a contract with one firm for its productions in advance, a form of contract provides that there is no liability to pay for films not accepted by the local censors.

The so-called community theatre, controlled by an interest which soon languishes without the incentive of legitimate business inducements, or operated under municipal management, is subject to the vagaries of office-holders and constant changes in personnel, is so impractical that it is unworthy of serious consideration.

We believe that with our directorate and stock controlled by Winchester people who know their community that all differences between the corporation and the censorship will be eliminated through a mutual appreciation of the high standard required, and the knowledge that the pictures below that standard would injure the commercial success of the enterprise, even if allowed. We believe that our citizens will be more than satisfied, and that a house so conducted will attract the best of out-of-town patronage.

A theatre controlled by citizens of Winchester, if loyal to the best interests of the community, will mean attention to details which might be neglected or ignored by outside ownership. Suitable ventilation to conserve the public health is vital; the modern system of lighting during performances removes a serious objection; good music which continues throughout the entertainment, made effective by right acoustics, is most important; and conservative display advertising should be inoffensive.

These things we, as directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., propose to establish and pledge ourselves to maintain, not only for the reason that it is a good business policy and will assure the success of the project, but because we have assumed a serious responsibility in undertaking this enterprise in our home town, and will not be parties in any particular of organization, operation or detail, which will discredit Winchester, our investors, this directorate or ourselves individually.

We believe that the foregoing will merit the approval and have the support of a large majority of the citizens of Winchester, and we have therefore completed the incorporation of the company.

KLIM is a powdered MILK. It is a rich, pure MILK, reduced by a process in which none of the nourishing properties of milk have been affected. It is a brand of milk in which bacteria cannot multiply. It is the cleanest and purest form in which milk can be had. MILK with the water removed—that's "KLIM." "KLIM" with the water replaced—is MILK. MOVING PICTURES

November 16, 1920.

Editor of the Star,
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Sir:

Will you extend to me the kind consideration of permitting me to express through your columns views in reference to the proposed moving picture theatre in Winchester.

It would be idle to deny that moving pictures, like the press, are a power for good when properly controlled. On the other hand, no one can deny that when not so controlled, they have an influence in the other direction.

I believe the foregoing statements in reference to control are correct as applied to people generally, but even when moving pictures are controlled or supervised by a board of censors, so that they do no harm to the adult, they do nevertheless at the same time often have an injurious effect on the mind of a child. I, therefore, believe that the proposed motion picture theatre in Winchester is objectionable from the standpoint of the parents and those who are charged with the responsibility of the welfare of children.

Often certain books, stories, plays enacted on the stage and works of art that have no injurious influence on the mind of an adult are often the occasion of a moral injury to a child. The power of imagination in a child is active and progressive and very susceptible to injurious influences which in later years would not effect it. An adult may with impunity look at a certain scene, read a book or a story, or view a work of art, while a child looking at the same scene or reading the same book or story, or viewing the same work of art may have his or her active imagination still more stimulated thereby in the wrong direction and prurient curiosity is aroused and developed, and leads sometimes we know not where or how far.

Every motion picture, high class or otherwise, necessarily develops a plot involving social relations of some sort. These stories are not the kind that careful parents tell their children. No parent or educator would think of putting a novel of any description into the hands of a child. Scenarios are nothing more or less than synopsis of the best of them, develop situations in which mischief-making, defiance of authority and horse-play are glorified and to the childish mind it is a very short step from admiration of what is funny to actual practice of the act portrayed.

In Winchester, our children enjoy the privilege of living in a town most excellently regulated and in a general environment that is unsurpassed anywhere and equalled by but few other places. Our schools both public and private are a credit to the town. The moral, mental and physical welfare of the children, our future men and women, is most scrupulously safeguarded. We pay taxes for the maintenance of playgrounds, and a system in connection with them, under which care is taken both during the school year and during the vacation time to see to it that our children are attracted to forms of enjoyable, healthful and educational recreation, which will develop for them not only sound bodies but sound minds. Minds that will not be affected by any form of suggestiveness that tends to arouse and develop prurient curiosity.

Why then should we subject our children to this danger. That there is a risk of no one can deny. Censorship does not necessarily mean that the risk is removed. The risk is always there because while censorship might remove baneful influences from the mind of one child, who can say that some other child may not still see or imagine something that does not occur to the mind of the first child.

A motion picture theatre could not be operated at a profit if it attempted to put on shows exclusively for children in which pictures peculiarly suitable for children are shown. Even if this were possible there would still be the influence of the pictures as an attraction to the child. Children today, in those communities where the movies flourish, are obsessed with the idea of attendance at the shows.

It is a sad sight to anyone who thinks at all about the future generation to see the crowds of children waiting in line to spend two hours or more in a darkened theatre when at their age in life the great outdoors and God's sunshine would be of more lasting benefit than the precarious entertainment of the screen.

The adult people surely cannot expect to have a moving picture theatre because they want it, if there is this risk to the children. It is urged that if we do not have a moving picture theatre in town, some children will nevertheless see moving pictures elsewhere. No doubt this is true, but this does not prove that there are not still the dangers and the risks referred to herein, and why therefore should we simply increase the opportunities and the occasions of running the risk.

Those advocating the moving picture theatre quote the statute which forbids persons under fourteen years of age being admitted during school hours or in the evening, unless accompanied by an adult or guardian, but the mere fact that a child under fourteen years of age is accompanied by an adult does not remove the risk or the danger, because in the average case the adult going to view the picture has not seen the picture before and, therefore, does not know what effect the picture may have on the child's mind. It has also been urged that those who are in a position to do so now pay the expense of traveling elsewhere to see moving pictures, but that others who cannot afford to travel elsewhere are deprived of seeing moving pictures in Winchester. It is no hardship for those who are able to travel elsewhere to do so, and as to those who cannot afford to travel elsewhere, there does not appear to be any great demand from them for a moving picture theatre in town. The mere fact that moving picture theatres are maintained in other

HENRY J. WINDE

Former Selectman and Member of Cemetery Board Passes Away

Mr. Henry J. Winde, former Selectman and member of the Cemetery Board for over 20 years, died at his home on Mt. Pleasant street, Monday. He was 75 years of age. Five weeks ago Mr. Winde underwent an operation at a Boston hospital, and since then his health had been such that his death was not unexpected.

Henry James Winde was born in Boston, the son of Lewis and Eliza (Gurney) Winde. His mother was the daughter of Henry Gurney, the oldest pilot in Boston Harbor. He received his early education in the public schools and in 1847 moved with his parents to Chelsea, coming to Winchester in 1876.

In January, 1864, he was appointed a mate in the United States Navy, and he served until August, 1867. He was attached first to the U. S. S. Savannah for instruction in gunnery, care of explosives, flight of projectiles, the handling of the navy guns, and also the school of the soldier. When proficient, he was transferred to the gunboat Buckthorn, and sailed for Pensacola and reported to Rear Admiral D. G. Farragut, who kept him busy in Mississippi Sound and on the coast of Alabama and Florida. He took part in the great battle of Mobile Bay, August 5, 1864, under Farragut, and as the Admiral's flagship, the Hartford, was badly used up, and he was ordered home, Mate Winde served next under Rear Admiral James S. Palmer, who was afterwards superseded by acting Rear Admiral Henry K. Thatcher, later a citizen of this town. Admiral Thatcher commanded during the siege and capture of Mobile City in 1865, in which engagement Mate Winde took part.

Mr. Winde was then transferred to the U. S. S. Cayuga and returned on her to New York in August, 1865. He was appointed acting ensign and placed on waiting orders until January, 1866, when ordered to report to Commodore H. H. Bell at the New York Navy Yard. While attached there he was ordered to take twenty men to reinforce the crew of the U. S. S. Michigan, the only armed ship on the Great Lakes, and he aided in the capture of the Fenian army that invaded Canada.

On his return to the U. S. S. Vermont at New York he was ordered to the Winchester Smith College Club. The Winchester Smith College Club will hold a Jumble Shop on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 30 and December 1, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., in the Norris Building on Main street. The proceeds of the sale will go towards completing the pledge of the Club in aid of the Smith College $4,000,000 Endowment Fund. Although the actual Winchester quota of the club for this purpose was raised last year, yet in order to complete the fund it was necessary for the clubs all over the country to make additional pledges to balance the lack of available funds in the country districts and where the alumnae are widely scattered. The Winchester alumnae assumed their share of this responsibility. The Jumble Shop will contain at least six different departments, aside from the Tea, which will be served from 3 to 5 each afternoon, and it will offer an unusual chance to secure interesting and available Christmas gifts at a moderate price.

MRS. ELIJAH ERNST

Mrs. Annie McK. Ernst, wife of Mr. Elijah Ernst, died at her home, No. 1 Dunham street, Monday. She was 61 years of age.

Mrs. Ernst was a native of Elmsdale, N. S. Her parents were Philip J. and Mary (McKenzie) Horne. She had made her home in this town for the past 26 years and was a valued member of the Methodist Episcopal church. She leaves no immediate relatives other than her husband.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence, and were conducted by Rev. A. B. Gifford of the Methodist church. The interment was in Wildwood cemetery.

It is reported that the owners of the block on Main street adjoining the river have entered suit against the town for being forced to comply with the building lines and set the building back farther than the adjacent block. It is further reported that the claim is set forth that on this account it has been difficult to let the stores in the building.

report to Rear Admiral James S. Palmer, and was assigned to the U. S. S. DeSoto, sailing for the West India Islands and Central and South America, where he remained a year. Upon his return to the United States he resigned and returned to his home in Chelsea, where he entered the hardware lumber business with his father, he being the head of the firm of H. J. Winde, long a landmark on Beverly street, Boston.

Mr. Winde was twice married. His first wife was Miss Alice Lucinda Lowe, daughter of Major William Lowe, of Boxford. She died in 1877. In 1881 he married Sara Case Winde of Jersey City, who survives him. He also leaves two sons, Harry W. Winde of Everett, Wash., and Lawrence Winde of Melrose.

Mr. Winde's father, Lewis Winde, was a naval architect, and he designed and built the schooner Couette, the fastest schooner in her day and later a famous pilot boat.

Mr. Winde was honored by his fellow townsmen by election to the Board of Selectmen, he serving from 1896 to 1898, the latter year as chairman of the Board. He served on the Cemetery Department for over 20 years, and much of the beautiful development of Wildwood Cemetery is due to his constant care and effort.

He was a Mason and a member of William Parkman Lodge of this town; a member of Waterfield Lodge, O. E. F.; Theodore Winthrop Post, G. A. R. of Chelsea; and Gettysburg Post, G. A. R., of Boston. He was a member of the Country Club.

The funeral services were largely attended on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 at the residence on Mt. Pleasant street, and were conducted by Rev. Perry Bush of Chelsea and Rev. Murray W. Dewart of the Church of the Epiphany, this town.

There was a large attendance at the service from out of town, including delegates from business and social organizations. Town departments and fraternities were also represented. The display of flowers was most profuse and beautiful. During the service the flags on the public buildings and the common were flown at half mast, and as the remains were interred at the cemetery a volley was fired over the grave. The pall bearers were all members of the Cemetery Board, including Messrs. Charles A. Gleason, Ernest R. Eustis, Jos. L. S. Barton and Albert A. Reed. The burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

NOTICE

Next Thursday being a holiday, correspondents are requested to send all matter for publication early in the week.

MRS. ANNIE M. EATON

Mrs. Annie M. Eaton, widow of the late J. M. Eaton, and grandmother of Mr. T. Grafton Abbott, died at her home on Washington street Monday. She was almost 95 years of age and her death was due to pneumonia. Mrs. Eaton was the child of Obed E. and Lucretia (Littlefield) Jacobs. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Tilden G. Abbott, with whom she made her home, two grandsons, Rev. Alexander Abbott of Norwich, Conn., and Mr. T. Grafton Abbott of this town. Funeral services were held from the residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Alexander Abbott officiating. The interment was at Watertown.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending November 18: 2 whooping cough; 1 ophthalmia neonatorum.

Winchester experienced its first snow storm Monday, when quite a flurry appeared. Cold weather was the rule for the past week, and the close rain of Tuesday was particularly disagreeable.

Mr. John Plummer of Washington street, left last week for Philadelphia, having been transferred from the United Fruit Company's office at Boston to their office in that city.

November 26, Friday, G. E. K. Dance, Waterfield Hall, at 8 o'clock.

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by George John Glendon of 17 Lake street, and Miss Bertha Margueret Sullivan of Worcester.

LETTERS FROM EVERYWHERE ON MOTION PICTURES

Here is One from a Working Man in Spencer

Editor of the Star:

The enclosed letter is of interest to you as coming from a community considerably removed from Winchester. Winchester Theatre, Inc.

"I read in the paper that you are interested in building a picture theatre and hope that you win your war, as it said in the paper. I hope you win because a town without amusement must be awful lonesome. That minister that's against picture shows don't understand that clean picture shows make children and grown-up people happy.

I will close in hopes you will win. Yours truly,

Wilfred Bosse,
72 Maple street,
November 14, 1920. Spencer, Mass."

An illustration of the far-reaching interest in the project of having a first-class motion-picture theatre in Winchester, and, incidentally, a proof that the STAR follows its readers, is shown by the receipt of coupons from far and near. A traveling salesman, away on one of his trips, sent his coupon endorsing the Winchester Theatre from Grand Rapids, Mich., and it was received only four days after the Star was published.

The citizens are urged to give serious consideration to the canvass for Red Cross Membership.

The moral and financial support which your membership implies is greatly needed at this time. The needs of the disabled soldier are still very great, and in our own town are on the increase. Twenty-five per cent of every dollar is retained for work and relief among our own citizens in Winchester.

It will simplify the work of the committee if the subscription could be handed to the canvasser, as the work entailed in procuring the list from headquarters in Boston of those who send in there is considerable, and by the plan suggested may be avoided.

ORGAN RECITAL

An organ recital will be given at the Church of the Epiphany next Sunday at 4.15. Mr. J. Albert Wilson, organist, will be assisted by Hazel L'African, cellist. After the recital the vested choir of men and boys will sing at a short musical service. An interesting program will be given which will be as follows:

First Sonata	Borowski
Larghetto	Haendel
Canticle d'mour	Wendt
Meditation	Bairstow
(a) Melody	Hue
(b) Orientale	Cui
Cornelius' March	Mendelssohn

The choir will sing the following anthems at the musical service: Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis by Baker, in E Flat; "Seek Ye the Lord"; Roberts; and "Blessed Are They That Do His Commandments" by Smith.

TURKEY ROLL

The Calumet Club announces a Turkey Roll on its alleys for this Saturday night. Three birds will be awarded the winners in three classes for the best consecutive three strings with handicaps.

The ladies' night at the Club on Tuesday evening proved a decided attraction, and the program given by the Venetian Trio, assisted by Miss Florence King, reader, was excellent. Refreshments followed the program. On Thursday evening, November 25, the Club will hold a member's night, a Thanksgiving dance being the attraction.

Tuesday afternoon, November 30th, there will be a bridge party for the ladies.

MACHINE GUN CO. ASSOCIATION

The meeting and entertainment of the Winchester Machine Gun Co. Association, held at the Calumet Club last evening proved a big attraction to the large number of men who have at various times served in the organization. An excellent entertainment of a musical nature was presented, followed by refreshments.

An interesting feature of the evening's program was the auctioning off of the Company's equipment. The bidding was spirited and the results in some instances amusing. The Company disbanded a month ago.

UNIQUE USE OF STEAM SHOVEL

Completing the rebuilding of Wildwood street in three weeks, a job which had been estimated to take as many months. Superintendent of Streets Clark decided to use the steam shovel which had proven so valuable in the work on another job. This job was the digging of a trench along Wedgemore avenue from Wildwood street to Foxcroft road. The shovel commenced work Tuesday and made little work of digging the trench. This method is an innovation here in trench digging, but the results appear to fully justify it.

COUNTRY CLUB PLAY

Saturday's play at the Winchester Country Club was a best selected 9 holes with 1-3 handicap. C. M. Crafts took best net with 33.

The summary:

C. M. Crafts	40	7	33

FELIX O'CONNOR

Felix O'Connor, a much respected resident of the Hill street section, died at his home on White street, on Tuesday morning. Had he lived until December 2nd, he would have been 93 years.

Felix O'Connor was born in Nuns-town, Co. Sligo, Ireland, December 2, 1827, and came from that country to Winchester in 1852, living for four years on what is the site of the present Prince school, later removing to Cutter's Village and finally in 1870, built the present family residence on the corner of White and Hill streets.

Mr. O'Connor is probably the last survivor of the old Excelsior Hose Company, which afforded the town fire protection in the 50s, and his stories of those fire-fighting days were most interesting. There was then no fire signal and the old hand tub was brought into play whenever a fire was reported or suspected. One of Mr. O'Connor's most interesting reminiscences was the chasing of a reflection to Arlington, the company pushing the hand tub all the way, only to find that the "fire" was the reflection of the moon.

Mr. O'Connor was the son of Michael O'Connor, who was born in New York, the son of Felix O'Connor, who was a captain in the war of 1812 and received for his services, not money, but 400 acres in the State of Ohio. Michael O'Connor's mother died when the boy was but two years old, and the young lad was sent to the home of his grandparents in Ireland to be brought up. Here he later married and Felix was one of eight brothers and sisters, four of whom survive him, Pat and John of this town, Michael of Wisconsin, and Catherine of Roxbury. He is survived by four sons, John and Joseph of this town, Felix of Forest Hills, and James of Stoughton, and two daughters, Ella and Katherine of this town.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A rally was held in the High School Assembly Hall on Wednesday, for the purpose of obtaining subscriptions to the "Recorder." A large number of pledge slips were distributed and nearly one-third of these were returned signed. The business managers are well pleased with the results of the rally and wish to thank everyone for such support and interest, especially those who had previously subscribed and yet signed pledges.

The rally was well planned and managed, every minute of the time being filled with some interesting number.

An orchestra composed of Cathleen Case, Thomas Gilotte, James Joslin, and William Bowe rendered some real "jazz" numbers which filled the program with pep. The pledge slips were passed out after the opening number. While these were being signed and collected, Benjamin Priest recited a few short but very humorous poems. Robert Lane and his songsters, Breen, Mortensen, Reed, E. Simonds and Roger Shannon, starred the biggest hit, by winding up the program with a number of popular songs, which met with great success.

DOWNER-SPILLSBURY

The ceremony was witnessed only by members of the two families and the couple were unattended. Rev. Clifton H. Walcott of the First Baptist Church was the officiating clergyman. The wedding took place at three-thirty and was followed by a short reception at which the newly married couple received with their parents.

WINCHESTER MEN IN AUTO CRASH

Two Winchester men, John A. and Henry W. Horne of Loring avenue were in a bad auto accident at Arlington Friday morning when their Essex touring car was in a collision with a Packard car operated by Schuyler S. Clark of Brookline. The accident occurred on Mystic street near Russell street, and Henry Horne was taken to the Symmes Hospital with bad cuts about his face and a general shaking up. The other, while badly shaken up, escaped serious injury. Both cars were badly wrecked.

The cars came together head on and it was necessary to pry them apart. Mr. Horne was travelling toward Arlington and the Clark car in the direction of Winchester.

FROM THE DIRECTORS

Nov. 18, 1920.
To the Editor of the STAR:
The statement is being spread around town that the present Directorate will conduct the Winchester Theatre in a first-class manner, but that it will not pay in Winchester on this basis, and will later be taken over by outsiders, who will run it in a cheap and undesirable way.

What a reflection on the taste, morals and standards of the town and of the citizens of Winchester!

We as directors have satisfied ourselves as business men that the project will be commercially successful and profitable in Winchester if operated only in a first-class manner.

The investment of our own money and the offering of the stock to our friends and neighbors is conclusive.

The provision for a permanent control of the Directorate by Winchester men and the limitation in the sale of stock to outsiders is consistent therewith.

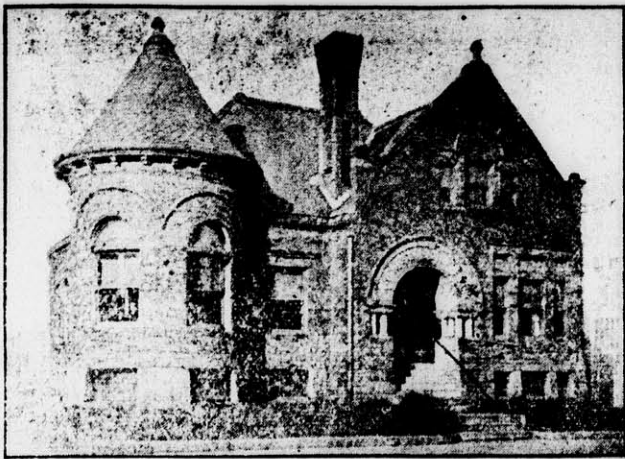

We stand on our statements that we have appeared in your columns, which we believe will merit the approval and have the support of a large majority of the citizens of Winchester.

"HUMORESQUE" FILMED

Fannie Hurst, who is noted for her realistic studies of Jewish life, never struck a more intensely human note than she attained in "Humoresque." This novel has been translated into motion picture form by Cosmopolitan Productions and will be shown at the Stoneham Theatre for two days commencing Monday next.

The scene is New York's famous lower East Side and the central character a youngster with a soul for music. Receiving his first violin from his mother on his seventh birthday, the boy later develops into a world-known genius. Then the war comes, and he returns from overseas with a wounded shoulder that, it is thought will prevent him from ever playing a violin again. But in the great crisis of his life the injured shoulder is restored to strength and his happiness returns.

Alma Rubens is the featured player in "Humoresque," which also includes in its cast Vera Gordon and Gaston Glass. The picture is a Paramount Artcraft release. Seats now on sale.

MOVIES STAGED HERE

To help out the movie controversy here a company of actors visited Winchester Saturday noon and staged a daring film hold-up, the Winchester Co-operative Bank, and buildings adjacent being used for a background. Two charming young ladies, all unknowingly being followed by detectives, entered the doorway of the bank, first dropping a handkerchief as a signal to their male accomplices. The detective in a doorway kept a sharp eye on them and the robbers in the taxi did likewise. Nothing more startling developed, and the actors departed after filming one of the men and making a "close-up" of the handkerchief on the sidewalk. Beyond several signs labeled "Nick Carter" the identity of the film and the company making it appear unknown.

THOMAS W. TWOHIG

First Draft Man Dies from Overseas Wounds

Thomas William Twohig, one of the first men drafted from this town in the World War, died on Nov. 6 at the Parker Hill Hospital after two operations which eventually resulted in pneumonia.

He was buried from the home of his brother, John L. Twohig, 650 Huron avenue, Cambridge, November 10 at 9 o'clock with a full military funeral and a firing squad at the grave in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, where he was laid beside his mother—Mary Curran—in the family lot.

AN OPPORTUNITY

The Winchester Post, 197, American Legion, have always shown their deep interest in the welfare and comfort of its local wounded and disabled World War Veterans. As in any organization devoted wholly or in part to welfare work, we have seen the possibility of broadening our field. Communicating with Dr. Beehan, who is in charge of the Pinewood Rest Hospital at Arlington we are informed that some 35 World War Veterans are undergoing treatment, that their personal sacrifice will eventually be of no great handicap to them in this busy world of ours. Is it not proper and fitting that we, in a small way, show these heroes that our appreciation of their sacrifice has not withered in this small space of time. To this end we have made arrangements with Dr. Beehan to take the boys confined under his charge for an automobile outing on Sunday, November 21, weather permitting. The success of the efforts of the Winchester Post is controlled in part by the owners of automobiles. Any person who can conveniently spare their machine for a few hours on Sunday will communicate with Daniel L. Hanlon, Tel. Win. 922-R.

Ralph E. Joslin, Esq., 18 Tremont Street,
Boston, Mass.Dear Mr. Joslin:
I herewith send you a draft of the Agreement of Association for the Winchester Theatre, Inc. I am obliged to leave town before I shall have an opportunity to go over this. I have no doubt any change suggested by you will meet the approval of the incorporators.The by-laws will be the ordinary by-laws with the exception of the proposed by-law on censorship. I would suggest some slight changes in the by-law which has been submitted, so that the by-law will read as follows:The corporation shall be governed and controlled in the production of moving pictures by a board of censorship. Said board shall consist of two clergymen of established churches in Winchester, to be selected in the first instance by the corporation, the Superintendent of the public schools, or an appointee of the School Committee, the Librarian of the public library, or an appointee of the Board of Library Trustees, the President or some other officer of the Fortnightly Club, and the President or some other officer of the League of Women Voters.
After the board has been established any vacancy shall be filled by other members of the board in such manner as will continue to be representative of the professions and organizations represented in the original board. Said board shall appoint a censor who shall be a citizen of Winchester and whose salary shall be fixed and paid by the corporation and who shall be subject to removal at any time by said board.
The manager shall submit to the censor, at least a week in advance of presentation, a list of films, and the censor shall have the right to see the production of any film, or of any act, prior to its presentation, and shall have the right to refuse permission for the production of any film or any act, or any part thereof.
No amendment of this by-law shall be made except with the consent of a majority of the members of the board of censorship.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Edgar J. Rich.

Note:—It is evident from the above that no Articles of Incorporation had been formulated until November 9th or existed until the corporation was formed on November 10th. They were immediately printed in the Star on November 12th, so that the statement that they were withheld is absolutely without foundation.The particular and distinctive feature of our censorship which is unique and entirely original, is that it is established in conjunction with the formation of a new corporation, which voluntarily binds itself permanently in its by-laws to arbitrary outside control, in this particular.There is no question but that public spirited citizens representing the several professions and organizations specified in the Article of Censorship will feel it a duty to serve when the license is granted upon this basis.
Winchester Theatre, Inc.KERNWOOD THE BESTOutside of Bowling, Takes Majority PointsOutside of the bowling, the Kern-wood Club of Malden took the majority points in the invitation match with Calumet last week. The two clubs met in bowling, billiards, pool and cards at the Kernwood Club.D. W. Comins held up Calumet's end in 14-inch balkline billiards, he taking his match with Frank Bartlett about 150 to 80. Dr. I. T. Cutter was not so fortunate in three-cushion billiards, although he gave his opponent, Howard Bartlett, a good rub, losing 25 to 21.The pool games were played by Messrs. Harry W. Stevens and Albert D. Rogers for Calumet, and both gentlemen met with defeat.
Likewise the card players—M. C.
Tompkins and A. M. Holbrook and
A. W. Dean and Harry Norton.Bowling proved the local club's strongest asset, and Calumet showed up strong. The first team tied the first string, winning the roll-off. It rolled a total of 515 for the best string in the second, lost the third on a low figure and took the totals. The second team took a slump in the first and won all the following points.Marshall Berry rolled the best individual score, making 330 on a high single of 119. F. H. Higgins got 306 with 108. P. A. Goodale a single of 115. Goldsmith 109, Gendron 108,
Taylor 107, Aseltine 100, Purington
113 and Stephenson 102. On Kern-wood's teams Foster led in individual work, with 307 on 110. Durgin got 301 with 106, and Drew 304 with 102.MUSIC GARDENBoston composers' night was observed by members of the Music Garden, Tuesday evening, November 2, at the home of Mrs. Gordon Mussleman of Yale street, this town. A feature of the program was a trio by Joshua Phippen of Winchester, played by Mrs. George Lochman, piano; Mrs.
Albert Hegel, cello; and Mr. Charles Woodsum, flute. Piano solos were rendered by Mrs. George Lochman, and Miss Gertrude Felber played violin selections. Miss Jean MacLellan sang a group of songs, including one dedicated to her, composed by her teacher, Mme. Martini. Mr. Walter Rice read a paper pertinent to the occasion, and the closing number of the program was a quartet by Arthur Foote of Boston, played by Mrs. Lochman, piano; Miss Mabel Wingate, violin;
Mrs. Charles Woodsum, violin, and Mrs. Albert Hegel, cello.COUNTRY CLUB PLAYSaturday's play at the Winchester

Loose leaf note books for school

Editor of the Star:

If my memory serves me correctly,
the electorate assembled in Town Meeting last March voted to instruct the Selectmen not to grant a license for any moving picture enterprise in Winchester. Up to the present time the Selectmen have carried out the instruction of that meeting. Surely the intelligent electorate are not going to alter their opinion since that year.Now Mr. Editor, it seems to me that we can get along at the present time without the movies. No one will suffer; on the other hand, if we have movies where the promoters contemplate erecting the theatre, there is likely to be a catastrophe at any time, with a theatre less than one hundred and fifty feet from the dangerous grade crossing with the treacherous Woburn Loop, where the trains sneak down, so to speak, in the twinkle of an eye. At the present time without a theatre, it requires the services of six men night and day to protect the lives of the inhabitants of this and other communities. Let us by all means abolish the grade crossing before we consider a theatre so adjacent to the railroad tracks.If there ever was a time that this country needed men and women of far-reaching vision, that time has now arrived. Let us erect more dwelling houses and help solve the housing problem that is bound to manifest itself with the increasing immigration that will eventually visit our shores in the near future.In conclusion, I for one trust that we will have our minds fixed which way to vote when we enter the Town Hall. In my opinion the proper way to have this question settled is by ballot. Why? Because we have over 4000 voters and only a little over 1000 voters are allowed in the Town Hall;
hence you can readily see hence you can very readily comprehend the necessity of my urging the necessity of a settled opinion.

I remain yours very truly,

Patrick H. Craughwell.

November 15 - 20, 1920

"More Books in the Home"

EVERYONE believes that children should grow up among books—plenty of books the best of books—yet this great boon is lost to ever so many boys and girls whose parents intend to give them every advantage. Parents forget about books, leave their purchase to chance gifts, or hesitate for lack of offered guidance in selection.

Children's Book Week

has been planned as a way of getting this situation right out where it will get consideration.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

There are times when we should be thankful for what we do not get.

We would rather have our faults overlooked than over-hear them.

It is easier to follow the crowd than it is to get well up front and help raise the dust.

Every mother thinks she has the dearest baby in the world, so does father when the bills come in.

Don't be too economical, many a man has tried to kill two birds with one stone and both birds got away.

In the death of Mr. Henry J. Winde, the Town of Winchester suffers the loss of one more old and valued resident. As a Selectman and member of the Cemetery Board he rendered faithful, and efficient service. To his conscientious and untiring efforts over a period of twenty years, the development of our beautiful Wildwood Cemetery is largely due. The direction is shaped for the growth of our town, and public spirited citizens of later residence and unquestioned ability are giving time and effort in its management, but to our older citizens of the constantly narrowing circle, of which Mr. Winde was a member, all credit for our development of today must be accorded.

We note in this week's Selectmen's report, notation of credit accorded two of our public officials. The fact that such compliment is from out-of-town source and wholly voluntary should be noted. Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department receives high compliment from the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company, and Supt. of Streets T. Parker Clarke is likewise commended by an official of the town of Framingham.

MOVING PICTURES

places under the supervision of so called "strict censorship," or even under the auspices of religious or semi-religious organizations, does not prove that there is not still the risk and danger in them to young minds, because in these other places where they have these moving picture theatres, the people endeavor to make the best of a bad situation as far as the children are concerned, and therefore offer certain moving pictures to the public, in the hope that the children will come to them rather than go to those other theatres where the picture may be more harmful. It is simply a case of the lesser of two possible evils.

In your last issue, there appeared a letter from one D. C. Dennett, whom I have never met and who I am sure does not know me—but I heartily subscribe to his views and believe that by his letter, he renders a service to parents of the town, of whom I am one, and to all the children of the town, six of whom I speak for as their father. No doubt most all the parents like myself enjoy a good movie show, and from a personal and selfish point of view, we would find it enjoyable and more convenient to go to the proposed theatre in Winchester than elsewhere, but should we not make the sacrifice and practice some self-denial for our children's sake?

Yours truly,
Francis R. Mullin.

SOME DEFECTS IN THE MOVING PICTURE PROJECT

Editor of the STAR:

There seems to be two points of appeal which Mr. Woods' project seeks to make to the citizens of Winchester. First, the stock in the new enterprise is to be owned by the citizens of Winchester. The advertisements state that "any stockholder desiring to sell his stock to any one other than a citizen of Winchester must first offer it to the corporation as hereinafter provided." And what if the enterprise is not sufficiently prosperous for the corporation to want the stock? What is there to prevent some manager of a chain of theatres from buying up the stock and giving us a chain theatre? Furthermore, if the stock were kept in town, we have then a situation on our hands which would mean that every stockholder would work to keep the project going because his money was sunk in it, no matter what class of films was being shown. It would be a case of money against morals. We had a similar situation on our hands in East Orange, and I know whereof I speak. I am not for a moment questioning the motives of the proposed directors. I am simply stating a fact of human nature. In case of disagreement as to the quality of the films, there would also be a question of personalities involved, as well as principles, under the new scheme. It would be better to have the stock owned in South Boston, or elsewhere, than in Winchester, for then the matter could be dealt with on its own merits. Winchester-owned stock is one of the worst features of the new project.

Now, as to the proposed Board of Censors. It looks good on the surface. There is one great weakness in it, however. Of the proposed list of individuals submitted I doubt whether more than one or two would consent to serve. The Board of Censors is,

Monday, October eleventh a gentleman called in our Boston office had surrendered his policies for their cash value which was the entire sum held to their credit. This amounted to about half their value as a death claim. The policies and surrenders were forwarded to the Home Office for settlement.

THAT NIGHT HE DIED.

We were notified the thirteenth and immediately wired the fact to the Company, which returned the surrenders and paid the claim IN FULL.

Do not two facts in this case stand out with startling clearness?

First, no man knows when.

Second, the Northwestern is a good company to carry your insurance.

then, only on paper. Who is going to compel the people to serve?

And this brings us up to the crux of the whole matter. We are, of course, to have only high-class films shown. Yet when a former resident of Winchester applied for a license in Winchester some five years ago and was refused, went to a nearby town and opened a theatre, he gave it up, because, on his own testimony, he could not secure as clean films as he wanted. Another manager of theatres has said that Mr. Woods' project will not work in Winchester, for we are not a large enough town to get the class of films promised. Has Mr. Woods some miraculous method, not known to these experienced managers, whereby he will be able to get only clean films, no matter how careful his Board of Censors is?

I note with interest the paragraph about the "specially studied system of lighting" for the proposed new theatre. There was a law in New Jersey which required such a lighting system. It was made necessary by the unspeakable things that went on in motion picture theatres before this requirement was put into effect. And even now, no matter how carefully the lighting system is studied, there are deplorable things that occur in the dimly-lighted halls, among the young people. I could name such an incident that occurred in a movie theatre not many miles from here recently. There is no finer group of young people in America than we have here in town, but parents will think twice before they subject their children to the temptations involved.

I note also the comment on the high fares to Arlington as an argument for a local theatre. Not all who go to Arlington go by street-car. And even if it does work hardship in some cases, that is what democracy involves. A local, commercialized theatre would work greater hardship to parents who are trying to keep their children straight. No one has contended that it is not a hardship to some not to have a local theatre. It is a question of the greatest good to the greatest number.

Boiled down to the last analysis, this is, for all practical purposes, nothing more nor less than another project for putting a commercialized motion picture theatre in Winchester. And no commercialized theatre can come here without being a detriment to the young people of the town. Even the bill-boards will educate the children in the wrong way. The new project promises too much. It reminds one of a child who is willing to promise anything in order to get its way. If it had promised less we should have hoped for more. If it goes through we shall have our glaring bill-boards, our long cues of children waiting for "Children's Matinees," our struggle to keep the films clean, and probably vaudeville. Mr. Woods does not assume any responsibility after the project is launched. The citizens are left with all the work to do.

The citizens of Winchester need to do some solid thinking on Mr. Woods' project before they give their assent to it. There are ramifications involved in it which I do not believe either Mr. Woods or his Board of Directors see. Winchester has gained distinction by not allowing motion pictures in. May she keep it.
Howard J. Chidley.

MODEL ON EXHIBITION

There is on exhibition in the window of the Edward T. Harrington Co. at the corner of Common and Church streets, a remarkably fine model of the proposed War Memorial on Manchester Field. The model is made to scale and shows the lay-out of the grounds, approaches and the river. It is a remarkably fine production. This building proposes a grandstand, locker rooms, meeting rooms, etc., and every citizen should see the model while it is on view.

He was treated by Dr. Brown and removed to his home.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Legislative Committee is planning to form a class in Parliamentary Law early in January. A course of ten lessons, the expense based on the size of the class. The Conservation and Thrift Committee held a meeting last week in the Committee Room at the Town Hall. Thrift and economy in household matters were discussed with profit and pleasure. A meeting was held yesterday, the 18th, at 3 o'clock in the High School Library, where the question of saving time, labor and money by modern household devices was discussed. A paper was given on use of coal, oil, and gas.

Our guest, Mrs. Blanchard Club, authority on household mechanical appliances, will solve your problems. The Home Economics Committee are much gratified with the success of the Chain Parties, especially to note the fact that among those entertained are many of the new members of the club. Keep up the good work until every member has been invited, that the sum realized in this way toward our new club house may be a large one.

The Education Committee is preparing a list of names of women and girls who are willing to give their time, either afternoon or evening, to take care of little children. Any person who desires having her name placed on such a list, please phone 618-M or call at 11 Mt. Pleasant street.

This committee also plans a collection of story books for the children of the Rumford and Chapin schools, to be made during the week of Monday, November 15. Please have at least one ready to pass along.

The Literature Class held its first meeting on Monday, November 15, at 8 o'clock, in the High School Library. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Lazelle, and the subject was the Life and Work of the Irish writer, Lord Dunsany.

We are very fortunate to have as a member of our club so finished a 'cello player as Mrs. Hegel proved herself to be in her artistic playing of "Lamento," by Gabrielle Marie, and a "Capriccio," by Goltermann, which were received with much applause.

The accompaniment was played by Miss Mary French in her rarely sympathetic manner, a delight to a soloist.

The entertainment was a charmingly intimate talk by Kate Ryan, of the old Boston Museum Stock Company, of which she was a member for many years. There was an unusually large audience, and each one felt that she had enjoyed a merry personal call with Kate Ryan, and hoped she would soon come again.

Kate Ryan at The Fortnightly

Kate Ryan of the old Boston Museum Stock Company was heard at the last meeting in a very interesting talk about the members of the Company, the best known of whom were Madame Vincent and the numskull Warren, and her life among them. They were one large family, she said, who laughed and cried with one another, in all their joys and sorrows.

The original Museum was opened on Bromfield street in 1841. This was a very simple affair, wooden benches, oil lamps, and the admission twenty-five cents.

This building was burned, and another erected in 1843 between School and Bromfield streets.

The building we knew was built in 1846 and for 50 years stood first in this city for dramatic ideals.

She brought back vivid childhood impressions in her description of the wonderful gallery of wax figures. The case in which Gulliver's Travels were so dramatically portrayed, and the Pirate's Cave. Again, when she described the opposite side of the street, the drug store on the corner, Galvin's tiny flower store, Papani's Dancing class, and Copeland's ice cream parlor with its fountain and gold fish.

The Museum was kind of a "churchy theatre" and at one time gave $150 for the best moral play offered.

It might have been called for many years a mild vaudeville theatre, but later under the management of Moses Kimball it became the home of the well known Stock Company, who held sway there for many years, and the greatest actors of the day made appearance with them.

When sixteen years of age Miss Ryan went there to hear a performance of School for Scandal, and came away determined to become a member of that company. She could neither act, dance, or sing, but was so eager to try, that the manager, James T. Field, gave her a chance to go on as a court lady in the "School for Scandal," thus beginning as an actress. She told of her first interview with the stage manager, of her dress on that occasion, stiff white pique, voluminous starched petticoats, brogue boots with tassels, and her bugle hat.

Wm. Warren came to the Museum in 1847. He was an unassuming gentleman, well educated, and much beloved by the men of letters of that day, Longfellow, Holmes, and others. He lived for many years at Miss Fisher's boarding house on Bulfinch place, and entertained his many friends in a bohemian way in her much admired kitchen.

His fiftieth anniversary was celebrated with much ceremony, a group of 50 "ladies and gentlemen of fashion" stood behind the scenes and sang Old Lang Syne.

He retired in 1888, died five years later, and was buried near Trinity Church.

Mrs. Vincent was recalled by her trick of talking outside before she came upon the stage, and by her quaint courtesy. "She was adored by Boston." Her salary for some years was twelve dollars a week, and "two bones," which meant a note of two dollars which could be spent at the store.

At this time the only conveyance was the horse car, the last one left at 10.30, and the driver stood at the Museum door urging the people to hurry or they would get left.

Mrs. Vincent also celebrated her fiftieth anniversary when she played Mrs. Malaprop to Warren's Sir Anthony.

Miss Ryan gave this scene to illustrate their method.

Annie Clark was mentioned as so beautiful, that on the stage she was always the dominant figure. She left to go with the Julia Marlow Co. Chas. Barron was wonderfully versatile and played opposite parts with Annie Clark.

James H. Ring, "Uncle Jimmie," played only character parts, and was very popular as the negro. Later came George Wilson who filled Warren's place in a measure. In 1879 and 80 "Pinafore" and the Irish plays of Boucicault were produced, thus beginning the modern period of the house.

It brought the Davenports, Miriam O'Neill, Sadie Martinot, and "Handsome Jack" Mason.

The Stars she remembers to have played with at the Museum are Edwin Booth, Richard Mansfield, Wallace, Montague, Sothorn, Janauschec, and Modjeska.

In the days of the greatest success of the Museum Stock Company the salaries were very small, there was no desire for the limelight, and a much more intellectual atmosphere was attained than in this day of the specialist in the drama.

THE RED CROSS and

Look at your circular issued by the Red Cross in its Roll Call this week, and you will find that in enumerating "What the Chapter Does," among more vital benefits, it states that "It Educates the People through Film Service."

When we join the Red Cross this is one of the many things we pay our money for, and it is important enough to be specified in its circulars. The Boston Metropolitan Chapter, to which we belong, in "Educating the people through film service, reached 32,000 this year," but Winchester did not have the opportunity to share in this privilege.

Isn't this one more of the many proofs that a Motion Picture Theatre, properly restricted, is an essential part of the life of the modern community?

WINCHESTER THEATRE INC.

IN RE THE ETERNAL CONTROVERSY

Editor of the Star:

As the arguments pro and con regarding the establishment of motion pictures in the town of Winchester fly ever thicker and faster, several things become apparent to the interested observer. One of them is that criticism and opposition to date have come largely from a class of adults who, while bringing to bear many meritorious arguments for the protection of our very young people, have conceivably passed the age when the fine edge of photo-play enthusiasm is at its keenest, and apparently forget that there still remains an abundant class of young folks who are quite old enough to know their preferences in the way of such indoor diversion and to use discrimination in their selection of same, and still not too old to find high-grade and wholesome entertainment in the better phases of our flourishing fourth industry. The penalty they pay at present for this fondness for good motion pictures is that week in and week out their spare nickels and dimes flow in an unceasing stream into the maw of the Street Railway Company, whose tremendously increased charges are more than doubling for them the price of admission. It is from their point of view, as I have heard it frequently expressed, that I am writing.

Another point is that whereas certain unfavorable critics have expressed a not unnatural apprehension that a motion picture theatre in this town, financed by outside interests, would not be likely to present the class of pictures desired, and could not be compelled to do so; these same critics are now objecting to a theatre financed in the manner suggested by the directors of the proposed theatre—i. e., wholly by Winchester money—on the rather uncomplimentary grounds that a local citizen, having invested money in the project, will be henceforth unqualifiedly for the "success" of same, likewise to the detriment of the quality of the pictures, and with resultant harm to the children attending. It being self-evident that a motion picture theatre OF THE FIRST CLASS must be run on a basis of financial backing from the one source or the other, this so-called argument stands revealed not so much an argument as a statement of absolute prejudice against motion pictures good, bad, or indifferent, and should, therefore, be presented as such.

The idea will obtrude itself in this connection that since the aforesaid investor must be a citizen of this town, it is within the range of possibility that, apart from his purely financial interest, he may have the added personal interest of children of his own, in which case who can question which interest would be paramount.

Again, do these gentlemen presume to hint, in the face of all the prevailing and constantly reiterated sentiment against pictures of a questionable grade, that the term "success" used in connection with any motion picture theatre in this town can be other than synonymous with the presentation of pictures of the very highest grade attainable.

Last—and most important—is it not evident that when subordinated to the kind of censorship proposed by the aforesaid directors—and I assume this can and will be put through in any case—the question of whose money is invested becomes of absolute unimportance so far as its effect upon the excellence of the programs rendered is concerned.

Still another prolific source of controversy which I see looming in the near offing is this: when anxious parents speak of a management which will present programs adapted to—presumably meaning innocuous to—children of tender years, they cannot suppose that these will provide acceptable or diverting entertainment to people of more adult minds, many of whom would be regular patrons of the proposed Winchester Theatre. As reasonably eliminate all books from our public library save only such volumes that are readily understandable by a child's intellect, and productive of no harm to it. In other words, the censor would be in a continuous stew of trouble on the grounds that, having selected, perhaps, a picture primarily appropriate for adult entertainment, and unsuitable in any respect from that standpoint, said picture did not prove simultaneously satisfying and equally innocuous for children between the ages of five and sixteen; or vice versa. Nothing is surer than that grown folks will NOT be entertained by "Alice in Wonderland" any more than the little people would be edified—or taken with propriety to see—a picture of the type of "Way Down East," let us say, to cite a recent example.

This difficulty is one in name only. It can be readily met (and presumably will be) by a double weekly program. In other words, the manager selects for Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday a program profitable and in no way objectionable to persons of adult intelligence, EXCLUDING from admission all children under sixteen, unless accompanied by adults. For the latter half of the week a program more suited to the entertainment and enlightenment of children would be the rule. This would give the young folks their Saturday matinee; and surely, SURELY ("psychological" objections to the contrary), they will never be "over-stimulated" by a once-a-week attendance at the "movies," especially if the entertainment provided be of edifying character. Nor will they care to see the same picture more than once; hence regulation of the frequency of change in program will make for absolute control of the frequency of the children's attendance.

I have heard another frequently voiced bit of satire on the part of some (who, apparently, seldom attend motion picture entertainments) to the effect that the word "acoustics" when used in connection with this theatre pertains to vaudeville and nothing else. To such persons I would say, since when has it become the custom to present picture-plays for public entertainment without appropriate musical accompaniment? Even in Boston, the best grade of motion picture theatres are presenting no vaudeville whatever, but in many cases a carefully selected musical program—in itself another of the many advantages of this kind of entertainment. This is on the principle that a picture of true artistic merit is shown to a disadvantage when accompanied by the distractions of unrelated vaudeville acts.

Again, it is NOT true, as demonstrated in last week's STAR, that under present conditions a manager must perforce limit himself to the films and programs of a particular producer in order to obtain satisfactory service. This arrangement is fast becoming a relic of the old days of poor pictures and poorer service.

As regards a community theatre, the logical question arises—how could anyone expect a strictly high-class and up-to-date program to be obtainable on such a basis? Very many industries are represented in this town of ours, but to date this is the very first which has been expected to thrive on other than a solid financial basis.

So speak up, all you "midding" young folks (and old-young folks, too, for that matter)! The cause of moving pictures in Winchester will never gain much ground while those who give it the most time and attention are the ones least interested in it as a personal recreation.

And yet—who was that ancient and fabulous king who, having ensconced himself upon a throne by the sea, attempted, unassisted, to stem the rising tide?

Rupert F. Jones.

ATTENTION, MEN!

The Men's Club of the First Congregational Church will hold its second meeting of the season in the Church Vestry, on Friday, November 26th, at 8 p. m.

Prof. Alfred G. Lane, Professor of Geology at Tufts College, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Struggle for Raw Material." His talk will be chiefly on coal, copper, iron, oil, and platinum, with special reference to the battle for coal in the Great War and in the United States today.

Prof. Lane was formerly State Geologist for the State of Michigan and in that capacity, made a thorough survey of the copper mines of that community. Since 1914, he has been studying the coal situation in Europe and in this country. He has written numerous articles for the "Coal Age," the Popular Science Monthly, Atlantic Monthly, etc. According to the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Science, here is a scholar, who "in a marked degree has the ability to humanize a scientific subject."

This is a rare opportunity to hear an authority on a live issue—your coal bin! Don't forget—the day after Thanksgiving!

LADIES' FRIENDLY NOTES

An all day sewing meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 23, at the Unitarian Church Parlor. At 3 p. m. Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead will speak on "The New Education." Slow Answers to Telephone Calls Greater Boston telephone users make over 1,500,000 telephone calls every day.

Records show that on 60,000 of these calls the person called does not answer for a minute or more after the bell rings.

During the summer when subscribers spend a considerable portion of the time in yards or on piazzas, this percentage of slow answering is increased.

Answering promptly when the bell rings will assist in maintaining good telephone service.

SEEN AND HEARD AROUND TOWN

A Boost Here and Knock There

Well, here I am again after a week's rest. I thought the Star would be full of the movie subject, so I left my column out.

Let us have the movie, by all means. This paternalism on the part of people who never had a child, or who never saw anything that was good only in that they think was the proper thing never made any kind of hit with me.

Said a prominent Massachusetts business man the other day, "This state is so far behind the rest of the country in the moving picture business that we will never catch up." Also, this same man said that "the movies are here to stay, and we will have to adapt ourselves to them."

The only way to do in the Winchester moving picture controversy is to grant a license for a theatre, and then those people who wish to attend it can do so and the "uplifters" can stay away. There is no law to compel their presence.

Well, after letting off that steam, we can go along on the ordinary course of the week.

In Edward T. Harrington's window this week is a plaster model of the proposed World War Memorial which is to be placed on Manchester Field if the town will vote the money at the next town meeting. I have the figures which this is supposed to cost, but better hold off on them until the Park Board and committee see fit to give them out.

Did you citizens ever notice what a nice plot the town has at the corner of Main and Washington streets? Well, it is a credit to the town, but the sidewalks that surround it are anything but an improvement to its looks.

It seems to the writer that it would be a good thing for the police to get after the young boys who are forever making a practice of "hopping" auto trucks. We should have a by-law covering this thing here in Winchester. The Boston police are already making arrests.

JOHNSON-TELFER

Miss Ruth Edythe Telfer of 24 Cushing street, Medford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Telfer, was married on Saturday evening to Mr. H. Maynard Johnson of Elm street, this town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis D. Taylor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Watertown, at the home of the bride's parents at eight o'clock.

The couple were attended by Miss Edna Johnson, sister of the groom, and Mr. Charles P. Johnson the groom's brother. A reception, attended by many friends of the couple, followed the ceremony, the guests being Miss Arline Lambert, Miss Gertrude Seldon, Miss Agnes Rhodes and Miss Viola Webster, all of Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home in Winchester.

The freight house at Swanton street was broken into last Friday night and a barrel of apples, a typewriter, shoes, safety razors and a manicure set stolen. The articles were taken from a trunk and were the property of freight agent Mark J. Willis.

Elliott Barker, Jr., of Arlington, 16 years of age, was in court Monday to answer charges made by the Winchester police of reckless driving on Cambridge street, November 5. It was claimed Barker forced a truck off the road near the Boat Club, causing it to hit a tree, and that he was driving on the left side of the road. His case was taken under advisement.

Mr. Leslie L. Hartwell of Calumet road, while driving his automobile in Chelsea, Wednesday night, was in collision with a wagon, claimed to have had no lights. His car was badly wrecked and he suffered several broken ribs and bad cuts about the head. He was taken to the Frost hospital for treatment.

MUCH SMOKE AT FIRE

There was considerable smoke and a serious fire was nipped in the bud when a brisk blaze was discovered in the cellar of the residence of Mr. Sewall E. Newman on Cliff street, Saturday morning. An alarm from box 62 was rung in at 9:05.

The fire department found the fire in waste paper, the flames having gained enough headway to break a nearby cellar window and attack the covering of heater pipes on the ceiling. There was little damage, but the house was well filled with smoke. How the fire originated is not known.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

ON PROPOSED CENSORSHIP BASIS

Editor of the Star:

As a result of several comments which I have heard, I would again emphasize the fact that any remarks made by me on the subject of motion pictures in your last issue were STRICTLY ON THE BASIS OF THE PROPOSED CENSORSHIP, and must NOT be construed as a brief for motion pictures good, bad, or indifferent. I understand this censorship to be one "of the people," by the people, and for the people," responsible to the people, and capable of rejection by them at any time; with those immediately responsible for the selection of a censor chosen from a class of citizens whose activities prove them to have the best interests of the community at heart. Let the Directors of the new Theatre stand by their guns on this issue of the censorship, and the class of people who enjoy high-grade films, and deplore the lurid, cheap, and sensational, will stand by them.

Like ancient Gaul, any modern community or town is divisible into three parts, or classes of people, on matters of theatrical interest. There are those who object to the theatre on principle. With them there can be no argument. They rightly obey the dictates of their own consciences. There are those who, like giddy moths, are fascinated by the glitter of anything theatrical. Fortunately, they are in the minority. There are likewise a large middle class of more or less discriminating play-goers who, confident that there is good in all things, exercise their prerogative to pick and choose; who, for example, entertain the conviction that Sir James M. Barrie, when writing for the stage, cannot be so materially different from the James M. Barrie, novelist, of "The Little Minister," and "A Window in Thrums," fame as to measure the difference between right and wrong. To them it is a matter of questionable good taste to remain away from the theatre when a "Peter Pan," or a "Disraeli," or a "Dear Brutus" is playing. It is difficult to persuade such people that the same logic will not justify their patronage of the better grade of motion pictures—in other words, they will follow their James M. Barrie even to the screen, if need be (and at present he is writing for it). So, also, are Ralph Connor, Leonard Merrick, Booth Tarkington, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Irvin Cobb, and countless other leading novelists. The masterpieces of older (and world-famous) authors are being filmed in increasing numbers, and well filmed, too. Such pictures are easily obtainable two or three weeks after their initial showings. It would be a palpable absurdity to admit the books of these novelists to our library shelves, and refuse their picturized versions to the screen.

Of course, motion pictures per se are surely a medium of transmission. Even the most radical objections are on the grounds of the material presented, rather than the medium involved.

The weekly news reviews of the regular film services, together with all pictures of a geographical or educational nature, are, surely, above criticism on any ground of moral suitability.

If, under the proposed bill of censorship, such pictures can be procured for Winchester programs, and the cheap, lurid, and sensational films weeded out in advance by a censor who will certainly represent the best taste of the community—why, under these conditions, will not the "great good of the greatest number" be served?

We are, of course, all entitled to our respective points of view. This is merely the expression of one of them.

Rupert F. Jones.

NO MOTION PICTURES THEN

Editor of the Star:

Twenty-five years ago, before the automobile, phonograph, and motion pictures were in use, and Winchester was but a village, we came here with two small children, bought a lot and built our home with the definite object of getting away from the turmoil of the city and to enjoy the benefits of real quiet country life. Before we were really settled the question of a trolley line came up.

The opposition depended on and was led by one man, Mr. Wm. B. French, with the backing of many citizens of whom my husband was one, and the most effective argument on our side was, that electric cars going at a great rate of speed in our narrow streets would be a terrible source of danger to the children, especially when going to and from the Wyman and what was then the High school, now known as the Prince school. Travelling so much faster than horse-drawn vehicles, the clanging gongs, and excessive noise on the rails, would disturb the children's rest at night and be always harmful to their nervous systems. The Board of Selectmen were accused of having an interest in the railroad, and were held up to scorn as sacrificing the children on the altar of commercialism. I am thankful to remember that only the most partisan on our side cast reflections on their honesty, but in the heat of debate the conservative people most frequently used the argument of the children's safety, and mental and physical protection.

We lost. The road was built, and the cars came. They did seem to go terribly fast at first, and to be noisy, but we soon got used to them and wondered how we got along without them. But so far as I know even with automobiles also on our roads, no child has ever been run down or injured by the trolley cars, and as to being kept awake or over-stimulated, that was never thought of again, and the whole controversy was soon forgotten.

MAY HAVE COMMITTED SUICIDE

Italian Disappeared From Home Last Thursday.

The Winchester police were notified Saturday of the disappearance of Gregorio Procopio, 28 years of age, living at 50 Irving street. The man was married on the previous Sunday to a young Italian girl, the niece of Frank Corbi, with whom they had made their home since.

According to report, Procopio was despondent, and previous to his disappearance had threatened to cut his throat with a razor and to drown himself. A man answering to his description was reported seen in the vicinity of the Winchester reservoirs, but it was thought possible that he may have returned to his old home in Pennsylvania, and word has been sent there in hope of locating him. If he is not located, a search may be made for his body at the reservoirs.

IN A NUTSHELL

Editor of the Star:

The movies CAN be good. Everybody admits that, and the only question seems to be—WILL they be good.

I believe that in our town of Winchester they will be the best class, because the greater the number of worthy people who attend movies, the greater the likelihood that those movies will be of high grade, since the financial success of the theatre depends entirely upon the satisfaction of its patrons. Winchester people will tolerate nothing but the best. The promoters of the proposed movie theatre are fellow citizens who promise they will meet the wishes of their neighbors. And moreover, Winchester I assume will always have it in its power to revoke the license.

Under those circumstances I cannot personally see why the hundreds, perhaps thousands of people here who wish that particular form of entertainment should be deprived of it by the bias, in a few cases perhaps the prejudice, of others who are not themselves by any means compelled to attend any show if they disapprove of it.

As far as the attendance of children is concerned, isn't that a matter entirely for the individual parent to decide? If the father and mother do not wish their child to go to the theatre, they can prevent it from the home; and certainly nobody is injured then and there. If the parent, on the other hand, regards the movie as a perfectly proper entertainment to make the child's life a little happier, then why should he not be allowed the privilege of a well-conducted and well-regulated place of amusement for such entertainment? It seems a bit narrow, almost selfish to oppose a form of entertainment which has become equally recognized throughout the world with the regular theatre, the lecture hall and the open house, provided always that entertainments are conducted by reputable people on proper lines.

EX-SERVICE MAN'S OPINION

Editor of the Star,

Winchester, Massachusetts.
Mr. Mullin states in his article, published in last week's issue of the Star, on the Moving Picture question, that there does not appear to be any great demand for a Moving Picture Theatre in town from the people who cannot afford to travel to neighboring towns to see moving pictures.

It occurs to me that perhaps the gentleman has not interviewed many of the people who feel that it is a hardship that they are obliged to pay the Bay State Street Railway 40c carfare every time they wish to go to a moving picture show. During the last month I have personally interviewed several hundred of the young men in town, especially the Ex-service men, and I find that they are almost unanimous in wanting a theatre in town and heartily endorse the proposed plan of the Winchester Theatre, Inc.

The Smith College Club of Winchester will open a Jumble Shop on Tuesday and Wednesday November 30th and December 1st, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., in the Niles Block on Main street. The Shop this year will contain an unusual variety of interesting and inexpensive things for Christmas, with specialties of all sorts.

There will be separate tables for aprons of many different styles, with Mrs. George Newton Proctor as chairman; a children's table with bonnets, coats, frocks, sweaters, etc., Mrs. Clarence Whorf, chairman; the candy table will have fudge, made-while-you-wait, and a large variety of other home-made candies. Mrs. Fred Woolley, chairman; the food table, jellies, preserves, cake and other cooked foods, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott and Mrs. Robert Metcalf, chairmen; and the household table, bags, bangles, already noted in attractive little jars and bowls, fancy articles, bridge table covers of all sorts, bridge luncheon sets, hand-dipped candles, etc., Mrs. Morton Grush, chairman. Tea will be served from 2 to 5 each afternoon, in charge of Miss Helen Hall and Miss Beatrice Putnam. Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway is the general chairman for the sale.

REV. N. J. MERRITT'S ATTITUDE

The parents of Winchester are anxious to have the Pastor of St. Mary's Church, show what stand he takes in regard to the introduction of "moving pictures" in the town of Winchester. Father Merritt takes the same stand as many of our parents have taken out of the deepest regard for the children. The Pastor of St. Mary's Parish is absolutely opposed to the introduction of the "movies" into the town of Winchester.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

At the regular meeting to be held Thursday evening, December second, in the High School Hall at eight o'clock, the Motion Picture Problem will be discussed by Mr. B. Preston Clark. Pictures, Mr. Clark was during the war a member of the Public Safety Committee with Mr. Endicott and during the police strike he worked with Mayor Peters. Last winter he led already noted in attractive little jars and bowls, fancy articles, bridge table covers of all sorts, bridge luncheon sets, hand-dipped candles, etc., Mrs. Morton Grush, chairman. Tea will be served from 2 to 5 each afternoon, in charge of Miss Helen Hall and Miss Beatrice Putnam. Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway is the general chairman for the sale.

ONE WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW

Editor of the Star:

As one of the "old-young folks," I wish to "speak up" for the proposed moving picture theatre in our town. Mr. Jones has said it all in his excellent letter of last week's Star. He would protect the children but at the same time thinks the "young folks" from sixteen to sixty should be considered. Why not? Transportation nowadays is both difficult and expensive, even in one's own motor. How nice it would be, if here in Winchester, we could go, once a week, or even twice, to a "safe and sane" moving picture show, and walk to it, arm in arm or hand in hand, according to our moods and temperaments. Such an entertainment at a reasonable price, with the soothing accompaniment of organ music is good for tired minds and nerves and a far better place for restless youths than the automobile parked by the wayside.

One of the pleasant sights in all suburban picture theatres it has been my pleasure to visit is the comfortable couples one sees, evidently from nearby homes. Mother comes without her hat, and father—well, he certainly enjoys the pictures. He knows the Prince of Wales by sight—just how he looks and walks and smiles, and he likes him rather better than he thought he would. He is only a boy after all like his own son. Why not look for such as these, instead of the "unspeakable?"

What nonsense to say that no parent or educator would put a "novel of any description" into the hands of a child. He will help himself to it, if he likes to read, and the book is at hand. We all know that the great minds of the world have begun by "browsing" in some well stocked library and read every book on the shelves. I remember reading "The Scarlet Letter" and wondering what it was all about. A child's mind is a child's mind and has its own defenses. Parents too often suggest what would never have occurred to him. Gossip at a family table may be quite as bad for the young listener as any "movie." What about our daily newspapers? Shall we give them up on account of the youthful reader?

When we come right down to it the situation seems to me to be this: Each child must live in his own age; he cannot live in that of his parents or grandparents.

Each generation of young people shocks and worries its progenitors, but yet the world moves on—even improves.

"The good old days!"
The foolish person whined,
He's like the silly lightning bug,
With his search light on behind!"

Our boys and girls will carry theirs in front. They will never know a world without the telephone, the automobile, the Victrola or the cinema—yes, even the flying machine. From the beginning their nerves and eyes and ears will know them all and think nothing of them—only wonder how grandpa ever existed without them. The human frame and mind is a wonderful adjuster. Both demand change and progress.

There is evil as well as good in everything—even camp-meetings. So why not look for the good, and there is much good in the "movies," and do all we can to have the nicest, cleanest, most attractive picture theatre in the State, right here in Winchester?

Let it take us to every part of the globe, where you and I can never hope to travel. Let it show us strange people and their ways. Let it take us up and away out of ourselves. Shall it be Labrador with Dr. Grenfell, or Panama with Mr. Harding?

Let it show us every notable man or woman of our day, no matter where he lives. Let it teach us how things are made—without the noise and dust of the shops. Let it show us injustice and hardship to women or children in any industry. There is no power like it in the world for good. We might as well advocate still going by the old canal to Boston, as attempt to preach down moving pictures.

Effie J. Wilde.

BIG SCORES

Fine Bowling at Calumet Turkey Roll Saturday.

Fine scores were made in all classes at the Thanksgiving turkey roll on the Calumet Club alleys Saturday, and for a time it looked as though the club record for high single and high total would go by the board. The scores proved such easy winning for the bowlers concerned, however, that they did not put forth their best efforts, and as a result the old figures still stand.

F. W. Aseltine took the turkey in class A; C. W. Tarbell in class B; and J. P. Heaton the class C bird. There was a big attendance out to witness the rolling.

THE MAGIC OF THE MOVIES

By Thomas Dreier, 1 Curtis Circle,
Winchester.

It is the spirit of youth in the hearts of us that responds to them; the godlike power of creation in the brain of us that makes them our slaves. Owner and slave we march together along the sunlit road of our destiny. It is at our command, breathed forth by the child in us, that they send us back to the time when Ah-ha mattered his magic words before the frowning cliff, and saw the opening of the door that gave entrance to the treasure house of the Forty Thieves.

It is the wanderer in us that responds to them when they share with us a seat upon the Magic Carpet, which by the power of wishes carry us to the ends of the earth. It is the godlike creator in us that causes them to give us the Lamp of Aladdin and the slaves which trample down the mountains, build our palaces, dam our torrents, and turn the forces of nature into channels of usefulness to men.

They are as gods to us at one time, opening to us a vision of a world of which we have never dreamed. They are our teachers when with the vision they inspire us to materialize the dreams their power has created in our minds. They strive to age the desires of youth. They roll away the years and the past becomes the present.

The heroes and heroines of the books are made flesh and appear before us. Alexander comes; and Caesar; and Napoleon. We look into the face of Columbus and we know the man who wrote, "Today we sailed westward, which was our course. Out of our very memories come the sober Puritans and it is with surprise that we see their faces sunny with laughter. In an instant a child is taken forward a hundred years and shown a tower of a world that is yet to be. A flickering flash, a moment of darkness, and we are given glimpses of countries and peoples which before very names and nothing more. We look into the lined face of Abraham Lincoln for an instant, and follow a Civil War drama that makes our history lesson unforgettable. To the untutored the wealth of sensations stands and bewilders.

But to those who have worshipped as "fans" in the temples of the movies the wonder and glory have become commonplace and they demand the producers to search farther, to think their way into still more wonderful worlds to enhance our vision, to make us more like gods. The movies have followed the telegraph and telephone in making a great world a neighborhood. We step from our front door into the heart of China, or Peru. An adventure we share with friends in Kansas is followed by hairbreadth escapes from the jungle beasts of darkest Africa.

Our education becomes greater because our understanding becomes greater. Most ancient the rock and the waters gushed forth. So from the rock-founded movies rushes forth knowledge to assure the thirst of ignorance. Science, History, Literature, Poetry, Art, Religion—all pour the wealth of their ideas into the minds of both the poor and the rich. To the nations of the earth the movies raise the standards of men and women because they enlarge the vision of men and women. They make our morality universal instead of provincial. They endow us with a true cosmic consciousness. As a conquered nation paraded before the populace of ancient Rome, the whole world parades before the eyes of the nations of the earth. The world is leveled upon, and with joyous eagerness the whole world plays.

Great as are the movies today, they are yet in their very childhood. The faith of the builders is greater than they themselves realize. They create in a fine frenzy because they hear the voices of the crowds calling for better things. The nations of old sought to build the Tower of Babel to the heavens because they hungered for sight of the glory of the universe. Those nations were cursed with failure and their speech was confounded. They failed to unite as neighbors and work for a common cause because they failed to understand each other's tongues. But the movies bring to each of the nations of the earth the understanding of the whole earth—and all the nations understand. And who knows but that the movies shall send to all the hearts of men and women everywhere that greatest of all messages, "Peace on earth, good-will towards all men." Because I believe this, I believe in a motion picture theatre in Winchester.

RECEPTION DAY AT THE HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE IN WINCHESTER

Last Thursday was Donation and Reception Day at the Home on Kendall street. A year ago the Home celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. This year our people turned out in better numbers and with larger bounty than ever before, to see the pretty abode and happy inmates, and to bring evidences of their interest and kindly purpose. We met there several clergymen and ladies of the highest rank, making their first visit to the Home. It was truly a pleasant social event for everyone who attended. Each year these celebrations bring together our friendly people from all parts of the town, and many acquaintances are renewed.

The gifts of delicacies and substantial of every kind, additional to many pieces of money, completely loaded down the large dining room table. The choice preserves, fruits, vegetables, condiments and goodies of every kind, reminded us of the prize products often seen and admired at our country fairs.

Tea was poured by gracious ladies, and guests were received and shown about, as though the occasion was a great homecoming of a large family, as indeed it was. May our fine ladies who dwell in this abode again meet even more of our good citizens, to cheer them on, a year from now.

WINCHESTER THEATRE, INC.

There appear on pages 1, 6, 2 and 3, the names of over 1700 representative citizens of Winchester, most of them the heads of families, who have signed the petition for a Town Meeting without delay endorsing the belief that a motion picture theatre properly restricted is an essential part of the life of a modern community and that the terms of censorship under which the Winchester Theatre is organized and is to be operated by citizens of Winchester, constitute such proper restriction.

It should be understood that the canvass with petitions covered less than one-third of the streets of the town, and was limited in time to a few hours in the evenings, except for the papers left at several of the stores at the centre. It should also be kept in mind that the return postals were sent to a limited number of the population and were liable to the fate of most printed mail, no matter how important—the waste basket.

It is evident however, as shown by the returns, that the project has the approval and support of a large majority of the citizens of Winchester.

Winchester Theatre, Inc.

Eddie Collins, captain of the Chicago White Sox, and one of the players who came through in the recent baseball scandal, was a visitor in town Thursday. He and Mrs. Collins were the guests of District Attorney Nathan A. Taft, who had come to town to take in the Harvard-Yale game at New Haven, which Mr. Taft refereed.

REV. JAMES L. BARTON, D. D., TO PREACH

First Congregational Church, Sunday Morning.

On Sunday morning, at the First Congregational Church, Rev. James L. Barton, D. D., Foreign Secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions since 1894, will preach. Dr. Barton was missionary in Turkey for thirty years, serving as president of Euphrates College, in Harpoot, part of this time. As secretary of the A. B. C. F. M. he has represented the Board in official visits to Japan, Ceylon, China, and India. As chairman of the Committee of Reference and Counsel which was appointed by the Edinburgh Conference, he has had a large share in shaping missionary policies.

Because of his intimate acquaintance with conditions in Turkey it was only natural that he should be chosen as Chairman of the Armenian and Syrian Relief Committee, which name was later changed to the Near East Relief. He has been instrumental in extending the influence of this Committee which has done so much to relieve suffering in the Near East and which has raised many millions of dollars for relief work. In 1919 he was chosen head of a Commission of seven representative men to visit Turkey to determine the actual conditions demanding relief. He visited all parts of Asia Minor, Syria, and the Caucasus. Surely no one is more able to tell of the work and needs in the Orient and the Near East, and a rare treat is in store for all who hear Dr. Barton. All are cordially invited to attend the service at the First Congregational Church, at 10:30, Sunday morning. Dr. Chidley will conduct the worship.

EN KA MOVIE NIGHT

On next Monday evening, November 29, a special movie night for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital, will be held at the Regent Theatre, Arlington, under the auspices of the En Ka Sorority. There is to be a splendid bill, including Douglas McLean in "The Jail Bird" and Ethel Clayton in "Crooked Streets," as well as special features in singing and reading by members of the Sorority. Another Royal Suggestion
Griddle Cakes and Waffles
From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

THERE is an art in making flapjack pancakes, griddle cakes or waffles, call them what you will. But it is an art very easily and quickly acquired if you follow the right recipes. The secret, of course, is Royal Baking Powder.

Griddle Cakes

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

2 eggs
1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon shortening

Mix and sift dry ingredients; add beaten eggs, milk and melted shortening; mix well. Bake immediately on hot griddle.

Waffles

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon melted shortening

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add milk to yolks of eggs; mix thoroughly and add to dry ingredients; add melted shortening and mix in beaten whites of eggs. Bake in well-greased hot waffle iron until brown. Serve hot with maple syrup. It should take about 1½ minutes to bake each waffle.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Force a man to eat his own words and he will soon lose his appetite.

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing—if her small brother possesses it.

Even the man who is good only on Sundays may manage to keep his batting average down.

A man who uses religion as a cloak in this world may have more use for a smoking jacket in the next.

There would be no more tariff squabbles if it were possible to tax every man according to his personal valuations.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

November 15, 1920

The Board met at 7:30 p. m., present Messrs. Blackham, Byrne and Parsons.

The records of the meeting of November 15 were read and approved.

Town Hall Engagements 1921 (The Winchester Laundries, Inc.): The Winchester Laundries, Inc. was granted the use of the Town Hall for the purpose of conducting an entertainment and dance on Friday, January 21, 1921.

Moving Pictures: Rev. Howard J. Chidley appeared before the Board to protest against calling a special town meeting for the purpose of getting a vote of the Town pertaining to whether or not moving pictures should be conducted in Winchester, and also protesting against the granting of a license for the same. He explained at some length the difficulties involved in obtaining the proper class of films and also the difficulties involved in carrying out a proper censorship of these films.

Later in the evening Messrs. George A. Woods, Wallace Flanders, Vincent Farnsworth, Robert Guild, Ralph E. Joslin and Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, Directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc. appeared before the Board for the purpose of getting the Board of Selectmen to call a special town meeting or take other action relative to granting the Winchester Theatre, Inc. permission to conduct moving pictures in Winchester. All the directors spoke in favor of moving pictures and Mr. Woods presented a petition signed by 1609 citizens of Winchester petitioning for a special town meeting. The matter was laid over for the present as the Board felt that this subject should be taken up when all members of the Board of Selectmen are present. If deemed advisable the Board will hold a special meeting within a short time to consider the matter further.

Letters of protest against calling a special town meeting were received from Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives, Mr. E. I. Twombly and Mr. Rufus L. Clark.

Coal: The Board appointed Mr. Arthur A. Kidder, Fuel Administrator for the Town of Winchester. This appointment is made at the request of the Fuel Administrator of Massachusetts.

Police Dept. Patrolmen: Upon recommendation of the Chief of Police the Board appointed under suspension of its Rule 4, Mr. John H. Noonan, 21 Sheridan circle, a patrolman in the Winchester Police Department.

Grade Crossing: The Grade Crossing Committee reported that the Town Counsel had been requested by them to start action with a special commission with a view to bringing about action on the grade crossing matter.

Boston & Maine Railroad: The matter of an underground passageway at the Winchester Railroad Station was laid over again for another week.

Building Lines and Street Acceptances: A letter was received from the Town Engineer written at the direction of the Planning Board stating that the Planning Board recommends to the Board of Selectmen that building lines be established by the Town on the following streets:

Main street from the Parkway to the Medford Line; on Washington street from Main street to Lebanon street; on Highland avenue from Main street to Forest street; and on Symmes road from Bacon street to Main street.

The Planning Board also recommends the acceptance of the following streets and public ways:

Florence street from Swanton street to Irving street; Railroad avenue from Mt. Vernon and Main streets to land owned by the Town of Winchester and under the control of the Park Board; and Elmwood avenue from Main street to Vine street. This matter was laid over pending investigation by the Board.

The meeting adjourned at 11 p. m. George S. F. Bartlett, Clerk of Selectmen.

The Raccoon.

The raccoon, or coon, as he is more commonly called in the United States, where he makes his home, has the odd little habit of dipping his food in water, as if to wash it perfectly clean, before eating. Coons den up for the winter, like bears, sometimes singly, sometimes several together as if for company, in a hollow tree or other convenient place.

Well, Isn't That Correct?

gotten. It is only brought to mind now by the trend which the present discussion has taken through those who are using the argument of the children's welfare to press their point.

Objectors to innovations are not reasonable, they exaggerate in trying to prove their case, and when progress will not be denied they look back and wonder at the length to which they have gone,—such is human nature.

It seems to me that we are fortunate in having our latest modern addition in such good hands and so carefully protected; let us accept it lest later we are not so fortunate.

And let us do away with futile arguments which will some day seem as absurd as those against the trolley cars would sound today.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Good attendance and steady work at the meeting of the local Union last Friday resulted in a goodly amount accomplished. Fifteen aprons were made for the fair of the Italian, North End, Y. P. H., and three combs were tied. At noon a social hour was spent at the luncheon table and at two o'clock the business session was called to order. Miss E. E. Elliott and Mrs. William Richardson reported the State Convention held in Boston the last of October. At that time Mrs. E. A. Gleason of the Winchester Union was re-elected president. Mrs. Alice G. Brown, vice-president; Mrs. Ada B. Frisbee, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Helen H. Worrell, treasurer, were also re-elected. Mrs. Robert May, was chosen recording secretary. With Mrs. Rose Ebel Thompson, assistant, in place of Mrs. Helen H. Foster and Mrs. Myrtle A. Spooner, respectively, they having refused to stand for re-election. In the forty-six years since the State W. C. T. U. was organized there have been but two recording secretaries and three assistants, one of those, Mrs. Foster, having been promoted to the secretaryship. This is an unusual record, but the time for changes must come. There have been almost as many changes among the general officers in the past two years as in the twenty years of Mrs. Stevenson's presidency.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 24 and December 1, the Italian Y. P. H. will hold a fair at its rooms, 33 Shafte street, from 3 p. m. through the evening. All members of the Union and other friends are invited to contribute one or more articles for the sale and should send them to Mrs. Hamilton by Monday or direct to Dr. Rand at 23 Shafte street. This Branch has been successful and deserves the strong support of the W. C. T. U. as good Americanization work. Clubs and classes are features that have proved most attractive and the frequent meetings make it a real settlement with a positive temperance flavor.

REAL ESTATE SALES

No. 41 Church street, Winchester, adjoining the premises of the Winchester Trust Company, comprising a frame, two-apartment house, containing fourteen rooms with all modern improvements, garage and 8779 square feet of land, has been purchased by Charles A. Gleason. It is the intention of the purchaser to erect a modern office building. Herbert E. Gleason is the grantor.

Lillian B. Kerr has bought a lot of land on Central street, near Bacon street, containing 10,115 square feet. The grantor is Thomas M. Smith. The purchaser will erect a dwelling house there.

William N. Ambler has sold a lot of land on Sheffield West, containing 8812 feet, to Herbert E. Gleason, who has already begun the erection of a dwelling house. These sales were negotiated by the Edward T. Harrington Co.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The first meeting of the Current Events Class will be held on Friday, January 7th, at 3 o'clock, in the High School Assembly Hall. This class will be conducted by Mrs. Mabel Crawford, under management of the Civic Committee, and tickets may be obtained of Mrs. A. W. Mudge or any member of this committee.

The Home Economics Committee are meeting with much success in the Chain Parties. It seems to mean such a good time, that even people outside the club are glad to come in, enjoy the fun and pay their money toward the building fund.

This committee is also carrying a cooking class taught by Miss Alice Bradley of the Farmer School of Cookery, held in Randall's Hall. The list of subjects to be taught is as follows:

Dec. 3. A Christmas Luncheon.
Dec. 17. Candies for Gifts, Decorated Cakes.
Dec. 31. Dinner with a Planked Steak.
Jan. 14. Home Dinner; some pies.
Jan. 28. A Company Dinner.
Feb. 11. An English Luncheon.
Feb. 25. Buffet and Spread or Evening Luncheon.
March 11. Card Parties and Afternoon Teas.
March 25. Requests, or announced later.

For further information phone Mrs. Tarbell, chairman of committee, 734-M.

After January 1st, the Art Committee plans to arrange parties from the club to visit the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Guides will conduct them through the buildings giving all desired information. To introduce this idea, Mr. Harry L. Seaver, teacher of English in the Institute of Technology, and who has given the Sunday afternoon talks at the Museum for several years, gave an illustrated lecture upon the "Treasures of the Boston Art (3) Museum." He expressed much interest in the work planned, and thought his lecture might introduce us to a series of tours through the Museum, although his pictures could only hint of the great beauty of these treasures, which must be seen to be appreciated.

The Museums of Europe are the collection of Kings for many centuries.

The Boston Museum is very young, yet it has the best collection of Japanese and Chinese Art in the world. Through his pictures he led us from the Syrian and Egyptian marbles of 4000 B. C., down to Rodin of our day; from the strangely beautiful early Mohamedan and East Indian pictures, to Millet and Sargent.

Mrs. Tuttle, violinist, repeated her success of last year in her finished, artistic playing of a florid Scandinavian composition, and as an encore played the Sextette from "Lucia."

TUFTS AFTER FRUIT THIEVES

In an endeavor to stamp out orchard and fruit theft, District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts has notified all chiefs of police of Middlesex County to report to him any cases of operators of motor vehicles who are apprehended in connection with the unlawful taking of fruit, vegetables, garden truck, etc. Several cases have already been reported and the names of the operators turned over to the Highway Commission in the State House. Drastic action in the form of revocation of licenses of operators will undoubtedly do much toward curbing the theft.

How Wrong Telephone Calls May Be Avoided

About 90,000 times every day telephone subscribers in Greater Boston start a call and abandon it before it is completed; that is, they hang up the receiver before getting an answer.

In some cases the person called is slow in answering. In other cases the person calling decides the call is not desired.

The result is that thousands of subscribers are needlessly kept waiting at, or called to, the telephone.

Care in connection with this matter will reduce the number of such futile calls and assist in maintaining good telephone service.

SEEN AND HEARD AROUND TOWN

Another thing I have heard repeatedly is that there should be a curfew law in town. Now the writer of this column has seven children, the oldest 21 and the youngest 9, and I agree with these people in the need of one.

The colored people of Winchester, so I am informed, own a nice lot of land adjoining the North Winchester playground which they want the town to take, and at the same time have the town give them the school and lot which they are now using for a church in exchange. From what I saw of both proposals, the town is getting the best of it, and should snap it up.

Also, the Park Board will ask for money this season to put the playground at North Winchester in shape. For the past four years this place has been used as a garden by our Italian and other citizens.

The tennis courts, if money is to be appropriated for them, will be placed at the lower end of Manchester Field. Although the old tennis grounds on Palmer street could be fixed up at a great deal less expense and would be more exclusive.

I heard a remark made the other day that the Selectmen should not grant taxi licenses to every one that applies for them. The criticism was this: he said there are three or four men there who make it their regular business, and as this business does not amount to so very much, outsiders should not be allowed to get a license and come and go when they see fit.

Talking about the schools, which we always have with us, did you people know we have one of the best teachers of music in the state here in Winchester. In Mr. Grant the town is fortunate to have such a man, and the scholars take more interest than they ever did in his work. I can see the improvement myself in my three little girls, who never took much interest before.

While speaking of town employees, there is one man employed by the Highway Department who earns all he gets and then some. This man is John Hannon, the blacksmith at the town yard. He is never idle and many times he has to put in overtime. I don't know what they pay him, but the Selectmen see that he gets enough and keep him there.

More next week.

Winchester had its first real snow storm Sunday, when a storm opening during the morning left over an inch of snow. During the evening the storm turned into sleet and then rain which continued until Wednesday. This disposed of the snow, but the high wind Tuesday did some damage about town by blowing down tree limbs and wires. A large tree was blown down during this wind at the rear of Mr. Harry Pickering's house on Washington street.

Proposed War Memorial on Manchester Field.

PROPOSED WAR MEMORIAL ON MANCHESTER FIELD

At the last town meeting it was voted:

That a permanent war memorial be erected to the citizens of Winchester who, as members of the military and naval forces of the United States or, as members of other war work service overseas, participated in the recent world war;

That the memorial be in the form of a building especially adapted to athletic and recreational purposes, with a memorial entrance and approach, in which shall be rooms set apart for the special use of the local Post of the American Legion;

That it shall be erected, if possible, on the north side of Manchester Field;

That it shall be erected as soon as practicable;

That it shall be paid for by the Town;

That it shall be maintained by the Town, with such assistance from the Post of the American Legion as may be deemed equitable and just;

That a committee of five be appointed by the Moderator to prepare plans, secure a site for, and an estimate of the cost of the erection and equipment of said building, said committee to report at the next annual Town meeting, or at any earlier special Town meeting;

That there be raised and appropriated from revenue the sum of $2000., to be expended under the direction of said committee;

NO SPECIAL MEETING

Selectmen Do Not Consider Public Welfare Involved in Moving Picture Argument

At a special meeting of the Board of Selectmen held last Friday evening it was voted not to grant the petition of the directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., including a list of some 1600 odd names, for a special town meeting to gain an expression of public opinion in regard to the granting of a motion picture license.

The petition is reported to date to contain about 1800 names of Winchester residents, although this number was not contained on the list presented to the Board. Previous to its presentation opposition to the granting of a license had been voiced by another group of residents.

In refusing the petition the Selectmen were largely influenced by economic conditions. The great influx of new voters this fall wiped out the appropriation provided for election and registration expenses. The Board has the right to overdraw the appropriation if public welfare and necessity requires, but it does not class the petition under this head. The following letter in answer to the petition has been made public:

Winchester, Mass.

November 27, 1920.

The Directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc.

Gentlemen:

The Selectmen have considered the petition which you presented on November 22, requesting a special town meeting "in order that the Town may express itself in regard to the granting of a license for the Winchester Theatre, Inc., without delay."

At the last annual meeting the Town voted to request the Selectmen not to grant a license for a moving picture show. The petition which you submit indicates that numerous citizens desire to express themselves again on the subject. The Selectmen believe that those wishing to vote again should be given a reasonable opportunity to do so and propose to insert an appropriate article for that purpose in the warrant for the next annual meeting in March.

The Selectmen are authorized by law in their discretion to call special meetings, but believe it would be unwise to call a special meeting at this time. It cannot be fairly said that there is any emergency requiring it. Assuming that the voters would reverse their former judgment because of the advantages claimed for the present plan of conducting a moving picture theatre, a delay of a few weeks could hardly be regarded as injurious to the public welfare.

That the charge, control, and construction of said memorial and its custody and care after construction shall be in a board of trustees, as provided for by Chapter 61 of the General Acts of 1919.

The committee, in compliance with said vote, have had preliminary plans and a model of the proposed building prepared.

The model and the plans are on exhibition through the courtesy of the Edward T. Harrington Co., in their office window, corner of Church and Common streets. It is hoped that every one will take the opportunity to go in and inspect them. There are photographs and plans on view at a number of other places in town.

It is the desire of the Committee in stating this early the progress made, to provide ample opportunity for everyone to see the model and the plans. The Committee will be glad of any constructive criticism or suggestions, which could fairly be said to come within the intent of the vote.

The photographs and plans which are reproduced herewith show a building about 200 feet long by 54 feet wide with a central front portion 90 feet by 55 feet. This proposed building is located on the northerly end of Manchester Field fronting on and about 180 feet back from Waterfield Road and between the Railroad and the River, thus leaving open and unobstructed all of the field now used for athletic purposes.

The site for the building offers a pleasing combination of trees, river and bridges with the large open playground of the field to the south and rear. It comprises in all approximately two and one-half acres and the Metropolitan Park Commission will give without cost the perpetual use thereof to the town, so that the cost of a suitable location can be eliminated and all the money used for the building and development of the grounds.

The Committee have not yet secured an estimate of the cost of the erection and equipment of said building.

The building is constructed of reinforced concrete. It will be first-class fireproof construction throughout, reducing cost of maintenance and depreciation to the lowest terms; in fact, in its dignified appearance, its solidity and simplicity of design the Committee hope that like the Roman monuments of old, this structure may serve a useful purpose for a thousand years to come.

The larger portion of the building is devoted, as a glance at the plans will show, to community interests, i.e., the stadium seating 8000 facing the playground will be used by the community in viewing athletic contests, out of door pageants, fireworks, etc. The pavilions are designed as locations for the music at the band concerts or any orchestral out of door affairs—particular mention should be made of the parking space for canoes near the easterly pavilion which is made by widening the river at this point.

A much needed foot-bridge from the Parkway to the Field is also shown as a part of this development.

Under the stadium are shower baths, toilets and locker accommodations for use in connection with the playground. In addition thereto there is ample space for such athletic and recreational purposes as may be desired.

On the second floor of the portion of the building fronting Waterfield road, the community spirit of the memorial is further expressed by devoting the entire area to a Community Hall seating between five and six hundred with ample stage, dressing rooms, coat rooms, etc. Over the coat rooms there is a balcony. The hall is easily reached from the main lobby on the ground floor without passing through other portions of the building. In addition, on the ground floor are suitably planned quarters for the local Post of the Legion, arranged around the heart or central hall in which it is proposed to express by tablets, flags and trophies, the dignified and reverent manner the services which the citizens of Winchester, who, as members of the United States, or as members of other war work service overseas rendered in the recent world war. For those who made the supreme sacrifice, such a spot and such a building reverently dedicated and used by the community and especially by the children of this and future generations may serve to embody in a permanent way their and our feelings of honor, sacrifice and patriotism.

Roland H. Sherman,
Chairman.

OFFICER FARRELL TOOK LEATHER THIEVES

While on his way home at 5 a. m. Sunday morning officer Farrell of the local police force noticed two men in the vicinity of the Sand Hill section carrying parcels and bags. Owing to their suspicious appearance, officer Farrell took them to the police station, where they were found to be carrying an attractive assortment of sole and fancy leathers.

The men gave their names as Tony Tarrel and Antonio Mauques, both of Woburn. The Woburn police were notified and the men were identified with the theft of valuable leather from the firm of Thayer-Foss Co. of that city. WINCHESTER THEATRE, INC.

STATEMENT OF DIRECTORS

No Expense for Ballot to the Town

Upon the receipt of the letter of the Board of Selectmen which is published by it in another column, the Board of Directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., held a meeting at which all were present.

In view of the facts that the option on the real estate must be accepted on or before December 18th and that this company now has the endorsement of over 1500 citizens both of the project and of action without delay the Directors unanimously agreed that the matter ought not to be deferred until the March town meeting.

Members of the Board of Selectmen have said repeatedly that they have been and would be bound in acting upon the granting of a license by the opinion of a majority of the voters of the town. This is reaffirmed by the proposition in their letter to insert an appropriate article in the warrant for the next annual meeting. It is recognized also that the many features entitling this particular interest to consideration in the granting of a license did not exist or apply last March.

It should be fully understood that any vote either in the past or future, whether in town meeting or by ballot, is merely the sense of the meeting or an expression of opinion and has no legal effect or standing, the granting of a license being entirely in the hands of the Board of Selectmen.

We, however, appreciating the desirability of having an expression of the registered voters of the town in view of the previous vote and realizing the difficulties of a special town meeting at this time believe that it will be most satisfactory to all concerned to secure such an expression by ballot, and therefore we presented certain questions to the Selectmen last Monday night which are embodied in the following votes:

Winchester, Mass., November 29, 1920

I, Robert F. Guild, Clerk of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., hereby certify that at a meeting of the directors of said corporation duly called and held this day, the following votes were passed, to wit:

"VOTED: That the president of this corporation be instructed forthwith to apply in its name and behalf for a license to maintain a motion picture theatre in Winchester in accordance with Revised Laws, chapter 102, section 172 et seq.

"VOTED: That the officers of this corporation, in response to the letter received from the Board of Selectmen under date of November 27, 1920, appear in person before said Board at its next meeting on November 29, 1920, and request said Board to call an informal meeting of the registered voters of the town to ballot, "Yes" or "No" upon the allowance of the petition of this corporation for a license to maintain a motion picture theatre in the town of Winchester.

"VOTED: That, failing to receive an affirmative answer to the request contained in the foregoing vote, the Selectmen be requested to grant to the corporation the use of the town hall on a date to be designated, for the purpose of obtaining an expression of opinion by ballot from the registered voters of the town upon the question of granting a license for a motion picture theatre to the corporation, with the understanding that the subsequent action of the Board of Selectmen upon the petition of the corporation for such license shall be governed by the result of the ballot.

JOHNSTON—LAWSON

Mr. James Leslie Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston of Fletcher street, was united in marriage on Saturday, November 27th to Miss Lillian Bates Lawson of Cambridge. The ceremony took place at 7:30 in the evening at the home of the Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The couple were attended by Miss Jeannette Nielson of Cambridge and Mr. George Warren Johnston, brother of the groom. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the groom at which the immediate relatives were present.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will make their home at 922 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

STATE AND LOCAL CENSORSHIP

The following letter was sent in to be presented at last night's meeting of the League of Women Voters at the High School:

Winchester, December 1, 1920.

To Mrs. D. C. Dennett, President, Winchester League of Women Voters

In your invitation issued to one of our directors to attend your meeting on December 2nd and "represent our side of the case" there seems to be a presumption that our plan of censorship is in conflict with the proposed State censorship. On the contrary, we are heartily in favor of State censorship and if a motion is offered at your meeting endorsing it, such a motion will have our unqualified approval.

We are working along the same lines, but the committee, of which Mr. Clark is chairman, in endeavoring to obtain State censorship has expressed itself as being limited to "undertaking to secure a minimum standard of decency and morality for all cities and towns," while we are undertaking to secure a maximum standard of decency and morality for Winchester.

Our mutual efforts are, therefore, in accord; there is no conflict in either undertaking or accomplishment, and while the strictest censorship established in Winchester may not materially affect the larger issue, State censorship will certainly be an advantage to us as well as to every other city and town in the State.

MASSACHUSETTS LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS BAZAAR

The entertainment for Monday afternoon and evening, December 6, has been selected with special thought of giving pleasure to children. The program has been provided by the Brookline League and will comprise two performances of the marionettes by Tony Sarg, whose former partner and associate, Miss Lillian Owen has been secured for this occasion. Miss Owen will give "Jack and the Bean Stalk" at the afternoon performance, and at 8 o'clock in the evening will give a triple bill, first number "Hynd and Horn," second, "Gentle Alice Brown," third "Mini," an old Italian puppet of 300 years ago. The other entertainment will be an illustrated talk on "Gardens and Gardening" by Mr. Underwood, the well-known expert on gardening.

Wednesday afternoon, December 8, Bridge and duplicate whist tables will fill the foyer of the Copley-Plaza Hotel, where the bazaar is to be held and exceptionally beautiful prizes have been offered.

Owing to the number of social functions announced for Wednesday evening the bazaar ball has been postponed to January 28, under the same patronesses and under the auspices of Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr., chairman of the ball committee.

The bazaar opens at 10 o'clock on Monday, December 6 and closes at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening. The pecuniary result will be used by the League to carry on its work, in education, citizenship and child welfare.

The most convincing proof that leagues of women voters have come to stay is shown by the phenomenal growth of the Boston League in only a few months to a membership of 1818. It is a recognized force in city politics.

CHRISTMAS FOR THE POOR

The Overseers of the Poor solicit contributions of money, clothing anything wearable as usual from those charitably disposed, for the purpose of giving to deserving poor a little of the holiday cheer that always abounds at Christmas time, and also make the suggestion and request that those residents of the town who contemplate giving Christmas dinners to needy families send them such information, it being felt that by such co-operation duplicates will be avoided and a more even distribution be made.

It is particularly requested that contributions be sent in early, so that the committee can have ample time to make their plans; co-operating with the girl scouts, and others, two parties have been arranged for more than 100 children. Liberal contributions are solicited.

If you desire the names of any families who would welcome a dinner, the list may be obtained by addressing Dr. S. T. Cutter at the Town Hall, who will accept contributions, furnish names or any information desired.

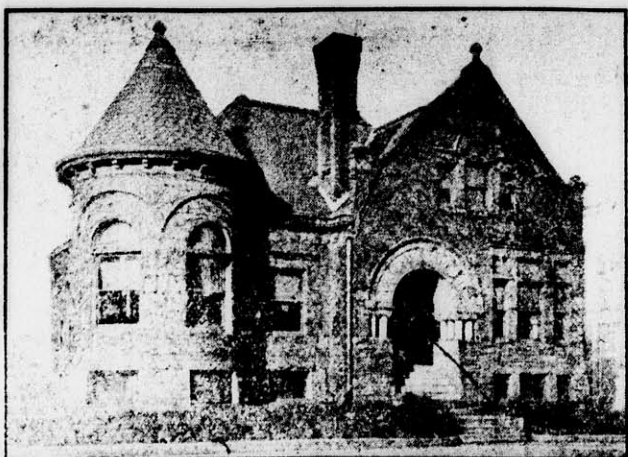

Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols co-operating in the above, will send for any bundles upon request or notice to Dr. Cutter. Telephone 660. Send today.

special meeting would not fairly represent the sentiment of the Town and that a year and may vote at such a meeting would be misleading. The only fair method of determining the question is by ballot. Voting by ballot in conjunction with the election of town officers at the next March meeting may be arranged for, if the citizens so desire. It is hardly feasible, if possible, to undertake voting by ballot at this time, because it would inconvenience numerous voters and involve an expense for which there is no appropriation and no legal authority.

The Selectmen have voted not to grant the petition.

Yours truly,

Arthur A. Kidder,
James A. Blackham,
George M. Byrne,
Joseph A. Dolben,
William L. Parsons,

Selectmen of Winchester.
By George S. F. Bartlett,

Clerk.
In response to the action of the Selectmen it is reported that the Directors of the corporation appeared before the Board on Monday night and asked that a day be set aside and tellers be appointed for the purpose of securing such public opinion by ballot as had been asked for, the corporation to stand the burden of expense. The Selectmen have not yet acted upon this request.

CHAPIN SCHOOL NOTES

The Civic League of the Chapin School held their monthly meeting, Wednesday, November 24th.

A short business meeting was held at which time reports of the following officers from each grade were read: Housekeepers, Captains, Traffic Officers, Tardy Club Captain.

Special mention was made along certain lines; this being especially true of the tardy club report. Grade four having not one tardy mark for the month, was awarded one half hour early dismissal.

The entertainment for the month was furnished by grade four. It consisted of a play in two acts, Act 1. Landing of the Pilgrims; Act 2. The First Thanksgiving.

Entertainment for the school children at Unitarian Church Fair, Tuesday, December 7, at 2 and 5.50 p. m. Grabs and ice cream.

erned by the majority of the votes cast, such vote to be in the form and the meeting to be conducted in such way as the Board of Selectmen shall approve.

A true copy of record, Attest:

Robert F. Guild,

Clerk, Winchester Theatre, Inc.

The petition for a license was presented in order that it should be of record, to be laid on the table until an expression of the voters should be obtained. The first motion needs no detailed explanation.

By the second request the petitioners offer to assume all the expenses in securing a vote. This completely settles the question of expense to the Town, for which there is no appropriation. There is no question as to the ballot being the most satisfactory method of getting a definite expression and on a "yes" or "no" form the time required for each citizen to vote and the effort and inconvenience of voting are reduced to a minimum. The Selectmen will decide, supervise and control every detail of the process including form of ballot and notice of meeting, the check list will undoubtedly be used and the regular tellers employed, so that in every way it will be a fair and impartial referendum.

This opportunity, we believe, the citizens, whether for or against should have now and not three months hence when it would be difficult to renew negotiations now completed. (The Selectmen's letter says "A delay of a few weeks." This is undoubtedly merely a typographical error.)

For the purpose intended, namely an expression of the registered voters of the town to give the Selectmen in the matter of granting a license this method is as desirable, as legal and as impressive as a vote at town meeting, and by having the matter settled now individual citizens, the Selectmen and the petitioners are relieved of further uncertainty and the responsibility of a decision is placed upon the voters.

The very great advantage of an immediate referendum is that a vote will be had upon a single clearly defined issue, free from entanglements with other issues or personalities. The almost inevitable result of delay until the annual meeting would be to make this question a political issue which would be most unfortunate.

CATHEDRAL IS NOW ADVERTISED AT MOVIES

Editor of the Star:

The following may be of interest to readers of the Star.

Grace Cathedral in Topeka, Kan., is advertising in the moving picture houses with films of the different activities in the parish, such as the congregation leaving the church; the Girls' Friendly Society Cottage; the choir and procession; Bethany College and the girls leaving for church attendance at the cathedral, and scenic pictures of the grounds.

These pictures are run three times daily. The moving picture houses run the film a week in each house. The pictures are very beautiful, and have attracted wide attention. Along with the pictures is certain printed material to acquaint the mind of the non-church going people with the cause of the Gospel of Christ. It is planned to run these pictures for a year.—Churchman, New York.

ECHOES OF K. OF C. BAZAAR

The final meeting of the general committee of the K. of C. Bazaar was held Friday evening at the K. of C. home on Vine street. The final report showed that the bazaar was a financial success, the amount of money realized was over $5,000. A great spirit of friendly rivalry was shown by the four different tables, the ladies in charge having worked hard all through the summer months to make this affair a success. Table number two in charge of Mrs. Richard Glendon had the most successful financial result being well in the lead in the amount of money raised.

The tables were in charge of Miss Nellie Sullivan, Mrs. Richard Glendon, Mrs. John McNally and Miss Annie Haggerty.

The members of Winchester Council are loud in their praise of these ladies for their work in this bazaar. The members of the committee extend to all the people who so kindly gave their assistance in making the bazaar a success their sincere thanks. The money raised will be used to renovate the property of the Council on Vine street.

THE FOOTBALL SITUATION

Editor of the Star:

The following excerpt is from an editorial in the "Boston Traveler," published November 29th, and dealing with the football fatalities for the season just past. Eleven players lost their lives this year, an increase of some four or five over 1919, and the "Traveler's" comment thereon should interest all of us who have the best interests of our high school players at heart.

Analysis of the football fatalities this year, however, shows that practically all the fatal accidents occurred in high schools or smaller colleges, where the players may be assumed to have had inadequate drilling in the rules of the game and insufficient physical training. One of the victims was a lad of 19, whose skull was fractured in a "sand lot" game. Not a single player on any eleven representing one of the larger universities lost his life the past season.

Unquestionably football is working better under the new rules which make it an open game instead of a succession of scrimmages. But it is not a perfectly safe game for boys to play without qualified coaches to direct their practice and oversee their games.
Parents have a duty to their sons who play football, to demand that proper training and supervision be provided.

And those graduates of a school who retain their enthusiasm for football would do well, as many of them now do, to furnish the wherewithal for hiring expert coaches, such as few school teams are able to have without such assistance.

The connection between the above article and the eleven that represented Winchester on the gridiron this fall should be apparent to any who have seen the latter in their games.
If ever a team was poorly coached and supervised it was this year's aggregation. Lack of coaching stood out all over their play. It was a sorry sight in every scrimmage to see players with the best will in the world running helplessly about for lack of knowledge of what they should have been doing. It was a sorry sight to watch a boy seemingly with absolutely no idea of how to tackle a man try to stop a runner in a broken field, and it was fairly pathetic to follow a back bucking the line and see him try to plow through half his own team as well as that of the opposition. Small wonder if he failed to make his distance.

The team this fall apparently had little or no knowledge of football fundamentals. Practice in falling on the ball, tackling, passing, interfering, catching punts, running back punts, etc., must have been indulged in only at very infrequent intervals, and it is safe to say that no eleven that is not at least fairly well rounded in these rudiments will ever get far on the road to winning football.

Winchester might have had a nice little team this fall, a team that would distinctly have been a credit to the school and town, instead of one that was able to win only two or three games out of its entire schedule.
Around players like Captain Ryan, Mathews, Tansey, Winer, Hartwell and "Bob" Hart could have been built a team that should have held its own with any of the teams played with the exception of those representing Waltham, Salem, and Watertown.
Watertown had to be played because of its being in the Mystic League, but there is no excuse for Winchester's going out of its class to play teams like the other two named. Winchester's material was good enough to have played successfully against schools of its own strength, but material without coaching is like an automobile without "gas"; it won't go.

It should be understood that the foregoing remarks about coaching do not apply to that time when Leon Tuck was coaching the team. Tuck knows football from the ground up and the difference in the team's all around play was noticeable as soon as he took hold, but it was impossible for him in two weeks' time to do the work that should fill an entire season.

Mr. Ring who had charge of the team this fall as a "teacher-coach" to succeed Mr. Schuster should not be blamed too much for the team's poor showing. He and Mr. Higbee did the best they could, and worked hard all fall, but it is impossible to impart to others knowledge that one hasn't got himself. And it shouldn't be forgotten that there have been more boys playing football here this fall than for many years past. The coaches should be given all the credit in the world for this.

Winchester has tried out the "teacher-coach" idea, tried it out thoroughly, and judging by the results it has been found woefully wanting.
There seem to be few individuals who are both capable teachers and able athletic instructors and those few who are at home in both fields demand larger salaries than we can pay here.
It would seem advisable to get coaches to do our coaching and teachers to do our teaching rather than to try and combine the two. The successful instructors of the past few years have been hired only to look after their athletic specialties. "Jim" Crowley,
"Bill" Young, and "Doc" Sexton are among those who might be named.
The writer believes that had Sexton had the present high school team in charge he would at the very worst have won half the games played.

And the boys should have a coach as good as he. Aside from the fact that to win games you must have good coaching there is a far greater reason for having the boys here in town well tutored in football. The newspaper article above shows that it is the poorly coached football player, the boy who is not properly trained and supervised that is most susceptible to serious injury. It is more "bull" luck than anything else that Winchester High has not had some of its players badly hurt in the past two seasons.

If a town like Winchester can't afford to properly coach and equip its high school football team then we had better cut out the game entirely.
Small credit is accruing to either the town or school under the present system. However it seems as though suitable means could be provided so that the three sports now fostered at the high school: football, baseball and basketball, could be properly supervised. Until such time as they are we will never have a "winner" here and what is more to the point, the danger of some boy being seriously injured will never be very far distant.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Miss Jane Davis of the Wadleigh School has been appointed by the School Committee Director of Immigrant Education. In this capacity she will have charge of the work in Americanization under Chapter 297 of the General Acts of 1919. In general she will have supervision of such classes as have been formed and may be formed for the study of English among the adult immigrants. About thirty men and women are already enrolled at the Chapin School. Miss Davis is planning to organize several other classes; among them, one for Swedish girls employed in household work, one for Italian women and one or more shop classes for men.
The expense of this work will be shared by the State, as the act provides that on approval by the State Board of Education one half of the sum expended shall be paid to the town or city making the expenditure.
The instruction given in these classes will be in the English language, in the fundamental principles of government and in other subjects adapted to fit the pupils for American citizenship.
Classes may be held in public school buildings, in industrial establishments or in such other places as may be approved by the local School Committee.
This act is intended to provide for the education of persons over twenty-one years of age who are unable to speak, read and write the English language.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The man who is always finding fault never thinks of looking for it around home.

The man who never slows up for a crossing dies only a little quicker than the man who slows up for a little recreation.

The vacations are now about over and it will take only a couple of weeks to get us into as good shape as we were before we went.

Don't be deceived by a boaster, you can't tell by the noise a man makes driving up on the scales how good his hay is.

It is growing more and more evident that our new building laws, provided by considerable time and expense, are not meeting with approval. Not only this but they are not proving practical. And it is said that through some change made after the approval by the Attorney General, our Board of Appeal has no authority to render a decision or to act. In fact as time progresses the number of residents who would like to see the old laws back again is constantly growing. It was reported at a recent gathering of a town organization that of the number of citizens who voted to accept these laws, hardly five per cent. knew what they were voting for. Another statement made was that it was almost impossible to erect a middle class dwelling here at a cost of less than $14,000. It is said that the walls of a new house must be as thick as the foundation walls, that it is necessary to excavate so much space to comply with the rule requiring an outside inspection of a cellar wall that foundation costs are almost doubled, etc., etc. Nor are these matters the only portion over which a question is raised. The new laws are said to be so drastic that one of the largest developments the town has yet seen will be halted and abandoned unless some means of remedying conditions is shortly found. The Winchester Board of Trade has taken the matter up and will probably hold a discussion on the situation at its next meeting, and it is said that architects in town are to open the matter at the annual town meeting. Surely the laws are voluminous enough, possibly too much so, and apparently no expense has been spared in their preparation, but if these laws are to curtail all new construction and the development of desirable residential property, they should be opened up again and the objectionable features eliminated.

The Town of Winchester has before it at this time one of the most important problems in its history—that of determining some form and method for town meeting procedure. With the admittance of women voters the number of eligible residents permitted to take part in town affairs and participate in town meeting number over 4000. As our only available hall admits but 1000 persons, it will be seen that we can accommodate but a quarter of our voters. The law provides for a divisional or sectional town meeting for places numbering over 12,000, but smaller places must at present secure such form by a special act of the Legislature. Our Board of Selectmen have taken up the matter and doubtless some report will be made public before long; but at all events it is very probable that we will see at least one meeting before any modified form is adopted.

At a special meeting last Friday night the Selectmen acted to postpone the bringing of the question of motion pictures in Winchester before the people for a show-down. The Board was actuated in its decision to allow the matter to set for the next three months for economical reasons, the doubling of our voting strength eating up all available funds. The decision therefore was taken, that as the matter did not vitally affect the welfare of the town, it would remain to be decided at the annual town meeting. The promoters of the project for the erection of a theatre have met this decision by an offer to defray the expense of securing a town-wide expression of opinion, and on this phase of the question the Selectmen have as yet taken no action. The Selectmen's point seems well taken. On the other hand the promoters are holding an option on a desirable piece of property which will expire before the March meeting, and it is quite obvious that the financial end of their project will come to a standstill until the matter is settled. An expression of public opinion favorable to the acceptance of a motion picture theatre does not at that settle the question, for the Selectmen may, at their option, grant or refuse the license. The matter is one which has aroused warm debate and both sides are headed by strong supporters. Of course if the question is delayed until March, all of the present Board will be called upon to take a stand.

A rumor has been circulated that someone not connected with the schools collected recently certain information concerning a warmly debated local question from the children of the Wadleigh School during the time the school was in session. We are informed this is not true. The school authorities do not allow those not connected with the school organization to make investigations among the children while they are under school authority.

Marriage is a great stabilizer. Many people here in Winchester and elsewhere with whom The Spectator has discussed the matter feel that the worst of the extravagance that has unsettled economic conditions so seriously has been due to reckless spending by unmarried young people, particularly the young men. During the late scarcity of factory labor, many fellows scarcely of age earned a great deal more money than their own dads used to get. Having no responsibilities, they threw money right and left and are still throwing it. All this unnecessary spending causes a bad upsetting of the country's business, as one Winchester observer has put it: "As soon as these young fellows get married, a lot of them begin to see the necessity of thrift and settle down to business. If they had only been able to see beyond their noses, they would have begun the practice of thrift when money came easy, with so little demanded of them in the way of necessities."

No more is the prune a term of derision—no more anathema to every boarding-house patron in Winchester and elsewhere. The lowly prune is now a dish for kings and a standby of dietitians. Six for breakfast each morning will head off the need for calomel, castor oil, or kidney pills! With a frothy whip superimposed, a dish to set before royalty. Every prune is a plum. But not every plum can become a prune. And if you doubt that it is a superior grade of plums, indeed, that become the prunes of commerce, ask any grocer in Winchester the price of prunes today.

A Winchester man who whenever he says anything says something worth while says that if more people followed the bankers' advice for women, trustees and elderly people to avoid common stocks of any enterprise, there would be less wrecked finances in modest homes. The fundamental point is that common stocks are risks which only the wealthy person or the man actively engaged in business can afford to take.

The Italian socialists who seized all the factories in the iron and steel line in Italy are called "moderate" because they proposed to have the Italian Parliament legalize their seizure of the property of the rightful owners. That is the same as if the Socialists of this country should seize all our factories and then propose to have Congress pass an act legalizing their seizures of property. If that is moderate socialistic action in Italy The Spectator is a bit curious to know what "radical" action would be like.

In the notice of your meeting there are two expressions which perhaps might create an erroneous impression; undoubtedly they will be made clear either by Mr. Clark or yourself. The first is that this committee is termed "The State Committee on Motion Pictures" which sounds as if it had authority either by appointment or legislation from the Commonwealth. The committee explains itself as "An association of individuals and organizations," and its interest is purely voluntary. The second is that your invitation says that your guests "will hear why local censorship is not adequate." Does not this mean that varying forms of censorship in each city or town are not adequate protection for the whole State? If so, the sentence seems incomplete and might be misunderstood to apply especially to Winchester.

Mr. Clark will doubtless make it clear that not only do the various forms of local censorship fail to constitute an effective and complete State-wide censorship, but that many of them are inadequate for local protection. Of this there is no doubt and it was with this fact constantly in mind that our plan was worked out. This was possible only because it was established in conjunction with the formation of a new corporation which voluntarily binds itself permanently by its by-laws to arbitrary outside control in this particular.

With local control in both the Directorate and stock ownership in a town which will demand only the best, and only the best will pay, the usual conflict between an arbitrary censorship and a purely commercial interest is therefore avoided.

No constructive criticisms have been ignored in the formation of our plan and certainly the effects of other forms of censorship cannot be said to apply, at least until our plan has been given a fair trial.

The adoption and operation of State censorship will not interfere with our local censorship but films which have been passed by the State will still be subject to the high standard of our local censorship.

It is expected that this statement will be shown to Mr. Clark before his lecture, and read at the proper time to the meeting.

Respectfully yours,

The name of Mr. Otto Abrahamson appearing on the list of last week was an error which we hasten to correct and which we regret. It occurred in connection with receiving the signatures in favor of two members of his family, Anne L. Abrahamson and Olga A. Abrahamson.

Spread of Bathing in Europe.

Bathing came to Europe as one of the good results of the Crusades. The Knights of the Cross found baths in general use among the Saracens, and seeing what good things they were, on returning from those wars took the initiative for their introduction. In this they were highly successful first in England and from that to other countries. So popular did the bath become that it became customary to have one before ceremonies such as marriage or knighthood, and the people have been ever since learning the value of keeping their skins clean.

Ravages of Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is a house disease. As Doctor Aitken says: "The stabled cow, the penned sheep, the tamed rabbit, the monkey, the caged lion, the tiger or the elephant, are almost invariably cut off by tuberculosis affection." This disease has existed from remote antiquity, and if one estimates the number of lives it has cost he can form some conception of the terrible price humanity has paid to learn that men and animals need pure air instead of poison to breathe.

MOVIES ONCE MORE

Editor of the Star:

After scrutinizing very carefully the illuminating articles that appeared in the Star last week in regard to moving pictures in Winchester. I am firmly convinced that this beautiful residential suburb, eight miles from the gilded dome, will be a much better place without the movies.

At the present time our industrial center is congested. Why add to the congestion? Consider what the results might be in case of a conflagration on the west side of the railroad tracks with a slow-moving freight train in the center, the fire apparatus on the east side of the tracks, the electric cars, automobiles, and last but not least the theatre crowd on the west side of the tracks.

These are the problems that confront us at the present time, and to my mind they must be remedied before we can safely consider the problem of erecting a theatre in the center of the town. In my opinion the town of Winchester will gain more without the movies than it will with them. No resident will leave town because his or her children cannot be over-stimulated in a moving picture theatre. Let us remember the children constitute the nation's most valuable asset. The full responsibility of the government should be recognized by such measures as will protect the health of every child at birth and during its immature years. It must be one of the chief functions of the nation through effective legislation to put an immediate end to the shameless pictures that are exhibited in the various theatres throughout the country. They have a tendency to poison the mind, so to speak, of the immature child.

Now, Mr. Editor, the readers of the Star have read what the eminent physicians of Harvard University have said in regard to over-stimulation; the clergy is opposed to the movies; they are on the watch tower; shall we cooperate with them? Certainly. Why? Because when we enter this world and leave it, as a rule our spiritual and medical advisers are present at our bedside, hence we should manifest a little patience and heed their counsel between the two periods, namely, life and death.

In conclusion I thank you, Mr. Editor for the above space. If the Selectmen deem it advisable to hold a special meeting I shall certainly arise and inform the voters assembled what effect I believe the movies, cigarettes and lolly-pops will have on the future generations. I remain, Yours very truly,

Patrick H. Craughwell.

MR. ABRAHAMSON NOT A PETITIONER

21 Sheffield Road,
Winchester, Mass.

Editor of the Star:

I am attaching hereto copy of a letter which I have sent to the Board of Selectmen which is self-explanatory.

I shall expect in your next issue that you will retract the statement made last week that I am in favor of or have petitioned for a movie house in the town. I am absolutely opposed to any such license being granted and feel that an unwarranted liberty has been taken with my name in my absence.

Yours very truly,
Otto Abrahamson.

November 30, 1920.

Board of Selectmen, Town of Winchester, Mass.
Gentlemen:

I noticed in the Winchester Star of November 26th that I am supposed to have petitioned your Board for the granting of a license to some individual or corporation who desire to open a moving picture house and my name was attached to that petition without my knowledge or consent, in fact, I knew nothing whatever about the movement having been West for several weeks.

I wish to go on record with you as being absolutely opposed to any such proposition.

I would respectfully suggest that if the parties back of this undertaking are so unscrupulous as to use a man's name in his absence that it might be well for your Board to investigate the genuineness of the other signatures attached to the said petition before you grant any hearings or take any favorable action on the undertaking.

Respectfully yours,
Otto Abrahamson.

GLENDON-SULLIVAN

Mr. George J. Glendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Glendon of Lake street, was united in marriage on Thanksgiving morning at nuptial mass to Miss Bertha Margaret Sullivan of Worcester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan of 74 Warner avenue, that city. The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock by Rev. Fr. McLaughlin at St. Stephen's Church.

Mr. Luke P. Glendon of this town, the groom's brother, was best man, and Miss Catherine Sullivan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

The bride wore a suit of taupe velvet trimmed with nutria collar and a brown picture hat with pink plumes. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of blue silvertone with seal collar, and she wore a hat of peacock blue panne velvet.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the wedding party and guests at the Hotel Bancroft, Worcester, after which the couple left on a wedding trip.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Last week Mrs. Hamilton, as president of Middlesex County, assisted by Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, State W. C. T. U. president, organized a new union in Weston, whose development is due to the missionary work of Miss Laura Jones, president of Wellesley Union. This is the first Union organized in the county for some time, nearly all the others dating back to the nineteenth century, no less than fourteen having been started in the seventies, three in 1874, two in '75, and four in '76, the year of Winchester's beginning. The crusade was in the very last of 1873 so it may be seen how forward Middlesex county was in the movement.

Temperance people generally are rejoicing over the complexion of the next Congress. The session promises to be "extra dry" as Massachusetts and California are almost alone in their condition of dampness. In this connection it may be well to refer to the issue of the Survey for November 6, which is devoted to a study of the effects of prohibition in a typical industrial city, Grand Rapids, Michigan. If anyone needs to be convinced he should read this review called "Prohibition and Prosperity" and realize what a change has come over that section under the dry regime.

The two days' fair and sale by the Italian Y. P. B. was a great success; a number of Winchester friends went in to the supper and a generous contribution of articles for the sale evinced the interest of the Union and friends.

THE PLAYERS

Tickets for "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" to be given by The Players in the Town Hall on December 17 are rapidly becoming exhausted. Fortunately the management provided an additional number of choice seats, and it is hoped that all will be accommodated, although the hall admits but 1008 persons. Work on the production is reported progressing very satisfactorily. The cast is exceptional and without question the affair will be the premier event of the winter.

Profit in Coining Money.

The government does not profit at all when gold money is lost, because it has an intrinsic value that is virtually the same as its face value. The profit on lost silver money depends on the cost to the government of the silver that goes into the dollar. When silver is above $1.20 an ounce there is no profit. When it goes below a dollar the profit is considerable. On lost nickels and one-cent pieces the percentage profit is large.

WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1920

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

AN ANSWER TO MR. GUILD'S LETTER

Winchester, Dec. 8, 1920.
Mr. Robert Guild, Clerk,
Winchester Theatre, Inc.

My dear Mr. Guild:
Your letter, read before the Winchester League of Women Voters at the regular meeting December second, and published in the last issue of the Winchester Star, calls for a word of explanation. It is the policy of our organization to discuss at our meetings questions pertaining to the public welfare. As the matter of motion pictures is a vital issue in our community and as there has been some difference of opinion on this subject, I asked Mr. B. Preston Clark, who is amply qualified to speak on motion pictures to present the problem in its broader aspects. As it was desirable to bring various points of view to bear on the situation, a director of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., was asked "to present your side of the case." It had not occurred to me for one moment to presume that your plan for censorship could be in conflict with the proposed state censorship. On the contrary, it is quite obvious to those who have the public interest at heart that state censorship should be of valued assistance to any plan for local supervision of motion pictures.

In the framing of the bill for state censorship, the committee does express itself as undertaking to secure a minimum standard of decency and morality for all cities and towns. It does so on the ground of expediency. All state laws are based on minimum standards. If the motion picture bill passes, these standards will be set by the commissioner of public safety and approved by the governor and his council. These standards may be raised by the people when they so desire.

Mr. Clark was quite willing to clear up any misunderstanding that might exist as to the origin and character of the so-called "State Committee," which does not derive its authority from an appointment or legislation from the Commonwealth, but is "an association of individuals and organizations" with an interest that is "purely voluntary," whose efforts have been endorsed by over 300 state organizations, interested in social welfare.

In the notice of the meeting, the expression "You will hear why local censorship is not adequate" was intended to apply to all cities and towns including Winchester. Perhaps this statement demands an explanation. Unfortunately it has been the common experience of motion picture managers that a maximum standard and even a medium standard of decency and morality does not appeal to the popular taste and is therefore not a paying proposition. For this reason it has been customary to present at least one film of a questionable character on the program of most motion picture theatres. In Arlington the manager of the local theatre protested on one occasion when a committee from the Woman's Club acted as a local board of censors, because the films they selected were "too tame." They would not "attract the crowd." The Exeter Theatre in Boston, is supposed to be of high grade, but even there the maximum standard is often relegated to the background. Without doubting your good intentions, I ask you these two questions: Have you any assurance that the Winchester Theatre will be an exception to the general run of theatres on the basis that "Winchester is a town which will demand only the best, and only the best will pay?" Will the Motion Picture Industry, which claims that state censorship will be detrimental to its business, back you up and encourage you in this enterprise?

Very truly yours,
Elisabeth R. Dennett,
Chairman, Winchester League of Women Voters.

JOHN L. HILDRETH, JR.

John L. Hildreth, Jr., whose death occurred in Bayonne, New Jersey, on December 3, was the eldest son of Dr. John L. Hildreth and the late Achsah B. (Colburn) Hildreth, and the brother of Mrs. Charles E. Barrett and Alfred H. Hildreth.

He was a graduate of Dartmouth, 1892, and of Harvard 1893, and entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but on account of sickness was obliged to leave before finishing his course.

He was a hydraulic engineer by profession, and his work had been largely in connection with the Boston and New York water supply systems and the Passaic Valley sewer. During the war he was engaged in construction work for the Government at Port Newark. At the time of his death he was in the service of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey at the Bayonne plant.

He is survived by a wife and four children.

Funeral services were held Sunday, December 5, at his home in Bayonne and at the same hour at the residence of his father at No. 288 Main street.

TOWN COUNSEL JOSLIN RESIGNS

It is reported that Town Counsel Ralph E. Joslin has tendered his resignation to the Selectmen, the same to take effect upon the appointment of his successor.

BUILDING PERMITS

The following permit has been issued by the Inspector of Buildings for the week ending December 9:
Herbert E. Gleason of Chesterford road. Wood frame dwelling on lot 120, Salisbury road, 28x31 feet.

Mrs. H. M. Lazelle sails for France on Saturday, to visit her mother, who is seriously ill.

SELECTMEN'S REPLY

December 6, 1920.
The Selectmen of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., Winchester, Mass.

Gentlemen:
At the meeting of the Board of Selectmen on November 25th you requested the Selectmen "to call an informal meeting of the registered voters of the town to ballot 'yes' or 'no' upon the allowance of the petition of this corporation for a license to maintain a motion picture theatre." You also asked that failing an affirmative answer your request for an informal meeting, "the Selectmen be requested to grant to the corporation the use of the Town Hall on a date to be designated, for the purpose of obtaining an expression of opinion by ballot from the registered voters of the town." With the understanding that the subsequent action of the Board of Selectmen upon the petition of the corporation for such license shall be governed by the majority of the votes cast, such vote to be in the form and the meeting to be conducted in such way as the Board of Selectmen shall approve.

The Selectmen have voted not to grant your request.
The reasons against a special Town Meeting set forth in the letter to you from the Selectmen of November 25th, apply equally to an informal meeting called by the Selectmen. An informal meeting is also objectionable for other reasons. If the vote on this important subject is to be of substantial assistance to the Selectmen in determining whether a license should be granted, it should be taken at a town meeting called by warrant and duly advertised in accordance with the formalities required by law, in order that there may be no misapprehension on the part of the voters of the importance of the meeting and the duty to attend.

The use of the Town Hall by your corporation for the purpose of obtaining a vote, the Selectmen fear would not produce a result which would be helpful in determining this question. The voting should be conducted by the Town and not directly or indirectly by any corporation whose cause is at stake and the expenses of any meeting, whether formal or informal and whether called by the Selectmen or your corporation, should be borne by the Town and not by anyone having a special interest in the result.

Yours truly,
Arthur A. Kidder,
James W. Blackham,
George M. Bryne,
Joseph A. Dolben,
William L. Parsons,
Selectmen of Winchester.
By George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk.

MR. ALLEN QUESTIONS CENSORSHIP

Editor of Winchester Star:

Dear Sir:
In all statements which I have seen, favorable to the present moving picture project, it has been assumed that there will always be local control of the stock, directors of high standard, and an independent censorship. What security have the public that this will be so?

The Articles of Incorporation fix the authorized capital stock at 2000 shares of preferred stock, par value $100; and 20,000 shares common stock, par value $10. A share of common stock is given equal voting rights with a share of preferred stock.

The directors have stated that to every subscriber for $100 of preferred stock there will be given a bonus of $50 common stock and that it is hoped to sell preferred stock to the amount of $100,000. Of course the directors have a right to withdraw or change this bonus offer at any time; but assuming that it remains open, and assuming that Winchester residents will subscribe the entire $100,000 an assumption which many think will not prove justified, the result will be that Winchester residents will have 1000 votes upon their preferred stock and 5000 votes on their common stock, or at most, a total of 6000 votes in the corporation.

There still remains 15,000 shares of common stock representing 15,000 votes or a control of the corporation to go elsewhere. The promoters do not tell us what is to be done with all this common stock. It is not being offered to the public; it is apparent

REV. GEORGE HALE REED INSTALLED

Rev. George Hale Reed, recently appointed minister at the Unitarian Church, was installed on Monday evening with fitting exercises before a large congregation of parishioners and friends. The exercises were held at the church at eight o'clock. The program was carried through by eight clergymen, two being former ministers of the church and one being minister of the local Congregational church. Rev. Roger S. Forbes of Germantown, Pa., preached the sermon; Rev. William L. Lawrence of Boston, formerly of the local church, gave the charge to the minister; Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of Portland, Me., gave the charge to the people; and Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational church gave the welcome for the Town.

The program was as follows:

Organ Voluntary
Invocation Rev. Louis C. Dethlefs
First Psalm, Medford, Mass.
Hymn No. 376
Thou Lord of Hosts, whose guiding hand
Has brought us here, before thy face
Our spirits wait for thy command,
Our silent hearts implore thy peace.

Those spirits lay their noblest powers
As offerings on the holy shrine;
Thine was the strength that nourished ours;
The soldiers of the cross are thine.

Send us where'er thou wilt, O Lord!
Through rugged toil and wearying fight;
Thy conquering love shall be our sword,
And faith in thee our truest night.

Send down thy constant aid, we pray,
Be thy pure angels with us still;
Thy trust be that our firmest stay;
Our only rest, to do thy will.
—O. B. Frothingham.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

An unusual and beautiful presentation of a Christmas Mystery Play is to be given at the High School Assembly Hall, Wednesday, December 15, at 3.30. Christmas music given by talented and well known musicians will add to the spiritual beauty of the play. No tickets will be sold, but parties are requested to bring a silver offering equal, perhaps, to what they would spend at our annual sale. This is our only opportunity for funds for next year.

Little children may be left in charge of a kindergarten.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending December 9: Lobar pneumonia 1; whooping cough 1; chicken pox 1.

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT

Former Senator Robert M. Washburn is to be the speaker at the smoker for the Calumet men this Saturday evening. A large attendance of members is anticipated.

Winchester received a visit from a real thunder storm Sunday morning, with much noise and a great volume of rain.

INJURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNED

Mrs. Christopher L. Billman of Cabot street, was badly cut and bruised and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Livermore, was scratched and bruised when the Ford sedan in which they were riding became unmanageable and crashed into a stone wall near the Niles estate on Mystic street, Arlington, Monday. The car was wrecked. According to reports of the accident the wheel of the auto, equipped with a locking device whereby it turned without moving the front wheels, was thrown out of connection when the car struck a hole or rut in the road. Before the driver could stop it, the car struck a tree at the side of the street and crashed into the wall.

Mrs. Billman was thrown out of the car and sustained a cut on one leg necessitating 20 stitches. She was taken to Dr. Ordway's and given first aid by him and Dr. Cutter. Later she was taken to her home. Mrs. Livermore escaped with scratches from flying glass and bruises. The auto turned completely over and was badly wrecked.

TEACHERS' CLUB CONCERT

The concert of the Winchester Teachers' Club was held in the Town Hall, Monday evening, December 6. A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the generous program given. Crawford Adams and Miss Nan Sydnor are well known to Winchester people and were pleasing as usual in their selections. Every type of music lover present must have found something to enjoy in the large variety of the program. Very few violinists render so sympathetically so many kinds of music, and respond so readily to requests from the audience as does Mr. Adams. This was Miss Hinton's first appearance in Winchester, but her hearty applause showed that both her serious and her humorous selections pleased her hearers.

The Club raised a very substantial sum from the sale of tickets and by the time the concert was over the proceeds of the concert were in the hands of the Winchester Teachers' Club.

CHARLOTTE PHILBRICK ROWE

READY MONEY

Of the merry bright farces that have flown from James Montgomery's pen, perhaps none has received such popular approval as "Ready Money," to be presented tonight at the Town Hall, by the members of The Brookline Catholic Club Dramatic Class.

This is the first company to produce this piece since its release from the professional stage, and has just finished a successful run in Brookline, under the direction of Charles J. Harold of this town.

An additional attraction will be Miss Catherine Mallory, the talented pianist, who will entertain between the acts.

The members of the Kuma-O-Mist Club have worked hard to make this the leading event of the social season.

PEGGY MALLOWNEY

and as all the proceeds are to be donated to charity, and all concerned are giving their services gratuitously, are hopeful of seeing every seat filled.

While there has been a great demand for tickets, there are still some good ones left, which can be secured at Allen's Drug Store or at the box office.

There will be dancing after the play, until midnight.

LORD LEVERHULME IN WINCHESTER SUNDAY

Lord Leverhulme, who conceived and created the great international business of Lever Brothers Ltd., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dreier at 1 Curtis circle last Sunday. The great soap manufacturing business of which Lord Leverhulme is the head was started in a shop whose rental was but $1,000 a year. It was so successful that the second year showed profits of a quarter of a million dollars. It was then that its creator awakened to the fact that he had not made money single handed, and that something was due to his workers. As a result of this thinking the model plant and village of Port Sunlight, near Liverpool, came into existence. The parent company today owns or controls over 135 companies in different parts of the world and employ over 40,000 workers. Employees who own co-partner certificates now draw in excess of $1,000,000 a year in profits in addition to their wages.

SOME QUESTIONS FOR THE WINCHESTER THEATRE COMPANY

Editor of the Star:

The Board of Selectmen did perfectly right in refusing to be stampeded, or allowing the town to be stampeded, into action on The Winchester Theatre Company's proposition for a local motion picture theatre.

As a matter of fact the town has no definite, practical proposal before it. The Winchester Theatre Company base their entire appeal to the voters on the basis of perfect pictures. Their promise to get such pictures has been challenged as being impossible of fulfillment. Back of that challenge is the testimony of two experienced motion picture managers.

The Theatre Company also offers a novel scheme of censorship, which resolves itself practically into the corporation engaging a censor, chosen by a Board of Censors, at a salary of $600 a year. I pause to ask what sort of censor the town would expect to get for this sum, even on part time? But even this plan of censorship has been pronounced ineffective unless supplemented by State Censorship. One of the members of the Winchester Theatre Company sought the approval of the State Committee on Motion Pictures for their plan, and the Committee's verdict was as above. This fact may show why the Winchester Picture Theatre Company's last week's letter to the Star seemed to discredit the State Committee on Motion Pictures. I have no doubt, however, that had the Theatre Company got this Committee's approval they would have used it.

Another thing this town has a right to know is, where the stock which is not subscribed by Winchester residents is going to be placed. As I understand it, the Common Stock carries with it large voting powers. Who holds this stock?

Before the Winchester Theatre Company's promotion plan could come up for consideration even in March the citizens have a right to have the full facts on the table. Without questioning for a moment the good faith of these gentlemen in the practicability of their plan it still remains that we have experienced testimony against only a hope and a promise on their part. Therefore, the sober citizenship of this town should scrutinize their proposals very carefully before it consents to take any action whatever.

Howard J. Chidley.

UNITARIAN CHURCH FAIR

On Tuesday the Ladies' Friendly Society held their annual fair and luncheon. The attendance was unusually large and both fair and luncheon were financially very successful.

The decorations were carried out in the Christmas colors. Small spruce and evergreen trees, entwined with red streamers extending from the chandelier to the various lights gave a festive appearance. Each of the tables where the attractive articles were for sale were decorated with poinsettias and green.

The fair was under the efficient management of Mrs. J. E. Gamage and the following ladies acted as chairman: Mrs. F. W. Bridge, dolls; Mrs. A. E. Knight, fancy articles; Mrs. Alfred Carhart, household; Mrs. Chas. F. Maxwell, food; Mrs. Ralph T. Damon, candy; Mrs. James Livingstone, grubs; Mrs. J. E. Gamage, ice cream; Mrs. Curtis Nash, parcel post; Mrs. H. E. Stone, baskets; Miss Lorna Bugbee, flowers.

A delicious luncheon was served from 12 to 2, in charge of Mrs. G. A. Magill and Mrs. F. C. Alexander, assisted by many members of the Alliance.

A very pleasing program was given in the afternoon for both ladies and children, consisting of Thackeray's fascinating fairy story "Rose and the Ring," rendered very delightfully by Mrs. A. H. Goddard; Mrs. F. B. Reynolds also entertained the small children with Christmas records and pleasing stories; Mrs. E. E. Thompson, as an Indian maid, successfully foretold the future of many.

WINCHESTER GRANGE

There will be no regular meeting of the Grange on Tuesday evening, December 14, as it is the meeting night of the State Grange at Pittsfield and our worthy master Marston will attend.

There will be a whist and dancing party that evening at Lyceum Hall and it promises to be a success financially, according to Sr. Elsie Mobb's report so far. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance as it is some time since Winchester Grange had a whist party and there are some splendid prizes offered. Everybody get busy and bring all your friends along as we are going to have some good music for dancing, refreshments for sale and there will be a cake auction.

The weekly whist parties are still thriving. The next one is to be at Mrs. Brownell's on Friday evening and Mrs. Goodnow is to be the hostess.

On December 28, at the regular meeting, we are to have a Lemon Pie Contest by the Home Economics Committee and the judges have all been invited and are keen to sample the exhibits.

Delinquent members are reminded that the new annual pass word will be received by our worthy master at Pittsfield, December 28 will present an opportunity to pay up back dues.

Sister Jennie Roberts our worthy lecturer-elect is extremely busy these days gathering hints, material and promises for co-operation with her the coming year and such enthusiasm will surely bring its reward in some splendid programs. We are fortunate in our choice this year.

December 14, Tuesday evening, at Lyceum Hall, mammoth whist party with good music for dancing.

CHRISTMAS FOR THE POOR

The Overseers of the Poor solicit contributions of money, clothing anything wearable as usual from those charitably disposed, for the purpose of giving to deserving poor a little of the holiday cheer that always abounds at Christmas time, and also make the suggestion and request that those residents of the town who contemplate giving Christmas dinners to needy families send them such information, it being felt that by such co-operation duplicates will be avoided and a more even distribution be made.

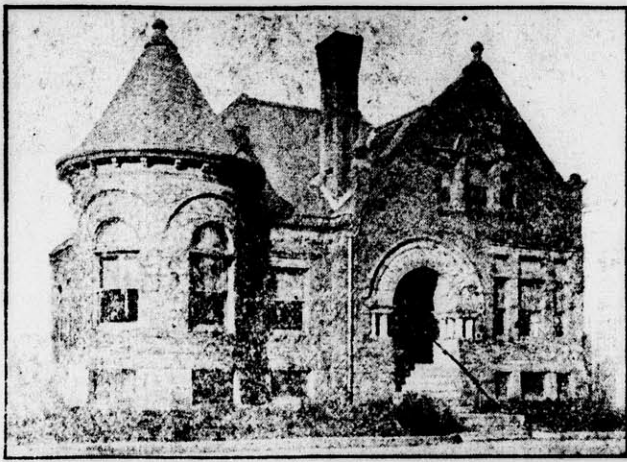

It is particularly requested that contributions be sent in early, so that the committee can have ample time to make their plans; co-operating with the girl scouts, and others, two parties have been arranged for more than 100 children. Liberal contributions are solicited.

If you desire the names of any families who would welcome a dinner, the list may be obtained by addressing Dr. S. T. Cutter at the Town Hall, who will accept contributions, furnish names or any information desired.

Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols co-operating in the above, will send for any bundles upon request or notice to Dr. Cutter. Telephone 660. Send today. Dec. 3-10.

MOTHER IN THE HOUSE

(Contributed)

I like to have my mother sick,
Just a little teeny bit;
I like to hear the doctor say
You'd better stay in bed today;
For though I have to go about
As still as a little mouse,
It's an awful comfy feeling
To have mother in the house.

I creep up stairs to look at her
And kiss her soft white hand,
I love to hear her whisper
"Sweetheart, dear little man,"
Then I tip-toe down again
As quiet as a mouse,
For its such a comfy feeling
To have your mother in the house.

And when at night she's rested,
And Jane brings in the tray
With all the pretty dishes,
I don't have to go away;
But sit right down beside her
As hungry as a mouse,
Oh! its such a comfy feeling
To have your mother in the house.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

As has for many years been the custom, the December meeting of the Winchester Union will be devoted to the interests of the Francis E. Willard Settlement. It will be an all day sewing meeting with basket luncheon and a business session at two o'clock Friday, December 17, at the Vestry of the First Congregational church, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance. Gifts of any kind for the use of the Settlement are solicited, especially fruit, vegetables, canned or dry goods for the ladies. Old table cloths that have passed their period of usefulness in that capacity are greatly desired as they will be transformed into napkins for the use of the boarding home in Boston and Lewesac Lodge. These gifts are much appreciated at the Settlement and the Winchester Union has the reputation of being especially helpful in this way. Contributions may be sent to the Church, on the day of the meeting, or before that time to the home of the president, Mrs. G. H. Hamilton, 30 Vine street.

The fair at the Italian Y. P. B. in Boston last week, was very successful. Middlesex County, through the efforts of Mrs. Hamilton, succeeded in raising about one hundred dollars, from gifts and sale, all of which will be used in good Americanization work under Dr. N. Louise Rand, to whose energy and vision the present success is almost entirely due.

S. O. D. DANCE

The S. O. D. Club gave a dance on Friday evening in Waterfield Hall. The club is formed of young ladies who gave the dance in the interest of charity, as it is their plan to entertain a number of poor children at Christmas. The hall was very pretty in holiday colors and potted plants. A large number attended and at the conclusion of the Assembly in White's Hall many more came to finish out the evening in dancing. Quite a contingent of young people from Melrose came over also. An orchestra furnished the music. The affair was matroned by Mrs. Winfield Prime and Mrs. Arthur W. Toppin. Miss Fontaine and Mrs. George Foreman served at the punch table, and Miss Grace Hatch, Mrs. Florence Seales and Mrs. Louis K. Snyder presided at the candy table. The affair was very pretty and will add quite a sum to the Christmas fund. The young ladies in charge were: Miss Edith Johnson, chairman; Evelyn Prime, Evelyn Toppin, Mildred Foreman, Alice Freeman, Pearl Dearborn.

that it could not be sold, for the present at least, at par, and could not therefore be issued as fully paid stock for cash; it could, perhaps, be issued for services and disposed of as the promoters may desire; it is from such stock that promoters usually get their profit. Who are the real promoters and to whom is this common stock and the control of the corporation really going? Haven't the public a right to know?

The people who hold this controlling interest in the common stock will control the corporation; and the corporation can at any time amend the Articles of Incorporation and the By-Laws, and strike out the provisions prescribing censorship and requiring the directors to be residents of Winchester. Even without such a change, the stockholders will have power next year to elect new directors who may not be as zealous for the interests of Winchester as the present excellent board. And the much talked of provisions giving Winchester residents a preference in the sale of stock seem to me of no practical value; there will be plenty of stock for outsiders after all the demands of Winchester residents are satisfied. It may be answered that the Selectmen will have the power any year to refuse a license. True; but it would be a hardship, once the theatre is erected, to refuse to let the owners use it—a hardship which any Board of Selectmen would be very reluctant to impose.

Even if the future stockholders are pleased to continue the present plan of censorship, and even if the clergyman, school officials and others are willing to serve on the Board of Censors (a most undesirable position for clergymen and public officials because one in which issues with the public will be constantly arising), it should still be noted that they are not themselves to be the censors; they may only appoint as censor an agent whose salary is dependent wholly upon the will of the directors of the corporation.

Very truly yours,
James S. Allen.

BASKET BALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE

The officials of the Suburban Basket Ball League have drawn up the league schedule for the coming season and Winchester has a hard set of games to play. This year the league is composed of Natick, Winchester, Watertown, Arlington, Chelsea, Brockton, Wellesley. The schedule for the local five is as follows: Jan. 7, 7.45, Winchester at Watertown; Jan. 21, 3.30, Winchester at Brockton; Jan. 25, 3.30, Natick at Winchester; Jan. 28, Arlington at Winchester; Feb. 4, 7.45, Winchester at Chelsea; Feb. 11, 7.45, Winchester at Wellesley; Feb. 18, 3.30, Winthrop at Winchester; Feb. 25, Watertown at Winchester; Mar. 1, 3.30, Brockton at Winchester; Mar. 4, 3.30, Winchester at Natick; Mar. 11, Chelsea at Winchester.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Attention is called to the matter of subscriptions for "The Bulletin." This is the only club magazine published in the State, and contains much of interest in the line of club work. The subscription is only 50 cents a year, and may be obtained from Miss Cora Quimby.

Many of us who remember Mrs. Mary Stone Gregory, who was president of this club in 1893-1895, will be sorry to hear of her death which occurred in California during the past week. She was a very efficient, lovable woman, a leader in progressive thought, and of great value to the club at that time.

Tickets for the drama given by the Fortnightly Players on December 17, are being sold very rapidly. There will be both an afternoon and evening performance. Candy will be sold for benefit of the "Old Ladies' Home."

The subject of the next lesson in the cooking class in Randall's Hall on December 17, will be "Candies for Gifts and Decorated Cakes." Single tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Tarbell, chairman of Home Economics Committee.

On Monday next, our annual Guest Day, a reception will be given from 2.30 until 3 o'clock to the presidents and secretaries of many adjacent clubs. Mrs. Geo. Minot Baker, president of the State Federation, and Mrs. Griffin, our district director, will receive with our president and the other club officials. We are much favored by Mrs. Baker, as she seldom goes to any club two years in succession, but will pay us this honor.

Let us return the compliment to her and to our own president and club officers, by being there on time (2.30) and in a goodly number.

Let every club member consider herself a hostess of the afternoon, and make the strangers feel at home among us.

After the reception a lecture will be given by Chas. C. Keith, L.L.B., upon "Men of Tomorrow." Although a serious discussion of the boy problem, the element of humor is ever prominent. Mr. Keith is on the staff of the International Boys' Club Federation which operates through boys clubs in all parts of the world.

Master Winslow Rouse, boy soprano, member of the choir of Trinity Church, will be the soloist.

SUNDAY MUSIC AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

Organ Postlude—Allegro Calkin

P. H. Randall, the caterer, has secured the agency for Whitman's celebrated Box Chocolates. Those who wish something different, and better than usual, will find a full line of Whitman's at Randall's.

Miss Clara Maria Lothrop, aged 72 years, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Rosslyn F. Caverly, 9 Wildwood street, on Sunday. Miss Lothrop was a native of Boston, and the daughter of Anselm and Elizabeth (Spaulding) Lothrop. The funeral services were held at the residence on Sunday afternoon at 2.30, and were conducted by Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian church. The burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

Lord, who dost the voices bless Crying in the wilderness.
And the lovely gifts increase
Of the messengers of peace,
Thou, whose temple is with men,
Show us thy true priest again.

In holy place may he Thy immediate presence see;
Or through deserts Father, led,
Show thy people heavenly bread
While his lips at thy control.
Warn, instruct, inspire, console.

Give him to his priestly dress
Faith and zeal and righteousness.
Then, lest all thy gifts be lost,
Breathe thy gift of Pentecost

Finds each listening soul's desire.

Simonds got a single of 115; Butterworth and Taylor 107 each; Barr 110; Sargent 103; Miner 104; and Maddocks 101.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The regular monthly meeting was held on Thursday last week, at Assembly Hall. After important business was transacted, Mr. B. Preston Clark, chairman of the State Committee on Motion Pictures, gave a general outline of the subject, and his reasons for believing that local censorship was entirely insufficient. He said he preferred the term "State Control" to "State Censorship," and felt very keenly that the matter was one demanding the strong arm of the State. Local censorship had not enough power behind it. He speaks as an expert and his address was listened to by a goodly audience with marked attention. A general discussion followed. Mrs. Dennett, chairman of the League, read a letter from one of the theatre incorporators, Mr. Guild, which she will doubtless answer. The League again resolved to support the State Control Bill and the Shepherd-Towner Bill for Maternity Assistance.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Snow comes down in the winter and ice up in the summer.

The lower down a man gets in the world, the nearer the roof you will find him.

It is impossible to get any until it is used up.

A timely warning has been issued by State authorities notifying motorists that the law will take its course in all cases where Christmas evergreens are taken from private property. Last year our own Tree Warden, Mr. Samuel S. Symmes, found considerable damage done about town in this direction, young pine and spruce trees set out by his department being ruthlessly broken down by passing motorists who desired the tops for Christmas decorations. Not only did the trees set out along the highways suffer, in some instances private grounds were entered and ornamental shrubs and trees, including beautiful specimens of blue spruces, etc., ruined. The motor car makes it easy to transport one's decorations for the holiday season, but owners should not neglect the respect due to municipal and private rights. There are plenty of wood lots within easy motoring distance where an abundance of the best Christmas greenery may be had for the asking, and doubtless the enterprising farmer will not be backward in advertising his goods. If you want Christmas greens, ask before you take.

We trust that the present telephone service has nothing to do with the increase in wages the workers are now seeking.

ADRIANOPIE

A Weather Vane of Empires.

"Entry of Greek troops into Adrianople is an event in secular history fairly comparable to the investiture of Jerusalem by Allenby's army, for this Turkish city has for nearly 2,000 years been a weather vane of world politics," says a bulletin from Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The rebuilding of the ancient Thracian town by Hadrian, who gave it his name, signalled a high point in the power of the Roman Empire. The decline of Rome was foreshadowed some two centuries later when the Goths defeated Valens there, and made their first break through the Roman frontier.

Next Adrianople was the setting for the Turk's advent into Europe. There Murad I, established himself, planned the capture of Constantinople, and sent out expeditions to subdue various Christian peoples. For a time the European Capital of the Sultans, Adrianople was relegated to be the chief bulwark of Constantinople. There Turk first met Slav, and there the Russians finally forced their way to the Black Sea by a treaty which also loosened the Turkish hold on the Caucasus and compelled recognition of the independence of Greece.

Adrianople is on the Maritza, Hebrew of Grecian legend, where Orpheus was dismembered by the Thracian women, also celebrated, under its later name, in Bulgarian song and story. It is 137 miles by rail north-west of Constantinople.

Today the city wears its past glory with a sort of shabby gentility, with no pretension of prosperity but less squalor than the usual Turkish city. It possesses the grave of the first Murad, or Amurath, who was assassinated in his tent after he had vanquished an army of Christian allies on the field of Kosovo.

A mosque bearing the name of Sultan Baiezed recalls that monarch, whose first official act was to order the execution of his brother, who was the first Ottoman ruler to call himself Sultan, whose conquests finally were checked when he was taken prisoner by Tamerlane.

But the architectural masterpiece of Adrianople is the Selimieh, product of a Greek tribute-boy's genius, and relic of the reign of Selim II, the Louis XV of Turkey.

Yearly the Turks would seize a certain number of sons of their Christian subjects, and, in Sinan, they found they had acquired a skilled bridge builder. They allowed him to follow his bent, and the Shahzadeh, at Constantinople, the Suleiman, at Stambul, and the third famed Mosque at Adrianople, were given to posterity. The Selimieh rests upon the highest hill in Adrianople and four lofty minarets tower far above a massive dome.

Formerly Adrianople was a thriving commercial city. But its foreign trade was reduced greatly within the past fifty years by Russian penetration to Turkey's dominion and by tariff barriers of Balkan States. It is on the railway from Belgrade and Sofia to Constantinople.

Bazaars line narrow streets and it has been said that these, in previous days, with their Austrian crockery, German iron pieces, French jewelry,

REUBEN FRANKLIN FREEMAN

Reuben Franklin Freeman, who gave efficient service as janitor of the Prince and Wyman schools for about twenty years, died in Provincetown, Friday, December 3, 1920.

He was born in Provincetown, January 4, 1852. Before completing the public school course of study he left school and began a seafaring life under the instruction of his father, Captain Reuben Freeman, who commanded a whaling vessel of the type that prevailed before the Civil War. Later he was employed on fishing vessels sailing from Provincetown upon shorter voyages. He left the sea when about forty years of age. During the administration of Superintendent Henry M. Waldrath, who was employed here from 1897 to 1902, he was called to service in the Winchester schools and retained his position until failing health compelled him to retire in the early part of 1919.

He was a man of exemplary habits and character, retiring disposition and modest demeanor. He was highly respected by all who became acquainted with him and was regarded with great favor by the teachers who were benefited by his service. He loved children. The natural result was that they regarded him with affection and showed this by addressing him as "grandpa." His associates were greatly saddened when heart failure made it impossible for him to continue the exacting duties of his position. During the many months in which the shadow of death was over him, he was greatly cheered by the letters and other evidences of sympathy that came to him from Winchester.

He was a living example of fidelity to duty and efficiency in performing it. He never spared himself when he could be of service to others. This service he measured, not by its return to him, financially or otherwise, but by his lofty purpose to meet to the fullest extent all the requirements of human life.

He will be remembered many years by hundreds of children who have seen his pleasant smile, and heard his pleasant voice.

Never Surrender.

The particular things which we do, the particular efforts we make, often seem to fail; but it is the perpetual struggle, the everlasting trying, the constant pushing, that count, and that develop men and women of unconquerable spirit.—The New Success.

Education.

Education is the leading of human souls to what is best and making what is best out of them, and these two objects are always attainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others.—Ruskin.

Fishy.

Exasperated though she was with her husband for showing himself "infirm of purpose," we don't believe Lady Macbeth called her husband "a poor fish"—though a country newspaper quotes her as exclaiming: "Infirm old porpoise, give me the dagger!"—Boston Transcript.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING December 6, 1920

The Board met at 7.05 p. m., all present. The records of the meeting of November 29 were read and approved.

Moving Pictures: A letter was received from Otto Abrahamson stating that he noticed in the Winchester Star of November 26 that he was supposed to have petitioned the Board of Selectmen for the granting of a license to some individual or corporation who desired to open a moving picture house, and that his name was attached to that petition without his knowledge or consent. He stated that he wished to go on record with the Board as being absolutely opposed to any such proposition and suggested that the Board investigate the genuineness of other signatures attached to said petition.

Another letter was received from Marcus B. May congratulating the Board on behalf of himself, Harry A. Norton, Edward D. Chadwick, Frank Patterson Smith and John Abbott for denying the petition to call a special town meeting for the purpose of considering a grant of a license to the moving picture corporation which has recently been incorporated. The letter was referred to the Chairman of the Board for acknowledgment.

Town Counsel: A letter was received from Mr. Ralph E. Joslin, tendering his resignation as Town Counsel. The Board unanimously voted to accept his resignation same to take effect upon the appointment of his successor.

Moving Pictures: The Board ordered the following letter sent to the Directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., in reply to their communication of November 29 relating to a petition for a license to maintain a motion picture theatre in the Town of Winchester. (Letter printed on page 1.)

Street Lights, 1920: In accordance with the usual custom the Board voted to have the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. turn on the street lights in the Town of Winchester at 4 a. m., Christmas morning.

Boston & Maine Railroad Underpass: A letter was received from the Winchester Board of Trade urgently requesting the Board of Selectmen to proceed with all due speed with the consideration of the matter of the proposed tunnel at the railroad station. The matter was referred to Mr. Bryne and Mr. Parsons to draft a suitable article for the warrant for the next town meeting.

Building Lines and Street Acceptances: Messrs. Pond, Rowe, Dean and Shurtleff of the Planning Board and the Town Engineer appeared in regard to certain building lines and street acceptances which they had previously recommended to the Board be taken up this year. Mr. Pond stated that the Planning Board also wished to recommend the establishing of a building line on Nelson street, its entire length as Mr. O'Connor had secured the signature of every abutter and stated that efforts were being made to get the signatures of residents on Symmes road for the purpose of petitioning for the establishment of a building line.

Mr. Charles E. Kendall earlier in the evening stated to the Board that he would like to be heard in regard to the establishment of a building line on Washington street. After considerable discussion during which a 12 foot setback was recommended on Main street, and a certain setback on Washington street, the matter was laid over one week and the Planning Board agreed to let the Board know before the next meeting the amount of setback which it recommends on these other streets.

Street Lights, 1920, Highland Avenue: A letter was received from Mr. Charles A. Lane stating that at a meeting of the Winchester Board of Trade held on Tuesday evening November 30 he was appointed a committee of one to wait upon the Board for the purpose of bringing to the Board's notice the present location of two electric lights on Highland avenue, near the entrance and exit of the Winchester Hospital. It was desired that these lights be relocated. The matter was referred to the Committee on Street Lights for investigation.

The meeting adjourned at 12.15 p. m.

MIGHT HAPPEN HERE

Mr. T. Price Wilson,
Winchester Star,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

In line with the popular topic of newspaper discussion during the past few weeks, hand you herewith clipping from the Boston Traveler, under date of November 22nd, in reference to the censorship on Moving Picture Shows in Lynn, Mass.

Why wouldn't the same thing happen in Winchester?

It is a matter of common report that even where the censors act honestly, willingly, energetically and do their utmost to prevent objectionable films being shown, it is rarely possible to find the Manager of the theatre or proper authority to stop it.

Thought that perhaps your interest in both sides of the controversy might be such that you would be glad to reproduce this clipping.

Your very truly,

R. L. Clarke.

STOPPED FILM WHEN NOTIFIED

Lynn Mix-up Caused by Censor Delay.

Delay in notifying the management of the Strand Theatre, Lynn, of the judgement by the municipal censorship committee was responsible for the continued showing of an objectionable film last week, rather than a refusal by the management of the theatre to remove the film from the program.

This was made clear in statements today by Mayor Creamer and Mrs. E. M. Newhall, chairman of the section of the censorship committee assigned to pass upon the pictures shown at the Strand. There are five members on the sub-committee delegated to censor the Strand Theatre shows, but only Mrs. Newhall witnessed the first showing of the week-end bill containing the objectionable picture.

She disapproved the picture. That was Thursday afternoon. Yet the picture was placed again before the public on Thursday night. A poster advertising the picture was still in place in the theatre lobby Friday noon. The Rev. Walter J. Sherman, known as "Lynn's Fighting Pastor," came along and tore it down, then went to City Hall to protest to the mayor against the picture.

Mayor Creamer and Mrs. Newhall both stated today that the request for the removal of the picture from the program was not made to Manager Allen B. Newhall of the theatre until Friday. Mrs. Newhall was unable to get in touch with either the general chairman of the censorship committee, nor with Mayor Creamer Thursday night, according to the statements, and the showing of the picture was permitted to continue until Mrs. Newhall succeeded in making her report to the mayor on Friday.

Manager Newhall of the theatre, the officials state, has always accepted the judgment of the censorship committee and in this case he ordered the picture from the program as soon as the request for such action reached him. The manager of the theatre and the chairman of the censorship committee are not relatives.

Stop That "Croaking."

A "frog in the throat" soon quits "croaking" when the patient partakes of the palatable and soothing home remedy of equal portions of honey and lemon juice. It has been found invaluable in relieving acute hoarseness and irritation of the throat and larynx.

Story of Double Barred Cross World's Health Crusade Emblem

The story of the Double Barred Cross is one of sympathy, helpfulness and hope for afflicted humanity who have been downed, but not beaten in their fight for life against tremendous odds.

It is the beacon light held aloft by humanity, a flaming, shining defiant challenge, hurled against the greatest of all death demanding diseases, tuberculosis.

At the sign of the Double Barred Cross, there rally annually hundreds of thousands of disease-stricken men, women and children.

Because of the loyalty and devotion of the men and women workers who stand in a solid phalanx, behind the beautiful emblem, many thousands of disease-stricken humanity, who sought the aid of which this cross is emblematic, have been saved to their loved ones and are today to be found in every walk of life functioning as healthy members of society, removed from the icy grasp of an early death as victims of the great White Plague.

The Double Barred Cross is the emblem of the great fight for the prevention and control of tuberculosis which is being waged in every civilized country in the world today.

For eighteen years this emblem has signified this fight against tuberculosis which has been waged by the International Anti-Tuberculosis Association, and the National Tuberculosis Association standardized it in its present form in 1913 and during the past year the National Tuberculosis Association has copyrighted the emblem.

Wherever this beautiful Double Barred Red Cross, emblematic of the world's health crusade, is seen, there will be found the workers in the great fight against tuberculosis; devoting their time and energies not only to the fight to stamp out tuberculosis but working in the interests of better health in every particular, that the children of today, from whom will be recruited the future tubercular victims, may be better prepared to wage their uneven battle against the dreaded disease.

A large portion of the country wide work which is being done by the Modern Health Crusades under the standard of the Double Barred Cross, is financed with the results of the annual sale at Christmas time, of the pretty little Christmas Seals, the design of which shows the Double Barred Cross as the predominating feature.

The emblem which is displayed in every city, town and hamlet of the commonwealth during the annual sale now on, was adopted from the Croix de Lorraine and adopted in its present form of a red six pointed cross as the emblem of America's fight against tuberculosis.

The message which it carries is "Seal your mail with the stamp of health. Buy Christmas Seals and fight tuberculosis."

Gen. Edwards "Daddy" of Y. D.
Fought Battle With Tuberculosis

"Anybody can get well from tuberculosis if he or she only has the nerve and the grit absolutely to give themselves up to the cure. I believe this terrible disease could be eliminated in ten years if the people of the world were in earnest about it."

That is the declaration of Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, "Daddy" of the Yankee Division overseas. And this great soldier knows what he is talking about, for he has himself proved the absolute truth of his statement.

This man honored and loved in every nook and cranny of New England fought the "greatest battle of his life" at the army tuberculosis hospital at Fort Bayard, Bayard, N. M., in 1906.

Struck down with the great White Plague this wonderful soldier, who 10 years later came to Massachusetts, and by his noble humane characteristics won a place in the hearts of thousands and thousands of mothers and fathers of the lads who went overseas, fought the great battle against death for nine long months.

At the end of that time he was pronounced cured of tuberculosis and the wonderful record which he made as a Major General in command of the New England boys is proof sufficient that the terrible disease can be conquered.

"I know of no work of humanity being conducted today which is nearer my heart or holds more interest for me than the work which the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League is doing in the old Bay State year after year" writes Gen. Edwards from his army post at Camp Dix, New Jersey, to Robert V. Spencer, executive secretary of the League.

"I would like to impress every man who went overseas with me that this work of combatting the ravages of tuberculosis is a fight which every last boy should enlist in."

"More and more must be done every year if this scourge is to be wiped out."

"Many of my stout hearted lads, thousands of them, I am sorry to say, were transformed from healthy vigorous physically fit men to mere physical wrecks by the poison gas which those lads literally ate in order to go through for the loved ones we left on these shores."

"Hundreds of those brave lads are today filling the tuberculosis sanatoriums and hospitals of our land and hundreds more are on the way there unless they play the game to the limit and combat tuberculosis at every turn."

"The Massachusetts Tuberculosis League is doing a great work in Massachusetts and is a most valuable and necessary adjunct to the very efficient state department of public health which too is battling against the dreaded disease in wonderful manner."

"The fight, which the League is carrying on must be financed and that is done largely through the sale of the pretty little Christmas Seals offered to the public at this season of the year.

"Millions of these seals must be sold to produce the necessary revenue."

"My Christmas message to the Yankee Division lads in Massachusetts is to get behind the Christmas Seal Sale in your city and town and go through with it to the limit."

"Get into the game my boys. Enlist the fathers, mothers, sisters, wives and children and throw down such a barrage of dimes, quarters, halves and dollars as will permit the soldiers of that great army of tuberculosis fighters to go right up to the front line trenches of this death dealing enemy, and rout it as you lads so many times routed the enemy for me and sent them crashing back."

"My most earnest wish is that Massachusetts may come through with the Health Christmas Seal Sale as the banner state of the country."

HEALTH WORKERS FACING CRISIS

Industrial Depression Makes Tuberculosis Work More Imperative

Because of the growing industrial depression the people of this Commonwealth are this winter facing one of the most critical periods of many years in their fight to control and prevent tuberculosis according to a statement issued by Robert V. Spencer, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League.

The industrial depression will materially retard the fight which has been waged for years because it will mean less money for the working classes. That in turn means less food and food of a lower percentage of nourishment.

Even at the present time 30 percent of the school children of the state are undernourished according to Mr. Spencer and other experts on tuberculosis and its statistics and this percentage is bound to be greatly increased unless strenuous efforts are put forward to combat the increasingly unfavorable conditions.

Undernourished children and adults fall easiest prey to the great White Plague.

Much depends upon the success of the sale of Health Christmas Seals which is now being conducted in every city and town of the state for it is to this source the League and its organizations look for the support of their programs for a health crusade.

In an appeal to the people of the state to support the 1920 Health Christmas Seal Sale, Mr. Spencer points out the following salient facts:

"Tuberculosis can be wiped out. This disease which has been taking its terrible toll of humanity since the history of medicine began and which caused one death in eleven in the state of Massachusetts last year can be brought under control. To achieve this victory for humanity, however means much more intensive health work than has ever yet been undertaken outside of very restricted areas like Framingham. It means a program so intensive that it can not be carried out without the cooperation of everyone including both doctors and laymen."

"The Massachusetts Tuberculosis League and its affiliated organizations are striving to make this great vision an actual accomplishment in our Commonwealth. Their program is not visionary, but consists in promoting types of health work which the world's greatest experts believe to be necessary for the accomplishment of this great feat of health engineering. The League is now organized in practically every city and town of the State and these organizations have no less than the following program as a goal:

"The reduction of the mortality rate from tuberculosis by cooperating with the state and local boards of health in the discovery of the disease while it is still in its curable stages. A large percentage of cases are at present discovered after the possibility of complete cure has passed."

"The education of the public in the principles of hygienic living so that people may escape the disease altogether. This side of the work is especially important with children of school age. These organizations cooperate with the schools through the Modern Health Crusade in making the teaching of hygiene practical and effective."

"The proper care of the mal-nourished child which is said to include thirty per cent of the children of school age, who are all potential cases of tuberculosis. This part of the work will be especially important during the coming year because of the present industrial depression. Unless this work is greatly increased and strengthened the remarkable gain in the reduction of the death rate from tuberculosis in this state is bound to be lost, and we shall see the number of the victims mount as it did during the period of the War."

"The program may thus briefly be stated:

"The discovery of every case of tuberculosis while it can still be cured."

"The education of all the people and especially children in the rules of hygienic living, so that they may avoid breaking down with the disease."

"Proper care for all mal-nourished children."

"No community without a public health nurse to do school and tuberculosis nursing."

RED CROSS URGES
XMAS SEAL SALE

Dr. Livingston Farrand Endorses Work of Tuberculosis Associations.

A very happy message comes to Massachusetts from Washington from the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, in the form of a very hearty endorsement of the Health Christmas Seal Sale which has been launched in Massachusetts. The endorsement comes from Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman Central Committee of the American Red Cross and was sent by him to Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Managing Director of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The endorsement is as follows:—
THE AMERICAN RED CROSS
NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Dear Dr. Hatfield:

I am, naturally, watching with very great interest the plans for the annual Christmas Seal Campaign of the National Tuberculosis Association, and am writing to express the hope that the success this year will be greater than ever before.

There never has been a time when united effort in the health field was more needed in the country and the world than now, and of all the aspects of the health problem that of tuberculosis in my judgment takes first place. The work already accomplished by the National Tuberculosis Association is so notable that it is recognized everywhere, but there still remains much to be done and success can only be obtained if there is a generous response in the seal campaign.

The Red Cross regards this work of your Association as of primary importance, and for that reason hopes to cooperate with you in every possible way, and trusts that the result of the sale of seals in 1920 will be all that the great importance of the program deserves and calls for.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) LIVINGSTON FARRAND,
Chairman, Central Committee.

Wednesday night's matches in the mixed tournament saw team 15 take all three points from 11; 17 two from 9 and 7 two from 19. ANNUAL SALE YESTERDAY

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church held its annual sale yesterday afternoon and evening at the Town Hall. Attractive tables of articles, food, preserves, etc., were presided over by Mrs. J. N. Mason, Mrs. H. E. Ray, Miss N. P. Butler, Mrs. N. M. Dodge, Mrs. Frank A. Miller, Mrs. R. C. Hawes, Mrs. T. J. Bulmer, Mrs. J. W. Moran and Mrs. G. H. McMillan. In the evening an entertainment program was given.

It is reported that Gregorio Pocopio, the young Italian who disappeared from his home on Irving street, recently, after a week of married life, was seen at a town in Pennsylvania where he formerly resided. He is reported to have left that place and has not yet been located, but it is evident that he did not commit suicide as he had threatened.

CHARITY WHIST, DANCE AND SALE

On Thursday evening, December 16th, in White's Hall, Winchester, Santa Maria Court, No. 150, will conduct a whist, dance and sale in aid of the charitable committee's Christmas fund.

Ordinarily the Court is able to attend to its Christmas charity without making a public appeal but this year, there are so many worthy cases especially where there are children, it has been found necessary to solicit donations generally.

The local merchants and citizens already appealed to have been most generous. Some very fine whist prizes have been donated which include: a pair of chickens, a basket of fruit, a basket of vegetables, a wool comforter, a beaded bag, a volume of poems, a pair of bedroom slippers, and many other articles.

After the whist, there will be dancing and a sale of fancy articles and foods.

Therefore an appeal is made to all those who are blessed with plenty to give a little toward this Christmas Charity Fund. Money or articles will be gratefully received or called for by the committee: Mrs. William Vayo, phone Win. 983-M; Mrs. Alice Martin, phone Win. 171; or Mrs. Thomas Conlon, phone Win. 1175.

WHY LIGHTHOUSES WON'T "STAY PUT"

Long agitation to save Barnegat Light from removal, and announcement that jetties will be built to preserve the historic beacon, give a hint of the extreme variability of coast lines and conditions.

"A survey of the coast line of New Jersey shows strikingly the results that are wrought upon a shoreline by the wind and the waves," writes John Oliver LaGrace to the National Geographic Society.

The beaches for the most part are being driven back by the sea, but the harbors, which were accessible to coasters quite within the memory of men now living, are being closed by the traveling drift, just as most of the mouths of the streams emptying into the ocean have been closed and salt-water marshes formed.

In a description of the Jersey coast, published in 1879, it was stated that, prior to the War of 1812, Old Cranberry Inlet was one of the best anchorages on the coast, and it afforded a safe harbor for American privateers on the lookout for British ships during the Revolution. It opened one night by the angry sea breaking across the beach, and during the last year of its existence as a harbor the whole channel drifted nearly a mile to the northward. Its closure, about 1812, caused so much inconvenience that, in 1821, one Michael Ortleby attempted to cut a new inlet near the head of Barnegat Bay. With the assistance of others, it was finally finished; but the following morning, to the amazement of the voluntary workers, it was closed up again. Later another effort was made to effect the same thing lower down the bay. The cut was completed July 4, 1847, the work being done by several hundred men under Anthony Ivens, Jr. The water was let in, and the entire community sent forth its thanks, but quite too soon for it filled up almost as quickly as the Ortleby cut, so relentlessly was the sea's war carried on.

A survey at Atlantic City, in 1863, revealed the fact that in the course of but a few short years the shore at Maine avenue had lost 76 acres. True, most of this material was deposited in the lee of the point extending from New Jersey to Ohio avenues, causing an advance of the beach lines at Pennsylvania avenue of about 1,000 feet and adding to this part of the plat some 50 acres, all in the brief space of a decade. This transfer of property from one riparian owner to another without consideration is not provided for in the statutes, but might properly be regarded as inequitable, especially to the original owner. However, no one has yet gone into court for an injunction against the sea for thus robbing Peter to pay Paul.

When the lighthouse at Atlantic City was threatened, in 1878, the United States challenged the sea by the construction of a jetty at the head of Atlantic avenue. Thus was inaugurated a series of defensive work, which have been continued from time to time by individuals, so that 82 additional acres have been reclaimed from the sea to the great benefit of the city, as well as to that of the riparian owners; but they have had to fight hard for every inch.

The changes in the coast line seem partial to no particular locality. At Ocean Grove, New Jersey, and at Point Pleasant investigation shows traces of tidemarks in places fully a mile inland. At Absecon houses now stand at a point that was low tide in 1850, while Sandy Hook is now nearly 14 miles northwest of its stated position in 1764, when the lighthouse there was built.

The shifting of the sands of the seashore very often involves expensive litigation. In 1885 the counties of Atlantic and Burlington of New Jersey entered into an expensive litigation concerning the boundary between them. There was a dispute as to one of the corners of this boundary. It was stated to be, in the original survey, "the next inlet in the south side of Little Egg Harbor's most southerly inlet, and thence along the seacoast to the line of partition between east and west Jersey." But it could not be found in its original home when they went to look for it, thus bringing up to date the ancient saying about a rope of sand.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A game between the Alumni and the Winchester High School basketball team has been arranged for Saturday night, December 18, at 7.30. The Alumni team will be composed largely of last year's team. P. Hart, Van French, S. Eldridge, E. A. Kibbe, R. Kibbe, and Raynor are among those named in the line-up. They promise a good game. This year's team with the material that is being worked into shape should offer a strong opposition. An inter-class game will be played during the intermission.

The Junior class walked away with the honors in the first inter-class track meet of the year, scoring 52 out of a possible 66 points. The Seniors came second with 8½ points, and the Freshmen second with 3 points, and the Sophomores trailed with 2½ points. The results of the events were as follows:

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK
SOON TO HAVE NEW QUARTERS

National Bank to Remodel Rooms in Lane Building.

The Winchester National Bank, having outgrown its present quarters in the Lane Building, is soon to have new banking rooms. It will retain its present location, but will enlarge and remodel by adding the store adjoining now occupied by the Hallanday Company.

According to plans and specifications drawn up the new project will prove of great value, both in providing larger quarters for the bank's work, but in accommodation to its patrons as well. In making the enlargement the front of the building will be remodeled so that the two present stores form a unit. Two entrance doors will be provided in the centre, opening upon a spacious lobby. The public space will be in the form of a square with a ladies' room at the right front and the cashier's office at the left front.

In the plans is a large directors' room, private rooms for patrons and much more space for all branches.

The work of making the change is to be started next summer, unless it is deemed advisable by the directors to begin earlier. The Hallanday Company is to take the store in the Lane Building at the extreme west end on Vine street.

IMPORTANT MATTERS COMING UP

At the coming meeting of the Winchester Board of Trade, to be held Tuesday evening, December 28, in White's Hall, some important matters are coming up for discussion and review. Heading the list is the discussion on the new building laws of the town, which have created widespread comment and much criticism. The Selectmen have been invited to attend this meeting, as well as several of our architects, and others interested in the matter will be welcomed. This will be the first public discussion of this question and will doubtless provide much of interest.

A representative of the Association for Promotion and Protection of Savings, Incorporated, will be present and give a short talk on this important feature.

Another matter of interest will be a description of the proposed War Memorial for Manchester Field.

The usual supper will be served with the customary charge at 6.30, and a large attendance is anticipated.

Three new members were elected to the organization this week—Messrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, Otto Morgan and Frank L. Drummond.

Two bicycles stolen from the High school Wednesday afternoon at 4.45, were found by the Medford police yesterday morning. The wheels were left standing at the curb in Medford square, and upon notification the Winchester police went to that city and brought them here.

REPLY TO MRS. DENNETT

The Winchester Theatre, Inc., have sent the following letter to Mrs. Dennett in reply to questions contained in her letter of December 8th:

Winchester, Mass.
December 15, 1920.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Dennett, Chairman Winchester League of Women Voters. My dear Mrs. Dennett,

Your letter of December 8th at hand and contents noted. While it is signed officially as above there is nothing to indicate that your letter is expressive of anything more than your individual opinions.

Replying briefly to your questions permit us to say: That we have definite practical and successful managers who have undertaken in the matter of providing the town with a desirable place of entertainment, the high standard of which shall be permanent, and at the same time furnishing a conservative and remunerative investment for their fellow townsmen which shall be beyond criticism as to distribution of profits and basis of control.

Many questions which have been published and statements which have been made by those who have become controversial are unworthy of consideration and will be so treated.

We welcome constructive criticism and are ready and willing to answer such inquiries as are made for the real purpose of ascertaining facts.

The reading of our statement which was published in the Star on November 12th will refresh the minds of those who appear to have forgotten the terms contained therein.

ALUMNI BASKETBALL, DEC. 18

A basket ball team composed of stars of previous years will play the High School team on Saturday, Dec. 18 at 7.30 p. m. at the High School gymnasium. The boys have been working hard and are confident that they will give the Alumni a run for their money. The game will probably be fast and close as both teams are very desirous of winning. The High School line-up will start with J. Matthews and H. Gray as forwards, H. Henneberger in center, and J. Tansy and A. Winer backs. In case of injury to any of these men, Prime and Mortenson are both showing well at the forward position. Smith looks good at center, and French, Ambrose, and Fitzgerald are coming along well in the guard positions.

The Alumni line-up will include P. Hart, Van French, E. Kibbe, Raynor, and S. Eldredge. In addition, they claim that they have one or two others who are to remain dark horses as far as the public is concerned until the game.

The freshman and sophomore class teams will play between the halves.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending December 16: 2 diphtheria; 3 whooping cough; 2 chicken pox.

Arthur J. Conlon, of 10 Border street, Winchester, who was captain of the Harvard second team this year, was awarded his "H2nd" for his excellent playing by the Harvard Athletic Association at a recent meeting held here. The Harvard second football team is a separate organization in itself and plays outside games of its own, but its chief purpose is, of course, for the development of a winning Varsity. Consequently, when the Varsity eleven, defeats Yale, as was the case this year, the members of the second team deserve their share of the credit.

"The Last of the Mohicans," Maurice Tourneur's special picture, which comes to the Stoneham Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, was one book selected from 70, written by J. Fenimore Cooper, for public school use. Tourneur realized this when he decided to film it, because he knew that it would appeal to every red-blooded American. No change in prices. Seats now on sale.

Competition in bowling at the Calumet Club is waxing warm. Last Saturday three of the top-notchers got into an argument over ten strings, and as a result an interesting match is scheduled between Messrs. Furrington, Berry, and Higgins. Furrington proved what he could do on Saturday by piling up a total of 1105.

MOVIES OF VALUE

Editor of the Star:

The following clippings should be of interest to Winchester people.

MOTION PICTURE SHOWS WOMEN IN INDUSTRIES

"When Women Work," the first motion picture shown in Boston for the purpose of contrasting factory conditions, was exhibited last evening by Miss Mary C. Wiggins in the East Auditorium of the State House. The film was prepared by the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, from pictures taken in factories in and around New York.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Massachusetts Department of Labor and Industries. John F. Meade, director of the Division of Industrial Safety, sketched the history of industrial safeguards and discussed the achievements of his division. Gen. Leroy E. Sweetser, Commander of the Department of Labor and Industries in Massachusetts, presided. From Boston Globe of December 14, 1920.

"MOVIES" PLEDGE HOOVER $2,500,000 FOR STARVING

Industry Will Help Succor Children Of Europe—Hoover Addresses Meeting.

The motion picture industry in America today pledged itself to Herbert Hoover to raise $2,500,000 to succor the starving children in Central Europe. Mr. Hoover, addressing a conference of film magnates, asked that they arrange to rescue 250,000 of the 3,500,000 children reported in imminent peril of starvation, saying relief societies would be forced to suspend operations unless aid came within sixty days. William A. Brady, president of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, and Sidney R. Cohen, president of the United States, then pledged the industry to raise $2,500,000. WINCHESTER THEATRE MAKES STATEMENT

December 15, 1920.

Editor of the Star:

The Directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., believe that a large majority of the citizens of Winchester trust in their practical business experience, their honesty of purpose and their ability to accomplish what they have undertaken in the matter of providing the town with a desirable place of entertainment, the high standard of which shall be permanent, and at the same time furnishing a conservative and remunerative investment for their fellow townsmen which shall be beyond criticism as to distribution of profits and basis of control.

Many questions which have been published and statements which have been made by those who have become controversial are unworthy of consideration and will be so treated.

WHAT WILL STONEHAM DO?

Editor of the Star:

I enclose the following extracts from the Stoneham Independent. What Will Stoneham Do?

A LETTER.

Dear Mr. Editor:

A short time ago I was appointed by a certain society as censor (with others) of our Stoneham movies. At the time, I made the remark that I would not make a very good censor as I liked the movies too well to be very severe. The president replied that I would be just the one as I would censor without prejudice.

Well, I have watched our pictures quite closely and within the last two months the films shown at the Stoneham theatre have been of an unusually inferior character. In the protest written by Mrs. Webber in the Independent last week, every word she said was true, not one bit exaggerated.

The picture the Saturday evening before was so exceedingly disagreeable that I would not watch it. Others said the same. How do these films get by? The picture "Humoresque" was a grand picture. I wish all might see it. The picture shown last Saturday night at the Stoneham theatre "What's Your Hurry" was exceedingly good.

Why can't we have good pictures all the time? I am sure the people of Stoneham enjoy good pictures and do not care for thefts, murders, broken characters, imprisonment and torture. Had you been at the theatre last Saturday night, you could have felt, as one lady expressed it, that the audience were in interested sympathy with the picture, and all expressed pleasure as they passed out.

Our children attend the theatre by hundreds and I think it about time we woke up and demanded the best for our youth.

In our town the movies seem to be the only public recreation center. Let us rouse up and safeguard our young people. Let us keep our movies but help make them a resort of pleasure and elevation and not a menace to our town.

A lover of the movies, our children and the very best for our town of Stoneham.

N. R. S.

A REGRET

The Girl Scout Council wish to express their regret that the film "The Price of Redemption," so unsuited to the Scout ideals, and so incongruous with the rest of the program should have been presented at the Scout benefit at the Stoneham Theatre on Nov. 30.

They appreciate the courtesy of the local manager to them, and wish to state that he was assured by the film exchange, to whom he reported the circumstances of the evening, that the picture was very fine.

The Council find it hard to comprehend the lack of understanding and judgment which would deem such a film as fitting to display to young people.

Girl Scout Council of Stoneham.

European Children's Fund.
Herert Hoover, National Chairman.

In this issue of the Star appears "An Appeal to the American People." I have been requested by Mr. Hollowell, the Massachusetts State Chairman to carry home this appeal to the people of Winchester.

Briefly stated, 3 1/2 millions of children in Europe have been kept alive solely through aid from the U. S. A. This aid will be discontinued January next for lack of funds unless help be given at once. For a period of 10 months, beginning January 1st and ending with the next harvest, these children must be aided if they are to live. It requires $33,000,000 to do this, and the money must come from America. $10 will provide for one child for 10 months, $1 for one month. How many people in Winchester will provide for at least one child for the full period? How many will provide for a child for a part of that period? This is the question.

It seems necessary to canvass the town immediately after Xmas. Will you save work for the canvassers by sending in your contribution now to James Nowell, 16 Stratford road. Checks should be made payable to the European Children's Fund.

You can also help and save your own Xmas shopping by buying Xmas cards for the benefit of the fund. These cards for 10 cents, $1, $10, or more, will be on sale after Monday, December 20th, at the office of Ed-

CHRISTMAS FOR THE POOR

The Overseers of the Poor solicit contributions of money, clothing, anything wearable as usual from those charitably disposed, for the purpose of giving to deserving poor a little of the holiday cheer that always abounds at Christmas time, and also make the suggestion, and request that those residents of the town who contemplate giving Christmas dinners to needy families send them such information, it being felt that by such co-operation duplicates will be avoided and a more even distribution be made.

It is particularly requested that contributions be sent in early, so that the committee can have ample time to make their plans; co-operating with the girl scouts, and others, two parties have been arranged for more than 100 children. Liberal contributions are solicited.

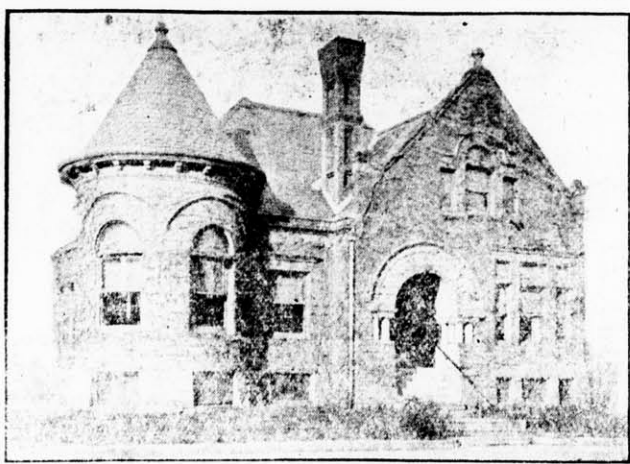

If you desire the names of any families who would welcome a dinner, the list may be obtained by addressing Dr. S. T. Cutter at the Town Hall, who will accept contributions, furnish names or any information desired.

Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols co-operating in the above, will send for any bundles upon request or notice to Dr. Cutter. Telephone 660. Send today.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Excellent scores marked the week-end matches in the Calumet mixed bowling. Team 20 took all three from 8; 18 three from 10 and 12 two from 16. The matches were all fairly close and team 10 got it odd point by five pins, while team 16 took its single point by a similar figure. The men bore the burden of the work, Mr. Goodale leading with 216 on a single of 118. Mr. Stephenson got 215 with 108; Mr. Brown 202 with 114; Mr. Dickson 108; Mr. Clark 106; Mr. Heaton 105; and Mr. Etheridge and Mr. Billingsley 101 each. Mrs. Whitney, with a single of 94, led the ladies and the only other roller to approach her was Mrs. Crafts with 91.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

A class for young Swedish people who wish to learn and write the English language, is now being held in the High School building every Wednesday and Friday night, at quarter of eight o'clock. This class is conducted by the Public School Department, and members of the club are urged to advertise it among the Swedish people with whom they may come in contact.

The Literature class will meet in the High School Library on Monday next, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. E. E. Thompson has charge of the program. Subject: "Life and Works of Hugh Walpole." Any member of the club is welcome to attend this class. Tea will be served.

Although the day was lowering and the sun would not shine for us, we had the pleasure of greeting about one hundred guests, presidents and secretaries from nearby clubs, on Monday, our President's Day.

The ushers, under Mrs. Chamberlain, chairman of the Hospitality Committee, were very gracious in presenting the guests to our president, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Griffin, and the club officers who stood in line with them, each with her bouquet of beautiful red roses.

At 3 o'clock the meeting was called to order and after a short business session we were favored with a few words from each of our guests of honor, Mrs. Geo. Minot Baker, president of the State Federation, and Mrs. Griffin, 4th District Director.

Mrs. Baker said that to meet the presidents of so many clubs at our place seemed like a large Christmas present, and spoke at length upon the films in regard to Mothercraft, which will be ready for use in the clubs sometime in January. Mrs. Griffin spoke briefly upon the subject of Americanization and Mothercraft, the latter most vital to our foreign population, and which it is hoped may become a part of our high school curriculum. Master Winslow Rouse then sang two songs accompanied by Mrs. Lefavour. Master Rouse is soloist in the Trinity Church choir, and only in that training could he have obtained such artistry of singing, so wonderful in a child of his age.

The address was upon "The Men of the Future," by Chas. C. Keith, L.L.B. It was a feast of good practical hints for helping boys and their parents to understand one another, and full of quaint boy stories.

He made very emphatic, the point that the national problems of today cannot be settled in this generation, but by the men of the future, now school boys, and our responsibility. He considered the boy in the home, and the boy in the streets, asking consideration for the latter on the ground that he always has some handicap to overcome before he can attain his manhood. In boyhood is found the only true democracy, and its problems must be settled from the point of view of the boy-world, often incomprehensible to the adult. In ending his address, he gave in a very dramatic, appealing manner, a poem "The Call of the Boy."

Refreshments were served under the management of Mrs. Harmon, Chairman of the Hospitality Committee. Delicious coffee from the center table, presided over by four of our past presidents, Mrs. Ripley, Mrs. Ely, Mrs. Wellington, and Mrs. Nichols; ice cream and cakes from the side tables were served by Mrs. Punchard, Mrs. Root, Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Farnsworth, and Mrs. Edlefson. The spirit of Xmas was shown in the table decorations and the woody bouquets presented to each guest upon her arrival.

Miss Dorothy Abbott and Miss Thelma Trott from Winchester, are on the Sewing Committee for the Christmas party to be held at the College of Secretarial Science, Boston University. This Christmas party is to be held in the Assembly Hall, on Friday, from 2 to 5 o'clock. The parents of the girls are invited to attend the party, thereby giving them an opportunity to see the new building and to meet the Faculty members. The girls will also have as their guests, 50 little, poor children for whom a Christmas tree and Santa Claus will be provided.

NEW YEAR'S EVE BALL

The New Year's Eve Costume Party to be held in the Town Hall by the Calumet Club will undoubtedly be the most pretentious affair the club has given in this town since its last musical show. Tickets to the capacity of the hall have been issued and a record attendance is assured. No pains have been spared in preparation for the evening. The last costume party given by the club was many years ago, but that affair is still remembered by many members as a most successful affair. The coming party will afford opportunity for the attendance of all members and their ladies.

ALBA B. JOHNSON TO SPEAK

Mr. Alba B. Johnson, president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, and for many years president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, will be the speaker at the Men's Club of the Congregational church at the coming meeting to be held Thursday evening, December 30th. Mr. Johnson will speak on the business situation and other topics of interest. A large attendance is anticipated.

The Calumet Club opened its season of entertainment for the gentlemen
Saturday evening, former Senator Robert M. Washburn being the speaker. There was a good attendance, notwithstanding other social attractions, a feature which Mr. Washburn humorously stated he was somewhat accustomed to encounter, although those who heard his talk were inclined to disagree with him. He gave a remarkably good talk, sarcasm, wit and the more serious side of politics holding the interested attention of his hearers. He undoubtedly increased, by a good margin, his list of friends in Winchester who will unquestion-ably recall his political platform in future campaigns. Mr. Washburn was the guest of former Representative William A. Kneeland during his stay in Winchester.

There recently appeared in these columns reference to the completion, by three officers of the Winchester Fire Department, of the course at the Officers Training School in Boston.
All three finished the course with high honor. Through an error the report appeared as crediting one man with honor only, but friends of Assistant Chief John J. Gorman had thought but what he stood as high as any taking the course. Diplomas for the course are under preparation, and all of Winchester's representatives will receive high honors for their work.

The Committee on Historical Record, appointed by the Town to compile the historical data of Winchester men and women who participated in the Civil, Spanish and World Wars, is rapidly getting its matter into shape and ready for publication.
Little has been heard from this Committee, but its work has been difficult and exacting, and much time has been given by the members. We note that Mr. Herbert S. Underwood has contributed much labor and pains to aid in the work; also Mr. George S.
F. Bartlett. When this record appears it will undoubtedly be a credit to Committee and Town.

Shop early, and shop in Winchester.
Your local merchants are the ones you always turn to in emergency; their stores are run for you and not for the floating population of a great city; their taxes, combined with yours, pay the town expenditures; they are the first ones you solicit for that benefit or church fair; they are your neighbors. Your patronage in Winchester aids both the town and yourself.

AN APPEAL TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Three and one-half million children in Eastern and Central Europe have no alternative to disaster between now and next harvest except American aid. For months, because the needy were so numerous and the available funds so limited, these most helpless sufferers in the track of the war have been admitted to American feeding-stations only if tragically undernourished, and have received American medical aid only if desperately threatened by death from disease.

Winter is closing down. The money of many nations is valueless outside their own boundaries. Economic and crop conditions, aggravated over considerable areas by actual warfare last summer, make famine, with its terrible train of diseases, a certain visitor until next harvest. Inevitably the helpless children will suffer most.
No child can grow to health and sanity on the pitiful makeshifts for food with which millions of European adults must content themselves this winter. It is obvious that the remedy can come only from outside.

America saved 6,000,000 European children winter before last. Normal recuperation cut the need nearly in half last year, but unusual conditions have resulted in scant shrinkage of child destitution during the twelvemonth just past. The response of America must now decide whether 3,500,000 of these charges, in acute distress, shall begin to be turned away in January from more than 17,000 asylums, hospitals, clinics and feeding-stations dependent on American support. There would be no tragedy in history so sweeping or so destructive of those who can deserve no evil.

The undersigned organizations, working among every race and creed, many engaged also in other forms of relief, agree unanimously that the plight of these helpless children should have complete priority in overseas charity until the situation is met.
This is an issue without politics and without religious lines. There can be no danger of pauperization, for the $23,000,000 for child food, and the $10,000,000 for medical service that we seek, will relieve only the critical cases. The medical supplies, of course, must be an unqualified gift, but for every American dollar used in child-feeding, the governments and communities aided furnish two dollars in the form of transportation, rent, labor, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable.

America has not failed in the past in great-heartedness. She has never had a more poignant call than this.
Contributions should be turned over to the local committees which are now being formed for this national collection, or sent to Franklin K. Lane, Treasurer, Guaranty Trust Co., New

It was reported this week that a number of the smaller stations on the railroad will be closed after the first of the year. No verification of this report has been secured, but already a number of the stations are now closing at noon or shortly after, being in charge of but one man. If the reported curtailment goes into effect most of the "two trick" stations will be reduced to supervision by one man.

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Milk Inspectors' Association, held Monday at the Quincy House, Boston, Mr. Maurice Dinneen, inspector of milk for this town, was elected president of the organization for the coming year.

On Monday evening at 8.40 a telephone message from the residence of Mrs. M. C. Bouve, 8 Glengarry, called the chief's auto from the fire station for chimney fire. After an hour's work and the use of six gallons of chemical the fire was extinguished.
There was no damage.

What DID She Do Instead?

All you have to do is tell what she did instead of making him a pie. She may have made him something else—or she may have made him nothing. There are hundreds of things she might have done instead. There is no rhyming needed. Here are two things she might have done instead.

But made him a "nightie" instead.

Battery Care in Winter

When you store your car this Winter, you will draw your radiator, jack the car off the tires, and put it in proper shape for the "long Winter's nap."

But don't forget your battery. Unless kept fully charged it may freeze; and frozen batteries are seldom worth repairing.

The "Safety First" thing to do is to have us store it under proper conditions. It only costs a little, but it means that you will get your battery again in the Spring in the best possible condition. A little forethought NOW may save a repair bill or the purchase of a new battery in the Spring.

MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM

Successful Performance Given in Town Hall by Fortnightly Players

The most successful amateur performance in a long time was the general comment over the presentation of "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," given in the Town Hall last Friday night by the Fortnightly Players. The farce, arranged under the direction of Mrs. William F. Edleson, chairman of the Fortnightly Dramatic Committee, and to whom all credit of its success is accorded, was coached by Mr. Frank Fowle of Malden, and acted by a group of local amateurs, and was played before a capacity audience numbering about 900 persons.

The sale of tickets gave early indication of a splendid financial success, while those in the "know" predicted an equally good production. This was fulfilled in a gratifying manner. All in the cast acquitted themselves in a manner to elicit warm approval from the big audience, and beyond the prominence of the several parts, there was little to choose in picking a favorite.

Miss Winnifred Bent of Edgemoor road, took the leading feminine part, that of Mrs. Temple, a jealous wife who was the cause of leading her husband into a tangle of white lies. She showed much ability in the role and fully justified her selection for the part. Mrs. Irving T. (Zula) Cutter, in the part of a companion, played the part of the unmarried sister in love with Captain Sharp to the approval of all, especially the Captain. Her song at the opening of the second act was a pleasing feature which won her further applause.

MISS DOROTHY FESSENDEN

Miss Dorothy Fessenden was another member of the cast who won high favor with the audience. She was the wife of the Pickleton hairdresser, involved in the plot through the telegram sent by Mrs. Temple to the supposedly fictitious address given by Mrs. Temple. Her cockney accent and her insistence that "she was a lady" was well done and furnished a really artistic bit to the performance.

Mr. Kenneth Caldwell, already well known in Winchester amateur theatricals, stepped up another round in the ladder by his well-nigh perfect impersonation of Mr. Fuller, the close

K. OF C. HOME TO BE REFURNISHED

The Building Association of the V. Council K. of C. held a meeting last week and decided to have two of the rooms on the lower floor of their new home refurnished. The alterations on the upper floor will be commenced at an early date. The work of remodeling and refurnishing will be under the direction of Mr. Charles Greco of Everett avenue, a well-known architect of this town. When these improvements are complete the local council will have one of the best clubhouses in this vicinity. The members of the council have worked hard and steady to raise the necessary funds and the result will be an excellent reward.

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending December 23: 1 whooping cough, 1 lobar pneumonia, 1 diphtheria.

This request is made of you in order that every means may be employed to make these records accurate and complete.

GIRL SCOUT, TROOP III, ACTIVITIES

November 26th the scouts were taken in automobiles to Aggazz Museum in Cambridge, and also to the Animal Hospital in Boston. The trip proved to be very interesting and was enjoyed by all.

December 16th, at the regular meeting the scouts pasted picture postal cards of equal size together to send to the Children's hospital in Boston. At the same meeting Rebecca Denison, a member of Patrol II, was presented with her tenderfoot badge, and is the first of the new patrol to receive one.

Friday, December 24th, the scouts are to meet at Captain Downer's with a Christmas dinner for a poor family in town, which, it is hoped, will bring real Christmas cheer to them.

Plans for a hike are being made for a day during the Christmas vacation when the mess-kits, canteens, and haversacks, given by the Machine Gun Co. to the scouts of Troop IV, will be used. The first aid packs will be taken also, but will not be used unless necessary demands it. The scouts extend their grateful thanks to the State Guards for their useful gifts, and are looking forward to using them in the good old summer time, when a number of all day hikes will be held.

EXHIBITING IN NEW YORK

Mr. W. H. W. Bicknell of Arlington street, has on exhibition in the Kennedy Galleries, New York, this month a group of his etchings, prominent among which is a particularly good portrait entitled "The Convalescent." In its weekly book review, the New York Times says: "Mr. Bicknell is an artist of unusual sensitiveness, and the work with him implies strength, not weakness. His frail trees pushing up through snow have the resilience and the simple fibre of New England girlhood. He makes apparent the difference between sky and earth, the weight of the latter and the penetrability of the former, with the least possible insistence upon his differentiations. When he assays a portrait, as in 'The Convalescent,' he works with a sincere and delicate respect for personality. It is a very beautiful art and one that has been appreciated without clamor."

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

The Senior and Junior classes of the High school will present one of the greatest professional successes of recent years, "The Lion and the Mouse" in the Town Hall, Saturday evening, January 8th.

Miss Alice Chapman has been engaged to coach the play. All those who saw Miss Chapman's great success "Under Cover," two years ago will certainly wish to see her second production in this town.

MRS. EDWARD J. CALLAHAN

Mrs. Rose Callahan, wife of Mr. Edward J. Callahan, custodian of the Town Hall, died after a short illness early Wednesday morning. She was 33 years of age.

Mrs. Callahan was a native of Ireland. She had made her home in Winchester for the past fifteen years and leaves besides her husband two children, a little son and daughter. She is also survived by two brothers, Mr. Peter McHugh of Woburn and Mr. Bartholomew McHugh of Medford, and one sister, Miss Catherine McHugh of Chicago.

High mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church this Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY

The costume party to be given by the Calumet Club in the Town Hall on New Year's Eve promises to be the banner event of the holiday season in this town. No expense or pains have been spared to make the evening a thorough success, and the committee in charge is still at work perfecting the details. Tickets have been issued for the capacity of the hall, and from the demand received at the club up to the middle of the week, it appears that every one will be taken. The affair is not to be a formal party, but rather a regular old-fashioned costume party, dance and supper. Prizes are to be awarded for the most original and comical costumes worn by the ladies and gentlemen. A ten piece orchestra will provide the music and a carefully selected concert program will be given from eight to nine o'clock. Dancing will be enjoyed until one.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

At the next regular meeting, Monday December 27th, the entertainment will be given by Miss Gladys Lott. The subject is "Songs and Sketches of Child Life." It is said of her "that she pleases equally the youngest child and the oldest club woman—a wonderful thing to do."

"A Buffet Spread" will be the subject of the next lesson in the cooking class on December 31st. Single tickets may be obtained from the chairman, Mrs. Charles Tarbell, or from Mrs. A. B. Saunders, before that meeting.

The Literature Class held its regular meeting on Monday in the High School library, and spent a pleasant and profitable hour upon the works of Hugh Walpole, the English writer, whose last book "The Captive" has placed him among the leading English authors. Mrs. E. E. Thompson had charge of the program and in a very skillful manner arranged his books in three classes. First, the struggle between the old and the new regime in English society, this was illustrated by a review of "The Green Mirror." Second, those most individual in their psychology, illustrated by "Fortitude." Third, the Russian influence, selections were read from "The Dark Forest." In absolute contrast "Jeremy" a charming study of boy life was reviewed, and to show his wonderful power of phrase making, Mrs. Thompson read from "The Captive." Tea was served.

Mrs. Lazelle who has been a member of this club for several years, took passage for France, her former home, last Saturday. Mrs. Lazelle has taken an active part in club work being chairman of the literature committee for two years. She is a student of the English as well as the French classics, and her enthusiasm has been an inspiration to those who have followed her in this work.

ALBA B. JOHNSON—DEC. 30th

Alba B. Johnson, President of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and President of the Baldwin Locomotive Works from 1908-1919, will talk on the "Present Business Situation" and other live topics of interest at the December meeting of the Men's Club of the First Congregational church, Thursday, December 30th, at 8 p. m.

Mr. Johnson started in the Baldwin Works when a boy and in a very low clerical position. By his perseverance, he rose to be general manager and then president. During his administration, the business increased from a few million per year to over one hundred million. He has made a thorough study of big business, and this is a rare opportunity to hear a Captain of Industry on the critical issues now confronting our nation. Don't miss it! Thursday, December 30th, at 8 p. m.

MRS. SARAH A. DAMON

Mrs. Sarah A. Damon, aged 81 years, passed away at the home of her niece, Miss Mary W. Studley, on Grove street Monday. Mrs. Damon was a native of East Boston and the daughter of William and Mary (Arrowsmith) Watters. Her husband, Henry Damon, died many years ago, and although she had made her permanent home in this town for but three years, she had resided intermittently here for a long time. Besides her niece she leaves one son, Mr. Eugene V. Damon of Somerville. The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Studley home, 12 Grove street, being conducted by Rev. Perry Bush of Chelsea. The burial was in the family lot at Woodlawn.

MRS. CORNELIA H. MARSH

Mrs. Cornelia Hoyt Marsh, widow of the late Sylvester Marsh, aged 94 years, long a well known resident of this town, passed away on Thursday night, December 16th, of infirmities due to her advanced age.

Mrs. Marsh was a native of St. Albans, Vt., and had made her home in this town for about 30 years. She was a member of the First Congregational church and widely known to older residents, although since a fall some fourteen years ago, when she had the misfortune to break her hip, she had been an invalid.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. C. R. Lindstrom of Southboro, Miss Jessie Marsh and Mrs. F. Patterson Smith of this town.

The funeral was held from the home of her daughter Mrs. Smith, at No. 1 Wildwood street, on Saturday afternoon, a simple service being conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational church. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn.

Mrs. Cornelia Hoyt Marsh, aged 94 years, and 6 months passed away on the evening of December 16th. She was born in St. Albans, Vermont, being the daughter of Lumas T. and Lucy Allis Hoyt. She was a member of the First Congregational Church of Winchester, where she had made her home since 1890. For the last eighteen years she had been confined to the house as the result of a fractured hip. Her characteristic reserve and humility would deprecate any words of eulogy, but her children cannot refrain from paying a last tribute to the beauty of her serene spirit, her wonderful patience, and faith under the restrictions of an invalid's life over such a long period of years. She was the widow of Sylvester Marsh of Concord, N. H., and is survived by three daughters, Mrs. C. R. Lindstrom of Southboro, Mass., Miss Jessie Allis Marsh of Swan road, and Mrs. F. Patterson Smith, 1 Wildwood road this town. Services conducted by the Rev. Howard J. Chidley were held at the home of Mrs. Smith on Saturday afternoon, December 18th, followed by cremation at Mt. Auburn.

WINCHESTER THEATRE, INC.

Statement of Directors.

The following extracts from statement appearing in the STAR of November 12th are reprinted by request: The BY-LAWS of the Corporation include the following:

REQUIREMENT that at least two-thirds of the Board of Directors shall be citizens of Winchester; and RESTRICTION in the sale of stock to others than citizens of Winchester, thereby providing for all time against outside control.

PROVISION against operating on Sunday.

A CONDITION that the terms of censorship cannot be revoked or changed by the Corporation, but only by a majority vote of the Board of Censorship. This permanently establishes the Censorship and divorces it from political, corporate and commercial influences. The actual censoring is done, not by the Board of Censorship, but by the Censor under its control, and weeks in advance of production. The policy and standard of censorship is thus secured and maintained by the composite judgment of individuals each of whom represents different professions or organizations in the community. There is no question but that public-spirited citizens representing the several organizations will serve if a license is obtained on this basis.

The question has been asked by several of our subscribers as to our being able to secure films to conform to the requirements of our censorship. Up to a few years ago contracts had to be entered into directly with the producers to take and pay for all films produced by them. Today on account of the tremendous development of, and competition in the production industry, and on account of the building and operation of theatres under varied local requirements in almost every city and town in the country, the situation has entirely changed.

Through booking agencies or middlemen, of which there are sixteen in Boston, separate films from all the manufacturers are obtainable of every kind and nature. Salesmen solicit orders, calling on the managers, and an opportunity is offered to see the films before ordering them. Productions are offered by so many concerns and the competition is so keen that there is every facility for making discriminating selection, which assures varied and attractive entertainments, and this is done weeks ahead of presentation.

In the event of making a contract with one firm for its productions in advance, a form of contract provides that there is no liability to pay for films not accepted by the local censors.

We believe that with our directorate and stock controlled by Winchester people who know their community and all differences between the corporation and the censorship will be eliminated through a mutual appreciation of the high standard required, and the knowledge that the pictures below that standard would injure the commercial success of the enterprise, even if allowed. We believe that our citizens will be more than satisfied, and that a house so conducted will attract the best of out-of-town patronage.

A theatre controlled by citizens of Winchester, if loyal to the best interests of the community, will mean attention to details which might be neglected or ignored by outside ownership. Suitable ventilation to conserve the public health is vital; the modern system of lighting during performances removes a serious objection; good music which continues throughout the entertainment, made effective by right acoustics, is most important; and conservative display advertising should be inoffensive.

These things we, as directors of the Winchester Theatre, Inc., propose to establish and pledge ourselves to maintain, not only for the reason that it is a good business policy and will assure the success of the project, but because we have assumed a serious responsibility in undertaking this enterprise in our home town, and will not be parties in any particular of organization, operation or detail, which will discredit Winchester, our investors, this directorate or ourselves individually.

We believe that the foregoing will merit the approval and have the support of a large majority of the citizens of Winchester and we have therefore completed the incorporation of the company.

The school will open for the winter term January 3rd.

CLEANER MOVIES

Editor of the Star:
The enclosed clipping from the New York Herald should prove of interest to your readers in the present motion picture controversy.

CLEANER MOVIES URGED AT MEETING

Motion Picture Association Advised by Catholic Authority to Cut Out Sex Lure

The blue Sunday is bad, but the bad moving picture is worse, and if the responsible persons don't clean them up the Sunday shows are likely to be suppressed. That was the drift of a discussion at a meeting in the Apollo Theatre yesterday afternoon of the Motion Picture Theatrical Association of the World.

Charles A. McMahon of Washington, chairman of the motion picture committee of the National Catholic Welfare Council, said that Catholics, if given a choice of abolishing Sunday pictures or continuing them as now presented would vote to have them abolished.

"That," he said, "is not a judgment for or against blue laws. It is a judgment in favor of public decency. The lure of the sex has obsessed a great part of the theatrical and motion picture industry. Scarcely a play is presented in which adultery, unfaithfulness, moral laxity or indecent dressing, or undressing, is featured. This rottenness is eating into our body social."

Mr. McMahon held the public blameable, as well as purveyors and promoters of films, and predicted that if the movies were cleaned no blue laws could ever overtake them. But he said the agitation for a Puritan Sunday should be a warning to the movie men.

Worse Than Sunday Movies.

The films were accused liberally of salacity and incitement to crime, but Mrs. Marshall Darrach noted that the exhibitor was not to blame, as he merely displayed the photoplays that were sent to him.

Mrs. John Francis Yawger found her hearers responsive when she said:

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Winchester Boy Scouts have just received the following gifts from the Winchester Machine Gun Company: Eleven cooking outfits; thirty canteens; four revolver holsters; four cartridge belts; twenty-five haversacks; forty-one hats; twenty-one trousers; seventeen coats; two line sets of Morse signal flags, with cases; two fine sets of Semaphore signal flags, with cases; ten pairs of leggings; thirty hat straps; about fifty bags for bedding. These are about the finest gifts the scouts could have—or ever have had. They come in very handy for work now, for scout hikes, and for summer camping.

The scouts send their heartfelt thanks for these gifts.

The swimming competition held Saturday was won by Troop I. Wallace Downer, of Troop I, with 53 points, got first prize for the day, due to his excellent all around swimming and diving. John Martin, his troop mate, with 44 points, was by far the fastest swimmer. Lyman Smith's diving and strong swimming gave him third place with 43½ points, thereby gaining second place for his troop, Troop III, and John Kenerson, as game a waterdog as you'd wish to see, was a close fourth with 42½ points for Troop II, a fine representative for that Troop. Roy Jordan belted out Troop III, as did Arvard Walker with 24 points and Granville Lewis with 4 points. The latter two, with Billy Martin, are going to make strong bids for prizes in the Junior meet.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CALUMET CLUB MEMBERS

Owing to expression of opinion of members of the club on replies received for the New Year's Eve Party to be held at the Town Hall, your committee have decided to make this night a formal dance and supper.

No other changes have been made, only you don't have to bother with a costume, and the committee are doing everything possible to make it the best night of the winter.

It is important that you mail your request for tickets to the treasurer at once, as the number is limited.

In behalf of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League, I wish to thank the people of Winchester who have contributed so generously to the Christmas Seal Sale. The response has been most gratifying, and the amount received is now $391.30, and the money is still coming in.

I also wish to thank the boys and girls who have given me their enthusiastic help in the campaign.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

Monday, December 20, 1920.

The Board met at 7:30 p. m., present Messrs. Kilder, Blackham, Bryne and Dolben.

The records of the meeting of December 13 were read and approved.

Town Meetings: Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck appeared before the Board in regard to having the Board call a special Town Meeting for the purpose of investigating the matter of the high valuation placed on property in Winchester.

After considering the matter, the Board deemed it not for the best interest of the Town to call a special meeting and the Clerk was instructed to write Mr. Tuck to that effect.

Street Lights (Everell Road): After reading a letter from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company and a report by Mr. Bryne, the Board voted to order the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. to install two 60 c. p. incandescent street lights on Everell road, the exact location to be given the Edison Company by the Town Engineer. The Clerk was instructed in the Board's letter to the Edison Company ordering the lights installed to say that the Board wished the work done immediately and at a time when there would be no frost charge as stated in this company's letter might possibly be the case.

Street Lights 1920 (Highland avenue): After a report by the Committee on Street Lights the Board voted to install two 60 c. p. incandescent street lights and relocate another light on Highland avenue in front of the Winchester Hospital, the exact location to be given by the Town Engineer.

Building Lines (Nelson street): A petition signed by John F. O'Connor and twenty others was received for a 30-foot building line on Nelson street. The Board at its meeting held December 13, 1920 voted to hold a hearing in regard to this matter as the Planning Board had previously stated that such petition was forthcoming.

Fence Viewers: The Board nominated Mr. Frederick L. Waldmyer and Wm. A. Nicholson Fence Viewers for the year ending December 31, 1921, nominations to hold over one week.

Moth Superintendent: The Board nominated Mr. Samuel S. Symmes, Moth Superintendent for the Town of Winchester for the year ending December 31, 1921. Mr. Symmes' appointment is subject to the approval of the State Forester.

Forest Warden: The Board nominated Mr. David H. DeCourcy Forest Warden for the Town of Winchester. His appointment is subject to the approval of the State Forester.

The meeting adjourned at 10:50 p. m.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

Friends of Mr. Fred L. Carter, formerly of Falls road, this town, desire to correct the rumor of his death said to have occurred recently. Mr. Carter has not been in good health, but he is alive and passing the winter at his Los Angeles residence.

Miss Adelaide Richardson of Clematis street is convalescing from bronchitis.

Distribution of the new telephone directory will begin early next week. Subscribers will find the book somewhat different from the one they are now using.

The principal changes are printing the first three letters of every Greater Boston exchange name in Gothic capitals, which are separated by a space from the rest of the name, establishing four new central office names and changing the names of four others.

This has been done in order that telephone users may become accustomed to the new style of directory listings which are necessary for the introduction of the machine switching system in one Boston exchange early in 1921.

In the operation of the new apparatus it will only be necessary for subscribers to revolve the dial on the instrument for each of the first three letters in an exchange name and for each digit in the number desired.

Because some of these three letter codes will conflict if all of the present exchange names are continued it has been necessary to change Bellevue to Parkway, Newton South to Center Newton, Newton West to West Newton and Winthrop to Ocean. The new exchange names Copley, Bowdoin, Blackstone and Dewey have been assigned to party line subscribers in Back Bay, Haymarket, Richmond and Beach respectively. Other changes in exchange names will be made in future issues of the directory.

About midnight next Monday the lines of about 750 subscribers now connected with Dorchester central office will be transferred to the Columbia office. The service of no subscriber will be interrupted. The changed listings will appear in the new directory.

The classified section of the book is set four columns to a page instead of three, making a material saving in paper, and the names of individuals and firms have been changed from a Roman type to a full face type.

The issue of the new directory is over 320,000 copies, each book containing 648 pages.

The annual Christmas parties of the Primary and Intermediate departments of the Baptist Sunday School were held yesterday afternoon, that for the little folks being at three and the intermediate scholars enjoying theirs at seven. In addition to the tree there were Christmas programmes of singing and special features.

friend and advisor of the troubled Mr. Temple. He proved himself a fluent liar in such a gentlemanly way that really none of his audience had the heart to condemn him. In fact if one might judge from their expression, they condoned with him in his ability—or misfortune. As a butler, Harry Bigelow left nothing to be desired. Letter perfect and "to the manner born," he furnished the bulk of the levity from start to finish. Called upon to make an impromptu speech in the third act, through the deviation of the flowers planned for presentation to Mrs. Edlefson, he acquitted himself admirably and gave evidence that he could do other things than "those which he was about to do."

Mr. Vincent Clark played Mr. Temple. He had a good stage presence, and a rather difficult part was well acted. Leaning upon the advice of his friend Fuller, he waded courageously into the deep water of matrimonial fibbing, keeping his courage high clear to the shore.

Another feminine role, that of Mrs. Fuller, the innocent partner of Mr. Temple at the start of the trouble, was well taken by Mrs. D. W. (Marie) Comins, while Mr. Saltmarsh as the cockney hairdresser, bent upon conquest through the receipt of the telegram, was another good bit. Mr. Allan Wood, Jr., proved himself an ardent lover in the guise of the irascible Captain Sharp, and gave proof that he knew how to bluff in peace as well as war.

A feature of the evening was the musical program, excellently rendered by the Commonwealth Orchestra. During the evening candy was sold by the young lady ushers, the group including Miss Mary Fitch, Miss Helen Woods, Miss Phyllis Fitch, Miss Elizabeth Fitch, Miss Georgianna Crawford, Miss Georgianna Waters, Miss Sally Thompson, Miss Frances Boone, Miss Ruth Whittington, Miss Virginia Moorman, Miss Phoebe May, Miss Helen Bowe, Miss Phyllis Tutein, and Miss Esther Lombard.

The play was in charge of Mrs. William F. Edlefson, assisted by Mrs. Frank H. Merrill, Mrs. F. E. Hovey, Mrs. Arthur C. Lombard, Mrs. John R. Fauser, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, Mrs. John H. McAlman, Mrs. Frederick B. Reynolds and Mrs. William H. Bowe.

The cast was as follows:
Mrs. Temple Miss Winifred Bent
Mr. Temple Vincent Clarke
Mr. Fuller Kenneth Caldwell
Miss Dorothy Zula Cutter
Mrs. Fuller Marie Comins
Wigson Harry Bigelow
Mr. Brown Sherman Saltmarsh
Mrs. Brown Dorothy Fessenden
Captain Sharpe Allan Wood, Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard W. Sheehy received the sympathy of many friends this week over the death of their little daughter, Marcella Mary, who passed away at the Winchester hospital Monday night. The little one was four years old and her death was due to appendicitis. The services were held yesterday morning, the burial being at Calvary cemetery, Montvale.

PUBLIC SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

Evening Schools

The Americanization classes of the evening school held a party Tuesday night at the Chapin School. About thirty are enrolled in these classes and nearly all were present. The musical program consisted of several selections by a trio composed of two members of the school and a friend, they playing the guitar, mandolin, and banjo, a group of songs and a demonstration of several bugle calls by Henry Chapman, and violin selections by Miss Charlotte Barnes. Mrs. Wm. A. Lefavour played the accompaniments and furnished music for the games which came at the end of the program.

Mr. Chas. A. Lane gave a most instructive talk on coal and coal-mining. He had much to tell which was of interest to all present. His sincere words of encouragement to the men and women of these classes who are making an effort for an education were appreciated by pupils and teachers alike.

Refreshments were furnished by the League of Women Voters, the committee in charge being under the direction of Mrs. C. N. Dennett. Members of the school, Joseph De Orio, Paul Amico and Frank Ciruso, assisted in serving the refreshments.

The playing of the trio for dancing was greatly appreciated.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed. This is the first of several socials which the school plans to have. The classes meet regularly three times a week and are making splendid progress in their work. The townspeople are invited to visit the school and get in touch with the work there.

Miss Tapley, the school nurse, Mr. DeCourcy our Fire Chief, and Mr. Sparrow of Boston have already spoken to these classes, and other talks of a civic nature will be given this month.

"You talk about immoral and pernicious motion pictures but how about those that insult the ordinary intelligence of the spectator?" She thought the public was tired of the phenomenon of the frail girl with the tiny pistol who held three or four strong men at bay. But closing the movies on Sunday merely would increase crime and immorality, she contended. Murder, for instance.

Mrs. Yawger wondered if the public knew how many of the men in Sing Sing were there because they had shot and killed their best friends on a Sunday afternoon over a game of cards. No movies, more card games, and so more murdering of one's best friend. And, Mrs. Yawger added, our maid servants are much better off on a Sunday in a warm movie theatre and enjoying themselves than they are sitting in a cold park with their gentlemen friends.

Dr. Clark in Helpful Mood.

The Rev. Dr. Howard E. Clark, pastor of a Congregational church in Plainfield, N. J., and the man who said recently he'd rather have his son drink two glasses of beer than witness an improper motion picture, confessed that he was not interested in blue laws, because he did not believe any group could, as he said, "put them over." He said that the International Reform Bureau, of which Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts is the head, did not consider a blue campaign in its meeting in Washington last week and that it is not in the bureau's programme. If the movies were ever forbidden they themselves would be to blame, Dr. Clark said, just as the saloon brought about the prohibition of liquor. But for his part he wanted, to help save the motion picture industry, he added.

John A. Quinn, president of the M. P. T. A., was chairman of the meeting. The M. P. T. A. had told the newspapers Mrs. Ellen O'Grady would be there to tell what she found out about the movies when she was Deputy Police Commissioner and that Gutzon Borglum and Augustus Thomas would also speak, but none of these was visible.

ALUMNI WIN 30-15

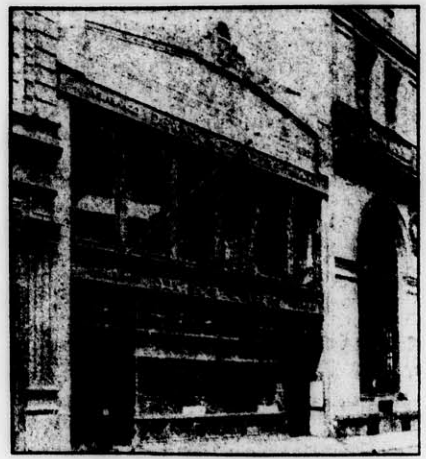

In a fast rough game of basketball played at the High School gymnasium the Alumni defeated the school team decisively before a large crowd of spectators. The score gives a good comparison of the work of the two teams. The score was close all during the first half, first one team taking the lead and then the other. At the end of the half the score was 12 to 8 in favor of the Alumni. In the second half the Alumni aggregation made a number of substitutions and came back strong, the game ending with the score 30 to 15 in their favor. The game was interesting from the spectator's point of view because it was anybody's game most of the way.

The Alumni team included Van French, Skinner, Raynor, Geo. Black, S. Eldredge, E. Kibbe, R. Kibbe, P. Hart and Cullen. They were practically all in first class physical condition from having been in training for either football or basketball in their respective colleges.

For the High School the line-up included Grav, J. Mathews, H. Henneberger, J. Tansy, A. Winer, R. Mortenson and A. French.

French, Raynor, Skinner, Cullen and Eldredge starred for the winners while Captain Winer played the best game for the High School.

The Parker Bodwell Chapter, J. S. and D., of the Revolution, met at the home of their director Mrs. Watson M. Gordon, 359 Highland avenue, on Saturday afternoon. The Chapter voted to send five dollars to the Children's Hospital Fund, and five dollars to the European Children's Fund. Members of the Chapter are to give the play, "The Greatest Plague in Life," at the Vendome on New Year's Day. After a social hour with refreshments the meeting was adjourned.

KOBE, OSAKA, AND YOKOHAMA

"Eastern questions will hereafter become for many members of Congress more realistic and understandable and therefore sympathetically treated, after their visit to the commercial cities of Japan," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, the fourth of a series dealing with the itinerary of the Congressional party's trip to the Orient.

Kobe, Osaka, and Yokohama will proudly display for American observation their busy factories with their interesting products, and bustling docks where junks plying inland water and foreign bound steamers are gorging and disgorging freight.

It is probable too, that these visitors will enter the busy city of Kobe after a charming trip through the Inland Sea, that picturesque landlocked basin with four channels to the outer sea, a fairyland of islands covered with temples and trees which is famous in Japanese song and story. One writer has called it the Gem of the World. Certainly it is one of the most beautiful sea routes in the world.

Kobe, with its 2,741 acres of excellent harbor, which in modern, up-to-date fashion has been divided systematically into sections for junks, merchant vessels, and for the dreadnaughts of the Japanese Navy, is the most attractive of the treaty ports and has within the last few years shot ahead of Yokohama in the volume of its commerce, its total trade being about 40 per cent of the whole trade of the country. It ships copper, matches, rice, straw, hemp, chip braids for hats, matings, camphor, tea and cotton yarn, and yearly enough passengers land on its docks to make a city the size of Seattle, Kansas City, or Providence.

This port, which is now so attractively situated on the hill slopes running down to the sea, was merely a group of fishing huts about fifty years ago when it was first opened to foreign commerce.

And a hard time, so tradition tells us, the inhabitants of Hyogo, the old part of the city, had in the twelfth century attempting to make their water front a place of protection for even their small boats and fishing junks. While trying to build the harbor, so the story goes, Kiyomori, the actual ruler of the country, found that embankments washed away as soon as he built them. Upon consulting a fortune-teller he was advised that a sacrifice of human beings, who must be buried alive, would propitiate the angry sea-gods who were causing the destruction. Thirty strangers were ordered seized as victims, but Matsuo, a page of Kiyomori, offered himself as a substitute. With the gallant youth, a stone slab bearing an inscription was buried to tell of his heroism. The harbor was then successfully completed.

Osaka, which has been styled because of its numerous canals and bridges the Venice of the East, is one of the three Imperial cities, and has a population of a million. Here is located the Japanese mint covering 40 acres, a shipyard having a 1000-foot frontage, and important factories which make cotton cloth, glass, iron and steel products, boots and shoes, matches, and tobacco products. Most of the trade of Osaka, however, since the harbor is unsuited for large vessels, is with the interior.

From Japan's other important port, Yokohama, where Commodore Perry first entered the country in 1854, it is probable that the American party will leave. As the transport steams out from the city and the picturesque little towns about the harbor fade into the haze, the majestic form of Fuji-yama, the sacred mountain, will still tower in the distance. For those who have climbed its rugged height in the dark before dawn to see the sun rise in splendor over its rim and have peered into the crater of the old volcano, the picture is one they will be glad to bring home with them in their hearts.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

An empty head contains many surprises.

It appears to me that one of the greatest needs in our country today is less cars on the highway and more on the railroad.

If a man should land on a desert island he would probably find that coconuts are higher today than they used to be.

Every wise man takes his turn at acting foolish.

The officers of the Winchester Board of Trade who are giving so freely of their time and energy to matters which affect the welfare of our community should be made to feel that all other good citizens are standing squarely behind them. All local business men, not only should be members of the board but should manifest a personal interest in the work being done by attending such meetings as that which will be held at White's Hall at 6.30 next Tuesday evening, December 28. After the supper which will give those present an opportunity to become better acquainted in a neighborly fashion that live of live topics, the new building laws of Winchester will be turned over to those present for discussion. All citizens whether members of the board of trade or not are invited to be present at this discussion which will start about 8 o'clock. Unless the officials of the board of trade receive the personal endorsement of fellow citizens they cannot know whether their efforts are being appreciated or not. When men are unselfish enough to take time from their own personal businesses and use it in public service the least their fellow citizens can do is to meet with them once a month and give them an occasional word of praise.

The STAR wishes its readers a Merry Christmas.

In loving memory of our darling, Francis A. Roberts, who passed away December 23, 1917

LOVE NEVER DIES

Although three years since Frankie passed away
We think of him, speak of him and miss him every day
We dream we see his dear, sweet face
And kiss his still, cold brow
But in our aching hearts we know,
We have no Frankie now.

Gone but not forgotten by Father and Mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schmitt.

SKATING

Skating is good on all ponds in this vicinity. Practically all of the smaller ponds, including Long Pond, are safe but one ice is thin on the larger ponds, including Wedge Pond. Wedge is being used, and with weather below freezing should be safe for Christmas.

Rev. Brower Eddy spoke Tuesday evening at a public meeting at the First Baptist Church, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, on the relief and missionary work in the East. The pageant, "Lighting the Christmas Candles," by the young folks, was given. Mrs. Robert Barr sang a number of Christmas carols. Refreshments were served after the meeting, which was held in the interest of the Christmas gift for Oriental colleges.

The Christmas tree Sunday School entertainments of the Second Congregational, First Baptist, and Methodist Episcopal Churches took place yesterday afternoon and in the early evening. The senior and junior departments of the First Congregational Church Sunday School are to sing Christmas carols around the town on Christmas eve.

Mrs. C. Francis Liscomb of Lexington, formerly a resident of this town, was shot by a highwayman on Wednesday night at 9.45 while sitting in her automobile with a Somerville man. The attack occurred while the auto was standing on the drive leading from the Mystic Valley Parkway to the Medford Boat Club. Mrs. Liscomb was struck in the forehead, the bullet causing a dangerous, but not fatal wound. According to stories of the affair the bandit ordered the couple to hold up their hands and almost immediately fired the shot, after which he ran away. Mrs. Liscomb was able to drive her car to the house of a friend farther down the Parkway, where she collapsed and the hold-up reported to the police, who are still working on the case. Mrs. Liscomb had made her home with her husband here for several years. They recently moved to Lexington.

The children's bubble blowing sport can be greatly improved by adding half a teaspoonful of glycerin to each quart of water. This gives tenacity to the bubbles.

LOCAL CENSORSHIP THE BEST

Editor of the Star:

I was interested in the two clippings from the Stoneham Independent reprinted in the Star last week, and headed "What Will Stoneham Do?" It seems to me that two very important points are brought out by them.

The first is that the local hit-a-miss censorship which inspects the films at the time they are presented is entirely inadequate and unsatisfactory both to the public and the theatre management.

As I understand it the plan proposed for Winchester provides that the censors must approve at least one week in advance of production, and as a matter of fact will pass on films six or eight weeks in advance at the time the contract is made for each picture. And while he acts individually he is responsible to a Board, representative of different organizations and interests, which decides on a definite policy and insists that the censor lives up to it.

The Police Commissioner of Boston is appointed by and responsible to the Governor and Council in the conduct of his office which would otherwise be subject to the influences of crime, graft and city politics. The Winchester censorship is on the same basis, and if Stoneham could have had its theatre organized and operated in this way, it would be free from criticism. The correspondent says the movies seem to be the only public recreation center, and wants to keep them but he wants them right.

The second point I wish to make is that being surrounded by towns which have inadequate censorship is the strongest argument for having a theatre of our own under a local management and control which will mean only the best, and which will obviate the necessity of our having to chase out of town with the risk of seeing a poor or bad show.

The movies have got to come, why not now when they will be under the right auspices? Later we may not be so fortunate.

Yours truly,
Robert F. Whitney.

HORSE SHOT IN FELS

A valuable horse owned by Mr. Thomas V. Marx of Medford, was shot by Sgt. Thomas F. McCauley Sunday afternoon on Border road, near the residence of Mr. Richard S. Taylor. The animal stumbled and broke his leg on the rough going near the old Greeley pasture. At first it was thought his leg was only dislocated, and Dr. Buckley was called. Examination revealed a bad break, however, and there was no alternative except to shoot him.

WELL ON ROAD TO WEALTH

Farmer Undoubtedly Has a Great Scheme Unless Some Indignant Motorist Should "Catch On."

Straight ahead lay a long, straight stretch of road, and the man at the wheel of the car settled down in his seat. It was evident he was preparing for a sprint.

But before he was well under way an honest-eyed old farmer stepped from the roadside toward him and held out a detaining hand.

"Thowt mebbe ye would be a-goin' to go full steam ahead," he remarked casually when the car slid to a standstill.

The motorist nodded in reply. "Well, just take a look through these at that tree over the bend," went on the farmer, producing an elderly pair of field glasses, "and happen ye'll change your mind."

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the motorist when the glasses disclosed a blue trousered figure perched on a branch in the tree. "I say, thanks most awfully!"

There was the sound of coin clinking on coin and then the motorist venturately down the road at about six miles an hour. And at the beginning of the clear stretch of roadway the honest-eyed farmer was counting his cash.

"The idea o' carting the old scarecrow from the orchard and perching it in that ere tree works out pretty well!" he chuckled as he heard another car approaching.—London Tit-Bits.

Moleosophy.

"Moleosophy" is the delineation of character and reading of the past and future by means of moles upon the human face and body. It is an even more ancient occult science than that of palmistry.

NINTH ANNUAL PARTY

A "get-together" meeting and entertainment was held Monday evening under the auspices of the Winchester Post 97, American Legion, at White's Hall, of which William E. Ramsdell is post commander and Louis Goddu adjutant. The entertainment included selections by an orchestra led by T. E. Cullen, popular songs by Fred Fisher's "songsters," song and dance acts by Moses Loveglass and Canadian dialect stories by James B. Trasher. "Chow" was served at the close of the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Welch of 934 Main street are the parents of a daughter, born last week at the Winchester Hospital.

A daughter was born last week at the Winchester Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Peel of 34 Pickering street.

Eugene Farrow, Paper Hanger, Room 5, Lycum Building. Nov. 5 t.f.

The ninth annual New Year's party under the leadership of Dr. Chas. H. Tozier will leave next week by special train for the Eagle Mountain House, Jackson, N. H. The party numbers about 125 members, and is made up of people from Winchester and surrounding towns. A very fine programme of both outdoor and indoor sports will be carried out as well as the "Third Degree" for new members, a masked ball on "New Year's Eve," and a Town Meeting on Saturday night.

The whole hotel is reserved for the party and a very fine time is anticipated.

Miss Beaudet, 294 Boylston street, Boston, wishes to announce that her stock of waists will be sold at cost after Christmas, as she intends in the future to carry only the Clarissa Smart Frocks for Little Folks. 1t Thunder and Lightning.

Thunder always follows lightning because of the electric discharge, as it breaks its way through the atmosphere, instantaneously heats the air in its path. This sudden heating causes a violent expansion of the air along the path of the lightning flash and a violent compression of the cool air farther away. This process starts a great air wave, which is the thunder. When a lightning flash occurs near by, the sharp, cracking reports come from its branches, and the heavy crash comes from the trunk of the flash.

Aristocratic Swallow.
The swallow comes from an old and aristocratic family and has the honor of being named several times in the Bible, which is not strange, as his tribe skimmed the soft air of Palestine. He appeared in literature way back in the time of Aristotle, who said, "One swallow maketh not a spring," a proverb translated into all languages. The swallow was honored by a special holiday given to the children of Attica to celebrate his arrival.

Railroad Mystery.
Why does a train that starts out from a station as if it were really going somewhere, suddenly stop? It never goes far enough so that it couldn't have known beforehand that it might have to stop at that particular place. This being so, why doesn't the train wait until it is assured that it will go on without stopping? Nobody knows. Probably nobody will ever know.—Life.

Improved Umbrella Construction.
Mechanically simple as an umbrella is, it must generally be taken all apart to repair a broken rib or stretcher, and the task is beyond most owners says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A Brooklyn inventor has improved on the usual construction by inserting the end of each rib and stretcher between a pair of metal ears on the notch and runner members, using a short wire with bent ends for the pivot.

"Walking Fish."

This name is given to an eel-like fish of the snake-head family, on account of the fact that it spends some time on land. It is common in the fresh waters of the East Indies and China, and has a double respiratory apparatus, enabling it to breathe in or out of water.

Bird Outruns Horse.
Anyone who has traveled through western Texas becomes familiar with the mesquite tree, or, as it is sometimes grows, a shrub. In some places where it may grow to be 30 or 40 feet high, it is commonly known as the chaparral, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. Here it is scrubby and masses into dense clumps, it being the home of that famous bird the "road-runner" or chaparral cock, and other species. The road runner is really a big ground cuckoo, that only takes to flight when hard pressed, while on open ground it can run so fast that an ordinary horse cannot keep up.

One of the most remarkable records in the annals of pugilism was that of Jem Mace, who lost two contests out of 500.

FROM ENGLAND

Editor of the Star:
The following clipping is from the "Manchester Guardian," England.

THE BLAMELESS KINEMA

[The Recorder of Newcastle-under-Lyme, on inquiring the reason for several remarkable light criminal lists, was informed by the police that the picture theatres had an excellent effect in removing people from the temptations of the streets and public-houses.]

Let all those baseless charges feed the fire,
Let all those ancient slanders be repented!
For any little faults the films inspire
Are nothing to the crimes that they've prevented.

Bring forth the halos and the white attire
What time the voice of Justice, unresented, Asserts that vice, diverted from its groove,
Is deflected into virtue by the movies.

Behind an empty bar the potmen stand
While William Hart a nobler thirst arouses;
Applause for Charlie rings from many a hand
That might be burgling other people's houses;

Enthralled the cracksmen fails his waiting band
And rude rough men forget to beat their spouses;
Old lags are lured on Tarzan's invitation,
At least three reels the nearer to salvation.

O Pickford, Chaplin, Nazimova, Gish—
Names that should be on every prelate's tongue—
What dizzy heights are these, what art could wish
A loftier sphere, a higher moral rung?

Could any facts more eloquently dish
Your critics and efface the mud they slung?
Rings forth this upshot of your ancient quarrel—
"Attend the movies nightly and be moral!"

Tuesday afternoon's matches in the ladies' bowling tournament at the Calumet Club were hard fought from start to finish. An interesting match was that between teams 3 and 9. Team 3 won the first string by one pin, lost the second by one pin and finally, in a roll-off, won the total points by a small margin. Team 11, which took two points from 8, lost the odd string by but four pins, while team 6, in taking two from 7, lost the first string by 12. The individual work was good all along the line. Mrs. Parsons headed the list with a total of 176, 93 being her highest string. Mrs. Carlton rolled 171 with 90; Mrs. Kneeland 170 with 89; Mrs. Priest 91; Mrs. Hatch 89; Mrs. Simonds, Mrs. Towne and Mrs. Goddu 85 each; Mrs. Breen and Mrs. Nash 84 each and Miss Barnes 82.

VERA CRUZ: TRAVERSING A CONTINENT IN 75 MILES

"While fully aware of the high percentage of error most sweeping assertions contain, I nevertheless venture to claim that the country lying between the cities of Vera Cruz and Mexico City possesses more varied natural attractions than any other area of similar extent in the world."

This is the statement of Frank M. Chapman, in a communication to the National Geographic Society, concerning Vera Cruz, which figures so conspicuously in news dispatches from Mexico. Dr. Chapman continues:

"Be one student or tourist, there can be no question that one should enter Mexico from the Gulf. A journey from the coast to the capital follows a natural succession of climatic zones, as well as the sequence of early historic events."

The day, indeed, should begin at sunrise, some hours before disembarking at Vera Cruz, with a hope that one may have the rare good fortune to see the first rays of the sun touch the summit of Mt. Orizaba, the first, as it will be among the most lasting of ones impressions of Mexico. The shore is still some 50 about 100 miles, and one is with difficulty convinced that the gleaming pink cloud high above the horizon is part of the still invisible earth beneath it. Doubtless the Aztecs were not familiar with this view of Mt. Orizaba, but from no other place is their name for it—Citlaltapetl, the Star Mountain—so applicable.

Nearly every little raft of guilf-weed shelters a swarm of small fish; near the Aros keys the black and white gannets, which evidently live there, are abundant, and occasional herring gulls, sooty or bridled terns, and frigate birds are seen, while at frequent intervals flying fish, flushed by the steamer, spring from beneath the bow and scale away. One exceptionally calm morning, when the Gulf was glassy smooth, we could see them from the bow of our ship, swimming ahead a foot or two beneath the surface.

Time was when Vera Cruz was dreaded as a pest-hole, and trains at once took one from the steamer up the Sierra on the way to Mexico City, usually as far as Orizaba. Now, however, sanitary conditions and hotel accommodations have been so improved that one may stay here without danger or discomfort. At least, one should remain overnight to begin the trip toward the table-land early in the morning, and thus be able to see every foot of this remarkable journey.

In our journey from the Gulf to the summit of the Sierra, we pass through Tropical, Temperate, and Boreal zones—the Tierras Calientes, Templada, and Fria, of the native. Our actual journey, in passing from sea-level to snow line, may be a matter of 75 miles, our change of altitude approximately three miles; but if we were to seek the Canadian Zone, not on mountain top, but on the coast, it would be necessary for us to travel to Maine or Nova Scotia. In other words, a journey of some 1500 miles would be required to reach conditions which are here distant but three altitudinal miles.

It follows, then, that one can actually stand in a tropical jungle, where parrots, trogons, toucans, and other equatorial birds are calling from the liana-draped trees, and look upward to forests of pines and spruce, where crossbills, juncos, pine siskins, and evening grosbeaks are among the common permanently resident species. Later we may ascend to the snows on Orizaba to discover at approximately what altitude the palms of the Tierra Caliente give way to the oaks of the Tierra Templada, to be in turn replaced by the spruces of the Tierra Fria."

DO FISHES TALK?

Recent speculation about a monkey language gives rise to this even more startling theory, hinted at by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, in a communication to the National Geographic Society.

"Talk," of course, is used in the sense of communication; a meaning which is not extreme since we daily speak of "talking" over the telephone, the instrument of Dr. Bell's invention, though the "voice" that is heard is not that of the speaker, but a mechanical reproduction of his utterance.

Did you ever put her head under water and check two stones to see what the sound is like?" Dr. Bell writes. "If you have never done that, try it, and you'll get a new sensation. I did it once, and it sounded as if a man were hammering for all he was worth at my very ear."

I then took two tiny little pebbles and tapped them together quite lightly under water, and it sounded like a man knocking at the door. It was rather startling to hear such a loud noise from such a slight cause.

Reflecting upon various experiments, the thought occurred: If two little stones tapped together can be heard under water, why, every tiny lobster that snaps his claws must make an audible click. I wonder if there are creatures in the water that signal to one another by sound.

Well, I had occasion to try it once. Bathing in the Grand River in Ontario a great many years ago, I put my head very gently under water and listened, and, as I have said, "tick, tick," came a sound like a grasshopper's chirrup, and a little while after that a chirrup on the other side. There were creatures under the water that were calling to one another.

I don't know whether all fish make sounds or not, but there are some fish that certainly do. The drumfish on our coast drums away in the water so loudly that you can hear him while you are walking on the shore.

It is also a significant fact that all fish have ears. Why should they have ears if there is nothing for them to hear?

Of this we may be certain—that there is a whole world of sound beneath the waves waiting to be explored.

Three-quarters of the earth's surface is under water and has not yet been explored, at least to any great degree."

To Whiten Doorsteps.

The following preparation for whitening doorsteps is a great labor saver, as only very hard rain will remove it: Place one pound of powdered lime in a saucepan, with one and one-half pints of water, and melt over a slow fire. When dissolved, add one pound of powdered whitening, stirring it in gradually. Put this mixture on the steps with a strong brush, and if it is too stiff add a little more water.

Custom of Wearing Shoes.

The sandal, the earliest and simplest shoe, was known by the most primitive races and was certainly worn by the ancient Egyptians. The Hittites wore shoes, often with gaiters above to protect the ankle and calf of the leg.

H. C. ROBINSON.

RAILROAD MAN FOR FIFTY YEARS

H. C. Robinson Began in Machine Shop of Old Boston & Lowell
Now at Head of South Division of Boston & Maine

To many life is a constant process of readjustment; others, ignoring the cynical smile on the lips of Father Time, are seized with the mania of uplifting, single-handed, the world; again—there are those who just work and serve and believe. In this last class comes Henry C. Robinson, acting superintendent of the southern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, veteran of 50 years' railroad service.

The assistant city editor said: "Mr. Robinson of the B. & M. has been in the business 50 years. Go get it!" (Meaning the interview, of course.)

Half Century on Job
"Woof, woof," grunted the news-gatherer, and boarded a trolley car for the North station. And then it dawned upon him. Fifty years! More than half a lifetime. Surely, Mr. Robinson would have some message to the younger generation, a philosophy to guide the ways of the beginners on life's vocational journey. And here it is, just as Mr. Robinson spoke it: "We are all here to make the world a little better for our having been here."

Then the conversation drifted to the earlier days in railroad history; when the 30-ton engine caused more wonderment than the 200-ton engine of to-day. With typical New England humor, Mr. Robinson described the wood-burning stoves in the early railroad cars, and added: "The ventilators were located directly above the windows. And there was no half-way ventilation, either. They were either open or shut. One minute you were inhaling nature's tonic of ozone, and the other you were coughing in an atmosphere of smoke."

The electrification of railroads in this section of the country is rather far off, in the opinion of the southern division head. He pointed out that immediate elimination of steam-propelled locomotives would mean that all the present engines would have to be junked. He doubted whether saving of operating expenses by means of electrification would make up for the cost of new engines and other equipment.

Mr. Robinson has great faith in the New England roads and maintains, with the technical knowledge available after his many years in the service, that the roads are progressing as fast as is reasonable. He spoke of rolling stock as a sailor alludes to ships, as if they were persons and had eyes and ears and feelings. For let it be known that to Mr. Robinson a locomotive is the most interesting thing in the world. They are a part of him, as he himself expressed it.

"No one," says he, "can put in 50 years in my line of business without his senses becoming perfectly attuned to the puff of the locomotive and the tick-tick of the telegrapher's key."

Old Boston & Lowell
Fifty years ago Mr. Robinson entered the machine shop of the old Boston & Lowell railroad in East Cambridge. He sought employment only as a means to learn the machinist's trade, without any serious thought of becoming a railroad man. But fate took a hand. His abilities were soon recognized, and he was promoted to a clerical position in the freight office. A few months later and he was appointed superintendent clerk. While serving in this capacity, Mr. Robinson studied telegraphy, and became proficient enough to install the train dispatching system of the old Boston & Lowell. When the B. & M. leased the Boston & Lowell about 15 years ago, Mr. Robinson became chief train dispatcher. He held this position until 1895, when he was made assistant superintendent of the southern division of the Boston & Maine. Then it was only a step to the office of superintendent of the division. Shortly before federal control he was made superintendent of outside operations. With the coming of government control, however, and the elevation of Mr. Mooney, the superintendent of the southern division, to central superintendent, Mr. Robinson was induced to resume his work at the head of the Southern Division under the title of a acting superintendent.

Mr. Robinson's business headquarters are now at Concord, N. H. He makes his home at 17 Winthrop st., Winchester, with his wife. A son is in business in Worcester.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

December 27, 1920

The Board met at 7.30 P. M. Present Messrs. Kidder, Blackham, Dolben and Parsons.

The records of the meetings of December 29, December 21 and December 23 were read and approved.

Legal Department, Town Counsel. Mr. Addison R. Pike appeared in person to accept the position of Town Counsel. He has been appointed by the Board to serve in this capacity, his appointment to take effect January 1, 1921.

Fence Viewers: Under provisions of Chapter 291, Section 13 of the Acts of 1918 the Board appointed Mr. Frederick L. Waldmeyer and Mr. William A. Nicholson, nominated at the last meeting, as Fence Viewers for the year ending December 31, 1921.

Street Lights 1920, Highland Avenue. A letter was received from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company acknowledging the Board's order for the installation of two 60 c. p. street lights on Highland Avenue near the Winchester Hospital. The matter will be given early attention the letter states.

Building Lines (Washington Street) Mr. Wm. R. McIntosh as constable of the Town of Winchester made his return of service of notice in regard to the hearing to be held January 3, 1921, at 8.15 p. m. in the Selectmen's Room on the proposed establishment of a building line on both sides of Washington street from Main street to Lebanon street excepting that part of Washington street between the Mystic Valley Parkway and the Johnson Plot on the westerly side of said street.

The meeting adjourned at 10.30. George S. F. Abbot, Clerk of Selectmen.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM AT CALUMET CLUB

The next meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters will be held at the Calumet Club on Dix street on Thursday, January 6, at 2.30 o'clock. This meeting will be in charge of the legislative committee.

Proposed legislation affecting women and children which will come before the Massachusetts legislature this year will be discussed.

It has been the aim of the committee to have both sides of every bill presented. This has been impossible to arrange, however, as in some cases no one could be procured at this date to appear in active opposition.

Mrs. L. B. Rantoul of the Women's Trade Union League will speak in favor of raising the compulsory school age of children to 16 years. A representative of the Associated Industries Association may appear in opposition.

Mr. Lyman V. Rutledge, representing the Massachusetts Civic League, will present the bill concerning Physical Education in the Public Schools, and Dr. Merrill Champion of the State Board of Health will speak on the proposed Maturity Bill. It is hoped that the opposition to both these bills will be heard.

There will be a business meeting from 2.30 to 3 p. m., and at 3 the program will commence. At the close of the meeting tea will be served.

Every member of the league is urged not to miss this meeting as it is a particularly interesting one to women, and because of their direct influence on legislation this year, a large attendance is expected.

Board of Trade Holds Dinner and Discusses Building Laws

There was a big attendance at the regular dinner and meeting of the Winchester Board of Trade in White's Hall on Tuesday night, a number of guests arguing the regular membership on the occasion of the informal discussion of the new building laws recently adopted by the Town.

About 50 members and guests sat down to dinner at 6.30. President Arthur T. Downer presided and opened the business meeting at 7.45, the minutes of the last meeting, report of the committee on additional lighting at the Hospital and a slight change in the By-Laws constituting the business transacted. A vote of thanks was offered the Selectmen for the prompt attention of the board in the lighting matter.

Mr. Roland H. Sherman of the committee on the War Memorial was the first speaker, he giving an interesting talk on the proposed project of placing the Memorial on Manchester Field.

Mr. George A. Rich, secretary of the Boston Stock Exchange, followed Mr. Sherman. Mr. Rich spoke in the absence of Mr. Frederick S. Snyder on the plans and recommendations of the Asso. for the Promotion and Protection of Savings, Inc. He gave an interesting talk on the aims of the organization, developed with the idea of advising the small investor and protecting such investors from the fraudulent schemes which spring up at times of idle capital. He stated that the need of new capital was bound to be the greatest need of all for the next four years. As capital is based upon savings, savings should be protected through its need, as idle funds were productive of wild speculation.

At the close of his talk President Downer introduced the most interesting subject of the evening which could not be developed. He felt that in small construction, where a contractor could prepare his own plans, it was not necessary that he should be required to file two sets of plans with elevations, etc. He thought one

ADDISON R. PIKE, TOWN COUNSEL

Mr. Addison R. Pike has accepted the office of counsel for the town, succeeding Mr. Ralph E. Joslin, resigned. Mr. Pike will enter upon his new duties January 1st.

ENGINEER STRICKEN AT WINCHESTER

Engineer Charles Bascom of train No. 332, due at Winchester at 6.53 p. m. was stricken with "walking pneumonia" Christmas eve, was taken from his locomotive and sent to the Winchester Hospital, where he died an hour later.

The train was an hour late on the run from Concord, N. H., and reached Winchester at about eight o'clock. Engineer Bascom stuck to the throttle as far as the local station, when he brought his train to a stop. He was assisted from the cab by his fireman and Baggage Master Larry Smithman, and Dr. Mead was called. It needed but a brief examination to determine that he was suffering from an advanced case of pneumonia, and Dr. Mead ordered him removed at once to the hospital. Selectman Arthur A. Kidder's auto was at the station and he, assisted by Joseph McCauley, took the engineer to the Highlands. His condition was so serious that he lived only an hour after his arrival.

The train was a long one and the engineer stopped with his locomotive just at the station, it being necessary for the fireman to take charge and pull the train down so that the cars cleared the center crossing. The fireman later ran the train to Boston, a volunteer taking his regular job in the cab.

Mr. Bascom was a veteran of the B. & M. force, having been in the employ of the road for years. He resided at Swampscott, although he had previously made his home at Stoneham, where he was well known. When he took his train at Concord he appeared in his usual health, but as the train approached Winchester the fireman noticed that he failed to sound the station whistles for Montvale and Winchester Highlands, and appeared to have difficulty with his breathing. He stuck it out as far as Winchester centre before giving up, however.

GARAGE AND AUTO BURNED

A wooden garage and a Chevrolet touring car were burned on Monday night when fire consumed them at the home of H. W. Bennett, 36 Highland Avenue. How the fire started is a mystery. The car was placed in the garage at seven and at 12.30 a member of the family residing next door was awakened and saw the flames. At that time the building was a mass of flames. Word was immediately telephoned the central fire station and transmitter box 65 was rung in. This box is used for the section surrounding the Winchester Hospital.

The place is located directly opposite the Hospital at the top of the Fallon hill, and the fire was seen from many parts of the town. The fire apparatus made a quick run to the scene, notwithstanding the heavy going, and its work was chiefly directed to saving the adjoining dwelling which was in serious danger of burning. In fact it is reported that the only thing which prevented it catching was the roof of fireproof shingles on the garage which held the fire until the arrival of the department.

The garage and auto were a total loss.

PLAN FOR MEMORIAL

Editor of the Star:

The committee in charge of the Permanent War Memorial to be erected on Manchester Field, wish to have everyone fully informed in regard to the location, construction and general uses of the proposed building.

If any organization, at any of its meetings or at some special meeting, called for the purpose, will designate the afternoon or evening when this matter can be presented, the committee will be very glad to furnish a speaker who will explain the plans and give any other information desired.

An early date in order that the committee may consider before making its final report any constructive criticism or suggestions from the members which are consistent with the vote at the last Town Meeting.

Winchester Memorial Committee.
Roland H. Sherman, Chairman
14 Everett Avenue.

The wedding of Miss Doris L. Moffette and Mr. Fred William Fitzgerald will take place at St. Mary's Church on the morning of Thursday, January fifth.

MRS. ELIZABETH OLIVER

Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver of 124 Highland Avenue went to her Heavenly Home on Christmas Day. She was in her eighty-fourth year and up to the very last was most active in mind and diligent in service. Mrs. Oliver was one of the ten charter members of the Methodist Episcopal Society in Winchester and the first president of the local Auxiliary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Throughout her life she was deeply interested in her country and her church. Her faith and good works remain to enrich the young climbing her knee in delight. We shall miss her but we shall ever be glad that God gave her. Mrs. Oliver was the mother of Mrs. R. M. Armstrong whose husband is well known in Y. M. C. A. circles. Her grandchildren are men and women of noble character and sterling ability. One of these is the wife of Dr. Peabody Pratt, pastor of the Congregational Church in Greenfield.

The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, assisted by Rev. B. G. Seaboyer of Wakefield. Her body, accompanied by Mrs. R. M. Armstrong and Mr. R. W. Armstrong, a grandson, was taken to Vassalboro, Me., for its final resting place.

SCHOOL SURVEY

Preliminary Sheets on Building Recommendations Received

Preliminary sheets in connection with the recent school survey have been received by the School Committee, and through the courtesy of Superintendent of Schools John R. Fahey we have been enabled to review the recommendations made in respect to the building summary—the only portion thus far received, although it is anticipated that the whole report will soon be forwarded from the printer. It is apparent if one may judge from this portion of the report that the "Work, Study, Play" plan is used as a basis for the survey. Whether this plan is the best, or even the proper lay-out for this town, already equipped with a set of school buildings, remains to be brought out.

The building section of the report recently received for the survey is too long to print in full but, preliminary to the distribution which will be made before Town Meeting, a brief statement of the underlying theory and the recommendations made, with brief comment, may be of interest.

The theory is manifest in the following introductory paragraph:

"A School Building Program for Winchester, Mass.

"With the exception of the High school, Winchester has not erected a new school building for nineteen years. Five of the elementary schools were erected thirty years and more ago. All of the elementary school buildings are small, old and entirely without modern school facilities. There is not an auditorium in any of these schools, nor a gymnasium, and there are only two shops in all the nine schools, not counting the three special rooms in the Prince School. In spite of the fact that Winchester is a wealth town it has provided no adequate playground space for the masses of its children. In other words, the school houses of Winchester are still the little red school houses of olden days, with school seats but with almost nothing else in the way of equipment for the children's education."

These somewhat sweeping statements have a basis of fact. It would be better to have three or four buildings instead of nine for the elementary grades; the school playgrounds, except at the Chapin, Highland, Prince, Rumford and Washington are too small, though the public playgrounds are convenient for most of the children; and additional facilities by way of auditoriums or gymnasiums and shops would be of great service in one or two buildings. All of these buildings, however, except the Chapin, Prince and Wadleigh, are now used almost exclusively for primary grades, have been kept in fair order, are reasonably well equipped, have rooms of regulation size, and are well lighted and ventilated. That they are not so well adapted as they might be to present educational requirements is due not to parsimony but to the fact that foresight is seldom so good as hindsight. In his reports Superintendent Fahey has discussed the difficulties in instruction and administration more convincingly than the surveyor.

In a ten page discussion of "Changed social and industrial conditions and their effect on schools" the surveyor says in part:

"Education has always consisted of work and study and play, and that children must not be deprived of any of these three elements in their education if they are to grow in health and strength and develop initiative, intelligence and the ability to think for themselves."

"The modern city, it makes no difference whether it is a metropolis like Boston or a suburb like Winchester, deprives children of the opportunity for healthful work and of the chance for wholesome play."

Street play means education not in health and strength and wholesome living but precocious education in all the vicious sides of city life, which children never forget."

"The school must become a place where children can live by taking part in the wholesome activities by which children have always been educated."

"Even if the children were in school five hours every day there would still be three hours left, and it is well known three hours are spent on the city streets, and not always to the child's advantage."

"The essential minimum requirements of a modern school plant are shops and laboratories, drawing rooms and music rooms."

CALUMET CLUB NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY

The formal dance to be given by the Calumet Club in the Town Hall on New Year's eve promises to be the banner event of the holiday season in the town. No expense or pains have been spared to make the evening a thorough success, and the committee in charge have perfected all the details so that everyone should have an enjoyable evening.

One of the best ten-piece orchestras obtainable has been engaged and will provide a carefully selected concert program from 8 to 9 o'clock. Dancing will be enjoyed until 1 o'clock. A buffet lunch will be served at 11 o'clock and just before midnight the noise makers will be distributed among the dancers, so that we can welcome the New Year with a grand old reversion and with lots of noise, fun and frolic.

This party is for Calumet members and their friends, and we want all friends of the Calumet Club to feel that they are welcome, and suggest that they apply for tickets by telephoning the steward at the Calumet Club. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

The real fun will be at midnight, so if unable to come earlier, come and join us in the frolic.

TWO ARRESTED FOR BREAK

A telephone call to police headquarters at nine o'clock Sunday night gave information of the entering of the gasoline filling station at the corner of Cambridge and Pond streets conducted by James Kenney. Entrance was made by breaking a window, and two boys were reported as having been seen in the vicinity. A carton of cigarettes was stolen. Officers Hogan and William Cassidy were sent to the place and two youths were arrested on suspicion, but when Officer James Cassidy in the centre arrested William E. Harkins and John R. Rooney, both of Woburn, 17 and 15 years old respectively, he evidently got the parties wanted, for in the Woburn court Tuesday morning they waived examination and were held for the grand jury.

LAST CALL! EUROPEAN CHILDREN'S FUND

W. C. T. U. NOTES

On Christmas Day the last remaining charter member of the Winchester Woman's Christian Temperance Union passed away when Mrs. Elizabeth A. Oliver fell asleep, having long ago passed the fourscore years' milestone. She will be greatly missed although for several years she has seldom been able to attend the meetings. Her interest in the work, however, has never lapsed and whenever any of the members called upon her she always asked eagerly about the various activities with which she had so long been identified. As one of the earlier presidents she did much to put the Union on a firm foundation and as long as she lived did what she could for the cause of temperance. It is good to know that she was permitted to see the triumph of prohibition for she had known so well the bitterness of seeming defeat, although her courage never failed and she always believed in the successful outcome of the battle being waged "For God and Home and Native Land," as the old slogan ran. She rests from her labors and her works do follow her.

The other day the head of a great government institution at the national capital said, speaking of prohibition: "It is a splendid success. I had not believed it would be so. Of course there are many violations as yet but they will grow less. I am glad my boy may grow up without the temptation of the saloon. We realize now what some of you saw long ago—the liquor traffic was the darkest blot on our civilization. And yet they tell us prohibition is a failure."

PRONOUNCES EULOGY FOR PILGRIM MOTHERS

Prof. Charles Zuehl, addressing the Ford Hall forum Sunday evening, eulogized the Pilgrim mothers and parenthetically assailed Boston for living up to the letter and not the spirit of the law. He declared that it is wrong to refer to the Pilgrim Fathers, "Talk of the Pilgrim Fathers if you will," he said, "but best of all talk of the Pilgrim mothers."

"Boston fought for a principle at the tea party time. The citizens would not give up their own sovereignty. But Boston gave up its own sovereignty just a few years ago and without a fight at all. Boston admitted that it could not govern itself and so asked the state of Massachusetts to appoint a police commissioner. This officer is not elected; he is appointed by the Governor, who is elected by the whole state, not Boston alone."

"But to get back to the Pilgrim mothers. The masculine heart will find it hard to understand these wonderful women. Two children were born on the Mayflower, one on the ocean and the other in Provincetown harbor. Women then as now followed their husbands with an unquestionable love and loyalty that is incomprehensible to mere man."

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending December 30: Whooping cough, 2; German measles, 1.

CURRENT EVENTS

The Civics Committee of "The Fortnightly" will conduct a community class in current events, in the High School assembly hall on the first and third Fridays in January, February and March at 3.30 in the afternoon.

This class affords the people of Winchester an opportunity for a broad and general education in the affairs of our own time under an able and popular leader, Mrs. Mabel H. Crawford.

Tickets for the entire course, at one dollar, may be secured at the Winchester Exchange, or from Mrs. Arthur W. Mudge, chairman of the committee, address, 7 Wedgemere avenue, Tel. Win. 507. Single admission, 25 cents at the door.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS PLAY

The Junior-Senior Class play which will be presented in Town Hall, Saturday evening, January 8, was written by Charles Klein and entitled "The Lion and the Mouse." The author was one of the victims of the frightful sinking of the Lusitania, when the world lost one of its best playwrights. This play has scored one of the greatest professional successes in recent years, and has a wonderful record for drawing large crowds, and is pronounced by all who have seen it as one of the most interesting and appealing plays ever seen on the professional stage. It tells the story of a wealthy society girl who sacrifices everything to save her father's honor and future, which is about to be lost through the unscrupulous plans of the money king, John Burkett Ryder, who does not hesitate to resort to any means to accomplish his ends, injure whom it may. The cast of characters have been chosen after the most careful consideration, and it is expected that the production will score the same unqualified success, under Miss Chapman's efficient direction that has marked her production of this play elsewhere. Too much cannot be said of the merits of the play itself, for it is wonderfully interesting from start to finish, having many startling climaxes and many suspenseful situations. No one should miss the opportunity to enjoy this unusual dramatic event.

INTER-TOWN CLUB

The first of a series of socials, for the benefit of the Inter-Town Club, was held on Tuesday evening, December 28, at the residence of Mrs. Ambrose Canada of North Woburn. The affair was a social and financial success, despite the inclement weather.

The house was profusely decorated with evergreens, holly and tinsel, and was the subject of much admiration. The patrons represented nearly every neighboring town and city. They enjoyed games and dancing until a late hour, when they departed with many regrets, that an evening so pleasantly spent must end.

No small amount of credit is due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Ambrose Canada, who made this social possible and contributed to its success by her personal effort.

Success is ability, experience, economy, plus cleverly cleansed clothes. Let Hallanday's cleansing help. Winchester—9 Church street, Bailey's, Cleaners & Dyers, Inc., Prop.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Our president announced that the Des Moines delegates will receive the Massachusetts Club Women at Hotel Vendome on Saturday afternoon January 1, from three to five o'clock. The money collected in the tiny stocking sent by the War Relief Children's Fund amounted to $48.54, one quarter of which will be used for children in this country.

It is interesting to know that the club is supporting three orphan children in France in memory of Mr. Hefflon, whose work among the children of Winchester was one of love and service.

At the earnest solicitation of some of our club members, Miss Ladd gave a short talk in the interest of the Frances Jewett Repertory Club. This club is seeking life members in order that the Repertory Theatre, the Copley, may carry on its work, which is a great factor toward high ideals in dramatic literature and art. It seemingly has inherited the spirit of the old Boston Museum.

The first meeting of the class in Parliamentary Law, conducted by Mrs. Electra Sherman, will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Bradley, 3 Blackhorse terrace, on Wednesday, January 5, at quarter of three o'clock. Tickets for the course of ten lessons, also single tickets, may be obtained from Mrs. Bradley.

The Fortnightly Players are planning to give a musical show the last of January.

Now that the holiday season is over the interest in the chain parties has revived. Names of new members and of those not yet entertained, may be obtained from Mrs. C. W. Tarbell, 734-M.

A class of ten lessons in current events will be held in the High School assembly hall. Further information may be found elsewhere in this paper.

On Monday last Miss Gladys Lott gave a most unique and artistic entertainment, "Songs and Sketches of Childhood." The program was divided into three groups: "Noah's Ark," stories and songs about animals; "Just Kiddies," those of little children, and "The Fairies." She asked us to forget that we had grown up, to make believe we were still little children, this we promptly did, and enjoyed it all with childish abandon. The stories are absolutely lifelike and told with great charm. Her singing voice is a pure, sweet soprano well trained, and her enunciation perfect. There was great variety in her musical selections, among them one of the Kentucky Mountain Game Songs, Liza Leymann's "Matilda" and "Fairies in our Garden," others by Dinsmore and John Carpenter.

GIRL SCOUTS ENTERTAINED

The annual children's Christmas entertainment and tree was held for a number of little folks in the High School as usual this year, the affair being in charge of a number of Girl Scouts under the direction of a group of interested elders, and given Monday afternoon notwithstanding the stormy weather there was a good attendance, almost 100 of the 135 invited being present.

A tree, with gifts for every child, candy, pop corn and other goodies were enjoyed. Games and singing were arranged to keep up the interest for the two hour program.

The arrangements were in charge of the Girl Scouts' Council of Winchester, Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan, the Scout Commissioner, being assisted by Miss Mary Lyons, Nathaniel M. Nichols, Mrs. Nichols and Misses Marion and Doris Nichols, Capt. Edith Downer of Girl Scouts' Troop 1, Mrs. Paul Howard, Mrs. Robert Boone, Miss Elizabeth Naven, Mrs. Joseph Hefflon donated part of the apples and Mrs. Charles Dodge the rest for the children.

The Girl Scouts who made the popcorn balls, candy bags, and filled them and raised funds to buy other gifts included, Doris Johnson, Rebecca Denison, Capt. Boone, Capt. Edith Downer, Elizabeth Livingstone, Katherine Murphy, Helen Canniffe, Katherine Shultis, Edith Plummer, Margaret Cassidy and Lieut. Miss Dearborn.

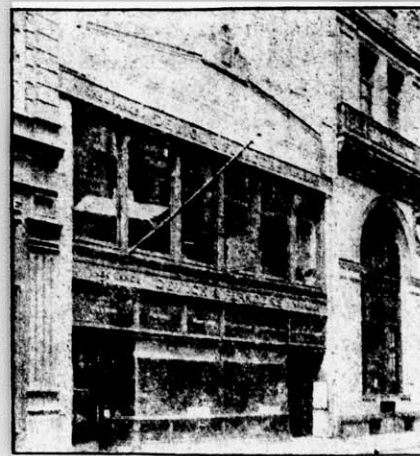

BASKETBALL GAME

W. H. S. vs. Alumni Girls

The Winchester High girls open their basketball season, when they play the Alumni in the High School Gym tomorrow afternoon, January 1, at 3 o'clock. The High School is being coached by Miss Parkhurst and a fast game is hoped for. Among the most promising candidates are Helen Raynor, Dorothy Laraway and Madeline Robinson, forwards; Elizabeth O'Melia, Priscilla Lombard and Mildred Smith, guards, and Olive Robert, the captain, as center.

The Alumni girls are in charge of Lillian Gray, who was captain of the High School team last year. The line up is still unsettled, but it is expected that several of the girls who played on the 1918 Championship Team will be on hand to show the spectators a basketball game worth the small sum of twenty cents.

A group of carolers from the First Congregational Church went about town Christmas eve carrying cheer and holiday happiness to many shut-ins. The Hospital, Home for Aged People and other places were visited, the group completing its tour at the church, where an attractively lighted tree was set up. After singing here they enjoyed the fruits of their labor in the way of hot appetizing refreshments in the church vestry.

Prominent Young Couple Married
Wednesday Night

A society wedding of prominence was that on Wednesday evening of Miss Meriel Frances Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Phillips C. Simonds, of Sheffield road, and Mr. Burham Goddu
Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Preston of Madison ave. Both the bride and groom are prominent among Winchester's young people.

The wedding took place at the Unitarian Church, the ceremony being performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. George Hale Reed. There was a large attendance, many surrounding towns and cities being represented, and the decorations, of a New Year scheme, with Christmas greenery predominating, were most effective. The ceremony was performed at eight.

The bride wore a wedding dress of ivory satin embroidered with silver thread and silver beads, the long train having an applique of white roses.
Her veil was of tulle, with silver band, and was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Miss Jean Thompson was the flower girl, dressed in pink georgette with hat to match, and she carried a basket of rose petals which she strewed in the path of the bride and groom on their way to the altar. Mr. Wentworth Marling of Beverly was groom-smen and Miss Doris Holmes of Belmont was maid of honor. She wore a dress of pale green silk trimmed with pink rose buds and old lace. Her bou-quet was of pink sweet peas.

The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy and Miss Marjorie Cowdry of Peabody, twin cousins of the bride, Miss Phyllis Ashby of Salem, Mrs. Doris Thompson of Winchester, Mrs. Pauline Folger Rapp of Braintree and Miss Phyllis Tutein of Winchester. They all wore similar dresses, two of green taffets, two of orchid and two of yellow. All were made with ruffled skirts with bands of silver, and with silver bodice.
Silver lace hats with a feather to match the dress completed their costume, and they each carried large ostrich feather fans.

The ushers for the ceremony and the reception which followed in the parlors of the church were Messrs.
Kenneth Simonds of Binghamton, N.
Y., Lloyd Goddu, Harold Ogden,
Chandler Symmes and Ernest Davis, Jr., of Winchester, and Hart Furbish of Cambridge.

The reception was held from eight-thirty to ten, the couple being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Phillips C.
Simonds, mother of the bride, Mr. G.
B. Thomas, the bride's brother, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Preston, parents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston will spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M.
Lane, formerly Winchester residents, at their home in Dayton, Ohio. They will later sail from New York for a Bermuda trip, and upon their return will make their home in Beverly.

ASSISTED AT WOBURN FIRE

The Winchester fire department was called out yesterday morning to lend assistance at the big fire just over the town line, when the Parker leather shop was reduced to ashes. The alarm came in at about 8 o'clock, the entire Winchester force responding. At that time the big tannery was blazing fiercely. Winchester sent the pump, ladder and two chemical trucks to the scene and did valiant work.

How the fire originated has not been determined. The tannery was running on short help, about thirty-five persons being employed. The fire started back of the engine room, it is said, and when discovered had gained great headway. In the excitement someone ran clear to the Cross street railroad station, it is reported, to telephone the alarm.

Four lines were put on the blaze from the Winchester pump, while the two Woburn pumps also operated, but the fire had gained such headway that it was only possible to save the adjoining factories, which included the patent leather shop of Beggs & Cobb.

During the fire the big chimney threatened to fall and was pulled down by the firemen. Patrolman James P. Donaghey of the local police force was struck by the Winchester service truck and badly bruised and cut on one leg. The truck, operated by fireman Alex. McKenzie, was feeling its way through the big cloud of exhaust steam from the fire pumps and neither did the officer see it, nor the driver know he had truck anyone until after the accident. Patrolman Donaghey was taken to the police station, where he remained on duty through the day.

The loss at the fire has been variously estimated at from $100,000 to $250,000. The blaze and smoke was seen from all parts of the town.

WOMAN'S BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

The December meeting of the Woman's Benevolent Society of the First Baptist Church was held on Thursday in the vestry. A delicious luncheon was served by the committee. Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Harry Winn and Mrs. Albert Hersey.

The work of the Home for Aged People of Winchester and Mrs. West's Home for Missionaries' Children in Newton. A gift of $25 was sent to an invalid missionary in the South.

The new officers for the year were given a hearty welcome by the society. President, Mrs. Richard Taylor; vice-president, Mrs. L. M. Crowell; secretary, Mrs. Frank McLean; treasurer, Mrs. West Eldredge; Work Committee, Mrs. DeLoria, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. A. O. Weld, Miss Gertrude Joutt. Two new committees were appointed—a follower and a press committee.

Mrs. Taylor presented several new ideas for work for the coming year, which were enthusiastically adopted by the society.

OF GREAT INTEREST TO MOTHERS

Of great interest to mothers of Winchester, as well as many mothers of nearby places, is the sale of rompers, creepers and children's dresses announced on page 6 of this issue of the Star. This sale, held by the Thaler Manufacturing Co. of 9 Mt. Vernon street, a Winchester manufacturing concern, is one of the first big after Christmas markdowns. Bates gingham and beach cloth dresses are among the lots listed, and the prices are certainly the lowest to be found anywhere, made so through the direct manufacture to customer sale. The sale opens January 3 and the offices of the company are to be kept open until 9 o'clock each evening. The Thaler Manufacturing Co. is directly over Randall's store, up one flight.

BIG EVENT TONIGHT

The New Year eve dance at the Town Hall this evening, given under the auspices of the Calumet Club, will be the event of the winter. In years past the attendance has been beyond the limits of the club hall and it is anticipated that the largest crowd yet will be out for tonight's affair.

The schools will open Monday, January 3, after the holiday recess.

INTERESTING MEETING

set enough, and that the size of the timbers to be used sufficient. Why, he asked, should elevation and floor plans be required to build a hen house? He found that in the "duplex" houses metal lath was required on metal stud. This added much to the cost, which he estimated as averaging about $500. He also found many words in the laws which he could not interpret.

He called for the discussion of the new building laws. Mr. Thomas H. Barrett opened the discussion as expressing himself as dissatisfied with the new laws and declaring that in his opinion 90 per cent of our citizens had accepted them on faith and found them a hardship.

Mr. Laraway followed, declaring that the plumbing laws at least were altogether too strict and imposed hardships on the plumbers and expense on the owners. He also criticized the law eliminating wooden shingles as unfair and killing competition.

Mr. Barrett spoke of the cellar excavating portion, stating that he was informed that it was necessary to excavate a 34 foot cellar to obtain one of 30 feet. He cited cellars built 70 years ago which were today doing good service, although no laws were in force at that time.

Mr. Carl Larson spoke on the lot regulations (building lines), which he found worked unfairly, one house being allowed near a side line and the adjoining being required to be placed so far away that property

Mr. Richard B. Derby defended the laws and thought that much of the criticism was founded on snap judgment. He admitted it was difficult to make every portion of the laws perfect and welcomed suggestions.

Mr. James Johnston was another speaker. He voiced his objection "to a greater part of the new laws," specifying the lot line regulations, the wood shingles, foundation rules and delays entailed in construction. It appears that the wooden shingle regulation is being got around by replacing a portion of the shingles at one time and the balance at another.

He thought the laws needed amendment badly; they added from 15 to 20 per cent to the cost of construction on a good quality house. He felt the title of the laws should be changed "to prevent building houses in Winchester."

Mr. Robert Colt thought in general the laws were good. It was a difficult thing to compile a set of laws to work equally well in all instances, and the Board of Appeal could prepare a set of amendments covering points to be corrected. Mr. Barrett asked where the Board of Appeal got its authority and stated that he had heard that one man was a member of both committees. Mr. Allen replied, acknowledging that he was the man in question and was a member of both committees, having been so named by the Selectmen.

He said he was never convinced that the laws were right in all respects and welcomed suggestions for changes. The Committee did the best it could and desired only to benefit the Town. He would be glad to have imperfections pointed out, and if proper would urge amendments. Mr. Laraway took up the matter of placing stoves and objected to a three foot metal sheathing above the stove. He also criticized a certain type of water closet called for. Mr. Allen replied, and in speaking on wood shingles thought the matter debatable, but agreed that fireproof shingles added in reducing insurance, both to individual and the Town. As regards the lot restrictions, he stated that 7 1-2 feet from the line was all that was required, and that such restriction applied to all lots alike. He thought much of the criticism due to a misunderstanding of the laws.

Mr. Barrett questioned certain parts thrown out by the Attorney General, and in response Mr. Allen stated that this was correct, some clauses having been so thrown out. One was a billboard clause, another referred to the term of office of the Inspector of Buildings, and a third referring to the discretionary power of the Board of Appeal. In explaining the latter, Mr. Allen stated that the Attorney General took the ground that investing such power in the Board of Appeal was contrary to the interpretation of our laws, it giving individual power to the board to dictate.

Mr. Laraway spoke again regarding the type of flange called for in the water closet specified, and Mr. Dinneen, Inspector of Buildings, defended it, claiming it was already specified by four or five cities and towns and predicting its universal adoption in the future. He felt that the other work simplified by the laws more than made up any added cost required; some of the laws should come out, some be amended, but on the whole the law was commendable.

The hour was 10.15, and while it was apparent that others present desired to be heard, President Downer felt it unwise to extend the meeting to a later hour. He therefore recommended a motion to appoint a committee of Board of Trade members to consider the complaints and suggestions, with the idea of bringing them before the committee. This was so voted and the meeting closed.

There was an attendance of about 100 persons at the discussion of the laws, included in the number three guests from Arlington Board of Trade, interested in the Building Laws of that town. One of these gentlemen, Mr. Hillard, voiced his appreciation of the courtesy shown and extended to the local board the good wishes of his neighbors.

"And the years glide by."
What should the above phrase suggest to you for immediate action.

The "Seven Sleepers."

These were the heroes of an ancient legend. It is supposed that during the persecution of the Christians about 250 A. D. these seven Christian brothers of Ephesus took refuge in a cave. Their retreat was discovered and the mouth of the cave walled up. Two hundred years later the cave was accidentally opened and the men emerged, having slept through centuries as though they were but a single night. They found the Christian religion accepted in the city where they were honored and feted and where all of them died on the same day.

A trolley wire was down on upper Main street shortly after seven Christmas eve, delaying the electric cars for a time.

Good Word for the Parrot.

Testy people consider the parrot a nuisance and the loquacious bird has often engendered legal strife, but to the facetious person he is an endless source of amusement. He has an inherent weakness for profanity, which is apt to be embarrassing, but a man who has not tasted spirituous liquors never craves them, and a parrot who has not heard profanity will not long for it as the best medium of expressing his sentiments. In this respect he promotes culture and refinement in the home.

Valuable Books Found.

In moving Thiel college library at Greenville, Pa., to another building many rare and almost priceless books of Latin and Greek text were found. One book was printed by Zell at Cologne in 1473, a Virgil's Aeneid was printed in 1501 and one in 1508. A history of Rome, printed by Andrew Welcher in 1586 at Frankfurt and a German religious work, printed in 1594, are in a good state of preservation. Among the other volumes is an Iron-bound Bible.

House Fly's Wonderful Eye.
"The eye of a common house fly has 4,000 facets, and it may be that each facet registers a complete image. If this is true," says Miss Booth, the eminent photo-micrographer, "the fly sees everything reproduced 4,000 times—a rather dizzying experience."

Different Kinds of Hickory.
Twelve kinds of hickory are found in the world, eleven of them indigenous to the United States east of the Rocky mountains, and one Mexican species. Previous to the ice age, extensive forests of hickory existed in Greenland.

KERNWOOD THE BEST

Calumet Loses to Visitors Tuesday Night

The Kernwood Club of Malden visited Calumet Tuesday night for the regular matches in bowling, billiards, pool and cards, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the visitors carried away with them practically two-thirds of the points represented. Calumet divided honors at bowling; Kernwood took the majority points in everything else.

At cards Kernwood took two out of the three points; at pool the same; at billiards all points and while its first team lost three out of four in bowling, its second team made a similar win. At three cushions Dr. Griffin defeated Mr. N. B. Nutt 25 to 23 in a close and interesting game. At pool Harry Stevens lost to Cochell 67-100 and A. D. Rogers lost to Bartlett the younger, 66-100. The elder Bartlett defeated Smalley 150-55 in billiards.

The bowling was close and developed fine scores on both sides. Calumet 1st took its first string by 8, lost its second by 3 and won its third by 3, thus retaining 8 for total pinfall. It rolled the best string, making 554, and its total was 1566. Calumet 2d lost the first by 9, won the second by 6 and lost the third by 2, Kernwood taking total pinfall by 5.

Goddu was the star bowler. He rolled a fine game, making a total of 358 and a single of 138. Higgins came back for a total of 329 with 133 for his best string, and Aseltine got 325 with 119, Berry 118, Taylor 300 with 116, Goldsmith 114, Goodale 110, Stephenson 105 and Newman 104.

The Calumet bowlers did not roll the only high scores however, for Kernwood was right with them. Foster of the visitors got 347 with 137, Wilkins 316 with 136, Bowby 328 with 124 and Ricker 308 with 122.

G. E. K. DANCE

The annual dance of the Gamma Eta Kappa Fraternity, held Wednesday evening in the Waterfield Hall, proved this year to be one of the most successful affairs of a similar nature the fraternity has ever held. About seventy-five couples attended.

The hall was most attractively decorated with Christmas greens and flowers, and the matrons were Mrs. F. W. Hight and Mrs. R. E. Carter. The affair was in charge of a committee composed of Messrs. Frank Black, H. Milton Cummings and Alden Symmes.

WINTER BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Excellent figures were made in the one match rolled in the winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club through this week. Team 1 again proved itself a winning organization by taking all four points from Team 16, making 532 for one single and 1,553 for a total. Team 13 took three from Team 15 in a very interesting match. Team 13 won the first string by seven pins, Team 15 won the second by five pins and Team 13 took the third by two pins, thus carrying the total by four.

The third match, between Teams 5 and 10, resulted in an even break, each taking two points. Holbrook Ayer led in some excellent individual rolling. He got a total of 357, his best string being 143. Bart Stephenson was a close second with 351 on a high string of 141. Marshall Berry and Lambert Hunt each rolled totals of 317, Taylor got 307 with 114, Willey, 311 with 116, R. SCHOOL SURVEY auditoriums, gymnasiums, playgrounds and kindergartens".

"If these educational principles are important for native born children, they are even more important for children of foreign born parents who can do far less than the American born parent in counteracting the undesirable effects of city life upon their children."

"Forty per cent of the fathers of public school children in Winchester are foreign born."

"Apparently there is little realization of the fact that the best Americanization work that could be done would be to erect modern school buildings in which children could be wholesomely occupied all day and which parents could use in the evening as social centers."

"There are now four more classrooms than in the public schools."

"Winchester has just about enough children in the public elementary schools to make one good sized school."

"Owing to local sentiment and local conditions, however, it will probably be necessary to have at least three—one for the west side, one for the east side, and one for the north end."

and recommends that these buildings would better be constructed for the "work-study-plan" of school organization.

"Briefly the (work-study-plan) is this: A school is divided into two parts, each having the same number of classes, and each containing all of the eight or nine grades. The first part which we will call the "A school" comes to school in the morning, say, at 8.30, and goes to classrooms for academic work. While this school is in the classrooms, it obviously can not use any of the special facilities; therefore the other school—the "B school"—goes to the special activities, one-third to the auditorium, one-third to the playground, and one-third is divided among such activities as the shops, laboratories, drawing and music studios. At the end of one or two periods, that is, when the first group of children has remained, according to the judgment of the school authorities, in school seats as long as is good for them at one time, the "A school" goes to the playground, auditorium and other special facilities, while the "B school" goes to the class rooms."

The surveyor thinks that the "work-study-plan" plan would cost much less for buildings and would require fewer teachers than the "traditional school organization." Whether it is essential for Winchester is a debatable question; as to the cost it seems almost certain that an increase in the quantity of instruction given would require a larger expenditure for teachers if not for buildings.

The surveyor gives twenty-one pages to a discussion of building plans, recommending that a choice be made from three suggested:

I. Two new buildings with the Wadleigh enlarged; two combination elementary and junior high school buildings, one on the west side and one in the north end with the Wadleigh as a six grade school.

II. Three new buildings with the Wadleigh enlarged; one junior high school on the west side, one combination elementary and junior high in the north end, and two six grade schools—one (the Wadleigh) on the east side and one on the west side.

III. Three new buildings with the Wadleigh enlarged; one junior high school on the west side and three six grade schools—one (the Wadleigh) on the east side, one on the west side and one in the north end.

The cost is estimated as follows:

"Work-Study-Plan" Plan Buildings Teachers required
Plan I $581,000 47 (5 extra)
Plan II 661,000 54 (12 extra)
Plan III 661,000 54 (12 extra)

"Traditional School Organization" Building Teachers required
Plan I $917,000 57 (15 extra)
Plan II $1,013,000 58 (16 extra)
Plan III $1,013,000 58 (16 extra)

This includes in each plan $5,000 for enlarging the Wadleigh. It does not include the cost of sites. These would probably cost from $25,000 to $50,000 to meet the requirements of the surveyor. The total would, therefore, be from about $600,000 to $710,000 for the building plans recommended. He estimates that "an average salary of $1200" may be allowed for the extra teachers under each plan. This is less than is paid at the present time and less than it would probably be necessary to pay.

The report concludes: "Economy is not the most important consideration. The essential point is that all the children in Winchester schools should have the best modern school equipment in the way of playground, laboratories, shops and drawing rooms, and the opportunity to use them. The chief drawback to the traditional type of organization is not that it is more expensive than the "work-study-plan" plan, but rather that, even when shops and playgrounds and laboratories are provided in the traditional school, the program is so inflexible that it is impossible for all the children to get the opportunity for work and play in the shops and playgrounds every day. It is impossible to give every child in school a well balanced program of work and study and play every day unless the principle of multiple use of facilities is applied to children's activities as it is to the activities of adults."

We are glad that the report is so definite, even if it has numerous not entirely judicial statements and we hope that when in the hands of our citizens it may be carefully read. We should have a building program for the next fifteen or twenty years and this may do very well as a basis for study. The "work-study-plan" plan, however, would better be permitted to season in other places before we take it up. Now for the rest of the survey. It will be interesting. So much is certain.

A SHATTERED WAR ROMANCE

To the Editor of the Star:

One hears many stories of the war's shattered romances. The enclosed little story is true and if you can use it I will be glad, as I have told it to many friends who think it rather clever.

"An Old School Girl"

During the great war a very beautiful southern girl attending a fashionable school in New York met a very charming young naval lieutenant. They had a violent flirtation, met whenever they could for the dances at the Plaza, ran off for a ride in the park or supper at the Claremont and did all sorts of foolish things that if the school matron had discovered would have meant being expelled. This romance ended however in a jealous quarrel. The young lieutenant was ordered to sea and the girl went home to Virginia where she married a very wealthy man many years her senior.

The young man after the war married an old school girl friend—as far as I know they both are very happily married.

The young southern matron came to New York this Christmas and saw her former dashing lieutenant shopping in one of the Fifth Avenue shops with his little fat wife. On returning to the hotel, on the impulse of the moment, she jotted off the following verse and mailed it to the now much married old lover. She says she shouldn't have done it and will worry over it for years.

What do you think?

Another war romance gone wrong?

The Days of "Used to be"

Do you ever think of me?

Think of the days that "Used to be"

When in your uniform of blue

You loved me and I loved you?

Walking thro' the crowded city street

Do you ever catch the odor of a perfume sweet

That for a moment makes you think of me?

When the music plays some old familiar strain

Doesn't "The Plaza" or "The McAlpin"

Just for a second flash thro' your brain?

Say "cock" just to flatter me

For I too think of the "Days that used to be"

The taxi rides, the dances with tea

The evenings spent by the sea!

The will love of the war is over

And I hope you are up to your ears in clover!

A cute little house and a fat little wife

And after all "Oh! boy that is the life!"

But all to myself I think of you Think of the things we used to do

Think of the things we used to say

Think of each happy yesterday

And I wonder if you like me,

Think of "the days that used to be."

WATERFIELD, I. O. O. F.

Next Monday, January 3, 1921, the initiatory degree will be conferred on a class of candidates.

The Community Forum which was held last winter for the first time, and in which all of the Protestant churches took part, will begin its second season next Sunday with a meeting in the First Baptist Church, at 4 o'clock. Mr. Harry Ward will be the first speaker. His subject will be: "Religion and the New Social Order."

The speakers and the subjects of addresses to be given are as follows: January 2, Harry Ward—"Religion and the New Social Order." First Baptist Church.

January 9, Veda Scudder—"The Present Opportunity of the Church." Methodist Church.

January 16, Bruno Roselli—"Italy's Industrial Revolution." Unitarian Church.

The meetings of the Forum were most successful last year. The Committee in charge feels that it has secured an even stronger list of speakers for this year and it looks for crowded audiences. The public is cordially invited to the meetings. An offering will be taken at each meeting to defray necessary expenses. No Sunday evening services will be held in the Protestant Churches during the Forum season.

A very enjoyable Christmas and Birthday Party was held on Friday evening, at the home of Mr. John Carlson, 29 Forest street, in honor of Mr. Carl Danielson and Mr. Carl Langhill by about thirty-five adults and children. Mr. Gus Josephson acted as Santa Claus, for the children. Miss Alice Danielson gave several vocal selections and piano selections. Mr. Langhill received a very beautiful mahogany clock and Mr. Carlson received a silver set. An enjoyable evening was spent by all, until midnight.

An automobile driven by Mr. Leland H. Clifton of Mystic avenue was in a collision at Arlington at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Mystic street Monday with a car driven by Mr. Frederick J. Illuminated Traffic Cop.

With a view to solving the difficulties that beset motorists and traffic officers on Boston streets after night-fall the officers of the First motor corps are conducting experiments throughout the city to make a traffic handler visible to drivers as well as to pedestrians.

An experiment demonstrated that with the help of three light bulbs, which burn continuously, white bands crossed on his breast and long white gauntlets, a traffic officer can be seen by motorists even at the busiest and darkest of corners.

One of the lights is placed on the traffic guard's hat and the other two on his shoulders. They are fed by batteries in the pocket of his overcoat. Both red and white lights have been tried. So far the red lights seem to be more satisfactory.—Boston Globe.

Assembled, they will shelter in comfort 500 refugees.
